$1 MILLION PUBLIC HEARING

For 'Medical Park'

Hearing Continued on State, Thomas Zoning

Arlington Heights Plan Commission hearing of a request for rezoning of three acres near State Road and Thomas Street has been continued until Sept. 11.

The request, as it was presented at the first hearing Aug. 21, was for a change from R-3, single family residential, to B-1, limited retail business classification.

The property is west of State Road, running from 300 to 600 feet south of Thomas Street, next to an existing medical center. Proposal for use of the three acres is a medical park.

The hearing was first continued to Aug. 28 to allow testimony of an expert witness, then continued again by the Plan Commission to see if the petitioners can change their request to office and research zoning (O and R)—a much more restrivtice classification.

THIS WOULD require inclusion of the medical center—now a non-conforming use — in the petition, since land under consideration for O and R zoning must be four acres or more under a single petition.

If the petition were to be changed, according to Harold Carlson, chairman of the commission, the medical use would still be allowed, but other uses less desirable in a residential area and permissible under B-1 zoning would be outlawed.

Petitioners for the zoning change are John and Alwina Kern, represented by attorney Stephen Jurco, but Jurco indicated at the first hearing session that developers of the medical park would be doctors who intended to establish office facilities there.

AS PLANNED by architect Ronald Stahl, the development would consist of six buildings in a landscaped setting, with adjoining parking facilities.

Floor area indicated in the plans is about 32,000 square feet—space for offices for 120 doctors. Buildings shown in the tentative plan are all single-story.

When asked by Chairman Carlson if the group of doctors who are to develop the park are a named corporation, Jurco said they were yet unnamed, but they are a group of doctors.

He stated definitely that the project would not be developed by an individual.

THE ADJOINING medical center is organized on a similar basis, under control of the doctors who have offices there. This looms as one of the problem factors in getting the rezoning request changed.

The change to O and R would involve amending the original petition and bringing forth a new petition from the doctors' group in the existing medical center. This, in turn, would involve readvertisement for a new public hearing.

No area residents at the hearing objected to the proposed medical park, but individual residents and Donald Heffernan, 1176 N. Beverly, representing the Arlington Greens Homeowners' Assn., objected to introduction of a B-1 classification in the area.

Several doctors presently located at the medical center testified to the need for more office space in Arlington Heights. About 40 doctors and dentists use the present facilities at 1430 N. State.

'Redevelopment' Plan Eyed Near Hospital

A redevelopment plan for the area adjacent to Arlington Heights west of Northwest Community Hospital bounded by Central, Wilke and Kirchoff Roads is under consideration by the village board's peripheral zoning committee.

The plan was developed by village planner Eugene Baughman in cooperation with the plan commission and delivered to the board last month for consideration.

The study and subsequent plan was made necessary by several requests for pre-annexation zoning hearings for projected development in the area immediately west of the hospital.

INCLUDED IN the report are projected land uses for the area, necessary public facilities, street layout and a possible storm water retention basin.

The retention basin, as planned, would double as a recreational area during all but extreme flooding periods.

One of the key factors leading to proposal of a basin in the redevelopment plan is a 48-inch storm sewer leading from Rolling Meadows into a 15-inch drain tile at the Rolling Meadows boundary, Wilke Road.

THE PLAN was turned over to the village board for consideration after several alternate proposals were presented to the plan body by Baughman.

In his report to the village board Plan Commission Chairman Harold Carlson indicated that the redevelopment plan represents a detailed presentation of the alternate which seemed to best fit the character of the area.

In final form the plan proposed about 57 acres of single family residential use, 15 acres of multiple family residential along Central Road, and 16 acres of institutional residential use adjacent to the hospital on Central.

ALSO INCLUDED is a small plot of commercial zoning now under such use at the corner of Wilke and Central, and 11 acres of park and recreational use in the center of the area.

The plan commission is currently studying a tentative text of an I-R zoning classification (institutional - residential) for formal hearing on an amendment to the existing village zoning ordinance.

The new zoning classification on its proposed site would allow for a nursing home or similar use in conjunction with the adjoining hospital.

The redevelopment plans will be brought back for board consideration with a recommendation by the peripheral zoning committee, consisting of trustees Eugene Schlickman, William Moore and Norval Stephens, chairman.

SGT. IRVIN McDOUGALL of the Arlington Heights Police Department points to the window through which Peter James Smith leaped when McDougall and other officers spotted him inside service station. Only second pane from bottom was broken, and Smith cut his arm severely jumping through the small opening.

Police Apprehend Burglars at Scene

Arlington Heights police responded to a report of suspicious persons at 1:50 a.m. Monday in time to arrest two men at Peters Standard Service, 200 E. Northwest Hwy., on charges of burglary.

Arrested were Peter James Smith and Gary Thomas O'Carroll, who both gave addresses in New York and Los Angeles.

They were to appear before Arlington Heights Police Magistrate Robert C. Buckley Wednesday, but they both received a continuance on the basis of an injury sustained by Smith.

HE RECEIVED severe lacerations on one arm as he climbed through a window previously broken during entry to the station.

Smith was apprehended by police as he fled from the scene toward a car parked on Pine Street.

O'Carroll, who was first spotted by police below the broken window at the side of the service station, fell under a number of wheels stacked in the area and was captured at the scene.

A KEY TO the car toward which Smith was fleeing was found in his jacket, the police report indicates, and the car and contents in it were later determined to have been stolen in New York.

Warrants are also coming from New York on auto theft charges for the two.

After emergency treatment at Northwest Community Hospital for Smith, both were taken to Cook County Jail, where they are still held on $5,000 bond.

New Schools Old Hat Here

New schools are old hat in Arlington Heights.

With the beginning of school Tuesday the first children attended classes at Dunton School, newest of Arlington Heights Elementary District 25 facilities.

But thre were no banners, no speeches, no flowers, no frills.

About 210 children from kindergarten through the fifth grade now occupy the new building at the corner of Cypress Street and Dunton Avenue.

THERE ARE seven classrooms serving a total of nine classes at present through split kindergarten sessions. Other facilities include a multi-purpose room and playground.

It is not a big school, but it is one of the necessary steps toward keeping up with fantastic growth in the school district's child population.

That's just the trouble. As Bob Campbell, assistant superintendent of schools, puts it, "When we have a dull day we say things are as common as a new school."

WHEN HE CAME to the district the opening of a new school was a real occasion to be celebrated. When Dyden School was opened in 1952 and he became principal they shot the works — flowers and all.

But that was the first school added to the system in the population boom of the 50's and 60's.

Now there are seven K-5 schools where there were only two. A junior high school has also been added to the system of 1950, and another is on its way for next year.

Chamber's Office to Relocate

The board of directors of the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce Tuesday authorized a move of the chamber office from its present location on the second floor at 11 S. Vail St. to a ground-floor site.

Plans for the move, and a location for the new office have not yet been finalized, but the move will be made by Oct. 15, according to Charles Alft, executive director of the chamber.

The new office space, to be located in a spare portion of a chamber member's facilities, will also sport new furnishings, Alft said.

A FULL-TIME salaried chamber representative, Alft said his office would function in a much better informational and public relations capacity from the more accessible location now authorized.

The chamber board meeting also resulted in plans for increased promotional and program activities, as yet unspecified.

There will be a meeting of the full membership in the early part of October to discuss further plans and formally induct new members, Alft said.

5-Year-Old Boy Struck In Street

Five-year-old John Lytle, 1338 W. Park Ave., Arlington Heights, was struck by an auto last Wednesday, Aug. 28, as he pedaled out of his driveway onto the street in a toy fire truck.

The child was treated for facial lacerations at Northwest Community Hospital.

DRIVER OF the car which struck him was William E. Waldbuesser, 430 S. Princeton, who was charged with failure to yield right-of-way for a pedestrian.

'Timber'

The unknown assailant on nature evidently didn't yell "timber," but the tree came down anyway—all 50 feet of it in John L. Burgermeister's back yard, 1225 N. Belmont.

That's what Mrs. Burgermeister told police after she discovered the tree down—apparently chopped with an axe.

Biggest Ever For Village

The Arlington Heights Board of Local Improvements will hold a formal public hearing tonight, Thursday, on the largest special assessment paving and improvement project ever proposed in the village.

The area under consideration will be Park Manor Subdivision. Proposed improvements include street paving and storm sewer installation, and sanitary sewer and water main installation.

Estimated costs of the improvements in two main categories total nearly $1 million.

The Park Manor area, 118 acres running south of the Chicago and North Western Railway tracks to Central Road between Dryden and Arthur Avenues, was annexed to the village in 1955.

SINCE THEN development has been stagnated by a lack of even minimal improvements and an existing subdivision plat devised in 1925. Under this plat lot widths range from 50 down to 25 feet.

In 1960, residents of the area, which is only 12 per cent built up, petitioned the Board of Local Improvements to put in improvements similar to those proposed today. Cost to property owners was originally estimated at $30 to $40 per front foot.

But then came the problems. A second look at the area forced cost estimates significantly higher, and property owners had some second thoughts on the advisability of going ahead with the project.

MEMBERS OF the Park Manor Homeowners' Assn., claiming the project would bankrupt them, asked in talks with the village to have the assessment program limited to sanitary sewers and water mains only.

Attempts at cost-reducing compromise failed, and professional planner Eugene Baughman was called in by the village board to determine what way the area's problems could best be solved.

Baughman's Park Manor redevelopment plan was finally approved by the board in May of 1962 after several revisions suggested from all sides.

IT DID NOT deal directly with the special assessment proposal, but it did provide clear expert testimony that the proposed improvements were necessary to serve the best interests of both the village and the area residents.

Ensuing discussion between residents and property owners and the Board of Local Improvements resulted in a commitment by George Wallach, largest single property owner in the area, to put forth $140,000 immediately to attract lower bids on the improvement project.

Normally payment by property owners is spread over a 10-year period, and contractors for the work must wait that long for full payment—thus decreasing the lure of the contract.

PRINCIPAL change in the proposed improvements from their origin in 1960 is street layout, which follows Baughman's recommendations for traffic control.

Streets proposed for improvement at 28 foot widths are Dryden from Central to Rockwell; Roosevelt from Central to Davis, but not joining Central; McKinley from Orchard to Fairview.

Other north-south streets are Cleveland, which is slated as a through street from Central to Davis at 36 foot width, and Dryden, from Rockwell north to Davis, which is to go in as a half-street. The other half has been improved.

EAST-WEST streets to be improved—all at 28 feet— are Orchard from Dryden to McKinley, Maple from Cleveland to McKinley, Rockwell from Dryden to McKinley, Fairview from Roosevelt to McKinley and Park from Dryden to Cleveland.

Estimated cost of this part of the improvement project including storm sewer installation beneath the street ranges $560,000 to $580,000, depending on which type of paving material is ultimately approved.

Sanitary sewer and water main installation cost is estimated at $425,000.

Residents of the area had asked for a tentative spread of the assessment preliminary to public hearing, but both Wallach's attorney Gerald Chapman and the BOLI rejected the idea as too costly and time-consuming.

THE LAST major disagreement between the BOLI and village board on handling of the project—street width—was ironed out in May. The village board had contended certain widths were excessive, but members bowed to the BOLI and the improvement board bowed on its demand for several street vacations.

Completion of the special assessment project is still a ways in the future, though, since it must be approved by the two village boards, a spread of the assessment must be made, and that must be approved by the Cook County Court.

Only when the project is completed may Baughman's redevelopment plan for the area be implemented. At present only lots along Dryden have access to sewer and water facilities.

Contracts Awarded For Two Projects

Contracts were awarded by the Arlington Heights Board of Local Improvements Friday for two special assessment improvement projects.

Rock Road Construction Co. received the contract for improvement and paving of portions of Douglas, Hickory and Beverly avenues, and Hawthorne and Frederick streets, north of Euclid Avenue in the village.

Cost estimates on the project, which was approved by the village board Dec. 17, 1962, ran near $240,000.

Contract for a second project, repaving of Oakton Street between Yale Avenue and State Road, went to Allied Asphalt Paving Co.

ESTIMATES on that project were about $290,000 when it was approved by the village board Oct. 16, 1961.

After special assessment projects are planned and approved by the Board of Local Improvements, and approved by the village board, the cost must be spread over affected village residents and the spread must be approved by the Cook County Court.

Residents have the right to protest the assessment before both village bodies, and the right to protest spread of the assessment before the County Court.

The board of directors of the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce Tuesday authorized a move of the chamber office from its present location on the second floor at 11 S. Vail St. to a ground-floor site.

Plans for the move, and a location for the new office have not yet been finalized, but the move will be made by Oct. 15, according to Charles Alft, executive director of the chamber.

The new office space, to be located in a spare portion of a chamber member's facilities, will also sport new furnishings, Alft said.

A FULL-TIME salaried chamber representative, Alft said his office would function in a much better informational and public relations capacity from the more accessible location now authorized.

The chamber board meeting also resulted in plans for increased promotional and program activities, as yet unspecified.

There will be a meeting of the full membership in the early part of October to discuss further plans and formally induct new members, Alft said.

Rock Road Construction Co. received the contract for improvement and paving of portions of Douglas, Hickory and Beverly avenues, and Hawthorne and Frederick streets, north of Euclid Avenue in the village.

Cost estimates on the project, which was approved by the village board Dec. 17, 1962, ran near $240,000.

Contract for a second project, repaving of Oakton Street between Yale Avenue and State Road, went to Allied Asphalt Paving Co.

ESTIMATES on that project were about $290,000 when it was approved by the village board Oct. 16, 1961.

After special assessment projects are planned and approved by the Board of Local Improvements, and approved by the village board, the cost must be spread over affected village residents and the spread must be approved by the Cook County Court.

Residents have the right to protest the assessment before both village bodies, and the right to protest spread of the assessment before the County Court.

Busse-Central Is Headache

The closing of Arlington Heights Road south of Central Road for construction is affecting area commuting.

Mount Prospect, Elk Grove and Arlington Heights commuters are principal rush-hour travelers involved in repeated traffic tie-ups at the junction of Busse and Central Roads.

Some steps were recently taken to alleviate the problem corner at the northwest tip of Mount Prospect.

A MOUNT PROSPECT policeman has been posted at the troublespot. Cautionary signs may soon be placed along Central at approaches to Busse, according to county highway officials.

Mount Prospect police explain acres wishing to turn at the intersection jam up where northbound traffic on Busse must stop for Central traffic.

Northbound traffic on Busse wishing to turn west on Central, does so as numerous cars line up on Central waiting to turn south on Busse.

MEANWHILE, eastbound traffice on Central whizzes past in the inner lane, sometimes unseen by north and westbound drivers.

Although Mount Prospect police have made no traffic count at the corner, an officer has been posted from 7-8 a.m. daily for about four weeks.

George Whittenberg, Mount Prospect police chief, added that three letters of commendation from commuters have been received by the department, noting the placement of the officer saves up to one-half hour each morning.

"IT IS UNUSUAL that people would take the time to sit down and put a 'thank you' in writing," Whittenberg commented.

Since only part of the intersection is Mount Prospect property, an additional afternoon officer will not be posted, however.

Arlington Heights Police Chief L. W. Calderwood Tuesday said only one-fourth of the corner is Arlington Heights property.

"We have had no indications from residents that an afternoon guard is desired, but would help with traffic if requested," Calderwood indicated.

CAUTIONARY signs will be installed along Central at approaches to Busse as soon as work permits, according to Andrew V. Plummer, county superintendent of highways. After an investigation of the location to determine need for additional controls, the county told Paddock Publications a temporary three-way stop would only confuse motorists.

"The problem arises as a result of the Arlington Heights traffic failing to use the established detour route via Elmhurst Route," Plummer concluded.

Vacationer Discovers Burglary

Elroy Wilk, 1214 E. Fremont, Arlington Heights, reported to police Monday that over $1,000 worth of articles were stolen from his house while he was on vacation.

Wilk told police the burglary must have occurred sometime between Aug. 26 and Aug. 28, since he left on the first date and his parents checked the house and found a door unlocked on the latter.

THE POLICE report indicates that entry was gained by breaking glass in a basement window and opening the window to enter through the window-well.

Among the stolen items, which he missed Monday, were two television sets, a radio, an outboard motor, two still cameras and a movie camera.

Wilk placed the value at $1,116. (AF

For United Fund

Payroll Plans To Be in Use

The Arlington Heights United Fund is looking for a 50-50 split on payroll deduction contributions for this year's drive, beginning Oct. 12.

"If you work outside Arlington Heights and contribute to a community fund by payroll deduction," fund president Tom Stewart asserts, "you should earmark at least 50 per cent of your contribution for the Arlington Heights United Fund."

Stewart went on to explain his firm statement on the controversial question of how much of a charitable obligation the average person has to the area in which he works, and how much to the area in which he lives.

"I'M SURE officials of the Crusade of Mercy in Chicago, for example, have established realistic, necessary goals for their month-long drive," he said.

"On the other hand, so are we here in Arlington Heights establishing goals which represent current operating needs of every participating agency," Stewart continued.

"I'm asking every Arlington Heights resident for 50 per cent of his payroll contribution because national averages show 'bedroom' community combined appeal drives realize about half their funds this way," he said.

"WE WANT to raise 100 per cent of your goal, not 50 per cent."

Stewart expressed the opinion that there is an excellent chance of topping this year's goal for the drive since this is the first year the community has been able to participate in payroll deduction designations.

Last year the Arlington Heights United Fund was not affiliated with the Suburban Community Chest Council — a requirement for sharing in payroll deductions elsewhere.

The Suburban Community Chest Council is a non-profit organization which acts as a clearing and distribution house for monies earmarked for suburban communities.

ALMOST 70 per cent of the working population of Arlington Heights is employed elsewhere, according to Stewart — principally in Chicago.

He said there are still some firms which will not permit an employee to direct a portion of his deduction to any other than the local combined appeal group.

But most employers will permit such designation, he added.

The Arlington Heights campaign organization, under chairmanship of Rolland Franzen, is divided into sections for commercial and industrial donations, residential solicitations and payroll deductions.

Arlington Hooks Up With Chicago Cops

The Arlington Heights Police Department and 29 other law enforcement agencies in the Chicago area received a "cordial welcome" from O. W. Wilson, Chicago superintendent of police, last week.

The welcome came over an inter - departmental teletype communications hookup as Chicago officially joined the network.

IN PART the message read, "We are pleased to join this facility and to make available to you the vast repository of information maintained by the Chicago Police Department on stolen and wanted automobiles, wanted persons, drivers license revocations and suspensions, missing persons, and Chicago city vehicle license numbers.

"We hope that this network will prove to be mutually beneficial to all of us, resulting in swift exchange of important information for more effective law enforcement."

At St. Peter Church

Ceremonies Planned For School Personnel

Three Lutheran school staff members will be installed into office and five others will be inducted in a special worship service at 7 p.m. this Sunday at St. Peter Lutheran Church, 111 W. Olive, Arlington Heights.

The Rev. Kenneth Putt will be installed as assistant to the pastor and minister of evangelism.

Lester Rush, formerly a member of the parish school teaching staff, will be installed as principal of the 17-teacher school, and Fred Martin, formerly of Naperville, Ill., will be installed as teacher and athletic director.

Olin Fischer, Philip Heisler, Mrs. Wanda Fischer, Mrs. Rhoda Heisler and Miss Ellison will be inducted as new members of the teaching staff.

OTHER MEMBERS of the staff participating in the rededication service will be:

Roland Kiel, Herbert Wittke, Donald Hermann, Karl Busse, Mrs. Dorothy Kiel, Mrs. Helene Bartz, Mrs. Alberta Deu, Mrs. Irma Haseman, Miss Cynthia Wexler, Miss Donna Siemro and Miss Martha Knutson.

The Rev. Lenard Martin, minister of education, will serve as liturgist for the service, and the Rev. R. O. Bartz, pastor of the parish, will serve as officiant and preacher.

A reception for the Rev. Mr. Putt and his family and Rush and Martin and their families will be held in the cafeteria following the service.

The Rev. Mr. Putt served as pastor of Shepherd King Lutheran Church, Calgary, Alberta, Canada, before moving to Arlington Heights.

He pioneered the Calgary congregation in 1959, beginning with 33 communicant members. When he resigned his pastorate to assume duties at St. Peter Lutheran the congreggation numbered 310, including 180 adults.

REV. PUTT

REV. PUTT is a native of Spokane, Wash. He attended Whitworth College of Spokane, graduating in 1955. From there he went to Concordia Theological Seminary, Springfield, Ill., graduating in 1959.

During his pastorate in Canada he served as corps chaplain of the 21st corps of the Navy League of Canada, as student contact pastor and chaplain at the University of Alberta, chaplain of the William Roper Hull Home for Boys and chaplain of the Northmount Kiwanis of Calgary.

He also served as secretary of the South Alberta Pastoral Conference and as a cabinet member for the Calgary Circuit for Stewardship and Welfare.

Rev. Putt, his wife Carol and three sons will live at 1315 N. Highland in Arlington Heights.

Hearing Is Scheduled On Zoning

The Arlington Heights Plan Commission will hold a public hearing at 8 p.m. Sept. 18 on rezoning of about two and a half acres at the northwest corner of Golf and State roads from R-1 to B-2.

The hearing will be at the Arlington Heights Municipal Building, 33 S. State Road.

The property under consideration for change from single family residential zoning to general business classification includes the site of an existing service station, which would require a special use permit along with the zoning change.

Newcomers Set Evening Meet

Members of the Arlington Heights Newcomers Club will hold their first evening meeting of the season Sept. 18 at 8 p.m. in Pioneer Park Field House.

Anyone who has recently moved to Arlington Heights is invited to attend as a guest. Complete information is available from the membership chairman, Mrs. Norman Saunders, 358-4094.

Members and guests will meet for the monthly luncheon meeting Sept. 11 in Old Orchard Country Club. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Lowell Lachelt 259-0260, or Mrs. James Summers 259-2346 by Monday, Sept. 9. (A

Busse-Central Is Headache

The closing of Arlington Heights Road south of Central Road for construction is affecting area commuting.

Mount Prospect, Elk Grove and Arlington Heights commuters are principal rush-hour travelers involved in repeated traffic tie-ups at the junction of Busse and Central Roads.

Some steps were recently taken to alleviate the problem corner at the northwest tip of Mount Prospect.

A MOUNT PROSPECT policeman has been posted at the troublespot. Cautionary signs may soon be placed along Central at approaches to Busse, according to county highway officials.

Mount Prospect police explain acres wishing to turn at the intersection jam up where northbound traffic on Busse must stop for Central traffic.

Northbound traffic on Busse wishing to turn west on Central, does so as numerous cars line up on Central waiting to turn south on Busse.

MEANWHILE, eastbound traffice on Central whizzes past in the inner lane, sometimes unseen by north and westbound drivers.

Although Mount Prospect police have made no traffic count at the corner, an officer has been posted from 7-8 a.m. daily for about four weeks.

George Whittenberg, Mount Prospect police chief, added that three letters of commendation from commuters have been received by the department, noting the placement of the officer saves up to one-half hour each morning.

"IT IS UNUSUAL that people would take the time to sit down and put a 'thank you' in writing," Whittenberg commented.

Since only part of the intersection is Mount Prospect property, an additional afternoon officer will not be posted, however.

Arlington Heights Police Chief L. W. Calderwood Tuesday said only one-fourth of the corner is Arlington Heights property.

"We have had no indications from residents that an afternoon guard is desired, but would help with traffic if requested," Calderwood indicated.

CAUTIONARY signs will be installed along Central at approaches to Busse as soon as work permits, according to Andrew V. Plummer, county superintendent of highways. After an investigation of the location to determine need for additional controls, the county told Paddock Publications a temporary three-way stop would only confuse motorists.

"The problem arises as a result of the Arlington Heights traffic failing to use the established detour route via Elmhurst Route," Plummer concluded.

Vacationer Discovers Burglary

Elroy Wilk, 1214 E. Fremont, Arlington Heights, reported to police Monday that over $1,000 worth of articles were stolen from his house while he was on vacation.

Wilk told police the burglary must have occurred sometime between Aug. 26 and Aug. 28, since he left on the first date and his parents checked the house and found a door unlocked on the latter.

THE POLICE report indicates that entry was gained by breaking glass in a basement window and opening the window to enter through the window-well.

Among the stolen items, which he missed Monday, were two television sets, a radio, an outboard motor, two still cameras and a movie camera.

Wilk placed the value at $1,116. (AF

Payroll Plans To Be in Use

The Arlington Heights United Fund is looking for a 50-50 split on payroll deduction contributions for this year's drive, beginning Oct. 12.

"If you work outside Arlington Heights and contribute to a community fund by payroll deduction," fund president Tom Stewart asserts, "you should earmark at least 50 per cent of your contribution for the Arlington Heights United Fund."

Stewart went on to explain his firm statement on the controversial question of how much of a charitable obligation the average person has to the area in which he works, and how much to the area in which he lives.

"I'M SURE officials of the Crusade of Mercy in Chicago, for example, have established realistic, necessary goals for their month-long drive," he said.

"On the other hand, so are we here in Arlington Heights establishing goals which represent current operating needs of every participating agency," Stewart continued.

"I'm asking every Arlington Heights resident for 50 per cent of his payroll contribution because national averages show 'bedroom' community combined appeal drives realize about half their funds this way," he said.

"WE WANT to raise 100 per cent of your goal, not 50 per cent."

Stewart expressed the opinion that there is an excellent chance of topping this year's goal for the drive since this is the first year the community has been able to participate in payroll deduction designations.

Last year the Arlington Heights United Fund was not affiliated with the Suburban Community Chest Council — a requirement for sharing in payroll deductions elsewhere.

Northwest Community Hospital, Arlington Heights, has proof that a number of its staff members have split personalities.

While pondering which psychiatrist should be called to handle the situation, the hospital found an accountant or bookkeeper would be of more practical help.

The "split" side of staffers' personalities provided the hospital with a donation of $4,570 for its expansion fund, and the prospect of even more financial help in the near future.

The building fund, aimed at doubling the hospital capacity both in service areas and beds, has a goal of $4 million. Chairman of the expansion fund is Nicholas M. Lattof, who accepted the donation on behalf of the hospital board of trustees.

THE MONEY represented profits from a play presented last February — a play directed, planned and starring members of the hospital staff displaying the "other side" of their natures.

Heading the efffort was Mrs. Helen Bodelson, Palatine, surgical technician at the hospital. While making the presentation of the near $5,000 profit to Lattof, Mrs. Bodelson announced plans by the hospital thespians for another play in December.

Players, stage hands and technicians are already being signed for "More Than Meets the Eye" by Fred Carmichael. The cast and supporting workers again are expected to run the gamut of hospital talent. The first production included doctors, nurses, technicians, volunteers, engineers, doctors' wives and members of the dietary staff.

The play again will list Mrs. Bodelson as director. Mrs. Bodelson is a former president of the Palatine Players.

The December theatrical venture will be on the boards of Palatine High School, Wood Street, Palatine. Exact dates will be announced later.

THE NEW production will run for six performances as compared to five performances for the first play. The addition of another performance came when turn-away crowds were present.

Commenting on the theatrical bent and money-raising spirit of the hospital workers, Mrs. Bodelson noted "Hospital people are among the busiest I know, but their desire to contribute to hospital expansion funds made them the most cooperative group with whom I have ever worked.

"They are determined to increase the amount of the contribution made after the first show, bution made after the first show," Mrs. Bodelson stressed.

Refuse to Indict Rock Island Mayor

ROCK ISLAND, (UPI)—Mayor Morris Muhleman of Rock Island said today he felt no bitterness about State's Atty. Richard Stengel's attempts to indict him on bribery charges.

A Rock Island County grand jury refused to return indictments for bribery, attempted bribery, official misconduct or solicitation. The grand jury voted 10 no true bills.

"I'm grateful but I'm not gloating," Muhleman said. "So far as I'm concerned, I'm not carrying any bitterness.

"I want to get to work and get our town back into a state of peace instead of the chaos we've had here recently," the Mayor said.

STENGEL SAID he will continue his investigations into alleged attempts to bribe city councilmen. Stengel accused Muhleman of offering bribes of $100 a month to Councilmen Peter Cassini and Robert Maurus for votes against a proposal to give the city manager authority to hire and fire police and fire chiefs.

The ordinance passed, 5-1.

Asked what he thought about Stengel's pledge to continue investigating, Muhleman said, "That's his affair, not mine."

Stengel contended that Cassini and Maurus came into his office Aug. 13, the day after Councilman Charles Heriford said he received threats and bribe offers. and told him about bribe attempts.

"Where there is this much smoke, there must be fire" Stengel said. (B-9

Mrs. Gahagan Joins NW Hospital Staff

Mrs. Dorothy Gahagan, 380 Ridge, Evanston, has joined the staff of Northwest Community Hospital as head of the housekeeping staff.

Mrs. Gahagan served as assistant to the executive housekeeper at Evanston Hospital for three years and has completed courses in supervisory housekeeping at Michigan State University.

She is a member of the National Executive Housekeepers Association and the Chicago Regional Housekeepers Association.

IN HER NEW position Mrs. Gahagan will direct the work of a staff of 20 charged with maintaining maximum cleanliness standards in the hospital.

Housekeeping work at the Northwest Community includes window washing, painting, floor and wall cleaning anc care of draperies. In addition the housekeeping department handles the hospital laundry which approximates 50,000 pounds every month. (B-8

New Nursing Center To Hold Open House

The Brookwood convalescent and nursing center, located on Dempster and Lyman Street in Des Plaines, has announced its grand opening to take place from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 7 and 8.

Built on colonial lines, the quaint two-story structure will be devoted to caring for the needs of convalescents, chronically ill, non-educable handicapped children and "senior citizens."

SEVERAL unusual features have been included in the Brookwood center for the convenience of residents and guests.

The facility has an extensively equipped physiotherapy and rehabilitation section. This will be available to residents as well as those wishing to use it on a per-visit basis.

It also has a barber shop, beauty shop, dental facilities, a well equipped laboratory, a snack shop, and examining rooms for use by visiting and staff doctors. Meals and snacks are dietician directed.

The handicapped children's section will be conducted on a child oriented program with emphasis on encouraging the child to perform the basic functions of daily living.

CONVALESCENTS will receive attention as their needs require. As with the other sections, rooms will be available in private, two or four bed groups. Rooms are comfort-styled and the section includes full use of living room areas, library, etc. Physiotherapy and rehabilitation programs will be provided as needed.

Ambulatory patients will use the special rooms or equipment will be moved to the room. Much of the equipment is purposely mobile to provide this service. In addition this section will include a staff specially trained to care for the convalescents. Medicines will be administered as prescribed.

Freeway Speed

An accident on a freeway can be the most expensive kind. According to the Institute for Safer Living, destruction resulting from an accident usually is in proportion to the rate of speed being traveled.

THE MONEY represented profits from a play presented last February — a play directed, planned and starring members of the hospital staff displaying the "other side" of their natures.

Heading the efffort was Mrs. Helen Bodelson, Palatine, surgical technician at the hospital. While making the presentation of the near $5,000 profit to Lattof, Mrs. Bodelson announced plans by the hospital thespians for another play in December.

Players, stage hands and technicians are already being signed for "More Than Meets the Eye" by Fred Carmichael. The cast and supporting workers again are expected to run the gamut of hospital talent. The first production included doctors, nurses, technicians, volunteers, engineers, doctors' wives and members of the dietary staff.

The play again will list Mrs. Bodelson as director. Mrs. Bodelson is a former president of the Palatine Players.

The December theatrical venture will be on the boards of Palatine High School, Wood Street, Palatine. Exact dates will be announced later.

THE NEW production will run for six performances as compared to five performances for the first play. The addition of another performance came when turn-away crowds were present.

Commenting on the theatrical bent and money-raising spirit of the hospital workers, Mrs. Bodelson noted "Hospital people are among the busiest I know, but their desire to contribute to hospital expansion funds made them the most cooperative group with whom I have ever worked.

"They are determined to increase the amount of the contribution made after the first show, bution made after the first show," Mrs. Bodelson stressed.

Refuse to Indict Rock Island Mayor

ROCK ISLAND, (UPI)—Mayor Morris Muhleman of Rock Island said today he felt no bitterness about State's Atty. Richard Stengel's attempts to indict him on bribery charges.

A Rock Island County grand jury refused to return indictments for bribery, attempted bribery, official misconduct or solicitation. The grand jury voted 10 no true bills.

"I'm grateful but I'm not gloating," Muhleman said. "So far as I'm concerned, I'm not carrying any bitterness.

"I want to get to work and get our town back into a state of peace instead of the chaos we've had here recently," the Mayor said.

STENGEL SAID he will continue his investigations into alleged attempts to bribe city councilmen. Stengel accused Muhleman of offering bribes of $100 a month to Councilmen Peter Cassini and Robert Maurus for votes against a proposal to give the city manager authority to hire and fire police and fire chiefs.

The ordinance passed, 5-1.

Asked what he thought about Stengel's pledge to continue investigating, Muhleman said, "That's his affair, not mine."

Stengel contended that Cassini and Maurus came into his office Aug. 13, the day after Councilman Charles Heriford said he received threats and bribe offers, and told him about bribe attempts.

"Where there is this much smoke, there must be fire" Stengel said. (B-9

Mrs. Gahagan Joins NW Hospital Staff

Mrs. Dorothy Gahagan, 380 Ridge, Evanston, has joined the staff of Northwest Community Hospital as head of the housekeeping staff.

Mrs. Gahagan served as assistant to the executive housekeeper at Evanston Hospital for three years and has completed courses in supervisory housekeeping at Michigan State University.

She is a member of the National Executive Housekeepers Association and the Chicago Regional Housekeepers Association.

IN HER NEW position Mrs. Gahagan will direct the work of a staff of 20 charged with maintaining maximum cleanliness standards in the hospital.

Housekeeping work at the Northwest Community includes window washing, painting, floor and wall cleaning anc care of draperies. In addition the housekeeping department handles the hospital laundry which approximates 50,000 pounds every month. (B-8

New Nursing Center To Hold Open House

The Brookwood convalescent and nursing center, located on Dempster and Lyman Street in Des Plaines, has announced its grand opening to take place from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 7 and 8.

Built on colonial lines, the quaint two-story structure will be devoted to caring for the needs of convalescents, chronically ill, non-educable handicapped children and "senior citizens."

SEVERAL unusual features have been included in the Brookwood center for the convenience of residents and guests.

The facility has an extensively equipped physiotherapy and rehabilitation section. This will be available to residents as well as those wishing to use it on a per-visit basis.

It also has a barber shop, beauty shop, dental facilities, a well equipped laboratory, a snack shop, and examining rooms for use by visiting and staff doctors. Meals and snacks are dietician directed.

The handicapped children's section will be conducted on a child oriented program with emphasis on encouraging the child to perform the basic functions of daily living.

CONVALESCENTS will receive attention as their needs require. As with the other sections, rooms will be available in private, two or four bed groups. Rooms are comfort-styled and the section includes full use of living room areas, library, etc. Physiotherapy and rehabilitation programs will be provided as needed.

Ambulatory patients will use the special rooms or equipment will be moved to the room. Much of the equipment is purposely mobile to provide this service. In addition this section will include a staff specially trained to care for the convalescents. Medicines will be administered as prescribed.

Question: Why "NATIONALIZE" my banking in Arlington Heights?

Answer: Try Asking our bank for a

NICE BIG LOAN

(Being reasonably sure of getting it from us — at the NATIONAL BANK)

If you ever hope to be wealthy or even comfortably fixed, the logical thing to do is to learn HOW to borrow money, and WHERE.

Here are five easy rules that will help you borrow wisely:

First, pick a Full Service commercial bank like Arlington Heights National Bank.

Second, do all your major banking business with us. (This includes both your checking account and your savings account. The more business the better.)

Third, get personally acquainted with one or more of our officers and fill out a Personal Financial Statement. We'll be glad to help you do this.

Fourth, keep both your savings account and your checking account with us.

Last, make a few worthwhile small loans and pay them back on schedule. (This does wonders for your credit reputation.)

Get to know the folks at Arlington Heights National before you need them.

Almost before you realize it, you'll have earned yourself a financial partner. Now, when you're ready to go into business for yourself, send the kids to college, or whatever, we'll be able to help you, both with sound financial advice and low cost loans.

Sound logical? Why not get started with your Full Service commercial bank now?

Directory Firm Sees Boom in Suburb Jobs

Suburban area industries will offer a fruitful field for job seekers during the post - Labor Day employment surge.

A recently completed suburban industrial survey conducted by the Market Research Department of the Reuben H. Donnelley Telephone Directory Co., publishers of Chicago and Suburban Yellow Pages Classified telephone directories, revealed that there are nearly 5,000 separate business firms in the suburban areas engaged in manufacturing, fabricating, assembly, engineering and other operations which are industrially oriented.

In addition there are 104,060 commercial main station telephones in the suburban area each representing a commercial enterprise of a non-industrial type — including retail, professional, service and community support businesses.

THE SUBURBAN industrial complex continues to be an increasingly attractive job market for college graduates, skilled clerical and technically qualcontinue through the latter part of the 1960s.

Their report states that "As the city is successful in renewing itself, it will become more and more rational and fashionified personnel because the industrial growth has been primarily expanding which requires fewer workers to produce the goods consumed by the nation's growing population.

The growth trend continues in suburban Chicagoland. New plants and offices give rise to new communities and in turn the new communities are aggressively attracting new plants to help share the tax burden.

Although the Donnelley suburban industrial survey is a bench mark study to chart further industrial growth, an analysis of the commercial telephone statistics shows a 30 per cent increase in new service the past five years, indicating the rate at which suburban industry is growing.

JOB HUNTING looks bright in the suburban industrial areas this fall and winter, although the Chicago Labor Market Analysis unit of the Illinois State Employment Service indicates that a counter movement in Chicago is building up and will able (for business) to be located in the heart of things."

For the foreseeable future, job seekers will find that suburban business and industry provide a multitude of opportunities, combined with convenience and a pleasant working environment. (B-9

Roller Skating to Return Here Friday

Roller skating returns to Arlington Heights with the reopening of the Triangle Roller Rink on Friday, Sept. 6, 8 p.m. The rink is located at 1000 W. Northwest Hwy., Arlington Heights.

A new program policy has been adopted which will be of special interest to most skaters, regardless of whether they are interested in form or proficiency. The program will be handled by Don Scott at the Hammond organ and feature "fun skating."

THE HOURS of skating will be from 8 p.m. to 11:30 p.m. on Fridays and Saturdays and 7:30 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. on Sundays. Matinees will be presented on Saturday and Sunday afternoons at 2:00 o'clock.

The rink is air conditioned with paved parking for 100 cars. Shoe skates can be rented by anyone who does not own their own skates.

Church, school and club groups are invited for private and semi-private parties for fund raising and social gatherings.

Additional information is available from the rink office at 392-7090. (A

Guild Plans First Fall Meeting

The Lutheran Church Women of the Church of the Good Shepherd will hold their first meeting of the fall season Sept. 10, 8 p.m.

The guest speaker will be Jane Weston, director, Housing Opportunities Program, American Friends Service Committee (Quakers), Chicago. She will talk on the subject of discrimination in housing in the Chicago area with particular attention to suburban problems.

The Housing Opportunities Program has worked for several years toward the basic good of expanding areas for non-segregated living by working with members of the housing industry and with concerned citizens and organizations.

Miss Weston's talk will be followed by a "questions and discussion" period, a regular business meeting and refreshments. The church is located at 1111 N. Elmhurst Road, Prospect Heights. (ACM

WORLD TELEVISION

by ED LANDWEHR

There's much talk about people understanding people around the earth to solve the world's troubles. And the one way that would improve the relationship is not being encouraged to any degree.

That is the exchange of television programs. Although other parts of the world do not have complete coverage like we do in America, there is TV programming going on around the globe in some degree. With the fine electronic recording processes available, programs could easily be exchanged and made understandable by interposing the languages of the area. These programs would be highly interesting and less costly than many of the 'who dun it' and 'bang-bang' productions.

Yes, that TV in your living room has a great potential in this world. But, the servicing of TV for the best viewing potential has improved. LANDWEHR TV, 218 N. Attorney to Speak

'Alliance' Is Topic For League Meeting

A. R. SARABIA

"Alliance for Progress" will be the subject of a talk by Antonio R. Sarabia, a Chicago attorney specializing in international commercial law, 8 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 12, at Recreation Park, 500 E. Miner St., Arlington Heights.

The Alliance for Progress is a 10-year program set up in 1962 at the Inter-American Economic and Social Conference at Punta Del Este, Uruguay.

It provides a minimum of $20 billion for economic growth and social improvement of Latin American countries with the United States to furnish more than half the money. The remainder to come from international agencies, Western Europe and private capital.

SARABIA, a graduate of the University of Chicago Law School, was born in Chihuahua, Mexico.

He is a professor of International Law at The Lawyers Institute, John Marshall Law School, Chicago and Secretary of the Section on International Law of the Illinois State Bar Association and is the author of a number of articles that have appeared in various legal journals.

He peridoically lectures to business executives involved in foreign trade and investment at both the University of Illinois Institute on International Trade and the American Management association.

THE LEAGUE of Women Voters of Arlington Heights and Palatine are sponsoring this program. The foreign relations chairmen are Mrs. Keith Atkins of Elk Grove Village and Mrs. Paul Erler of Inverness.

The Arlington Heights League has members in Arlington Heights, Elk Grove Village, Mount Prospect, Prospect Heights and Rolling Meadows, while Palatine members reside in Palatine Township.

Christian Church Plans 2 Services

Christian church 2-36 bold

For the first time, the Christian Church of Arlington Heights is going to hold double worship services.

Beginning Sunday, September 8 the first service will be held at 8:30 a.m. and a second service will begin at 10:45 a.m. Children's and adult Sunday school classes will be held as usual at 9:45 a.m.

Increased attendance was given as reason for having two worship services by Tom Fennell, Arlington Heights, president of the church board. Both services will be conducted by the Rev. Don L. Jones, pastor.

Music director Joe Bryson, Arlington Heights, will continue to direct the second service choir. Joe Barthel, Arlington Heights, will direct the first service choir.

THE CHRISTIAN Church of Arlington Heights, serving northwest suburban communities, is one of over 8,500 in the Christian, brotherhood, affiliated with Disciples of Christ.

With two million members, the "Christians" are the seventh largest Protestant denomination in the United States and largest of all native denominations.

The church is located at Thomas and Mitchell Avenues in north Arlington Heights. (A Report Eye Damage To 15 from Eclipse

CHICAGO, (UPI)—At least 15 Illinoisans suffered permanent eye damage when they looked directly at the July 20 eclipse, the Illinois Society for the Prevention of Blindness reported today.

Six of those permanently injured were from Chicago, six from Chicago suburbs and one each from Olney, Dixon, and Aurora.

Frank F. Fowle, president of the society, said there may have been other cases not reported by doctors to the society.

A SPOKESMAN said "One woman said she didn't understand the information we circulated prior to the eclipse and thought because it didn't get dark outside, it was safe to look."

The youngest person burned was a 9-year-old boy. Most of those who suffered eye damage were between 19 and 21 years of age.

Fowle said most of the victims just did not believe their eyes could be hurt by looking at the eclipse.

Park District Will Teach Square Dance

It was announced this week by Bill Appleby, superintendent of recreation for the Arlington Heights Park District, that square dance lessons will be offered as a new activity in the park district fall program.

The classes are scheduled to begin on Monday, Sept. 9, from 8 to 10:30 p.m. at Recreation Park fieldhouse.

"This is an excellent chance for those people who have always wanted to square dance, to learn, and join in on all the fun," Appleby said.

THE CLASSES will be instructed by Merrill "Tib" Tibbetts, a professional caller. The course will consist of 16, two and one-half hour classes for only $16.00 per couple.

Three local square dance clubs are cooperating with the Park district in presenting this activity; they are the "Swingin' Squares," "Arlington Squares," and "Palatine Squares."

Interested persons may join the class by calling or coming in to the Park District office at 500 S. Fernandez, CL 3-0620.

Mixed Chorus Plans Open House Mon.

Town and Country Mixed Chorus will begin its season Monday with an open house at home of Bert Kuhr, 18 Woodcrest Lane, Elk Grove Village.

The open house at 8 p.m. is designed to stimulate interest in music in the area and encourage new membership.

Anyone interested in joining the group is invited to attend the open house. An interest in music is the only requirement for chorus membership.

TOWN AND Country Mixed Chorus has been performing for 11 years. It draws members from the northwest suburban area.

Annually the group present a program such as "Music Man," "Sound of Music," and "My Fair Lady." This season's production will be "Brigadoon." The chorus sings classical and light musical selections.

Mrs. Charles Rosenkrantz, 243 Ashly Road, Hoffman Estates, directs the group.

Anyone who is interested in the chorus but cannot attend this open house can call the chorus president, Bert Kuhr at HE 7-0218. (B-8

First Youth Camp Opens in Indiana

INDANAPOLIS, (UPI) — Three buses loaded with unemployed young men rolled southward through Indiana Tuesday, headed for Harrison State Forest near Corydon and the opening of the first Indiana youth conservation camp.

The 100 men are enrolled at the first camp which is aimed at solving the unemployment problems of 18-to-22-year-old citizens. The experiment already has attracted wide interest in other states.

THE MEN WERE selected from 225 youths screened by the Indiana Employment Security Division.

At Indianapolis, Gov. Matthew Welsh met a bus, which arrived from Gary via Lafayette to pick up the Indianapolis group.

Welsh promised the young men "we will see after you have finished this tour of duty that you have an opportunity for employment."

"This is a trial run, the first in the United States by a state, to evolve a program to help you young fellows find your place in society," he said.

WELSH SAID he would visit the camp later and said "many people in Indiana are interested in finding the means to help young people equip themselves."

Conservation Director Donald Foltz also stepped aboard the bus to tell the group in Indianapolis that "you will work every day, regardless of weather." He said the jobs to be done at the Harrison State Forest include construction of camp sites, cutting fire lanes, cutting and trimming trees, and rehabilitation of the five main buildings of the old Civilian Conservation Corps headquarters, in which the youths will be living. Muddy Monster Unmasked

APPLETON, WIS. (UPI) — The "monster" of the Appleton sewage plant has been laid low and young lovers can resume their strolls in the dark without fear of another "attack."

A youth walking his girl friend home the first three nights of this week reported the monster loomed at them from the dark and splattered them with mud.

A CIVILIAN army of 100 adults and teenagers turned out with clubs and flashlights last night to track down the menace.

Roman Reiche, a night watchman at the sewage plant, solved the case after reporting he overheard two teenage boys plot to scare their buddy as he walked his girl home.

Reichel said one youth climbed on the other's back and they donned a black cloak. (B-9

Sponsor Not Mad at Veto Of Death Penalty Study

SPRINGFELD, ILL. (UPI) — State Sen. Robert McCarthy said today the governor's veto of McCarthy's pet bill for a commission to study capital punishment "might be a good thing."

McCarthy for years has been the most vocal opponent of the death penalty in the Illinois legislature. This year, after a bill to replace a six-year test moratorium on capital punishment failed, McCarthy sponsored a measure to create a commission to study all phases of the question of the death penalty. Gov. Otto Kerner vetoed the commission bill last week.

In a telephone interview, McCarthy said, "On a question as serious as capital punishment, the delay of a couple of years isn't going to matter at all."

THE LINCOLN Democrat explained, "This is a non-political issue, but in an election year, I can see perhaps that if such a commission was functioning, some members might inject politics into the deliberations. Maybe it's best to wait."

McCarthy said he had not asked the governor to sign the bill and the governor had not promised him that he would. Kerner personally is opposed to the death penalty.

A few days before the governor vetoed the measure, McCarthy was informed by Kerner's office that the action was forthcoming.

"It wasn't in the governor's budget and I guess he didn't want to set up too many new commissions," McCarthy said.

"I had hoped personally that some of the chief opponents of the moratorium bill would be on the commission. I had talked to Sen. Arthur Sprague (R-La Grange) and Sen. Thomas McGloon (D-Chicago) and they said they would serve. In the house, Rep. (Abner) Mikva (D-Chicago) was lining up a few of the chief opponents there.

"IF 10 members were able to sit down and concentrate on the arguments and figures involved here, some of the chief opposition would melt away."

McCarthy said the governor's veto would not be a factor on whether he would run for the Senate again in 1964. He announced on the final day of the session in June that he would not come back. However, since then he has "hedged a bit" on his decision and has said he definitely will be a candidate if the senate must be elected on an at-large basis. (B-9

Tourney Bridge Hands 'Dealt' by Computer

CHICAGO, (UPI) — If bridge experts have any gripes about the deals they got at the Illinois State Bridge Championships during the Labor Day weekend, they'll have to blame it on a cold calculating machine.

A high-speed electronic data processing system was used to "shuffle" and "deal" all hands for the tournament involving 5,000 bridge experts from the Illinois region.

Robert H. Wilkins, director of the Illinois tournament, said the computer never really touches a deck of cards but computes much better bridge hands than people can deal.

Wilkins said hands dealt in the conventional manner cause freak distribution with "too many eight-card suits, too many voids and the same tricks in the last hand being dealt in the new hand."

ITS manufacturers, Honeywell Electronic Data Processing, said the computer's value is in being able to generate long series of hands without having any prearranged sequence.

The computer prints in the usual bridge column format at the rate of 900 lines of type per minute. While one hand is being printed, another is being prepared.

The company said this is the second exhibition for the computer which was first used last month at the University of California for the American Contract Bridge League summer championships. (B9

Classes Planned for Power Boat Owners

by BOB YEARICK
Staff Writer

Power boat owners in the northwest suburbs will be offered a unique opportunity, beginning Sept. 24, to learn more about their crafts and the handling of them.

On that date, a free course on small boat piloting begins at Glenbrook North High School. The same instruction will be given at Barrington High School starting Oct. 3.

Registration at Glenbrook is Sept. 9, 10, 12, 23 and 24. At Barrington, it is Sept. 18, 19 and 20.

The 13-wek courses are being offered by the Skokie Valley Squadron, member of the United States Power Squadrons. They are under the direction of Andrew Kaiser, of Northbrook.

In keeping with the squadron's goal of having each membeer either "teaching or taking" a course, Kaiser has enlisted six to eight members as instructors.

"The courses will emphasize safety and seamanship," Kaiser said.

OFFICIALLY, the classes will deal with equipment and government regulations, rules of the road afloat, safety afloat, the mariner's compass, aids to navigation, charts and piloting and manners and customs on shipboard.

"Enrollment last year at Glenbrook was approximately 40, and at Barrington it was about half that," Kaiser said.

He estimated that 85 per cent of the people taking the courses have had "little or no experience" in handling power boats.

All instruction points toward preparing the student for the final examination. However, he is not obligated to take it.

KAISER has found that the popularity of the courses has increased as membership rolls lengthened.

"We started with 12 members two years ago," he said. "Today we have 115."

He said most members live in Palatine, Northbrook and Barrington.

If the Squadron grows much larger, a new one will probably be formed, Kaiser said. This is to insure a tightly-knit, well-organized group, he said.

The United States Power Squadrons was incorporated in 1941. Since then, it has grown to approximately 360 squadrons in 30 districts. Membership is restricted to men, although women are welcome to attend classes in piloting and small boat handling. (B-9

Kids Cry over School Bell; Parents Mourn Summer's End

Sidelights
Of Arlington Heights

Arlington Heights, Scarsdale & Estates, Stonegate

Dorothy Meyer, CL 3-2298 Elsie Jedd, CL 3-5982

"Oh boy, it's time to go to school again, "the children cried — and cried — and cried. Parents have been heard weeping lately, too, not because it's school time, of course, but in mourning for the passing of summer. Returning vacationers hustled home to beat the holiday traffic and the weekend was comparatively quiet. Except for muffled sobbing here and there.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Adam, 510 N. Evergreen, came home last Wednesday from a 6-week vacation tour in the West that included a month-long stay in Los Angeles with their son, Helmar, and the realization of a lifelong ambition for Mr. Adam. He drove up Pike's Peak. Lots of tourists make the trip to the summit, but they go by rail or bus; Adam wanted to drive it himself in the family car and he did.

They both stood the strain very well, thank you, and made the drive home via a route that included stops at Hoover Dam, Crand Canyon and with friends in Scottsdale, Ariz.

DURING THE month with their son, Mr. and Mrs. Adam made many side trips to points of interest in the area, and especially enjoyed two days and nights aboard the yacht of friends of their son's. They also visited former Arlington Heights neighbors, the Brendon Roaches, now in Downey, and long-time friends, formerly of Palatine, the Gene Stidtsons, now at home in the San Fernando valley. After the stop in Scottsdale to see another former neighborhood couple, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. (Jim) Paul, the Adams had a full load of greetings to bring home to local friends of the Roaches, the Stidtsons and the Pauls.

Sara Livingston was hostess Friday night at a party that was dubbed an "end-of-the summer blast" by 18 fellow high-schoolers who were guests in the Livingston home, 1403 N. Vail. A scavenger hunt, games and dancing filled the evening, and a midnight buffet did the same for Sara's guests. Mrs. Livingston reports that five teenagers helped scrub the basement in preparation for the "blast" and all of the guests were "delightful. I think my husband and I had as much fun as the kids."

Mrs. Howard Dawson and son, Pat, were part of the recent beat-the-traffic from Michigan, returning home to 114 N. Forrest a full week before the holiday rush. They had spent six weeks in the family summer cottage in Ann Arbor. Last Wednesday the Dawsons' son, Mike, left for Nashville, where he's beginning his college career with a scholarship at Vanderbilt University.

JERRY AND Mike Hirons came home to 1020 N. Chestnut yesterday after completing a 10-day job, and fun, with the Minnesota State Fair in St. Paul. Ridge Park–Sherwood

Home from a summer at their cottage on Medicine Lake, Wis., is the George Lurtz family, 909 N. Patton. Among the many guests during the summer of swimming and boating were George and Helen Krilcic of Harvard Street and their daughter, Donna.

For Marjorie Lurtz, the summer proved an exciting one, as she entered the state waterskiing contests at Janesvile, and enjoyed her stay at Holiday Inn there and her festivities as a contestant. Unpacking for Margie consisted of emptying her suitcase right into her college-bound trunk. She'll leave later this month for her freshman year at Northern Illinois University, DeKalb.

Although it's always hard to settle back into the winter routine, Mrs. Lurtz reports that her initial shock was eased somewhat by the gala homecoming dinner given them by Sylvia and Red Craig.

MOVING vans have been busy in Ridge Park, bringing the Richard Clarke family from 1002 N. Forest to 921 N. Patton. They have a married daughter, Mrs. Dennis Langguth, of Palatine, and a daughter, Paulette, who'll enter University of Illinois at Champaign-Urbana this month. Their son, Richard, who'll be in his fourth year at Northwestern, studying mechanical engineering, is expected home this weekend from his summer in San Diego with General Dynamics. Bobette is in sixth grade at St. James, Michael, in fourth, and Trudy, 4, is still at home.

For Kathy Chapman, now home at Kaspar and Elm after her week's family vacation at Three Lakes, Wis., the big excitement wasn't fishing, boating, swimming or hiking that the rest of the family enjoyed. Kathy's always been on the receiving end of postcards before. This time her mother, Gene, packed the telephone book, and Kathy was allowed to send picture postcards back home to all her friends and her music school teacher. Jerry reports the fishing was fine, even though they never did get the tent mended.

HOME AT 919 N. Fernandez are the Ed Seamans, after a southern vacation. They stopped to see friends in their former home towns of Augusta, Ga., Greenwood, S.C., and Savannah, Ga. They stayed with Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hados in Miami for a week, enjoying swimming, raft-riding in the ocean and looking for shells. After Miami, they stopped with Mr. and Mrs. Jim Stauffer in St. Petersburg. An hour's drive north, and catastrophe, as the engine of the car collapsed completely! Given a choice between a new engine with a week's delay, and a used engine from a wreck with a three-day delay, the Seamans gambled on the used one. They returned to St. Petersburg while the car was being fixed, and after a successful start, came home in 30 hours of straight driving.

Children, however, seem to need less sleep than adults, and as they had reached Arlington Heights on the morning of Greg's eighth birthday, he demanded a party. . .of course, on that very day. Grandmother Mrs. Anders Hogfelt of Chicago, obliged, and rounded up all the cousins for a city party to fete Greg.

AUGUST WAS the birthday month for the Seamans, as Mr. Seaman celebrated his birthday, so did his twin, and Eddie turned 15. Mrs. Seaman "relaxed" by greeting relatives at the Labor Day picnic of St. John's Greek Orthodox Church, and by welcoming Telie Avlonas of Athens, Greece, as a weekend guest.

Monica Toretto, 614 W. Elm, celebrated her 10th birthday with a party for Wilma Keller, Mary Scalzitti, Kitty Blaha, Laura Stebbins, Janet Ferguson, Margie Kelly and her sister, Lisa. The Torettos had a family reunion Labor Day weekend, when Mrs. Toretto's mother, Mrs. Bertie Young, and sister, en route from California, stayed overnight. They gave her news of her brother, Ralph Young of Orange, whom they'd been visiting for a month.

Honors in long-distance commuting go to Mr. Kessenich, who came in to Chicago while the family stayed at their cottage on Lake Wisconsin. Susan Kessenich, now 8, celebrated her birthday with a party at the cottage for grandparents, Mrs. Anna Kessenich, of DeForest, Wis., and Mr.and Mrs. Chris Andersen of Madison, and uncle, Oliver Kessenich. Oliver had a chance to see his new namesake, Steven Oliver, born in May. Mrs. Kesenich, now home at 1005 N. Illinois, reports a quiet vacation. . .nothing more than "fish hooks in fingers and no heat in the cottage."

Kids Cry over School Bell; Parents Mourn Summer's End

Sidelights
Of Arlington Heights

Arlington Heights, Scarsdale & Estates, Stonegate

Dorothy Meyer, CL 3-2298 Elsie Jedd, CL 3-5982

"Oh boy, it's time to go to school again, "the children cried — and cried — and cried. Parents have been heard weeping lately, too, not because it's school time, of course, but in mourning for the passing of summer. Returning vacationers hustled home to beat the holiday traffic and the weekend was comparatively quiet. Except for muffled sobbing here and there.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Adam, 510 N. Evergreen, came home last Wednesday from a 6-week vacation tour in the West that included a month-long stay in Los Angeles with their son, Helmar, and the realization of a lifelong ambition for Mr. Adam. He drove up Pike's Peak. Lots of tourists make the trip to the summit, but they go by rail or bus; Adam wanted to drive it himself in the family car and he did.

They both stood the strain very well, thank you, and made the drive home via a route that included stops at Hoover Dam, Crand Canyon and with friends in Scottsdale, Ariz.

DURING THE month with their son, Mr. and Mrs. Adam made many side trips to points of interest in the area, and especially enjoyed two days and nights aboard the yacht of friends of their son's. They also visited former Arlington Heights neighbors, the Brendon Roaches, now in Downey, and long-time friends, formerly of Palatine, the Gene Stidtsons, now at home in the San Fernando valley. After the stop in Scottsdale to see another former neighborhood couple, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. (Jim) Paul, the Adams had a full load of greetings to bring home to local friends of the Roaches, the Stidtsons and the Pauls.

Sara Livingston was hostess Friday night at a party that was dubbed an "end-of-the summer blast" by 18 fellow high-schoolers who were guests in the Livingston home, 1403 N. Vail. A scavenger hunt, games and dancing filled the evening, and a midnight buffet did the same for Sara's guests. Mrs. Livingston reports that five teenagers helped scrub the basement in preparation for the "blast" and all of the guests were "delightful. I think my husband and I had as much fun as the kids."

Mrs. Howard Dawson and son, Pat, were part of the recent beat-the-traffic from Michigan, returning home to 114 N. Forrest a full week before the holiday rush. They had spent six weeks in the family summer cottage in Ann Arbor. Last Wednesday the Dawsons' son, Mike, left for Nashville, where he's beginning his college career with a scholarship at Vanderbilt University.

JERRY AND Mike Hirons came home to 1020 N. Chestnut yesterday after completing a 10-day job, and fun, with the Minnesota State Fair in St. Paul. THE LARRY Kussows, 815 Burton, had as their houseguests for two days, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Erdman of Green Bay, Wis., and their daughter, Mary.

After their guests left, the Kussows went to Rockville, Md., to return a vacationing grandchild, Scotty, to his parents, the Ronald Petersons, and to bring back their own son, Jim, who had been visiting his sister and family for the past month.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Goldthwaite, 426 E. Park, are enjoying the company of two grandchildren, Paul and Danny, are in Washington D.C. visiting friends.

Friends and neighbors of Mrs. Henrietta Weclew, 850 S. Beverly, will be sorry to learn of the death of her father, Fred Daubert of Des Plaines, who died Aug. 28 in St. Matthew Lutheran Home in Park Ridge at the age of 84.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Lukasik, 526 E. Central, recently marked their 29th wedding anniversary quietly, at a family dinner.

The William G. Heddesheimer's three daughters, Suzanne, Sally and Barbara, returned to their home at 323 Bristol this week, after a visit East with their grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. N. W. Boyd of Philadelphia, and Mrs. William G. Heddesheimer of Bronxville, N. Y. They accompanied their grandparents on a motor tour through the New England states.

Upon returning home, Suzane began preparations for her return to the University of Iowa, for her sophomore year.

MISS GRACE Beckway, 421 Bristol, who graduated from Northern Illinois University this year, will start her teaching carer in the seventh grade classroom of the Schaumburg Junior High School.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Mann, 304 E. Fairview, had as their house guest for 10 days, Miss Monique Rochette of Quebec. Miss Rochette became acquainted with the Mann's son, Bill, while both were students at the University of Madrid in Spain. She plans to return to Quebec to teach French.

The Charles E. Skinners, 721 S. Beverly, welcomed 16 friends Monday for a potluck picnic supper.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Daeschner, 310 Mayfair, are among Arlington Heights residents whose favorite vacation retreat is Glen Lake, Mich. They and their children, Dick, Becky and Martha have just returned from a 2-week stay.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bolas, 630 S. Beverly, and their two younger children, Barbara and Brad, just returned from a 2-week stay at the summer nome of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Govanus, at Hagerman Lake in Iron River, Mich. This was the summer Barbara mastered the sport of water skiing.

The Bolas' two elder sons, Bruce and Robert, have been busy working during the summer. Bruce is currently in Indianapolis attending the Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity national convention, after which he will go to Ann Arbor, to study for his Master's Degree at the University of Michigan. Bob will leave his summer position at IBM and return to DePauw University for his junior year.

THE WILLAM M. Chambers, 520 S. Pine, were in Colorado for the graduation of their son, Jim, from Adams State College in Alamosa, which took place Aug. 16. Afterwards they spent two weeks touring through Colorado and then went to St. Louis to visit friends. Immediately following his graduation, young Mr. Chambers and his bride of two months left for Grand Junction, Colo, where he has taken a position as radio announcer for station KWFL, and where Mrs. Chambers will teach second grade.

Mrs. William L. Pierce, 311 S. Windsor, and her daughters, Dale and Alison, recently returned to their former home in Atlanta, Ga. for a week's visit with friends and neighbors.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kramer, 1717 Kensington, went to New York Monday to meet their elder daughter, Janet, who returned from a world tour following a year of study in the Philippine Islands.

Miss Kramer, who is majoring in Sociology and Psychology, spent a semester at the Silliman Dumaguette and a semester at the University of the Philippines in Manilla, after which she left for a five-month trip around the world.

Places of interest Miss Kramer visited in the East included Hong Kong, Saigon, Phenpenn and Siemreap in Cambodia, Bangkok, Thailand, India, where she spent three weeks, Karachi, Beirut, Jordan and Cairo. Upon arriving in Europe, Miss Kramer joined other students with whom she motored through eight countries including Grece, Italy, France, Spain, Germany, Denmark, Holland and England.

After a short rest at home, Miss Kramer will return to Coe College for her senior year.

MRS. SIDNEY Rosenfeld, 124 S. Brighton, gave a coffee Aug. 28 in honor of three new neighbors. Newcomers to Brighton place are the George Schillingers, formerly of Dallas, the junior Sherwood Goslees of West Hartford, Conn., and the Robert W. Niedheisers of Cincinnati.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Woods, 102 S. Brighton, entertained at a dinner Friday for New England friends, the Roger Smerages, who stopped here with their children, Rogene and Charles, while enroute to their home in Hamilton, Mass.

Weekend houseguest of the Woods were former Wenham, Mass. neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dodge and their daughters, Priscilla and Judy.

Miss Marilyn Rose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Rose, 1300 Mayfair, arrived home Tuesday from a 2½-month tour of Europe, during which she visited about a dozen countries. She returned by boat, which came through the St. Lawrence Seaway to Montreal. She made the remainder of the trip home by plane.

Miss Rose will return to the University of Arizona Sept. 12 for her senior year.

THE GEORGE B. Weslers, 332 S. Derbyshire, are back from a month's motor trip to the West Coast, with visits to National Parks along the way, and seeing friends in Los Angeles and Seattle.

Dr. and Mrs. William Jensen of Lansing, Mich. spent the past week in Arlington Heights visiting his sister and brother-in-law, the Arnice Basils, 427 S. Windsor.

Saturday, Mrs. Basil's nephew, Richard Jensen of Negaunee, Mich., will come here for a week's vacation before he returns to his classes at Houghton College of Mines. His parents, the Allen Jensens, will join him here later in the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gran, 221 S. Derbyshire, gave a patio party for 40 guests Saturday.

Mrs. Frank Kroll, 326 S. Derbyshire, and her son, Bill, recently went to Miami Shores, Fla., for a 2-week visit with her grandfather, William Keller.

MR. AND MRS. Oliver Auer, 410 S. Windsor, had as their houseguests for three days, the former's sister and brother-in-law, the Ray Robinsons of Crawford, N. J., and their daughter, Merrily, and her fiance, Peter Wood.

Adding interest to the visit were anecdotes Miss Robinson recalled from her recent stay in Europe. She is a senior student at Middlebury College in Vermont, majoring in French, and was chosen by the Foundation for International living, to spend the summer living with a French family in Switzerland.

Coming home over the Labor Day weekend were the Auers' daughter, Vicki, who spent two weeks at the YMCA camp in Hayward, Wis., and their son, Nelson, who with Michael O'Connell of Arlington Heights, spent a week in the East, visiting friends and relatives in Pittsburgh and sightseeing in New York City.

Next week, Mrs. Auer will accompany Nelson back to Central Methodist College in Fayette, Mo., and then go to Marshall, Mo., to visit her mother, Mrs. H. S. Du Bois, and brother, Dr. H. L. DuBois and his family.

Phillip Gustafson, 332 S. Windsor, who is stationed at Fort Devens with the Army, came home Saturday for a 10-day visit.

Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sygnator, 22 S. Ridge Ave. have been Mrs. Sygnator's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Pribe. The Pribes came to Arlington Heights after vacationing with their son, Dr. Walter Pribe Jr., and his family in Toledo. Dr. Pribe recently completed his studies at St. Vincent's Hospital and will have one more year at the County Hospital in Toledo in his specialty. While daughter and son-in-law and the Pribes were visiting in Arlington Heights with their granddaughter, Janet, the Sygnators entertained at a backyard picnic, which included guests, Mrs. Lou Wilson, an aunt of Mrs. Sygnator's from Los Angeles and an aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Myhre from Des Plaines.

Ridge Park–Sherwood

Home from a summer at their cottage on Medicine Lake, Wis., is the George Lurtz family, 909 N. Patton. Among the many guests during the summer of swimming and boating were George and Helen Krilcic of Harvard Street and their daughter, Donna.

For Marjorie Lurtz, the summer proved an exciting one, as she entered the state waterskiing contests at Janesvile, and enjoyed her stay at Holiday Inn there and her festivities as a contestant. Unpacking for Margie consisted of emptying her suitcase right into her college-bound trunk. She'll leave later this month for her freshman year at Northern Illinois University, DeKalb.

Although it's always hard to settle back into the winter routine, Mrs. Lurtz reports that her initial shock was eased somewhat by the gala homecoming dinner given them by Sylvia and Red Craig.

MOVING vans have been busy in Ridge Park, bringing the Richard Clarke family from 1002 N. Forest to 921 N. Patton. They have a married daughter, Mrs. Dennis Langguth, of Palatine, and a daughter, Paulette, who'll enter University of Illinois at Champaign-Urbana this month. Their son, Richard, who'll be in his fourth year at Northwestern, studying mechanical engineering, is expected home this weekend from his summer in San Diego with General Dynamics. Bobette is in sixth grade at St. James, Michael, in fourth, and Trudy, 4, is still at home.

For Kathy Chapman, now home at Kaspar and Elm after her week's family vacation at Three Lakes, Wis., the big excitement wasn't fishing, boating, swimming or hiking that the rest of the family enjoyed. Kathy's always been on the receiving end of postcards before. This time her mother, Gene, packed the telephone book, and Kathy was allowed to send picture postcards back home to all her friends and her music school teacher. Jerry reports the fishing was fine, even though they never did get the tent mended.

HOME AT 919 N. Fernandez are the Ed Seamans, after a southern vacation. They stopped to see friends in their former home towns of Augusta, Ga., Greenwood, S.C., and Savannah, Ga. They stayed with Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hados in Miami for a week, enjoying swimming, raft-riding in the ocean and looking for shells. After Miami, they stopped with Mr. and Mrs. Jim Stauffer in St. Petersburg. An hour's drive north, and catastrophe, as the engine of the car collapsed completely! Given a choice between a new engine with a week's delay, and a used engine from a wreck with a three-day delay, the Seamans gambled on the used one. They returned to St. Petersburg while the car was being fixed, and after a successful start, came home in 30 hours of straight driving.

Children, however, seem to need less sleep than adults, and as they had reached Arlington Heights on the morning of Greg's eighth birthday, he demanded a party. . .of course, on that very day. Grandmother Mrs. Anders Hogfelt of Chicago, obliged, and rounded up all the cousins for a city party to fete Greg.

AUGUST WAS the birthday month for the Seamans, as Mr. Seaman celebrated his birthday, so did his twin, and Eddie turned 15. Mrs. Seaman "relaxed" by greeting relatives at the Labor Day picnic of St. John's Greek Orthodox Church, and by welcoming Telie Avlonas of Athens, Greece, as a weekend guest.

Monica Toretto, 614 W. Elm, celebrated her 10th birthday with a party for Wilma Keller, Mary Scalzitti, Kitty Blaha, Laura Stebbins, Janet Ferguson, Margie Kelly and her sister, Lisa. The Torettos had a family reunion Labor Day weekend, when Mrs. Toretto's mother, Mrs. Bertie Young, and sister, en route from California, stayed overnight. They gave her news of her brother, Ralph Young of Orange, whom they'd been visiting for a month.

Honors in long-distance commuting go to Mr. Kessenich, who came in to Chicago while the family stayed at their cottage on Lake Wisconsin. Susan Kessenich, now 8, celebrated her birthday with a party at the cottage for grandparents, Mrs. Anna Kessenich, of DeForest, Wis., and Mr.and Mrs. Chris Andersen of Madison, and uncle, Oliver Kessenich. Oliver had a chance to see his new namesake, Steven Oliver, born in May. Mrs. Kesenich, now home at 1005 N. Illinois, reports a quiet vacation. . .nothing more than "fish hooks in fingers and no heat in the cottage."

Inner City, Topic For Fellowship

Rev. Robert C Mueller, executive director of West Side Christian Parish, Chicago, will speak on "Problems of the Inner City" when the Women's Fellowship of the Congregational Church of Arlington Heights, a member of the United Church of Christ, meets at 8 p.m. Sept. 10 in the home of Mrs. John Taylor, 119 S. Pine.

Starting his working career as a chemical engineer before entering training for the ministry, Rev. Mr. Mueller has also served as sciene and math teacher and athletic coach in North China before being imprisoned by the Japanese during World War II. Since then, in addition to finishing his studies at Oberlin Graduate School of Theology near Cleveland, he and his wife have served churches in Ohio, Wisconsin and Illinois, and spent five years as missionaries to India, where two of their four children were born.

DEVOTIONS WILL be in charge of Mrs. Donald Swanson, 316 S. Yale, and co-hostesses, Mrs. Robert Staley, 1525 N. Kennicott, and Mrs. Taylor, invite all women members and friends of the church to attend this last meeting to be held in a private home before the Sept. 15 opening of the new church edifice at 1001 W. Kirchoff Road.

'It Pays To Be an Engineer'

CHICAGO, (UPI) — Starting pay for engineers just out of college is three times higher than the average national per capita income, the Illinois Institute of Technology said today.

The institute said the average starting salary for engineering graduates is $601 per month, a 4.5 per cent increase over 1962 starting salaries.

EARL C. Kuricek, placement director at the institute, reported the results of a survey of 2,000 representatives of industry and of the institute's graduates in January and June.

"It pays to be an engineer," Kubicek said. (B9

Raps Aldermen's Policy On Housing for Elderly

(This is another in a series of special reports on human relations problems in metropolitan Chicago. The reports are written by Sherwood Ross, public relations director of the Chicago Urban League. — Editor)

by SHERWOOD ROSS

The Chicago Housing Authority, the city's biggest landlord, is headed for trouble over its "neighborhood" policy for housing the elderly.

The authority, which has erected 28,747 units on 41 sites housing more than 120,000 tenants, has — to its credit — provided safe, fireproof dwellings for low-income families at a total cost of 358 million dollars.

Whennever a CHA unit has gone up in the past, an agency spokesman said, the tenants were selected from a city-wide list of applicants — except for projects to house the elderly.

The CHA selects elderly tenants from among persons in the immediate vicinity of the project to be erected. CHA people say the theory is that old folks are happiest at home.

THE NEIGHBORHOOD policy flashed into the news Aug. 20, with a report that CHA, which has now 2,956 units for the elderly under construction or in planning, expects to build perhaps 1,500 more on 14 sites scattered throughout Chicago, at a cost of $30,000,000 — a great expansion of the program.

ROSS

Most of the elderly sites are located on the North Side.

Apparently, North Side aldermen have been reassured that, under the neighborhood policy, the racial characteristics of their presently all-white communities will be continued in the elderly projects.

The "neighborhood policy" began about four years ago. And last year, it was announced that a 200-unit project on the North Side at Broadway and Ardmore would be erected, with tenants drawn from "the immediate area."

A STRONG letter from an integrationist advocate to Robert Weaver, head of the HHFA in Washington, which doles out federal money for public housing, brought the response that site selection is left up to local authority.

Translation: The HHFA in Washington will not tell the City Council of Chicago, which must approve CHA sites, what it can or cannot build.

Thus, aldermen — who would deny the CHA any opportunity to build standard forms of public housing in their wards —will accept projects for the elderly because those projects will not be integrated.

AS ONE alderman told this reporter some months ago: "When the Mayor told me he wanted public housing in my ward, I said, 'Your honor, my voters won't stand for it.' Then he explained it would be for the elderly and I said 'Okay, as long as it's not integrated. 'Why,' he added, 'I could fill the project up with whites of my own religion if I wanted to.' "

So it happens that the CHA—which has not submitted any sites for federal approval for conventional public housing in white areas of the North Side in many years—is now expected to come forward with 14 sites.

These, by and large, appear to have the benign blessing of the councilmen who probably will vote "aye" by the numbers because the demand for housing the elderly poor is so great. So a council which says that realtors who don't "show" to Negroes should have their licenses revoked is now beating the drums for the same policy with respect to CHA housing for the elderly.

THERE can be no question but that the new units will preserve the all-white residential patterns of the communities in which they are built.

Tenants will be chosen not on the first-come, first - served basis or alone on the basis of need — but on the basis of where they happen to live. And the aldermen will see to it that they happen to live, "right."

If the new neighborhood policy is not stopped, there is nothing to prevent the aldermen from saying, "Public housing, in general, should not be awarded just to those who are the neediest, or who applied first, but to those closest to the slums we are wiping out to erect the new housing. And it happens that the slums chosen, from now on, will be on the North Side."

Thus, CHA is being forced into the racist housing mold by the City Council. The foes of integration may applaud. Integrationists had better weep — or get to work. (B-8

Publisher Is Honored With Issue

Friends and employes of Fred Fulle, publisher of the Des Plaines Suburban Times, Park Ridge Herald and the Niles-Edison Park Review, honored his 40 years as a Chicago suburban publisher with a special anniversary issue on Sept. 5.

A special tabloid insert was planned for the commemorative event. Highlighting the issue were features and stories, written with the help of oldtimers in the area, which recalled what the area and the local newspapers were like during the 1920's when Fulle first got his start as a publisher.

Fulle began in the printing business as a printer's devil in the shop of the Des Plaines Suburban Times. One of the last requests the former owner made as he neared death was that his newspaper business be sold to his promising apprentice, Fred Fulle. In this way Fulle got his start and through the years has built his newspaper group to one of the largest operations in the weekly field. (B9

A special tabloid insert was planned for the commemorative event. Highlighting the issue were features and stories, written with the help of oldtimers in the area, which recalled what the area and the local newspapers were like during the 1920's when Fulle first got his start as a publisher.

Fulle began in the printing business as a printer's devil in the shop of the Des Plaines Suburban Times. One of the last requests the former owner made as he neared death was that his newspaper business be sold to his promising apprentice, Fred Fulle. In this way Fulle got his start and through the years has built his newspaper group to one of the largest operations in the weekly field. (B9

VIRGINIA TERRACE

Les and Audrey Cornelius and daughter, Tracy Jane, 1255 N. Chicago, returned Aug. 18 from a month's vacation in England. It was the first time in three years that they had visited their parents and relatives there, and it was their year-old daughter's first trip to England. Les' parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Cornelius, and Audrey's mother, Mrs. H. Coates, all live in Sheppey, Kent. While in Sheppey, Les' sister, Mrs. Joyce Leyden of Ontario, Canada, joined them. The W. Corneliuses had a family celebration since both their son and daughter were with them. Les and Audrey spent a few days in London and a week in Chessington, Surrey, with Audrey's sister and family, the G. Jowitts.

Jennifer Rallefson is recuperating in Northwest Community Hospital after receiving multiple injuries in a fall from a tree on Aug. 13. She broke her left wrist, left ankle and her pelvic bone. Jennifer will be in the hospital about two more weeks. She is in Room 416. Cards and letters from friends would undoubtedly make her hospital stay more pleasant. Jennifer is the 11-year-old daughter of the Maldwin Rallefsons, 1405 N. Wilke.

A 6000-mile automobile trip through the West with their final destination California is a vacation that the Charles Dolejs family will long remember. Charles, Connie and children, Robert, Ronald and Dawn, returned to 1200 N. Race last Thursday after their 3-week journey. Some of the highlights were stops at Yellowstone National Park and the Black Hills on the way out and visiting San Francisco and Yosemite National Park on the way to Los Angeles. Disneyland is a place none of the family will ever forget. On the way home, the Dolejses saw Grand Canyon.

TWO BIRTHDAYS were recently celebrated in the Ray Israel family, 1247 N. Chicago. Jean Marie was 2 Aug. 18; Kevin, one Aug. 23. A family party honoring them both was held Aug. 18. Those present were the children's grandparents, Mrs. Mrs. Erna Israel and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Vietinghoff; their great-grandfather, Leo Holz, and their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Maddox. A circus-decorated cake was served as part of the evening's refreshments. The Vietinghoffs returned Aug. 23 for a second celebration of Kevin's birthday.

Les and Jo Rozdalovsky and daughter, Shirley and Mary Jo, recently spent two weeks in Nebraska. In Lincoln they visited Les' parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Rozdalovsky. They visited friends in Hastings and attended a reunion in Seward. The Rozdalovskys had lived in Nebraska for seven years before moving here. They returned to 1321 N. Race on Aug. 16 and left the next day for another vacation, this time to Milwaukee, where they spent a week with Jo's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph La Presti.

Shirley Rozdalovsky celebrated her 10th birthday of Aug. 22 in the home of her grandparents. She also visited the museum and zoo. At her evening party, her aunt, uncle and cousins, the Ned La Prestis, joined her and the family.

AUG. 22 Robert and Betty Gumz and sons, Roger and Jimmy, returned to 1248 N. Chicago after a 2-week vacation. Part was spent at Mackinac Island, Mich. A 5-day stay in St. Louis was fun for Robert and Betty, since it is "home" for both of them.

Recent visitors in the home of Bob and Brenda Crawford, 309 N. Chicago, were Brenda's parents and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lopp, Cherry and Danny, of Sikeston, Mo. The Lopps returned home Aug. 21 after a 5-day visit.

Les and Audrey Cornelius and daughter, Tracy Jane, recently returned from a month's vacation in England. It was the first time in three years that Les and Audrey had visited their parents and other relatives there; it was their one-year-old daughter's first trip to England. Les' parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Cornelius, and Audrey's mother, Mrs. H. Coates, all live in Sheppey, Kent. While they were in Sheppey, Les' sister, Mrs. Joyce Leyden from Ontario, Canada, joined them. The W. Corneliuses had a family celebration since both their son and daughter were with them. Les and Audrey spent a few days in London and spent a week in Chessington in Surrey with Audrey's sister and family, the G. Jowitts. The Corneliuses' home in Arlington Heights is at 1255 N. Chicago.

New summer arrivals in the Terrace are Bill and Mary Shimasaki and children Margo, 10, Mark, 8, Kent, 4, and Kevin, 22 months; they reside at 1251 N. Race. Bill Shimasaki is an engineer, and he and his family spent three and a half years in Jordan before Bill was transferred to the Chicago office of Harza Engineers International. Both Bill and Mary rate archeology high on their list of hobbies. The family attends the First Methodist Church.

THE TERRACE bids farewell to Clayton and Beverly Bergdahl and children, Kathy, Ricky, and Leslie, who moved Aug. 23 from 1426 N. Race to their new home at 1213 E. Paddock in Winston Park, Palatine.

Recent guests of Bob and Brenda Crawford, 1309 N. Chicago, were Brenda's parents and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lopp, Cherry and Danny, of Sikeston, Mo. They returned home Aug. 21 after their five-day visit.

Doreen Jantz, daughter of the Robert Jantzes, 1302 N. Yale, was baptized in St. Peter Lutheran Church on Sunday. Sponsors were William Shelander of Chicago and Mrs. Jake Tramel of Dallas. Following the 12 o'clock baptism, the Jantzes hosted a luncheon for some 19 relatives, including Doren's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Jantz and Mr. and Mrs. John Baumbeck, all of Chicago.

A 6000-mile automobile trip through the West with their final destination California is a vacation that the Charles Dolejs family will long remember. Charles and Connie and their children, Robert, Ronald, and Dawn, returned to 1200 N. Race on Aug. 22 after their three-week journey. Some of the highlights of their vacation were stops at Yellowstone National Park and the Black Hills on the way to California. San Francisco was one of their first stops in California. A visit to Yosemite National Park was arranged on the way to Los Angeles, and Disneyland is a place none of the family will ever forget. On the way home, the Dolejses saw Grand Canyon. In California, the family visited relatives and friends as well as seeing the points of beauty.

TWO BIRTHDAYS were recently celebrated in the Ray Israel family, 1247 N. Chicago. Jean Marie was 2 Aug. 18; Kevin was 1 Aug. 23. A family party celebrating both birthdays was held on Aug. 18. Those present were the children's grandparents, Mrs. Erna Israel and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Vietinghoff, their great grandfather, Leo Holz, and an aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Maddox. A circus-decorated cake was served as part of the evening's refreshments. The Vietinghoffs returned Aug. 23 for a second celebration of Kevin's birthday.

April Kearney, seven-year-old daughter of the John Kearneys, 1413 N. Wilke, returned home Aug. 24 after having major surgery in Children's Memorial Hospital. April had two coarctations of the aorta repaired on Aug. 14. Now recuperating at home, where she will be in bed another month, she would enjoy hearing from her Terrace friends.

Recent houseguests of Ray and Sally Davis, 1266 N. Chicago, were Mrs. Bodley and children, Eric and Elyn, from Adrian, Michigan. The Bodleys spent four days with the Davises before returning home on Aug. 29.

Les and Jo Rozdalovsky and daughters, Shirley and Mary Jo, recently spent two weeks in Nebraska. In Lincoln, they visited Les' parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Rozdalovsky; visited friends in Hastings; and attended a reunion in Seward. The Rozdalovskys lived in Nebraska for seven years before moving to Arlington Heights, so they especially enjoyed the visit there. They returned home to 1321 N. Race on Aug. 16 and left the next day for another vacation—this time to Milwaukee, where they spent a week with Jo's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph La Presti.

SHIRLEY Rozdalovsky celebrated her 10th birthday Aug. 22 at the home of her grandparents. She visited the museum and the zoo on her birthday. At her evening party, her aunt, uncle and cousins, the Ned La Prestis, were guessts.

Shirley and Mary Jo Rozdalovsky remained in Milwaukee when their parents returned home. They came home last week.

On Aug. 22, Robert and Betty Gumz and sons, Roger and Jimmy, returned to 1248 N. Chicago after a two-week vacation, part of which was spent at Mackinac Island. A five-day stay in St. Louis was especially enjoyed by Robert and Betty, since St. Louis is home for both of them. While there they vsitied their parents and other friends and relatives.

Gary and Faye Ann Gabel, son and daughter of the John Gabels, 1252 Yale, both celebrated birthdays last week. Gary was 6 Aug. 27; Faye Ann was 3 Aug. 29. The weekend before the birthdays, a family picnic was held at Barrington. Two aunts of the children also were celebrating August birthdays. Approximately 25 relatives attended the picnic, including the children's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gabel of Mount Prospect and Mr. and Mrs. Julius Fuhr of Arlington Heights.

Wednesday a neighborhood birthday party was held at the Gabel home. Friends helping Gary and Faye Ann celebrate were Janet, Cindy, and Brian Pendleton, T. J. Bang, Mike Pircher, Bobby Shelkop, Kathy and Johnny Zare, Kay and Reid Lowell and three cousins from Barington, Denise, Ronnie, and Kevin Drietlein.

Lyle and Virginia Miller and son Tommy, 1525 W. Clarendon, recently returned from a week's vacation in Tennessee. They visited Lyle's brother and family, the Wallace Millers of Tullahome, which is near Nashville. While in the area, the Millers spent a day in Huntsville, Alabama.

Over the Labor Day weekend, the Millers motored to Iron Mountain, Mich., to get their daughter, Penny, who spent the summer in Iron Mountain with her grandmother, Mrs. M. C. Lindquist.

DARRELL AND Francine Elder and son Darin, 1334 N. Chicago, spent a busy Labor Day weekend. Friday night Darrell and Francine attended the wedding of one of Darrell's fraternity brothers on the south side of Chicago. They then drove to Worth, to spend the night with Francine's parents, the P. F. Pools. Saturday, the Elders motored to Sullivan, to spend the remainder of the weekend with Darrell's parents, the Delmar Elders.

The Terrace bids farewell to James and Dorothy McGrath and children, Chris, Danny and Jennifer, who moved from 1248 N. Race to Naperville on Saturday.

A Labor Day weekend in Minnesota was enjoyed by Hal and Phyllis Fluhrer and children, Linda, Janet, and "Skip," 1433 N. Race. They visited Hal's parents, the Herman Fluhrers near Albert Lea. They also saw other relatives and friends in the area.

A family party at the home of Dominick and Mary Massa, 1710 W. Olive, was given on Labor Day for Carl Massa and his fiancee and for Kenneth Massa. Carl's fiancee, Janice Blaha, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Blaha from Chicago's South Side, were honored guests at the party, where they were introduced to Carl's relatives. Kenneth celebrated his 10th birthday on Labor Day. Among the Massa relatives attending the dual celebration were the James, Sam, Charles and James Trucanos, Junior Jerry Stastnys, the Walter Boruks and Mrs. Lena Obert and family. Other relatives from the Chicago area were also present.

Michael and Adele Yore and children, Sheila, Patricia, Michael, Danny, and Diane, 1260 N Illinois, recently enjoyed a long weekend in Springfield, staying at a guest house on Lake Springfield. While there, they enjoyed swimming, motor boating and watching the sail boat races. The Yores returned home Aug. 26.

Kurt Davis celebrated his eighth birthday Aug. 27 at a party given by his parents, the Richard Davises, 1255 N. Race. Present were Danny Nieman, Chris McGrath, Paul Hacker, Mark Shimasaki and Kurt's brother, Glenn. The guests grilled hamburgers and roasted marshmallows outside; later they played games. On the evening of his birthday, Kurt was feted a second time at a party attended by relatives and friends of the family.

LEE DUSS, 1322 N. Race, graduated from the graduate school of the School of Savings and Loans at the University of Indiana at Bloomington on Aug. 23. Lena Duss drove to Bloomington to attend graduation exercises. Accompanying her were her son, Doug, and his friend, Bill Anderson. The evening before graduation Lee and Lena attended a graduation dinner-dance.

A two-day vacation in Hannibal, Mo., was enjoyed last week by John and Margaret Noon and children, John, James, Jonathan and Margaret, 1221 N. Chicago. They toured the Mark Twain Museum and the Mark Twain Cave, took a cruise on the Mississippi River and looked through the River Queen, an old historic river boat. The Noons returned home Aug. 28.

Ed and Betty Cech and children, David, Linda, and Alan, of 1402 N. Chicago left Aug. 17 for a two-week vacation in Michigan. They spent the first week of their vacation at a cottage at Little Traverse Lake. Marcia Cech flew to Michigan to join her family for the second week, which was spent at a beach house on Lake Michigan near Leland, where the family participated in many of the water sports, including water skiing. They also enjoyed climbing the dunes while at their Lake Michigan site. Attending a large beach party was an added enjoyment for the family.

RONALD AND Laraine Francis, 1227 N. Wilke, recently spent a weekend vacationing in Milwaukee, where they visited friends, went sightseeing, took a tour through Miller's Brewery, went out to eat and saw the movie, "Cleopatra." They returned home Aug. 25. Mark, Kenneth and Kevin Francis stayed with an aunt in LaGrange while their parents were away. Earlier in the week Ronald devoted a few days to his children, showing them some of the highlights of Chicago. They went to the museum, to Riverview and swimming at Montrose Beach.

Robert and Kay Roden and daughter, Kathy, 1212 N. Illinois, took several short trips during Robert's two-week vacation. The first few days were spent touring in Southern Illinois. They went to Decatur, Springfield and New Salem State Park. They returned home before going to Indiana, where they attended the Lake County Fair in Indiana. Last week they spent four days in Gilbert, Minn. visiting friends, the Charles Mahovlich family, returning home Friday.

Houseguests last week at the home of Lee and Lena Duss were Lena's sister and family, the Howard Baacks of Mason City, Iowa. They left Thursday after spending two days with the Dusses. (A

Marie Marshall CLearbrook 5-2936

The Labor Day weekend was a happy and busy one for many residents of Arlington Acres. The end of the summer season was marked by a block party Sunday for the families in the 500 block S. Forrest. While the picnic supper centered in the yard of the Louis Leistikow home at 512, the festivities branched out into the yards of the Jim Bradys and the Jim Dwyers. Following a bedtime break to allow the younger party-goers to be taken home, the parents returned to continue their farewell to summer.

A warm welcome is extended to new neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Lauren Hulse and 4-year-old Jill, from Des Plaines who are now at home at 509 S. Forrest. Mr. Hulse is with Charles Bruning in Mount Prospect.

MR. AND MRS. Lyle Longrie, 429 S. Forrest, celebrated their Aug. 29 wedding anniversary by having dinner and attending a performance of "Wedding Breakfast" at the Stagelight Theatre near Wheeling on Saturday. The only flaw in an otherwise perfect evening was that they missed a phone call from their son, Chuck, at Laughlin AFB, Tex., to congratulate them and to wish his Dad a happy birthday.

Lyle's Sept. 2 birthday was marked Sunday by a family dinner with a special cake and a chorus of "Happy Birthday" sung by Marcia, Mark and Keith.

Another couple due to be congratulated are Mr. and Mrs. Francis Beem, 412 S. WAterman, on the occasion of their 19th wedding anniversary Sept. 2.

MR. AND MRS. George Williams, 424 S. Waterman, had an Aug. 28 wedding anniversary. The event was celebrated at the Rustic Manor near Gurnee, where they had dinner with their son, Michael, soon to leave for college, and their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Moore of Park Ridge.

THE WEEKEND was a busy one for the Robert Swaim family, 512 S. Waterman, starting Saturday afternoon with a party in honor of son David's sixth birthday Sept. 1. A trip to Kiddieland for David, his sister, Shelly, Nancy and Laura Post, Ingrid and Randy Holt, Bruce Alvin, Val Grafitti, Gary Nye, Daniel Rinn and Nancy Klinger was the highlight of the day, followed by birthday cake and ice cream.

To wind up the busy day, Bob and Jo Ann spent the evening taking in a show with the Duke Kruses of 2123 E. Park, close friends and neighbors.

While Sept. 1 is a big day in the life of David Swaim, it has an added special meaning for his parents, being their wedding anniversary. To top off the round of celebrations, the anniversary. To top off the round of celebrations, the Swaims, accompanied by a friend, Edmond Wassel of Chicago, enjoyed Sunday dinner at Villa D'Este in Cary.

KATHY GANZER'S third birthday Aug. 30 and the 10th birthday of her brother, Billy, on Sept. 4 were celebrated jointly Sunday at a festive supper hosted by an aunt and uncle, the Charles McGurns of Prospect Heights. Voices which swelled the volume of the Happy Birthday chorus were those of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Ganzer, 408 S. Prindle, sisters and brother, Joan Marie, Mary Pat, Janet and Tommy, as well as Grandpa Tyler and aunts, Mary and Pat Tyler of Evanston. The whole affair had an especially happy atmosphere, since the McGurns (she is Mrs. Ganzer's sister) have just moved to the area from Kansas City.

The Lynn Lemons family, 504 S. Prindle, are home after a 3-week vacation during which they traveled 3600 miles. Many of their stops were at places rich in American history, such as Washington, D.C., Philadelphia, Williamsburg and Jamestown, which Kevin and Murray particularly enjoyed. Spencer and Kirk proved themselves good travelers, but too young to absorb much history. Several days were spent visiting friends and former Arlington Acres neighbors, the Wendell Swenson family of Murray Hill, N.J., and in seeing New York City.

THE SCENIC side of the trip included the drive along the Blue Ridge Trail and through the Smoky Mountains. After a stop in Olmsted to see Joan's parents, the family arrived back in Arlington in time to receive the best wishes of their friends on their Sept. 1 wedding anniversary. Lynn and Joan felt "just being home" enough of a celebration of the day.

The friends and neighbors of the Harald Holt family, formerly of 509 S. Phelps, who left Arlington Acres last June will be happy to know that the Holts' new home in Norway is being readied and passage has been booked for December. (A

Parent-Teacher News

DUNTON

"Establishing Goals for a New School Year" will be the subject of a talk given by Mr. Robert Spinks, principal of the Dunton School, when he speaks to Dunton PTA members Tuesday, Sept. 10 at 8:15 p.m. in the school.

Refreshments will be served following the meeting. All parents whose children attend Dunton School are invited.

A bake sale sponsored by Dunton PTA will be held Saturday, Sept. 14, at the School, White Oak and Dunton Avenues, Arlington Heights.

To accommodate working women, the sale will begin at 6 a.m. and end at 6 p.m. Facilities for voting on the Park Referendum Bill will also be available at this time.

Anyone wishing to contribute baked goods to the sale may bring them to the School Fridey, Sept. 13, before 9 p.m.

SOUTH JUNIOR HIGH

South Junior High PTA Board opened its activities for the year with a faculty breakfast Aug. 28 in the school cafeteria. New teachers were introduced and returning faculty members greeted. Mrs. Dale Galloway, president of the PTA, presented the board members for the current year. Mrs. Martin Voise, refreshment chairman, and her committee, Mrs. Henry Luebke, Mrs. Walter Kloepfel, and Mrs. James Vasilas, were in charge of the breakfast.

Kick-off meeting will be two Parents' Nights to be held Monday, Sept. 23, for parents of sixth graders, and Tuesday, Sept. 24, for seventh and eighth grades. Both are scheduled for 8 p.m.

Parents will have the opportunity to follow their children's class schedules meet the teachers and learn something about class procedure and subject matter. Refreshments will follow in the cafeteria.

The week beginning Sept. 23 is also PTA membership week, and room mothers and assistants will be on hand during the first period of each Parents' Night to enroll new members. Dues are 50 cents per parent and members will receive a PTA calendar listing all important dates of the school year.

OLIVE

Aug. 28, Olive School PTA hosted a teachers' breakfast in the meeting room at the school. Robert Bright, principal, addressed the group and introduced members of the staff; Mrs. Grace Rogers, office secretary; Mrs. Velna Mertens, Miss Judy Bertch and Miss Marcia Bambenek, teachers returning to Olive School for another year.

New teachers are Miss Mary Haak, Miss Barbara Ritter, Miss Mary Kay Fallon, Mrs. Peggy Jackson and Mrs. Maxine Gohr.

PTA officers and committee members were introduced by Mrs. Esther Lockhart, president of the organization. Mrs. Phyllis Bishop and Mrs. Marie Kabus were refreshment chairmen for this function. (A

Registration for Play School Soon

Registration for the Arlington Heights Park Distict play schools will be Tuesday, Sept. 17, at 10:00 a.m.

The 1963-64 play school program will be offered at three locations, Recreation, Pioneer, and Hasbrook park fieldhouses.

Persons wishing to register for classes at Recreation park or Hasbrook park should sign up at Recreation park office, 500 E. Miner, and those desiring classes at Pioneer park should enroll at Pioneer park office, 500 S. Fernandez.

THE CLASSES will be divided into three 10-week sessions, the first starting Sept. 24 - Nov. 27, the second Dec. 3 - Feb. 20 and the third Feb. 25 - April 30.

Parents may enroll their children for one of the three sessions at a fee of $15.

The program is open to children 3 to 5 years of age, prior to entering Kindergarten. Classes will meet Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday from 9 to 11:30 a.m.

This recreation activity is a cooperative program, in which the mothers are required to assist the teacher as their turns come up. (A

Eastwood Events

Bill and Rae Inman and their sons, Bob and Greg, returned Monday from a train trip to California. Bob's trip west was made by plane as he was in Cleveland playing in the Junior Davis tennis round robin when his folks left. First California stop for the Inmans was in Sacramento where they visited with Bill's sister, Mrs. Carl Swanson. From there they drove to San Francisco and Lake Tahoe, and then followed the coast through Monterrey and Carmel to Los Angeles, stopping there with Mr. Inman's sister, Mrs. Richard Lauer.

In San Diego the Inmans were guests at the wedding of former Eastwooder, Lee Watson and Miss Mary Anderson. They stayed at the same motel as did Lee's mother, Virginia, and had a grand reunion there with her.

Minaki, Ontario, north of Kenora, was the fishing site for 10 days for Rus Walters and his son, Rusty, of N. Douglas Avenue. "Pretty good" fishing was reported by the Walters and their vacation companion, uncle Tom Bryant, from Chicago.

EVELYN AND Joe Babs spent the Labor Day weekend in Omaha, where they visited with the Mulligans, old school friends of Mr. Babs.

Douglas Avenue residents, Earl and Jane Frazier, flew to Flint, Mich. recently to see Mr. Frazier's father.

Sharon Templin's Aug. 29th fifth birthday was celebrated on the 30th with a party for playmates, Susie and Kathy, the Kozakiewicz twins; Norine Anderson, Susan and Lauri Schaefer, Randy Brinckman, and her brother, Gary. All the mommies joined the youngsters for coffee and cake.

Recent visitor at the Arthur Templins at 214 N. Dryden was Mr. Templin's brother, Paul, from Peoria. After a week's visit his other brother, Bernard, came for a short stay before they both left for home.

THE TEMPLIN family spent both Saturday and Sunday with Mrs. Templin's folks, the Fred Haufs in Evanston, where family members "dropping in like rain" didn't leave enough room for the Templins to stay overnight. Other visitors were cousins from Colgate, Wis. and Mrs. Templin's sister and family, the John Brandts from Morris, Ill.

The first stage of the Robert Brinckmans' and their sons, Randy and Greg's, camping trip in Wisconsin was spent near Peshtigo, where they have property, at the cabin of friends. From there they went to their campsite in Copper Harbor in the upper peninsula. Here 6-year-old Randy and his dad hiked eight miles in five hours to Governor's Peak in the Porcupine Mts.

AUGUST HAS been a busy and varied month for the Perry Duderstadts' son, Perry Jr., of 303 N. Lincoln Lane. On Aug. 1 he underwent nasal surgery in St. Luke-Presbyterian Hospital; on the 21st he qualified for his driver's license; on the 22nd he and his parents weekended at Holy Hill, Wis. and on the 25th he celebrated his 17th birthday. Peery, who is a senior at Quigley Preparatory Seminary in Niles, also recently attended a 3-day retreat at Quigley before official opening of school.

Last year the Duderstadts vacationed in California with Veronica's cousin, Celeste Provost and her family. This summer the Provosts returned their visit and while they stayed with Mrs. Provost's folks in Park Ridge, they did visit in Arlington for two days. Hawthorn-Mellody Farm was one of their sightseeing trips which the Provost children thoroughly enjoyed. (A

Arlington Greens

An officers and directors meeting of the Arlington Greens Community Association will be held Tuesday, Sept. 10, beginning at 8:30 p.m., at 635 E. Clarendon.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Nichols and son, Terry, of N. Beverly Lane vacationed in Wisconsin's north woods for a week. A summer cottage in the Flambeau Flowage area near Butternut was their fishing and relaxing site.

The William Smolz family, E. Olive, enjoyed a sightseeing tour in the east during their two-week holiday in August. Washington, D.C., Gettysburg and Williamsburg were some of the historic spots they toured. Before returning home they visited relatives and friends in downstate Edwardsville, guesting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Burk, where young Bill remained for several days longer. The Colorado vacationing Richard Wiedeys, also of Edwardsville, stopped for a day's visit just as the unpacking began.

Business trips during the summer for dad became pleasant excursions for other members of the Stan Reed family, N. Hickory. Mrs. Reed visited friends in St. Louis, returning home as the Labor Day weekend began, and the youngsters visited with aunts and uncles, the Joseph and Robert Petrillos in Wilmette and Evanston. Earlier in the month Jeff and Laura experienced their first jet rides "going along with dad" to Kansas City and Des Moines.

MRS. INEX CORDER and daughters, Linda and Sharon, returned to their Dryden Avenue home in mid-August from a summer stay at a camp on Lake Narrin in Michigan. Side trip for Mrs. Corder during her six weeks nurse duty was a few days' visit with her father, Blaine Nason in Marquette.

The beginning of the Labor Day weekend brought to a close the two-week trip east for the Gary Waffle family of N. Dryden. For Mr. Waffle, a member of the U. S. Navy Reserves, it was training duty aboard the USS Rankin, while the rest of the family enjoyed swimming and vacationing at Oceanview in the Norfolk, Va. area. As a family group they did enjoy a drive through the Shenandoah Valley and a day's visit with the Scott Waffle family in Richmond.

Mr. and Mrs. Mel Weeg and sons, Matthew, Mark and Luke, returned to their N. Beverly Lane home as the long holiday weekend began, ending their week's vacation in Pennsylvania. They visited Dr. A. Howard Weeg and his family in Allentown, Glen Ellyn residents until a year ago. Their first trip east, the Weegs enjoyed touring the nearby Valley Forge Memorial.

Also returning in time to enjoy the holiday weekend at home was the Karl Buttstadt family, E. Olive. A resort on Lake Owen near Hayward was the vacation choice for Karl, Rand, Kathy and their parents.

BIRTHDAY party for 2-year-old Fred Damiano Jr. N. Pine Court, was celebrated Sunday afternoon at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Damiano in Chicago.

Thursday was moving day for the David Bartlett family, from 1217 N. Hickory to Madison, Wis. They were Greens residents for the past 10 years.

Also moving last week was the John Lutsch family, 712 E. Oakton. Residents of the Greens for the past five years, they moved to Crystal Lake.

David Andrew, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Pettenuzzo, was christened in St. James Catholic Church on Sunday by the Rev. James Doherty. Godparents were an aunt, Miss Dolores Zanetti of Venice, Calif., and uncle, Peter Pettenuzzo of Chicago. Among the 40 relatives and friends attending the buffet supper in honor of the occasion were his grandparents, Mrs. Peter Pettenuzzo of Elmwood Park and the Guido Zanettie of Chicago. Zanetti for the trip and visit home was Miss Penny Petticord.

Terence Lee, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. George Olson Jr., was also christened in St. James Catholic Church on Sunday by the Rev. James Doherty. His godparents were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Geisler of Des Plaines. Guests at the dinner party given for the occasion were the Louis Heaney and Richard Ruocco families of Racine, the Joseph Snells, the William Lashers and grandparents, Mrs. Gertrude Borofka and the senior George Olsons who reside at the Oakton Street address. Les and Audrey Cornelius and daughter, Tracy Jane, 1255 N. Chicago, returned Aug. 18 from a month's vacation in England. It was the first time in three years that they had visited their parents and relatives there, and it was their year-old daughter's first trip to England. Les' parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Cornelius, and Audrey's mother, Mrs. H. Coates, all live in Sheppey, Kent. While in Sheppey, Les' sister, Mrs. Joyce Leyden of Ontario, Canada, joined them. The W. Corneliuses had a family celebration since both their son and daughter were with them. Les and Audrey spent a few days in London and a week in Chessington, Surrey, with Audrey's sister and family, the G. Jowitts.

Jennifer Rallefson is recuperating in Northwest Community Hospital after receiving multiple injuries in a fall from a tree on Aug. 13. She broke her left wrist, left ankle and her pelvic bone. Jennifer will be in the hospital about two more weeks. She is in Room 416. Cards and letters from friends would undoubtedly make her hospital stay more pleasant. Jennifer is the 11-year-old daughter of the Maldwin Rallefsons, 1405 N. Wilke.

A 6000-mile automobile trip through the West with their final destination California is a vacation that the Charles Dolejs family will long remember. Charles, Connie and children, Robert, Ronald and Dawn, returned to 1200 N. Race last Thursday after their 3-week journey. Some of the highlights were stops at Yellowstone National Park and the Black Hills on the way out and visiting San Francisco and Yosemite National Park on the way to Los Angeles. Disneyland is a place none of the family will ever forget. On the way home, the Dolejses saw Grand Canyon.

TWO BIRTHDAYS were recently celebrated in the Ray Israel family, 1247 N. Chicago. Jean Marie was 2 Aug. 18; Kevin, one Aug. 23. A family party honoring them both was held Aug. 18. Those present were the children's grandparents, Mrs. Mrs. Erna Israel and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Vietinghoff; their great-grandfather, Leo Holz, and their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Maddox. A circus-decorated cake was served as part of the evening's refreshments. The Vietinghoffs returned Aug. 23 for a second celebration of Kevin's birthday.

Les and Jo Rozdalovsky and daughter, Shirley and Mary Jo, recently spent two weeks in Nebraska. In Lincoln they visited Les' parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Rozdalovsky. They visited friends in Hastings and attended a reunion in Seward. The Rozdalovskys had lived in Nebraska for seven years before moving here. They returned to 1321 N. Race on Aug. 16 and left the next day for another vacation, this time to Milwaukee, where they spent a week with Jo's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph La Presti.

Shirley Rozdalovsky celebrated her 10th birthday of Aug. 22 in the home of her grandparents. She also visited the museum and zoo. At her evening party, her aunt, uncle and cousins, the Ned La Prestis, joined her and the family.

AUG. 22 Robert and Betty Gumz and sons, Roger and Jimmy, returned to 1248 N. Chicago after a 2-week vacation. Part was spent at Mackinac Island, Mich. A 5-day stay in St. Louis was fun for Robert and Betty, since it is "home" for both of them.

Recent visitors in the home of Bob and Brenda Crawford, 309 N. Chicago, were Brenda's parents and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lopp, Cherry and Danny, of Sikeston, Mo. The Lopps returned home Aug. 21 after a 5-day visit.

Les and Audrey Cornelius and daughter, Tracy Jane, recently returned from a month's vacation in England. It was the first time in three years that Les and Audrey had visited their parents and other relatives there; it was their one-year-old daughter's first trip to England. Les' parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Cornelius, and Audrey's mother, Mrs. H. Coates, all live in Sheppey, Kent. While they were in Sheppey, Les' sister, Mrs. Joyce Leyden from Ontario, Canada, joined them. The W. Corneliuses had a family celebration since both their son and daughter were with them. Les and Audrey spent a few days in London and spent a week in Chessington in Surrey with Audrey's sister and family, the G. Jowitts. The Corneliuses' home in Arlington Heights is at 1255 N. Chicago.

New summer arrivals in the Terrace are Bill and Mary Shimasaki and children Margo, 10, Mark, 8, Kent, 4, and Kevin, 22 months; they reside at 1251 N. Race. Bill Shimasaki is an engineer, and he and his family spent three and a half years in Jordan before Bill was transferred to the Chicago office of Harza Engineers International. Both Bill and Mary rate archeology high on their list of hobbies. The family attends the First Methodist Church.

THE TERRACE bids farewell to Clayton and Beverly Bergdahl and children, Kathy, Ricky, and Leslie, who moved Aug. 23 from 1426 N. Race to their new home at 1213 E. Paddock in Winston Park, Palatine.

Recent guests of Bob and Brenda Crawford, 1309 N. Chicago, were Brenda's parents and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lopp, Cherry and Danny, of Sikeston, Mo. They returned home Aug. 21 after their five-day visit.

Doreen Jantz, daughter of the Robert Jantzes, 1302 N. Yale, was baptized in St. Peter Lutheran Church on Sunday. Sponsors were William Shelander of Chicago and Mrs. Jake Tramel of Dallas. Following the 12 o'clock baptism, the Jantzes hosted a luncheon for some 19 relatives, including Doren's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Jantz and Mr. and Mrs. John Baumbeck, all of Chicago.

A 6000-mile automobile trip through the West with their final destination California is a vacation that the Charles Dolejs family will long remember. Some of the highlights of their vacation were stops at Yellowstone National Park and the Black Hills on the way to California. San Francisco was one of their first stops in California. A visit to Yosemite National Park was arranged on the way to Los Angeles, and Disneyland is a place none of the family will ever forget. On the way home, the Dolejses saw Grand Canyon. In California, the family visited relatives and friends as well as seeing the points of beauty.

TWO BIRTHDAYS were recently celebrated in the Ray Israel family, 1247 N. Chicago. Jean Marie was 2 Aug. 18; Kevin was 1 Aug. 23. A family party celebrating both birthdays was held on Aug. 18. Those present were the children's grandparents, Mrs. Erna Israel and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Vietinghoff, their great grandfather, Leo Holz, and an aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Maddox. A circus-decorated cake was served as part of the evening's refreshments. The Vietinghoffs returned Aug. 23 for a second celebration of Kevin's birthday.

April Kearney, seven-year-old daughter of the John Kearneys, 1413 N. Wilke, returned home Aug. 24 after having major surgery in Children's Memorial Hospital. April had two coarctations of the aorta repaired on Aug. 14. Now recuperating at home, where she will be in bed another month, she would enjoy hearing from her Terrace friends.

Recent houseguests of Ray and Sally Davis, 1266 N. Chicago, were Mrs. Bodley and children, Eric and Elyn, from Adrian, Michigan. The Bodleys spent four days with the Davises before returning home on Aug. 29.

Les and Jo Rozdalovsky and daughters, Shirley and Mary Jo, recently spent two weeks in Nebraska. In Lincoln, they visited Les' parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Rozdalovsky; visited friends in Hastings; and attended a reunion in Seward. The Rozdalovskys lived in Nebraska for seven years before moving to Arlington Heights, so they especially enjoyed the visit there. They returned home to 1321 N. Race on Aug. 16 and left the next day for another vacation—this time to Milwaukee, where they spent a week with Jo's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph La Presti.

SHIRLEY Rozdalovsky celebrated her 10th birthday Aug. 22 at the home of her grandparents. She visited the museum and the zoo on her birthday. At her evening party, her aunt, uncle and cousins, the Ned La Prestis, were guessts.

Shirley and Mary Jo Rozdalovsky remained in Milwaukee when their parents returned home. They came home last week.

On Aug. 22, Robert and Betty Gumz and sons, Roger and Jimmy, returned to 1248 N. Chicago after a two-week vacation, part of which was spent at Mackinac Island. A five-day stay in St. Louis was especially enjoyed by Robert and Betty, since St. Louis is home for both of them. While there they vsitied their parents and other friends and relatives.

Gary and Faye Ann Gabel, son and daughter of the John Gabels, 1252 Yale, both celebrated birthdays last week. Gary was 6 Aug. 27; Faye Ann was 3 Aug. 29. The weekend before the birthdays, a family picnic was held at Barrington. Two aunts of the children also were celebrating August birthdays. Approximately 25 relatives attended the picnic, including the children's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gabel of Mount Prospect and Mr. and Mrs. Julius Fuhr of Arlington Heights.

Wednesday a neighborhood birthday party was held at the Gabel home. Friends helping Gary and Faye Ann celebrate were Janet, Cindy, and Brian Pendleton, T. J. Bang, Mike Pircher, Bobby Shelkop, Kathy and Johnny Zare, Kay and Reid Lowell and three cousins from Barington, Denise, Ronnie, and Kevin Drietlein.

Lyle and Virginia Miller and son Tommy, 1525 W. Clarendon, recently returned from a week's vacation in Tennessee. They visited Lyle's brother and family, the Wallace Millers of Tullahome, which is near Nashville. While in the area, the Millers spent a day in Huntsville, Alabama.

Over the Labor Day weekend, the Millers motored to Iron Mountain, Mich., to get their daughter, Penny, who spent the summer in Iron Mountain with her grandmother, Mrs. M. C. Lindquist.

DARRELL AND Francine Elder and son Darin, 1334 N. Chicago, spent a busy Labor Day weekend. Friday night Darrell and Francine attended the wedding of one of Darrell's fraternity brothers on the south side of Chicago. They then drove to Worth, to spend the night with Francine's parents, the P. F. Pools. Saturday, the Elders motored to Sullivan, to spend the remainder of the weekend with Darrell's parents, the Delmar Elders.

The Terrace bids farewell to James and Dorothy McGrath and children, Chris, Danny and Jennifer, who moved from 1248 N. Race to Naperville on Saturday.

A Labor Day weekend in Minnesota was enjoyed by Hal and Phyllis Fluhrer and children, Linda, Janet, and "Skip," 1433 N. Race. They visited Hal's parents, the Herman Fluhrers near Albert Lea. They also saw other relatives and friends in the area.

A family party at the home of Dominick and Mary Massa, 1710 W. Olive, was given on Labor Day for Carl Massa and his fiancee and for Kenneth Massa. Carl's fiancee, Janice Blaha, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Blaha from Chicago's South Side, were honored guests at the party, where they were introduced to Carl's relatives. Kenneth celebrated his 10th birthday on Labor Day. Among the Massa relatives attending the dual celebration were the James, Sam, Charles and James Trucanos, Junior Jerry Stastnys, the Walter Boruks and Mrs. Lena Obert and family. Other relatives from the Chicago area were also present.

Michael and Adele Yore and children, Sheila, Patricia, Michael, Danny, and Diane, 1260 N Illinois, recently enjoyed a long weekend in Springfield, staying at a guest house on Lake Springfield. While there, they enjoyed swimming, motor boating and watching the sail boat races. The Yores returned home Aug. 26.

Kurt Davis celebrated his eighth birthday Aug. 27 at a party given by his parents, the Richard Davises, 1255 N. Race. Present were Danny Nieman, Chris McGrath, Paul Hacker, Mark Shimasaki and Kurt's brother, Glenn. The guests grilled hamburgers and roasted marshmallows outside; later they played games. On the evening of his birthday, Kurt was feted a second time at a party attended by relatives and friends of the family.

LEE DUSS, 1322 N. Race, graduated from the graduate school of the School of Savings and Loans at the University of Indiana at Bloomington on Aug. 23. Lena Duss drove to Bloomington to attend graduation exercises. Accompanying her were her son, Doug, and his friend, Bill Anderson. The evening before graduation Lee and Lena attended a graduation dinner-dance.

A two-day vacation in Hannibal, Mo., was enjoyed last week by John and Margaret Noon and children, John, James, Jonathan and Margaret, 1221 N. Chicago. They toured the Mark Twain Museum and the Mark Twain Cave, took a cruise on the Mississippi River and looked through the River Queen, an old historic river boat. The Noons returned home Aug. 28.

Ed and Betty Cech and children, David, Linda, and Alan, of 1402 N. Chicago left Aug. 17 for a two-week vacation in Michigan. They spent the first week of their vacation at a cottage at Little Traverse Lake. Marcia Cech flew to Michigan to join her family for the second week, which was spent at a beach house on Lake Michigan near Leland, where the family participated in many of the water sports, including water skiing. They also enjoyed climbing the dunes while at their Lake Michigan site. Attending a large beach party was an added enjoyment for the family.

RONALD AND Laraine Francis, 1227 N. Wilke, recently spent a weekend vacationing in Milwaukee, where they visited friends, went sightseeing, took a tour through Miller's Brewery, went out to eat and saw the movie, "Cleopatra." They returned home Aug. 25. Mark, Kenneth and Kevin Francis stayed with an aunt in LaGrange while their parents were away. Earlier in the week Ronald devoted a few days to his children, showing them some of the highlights of Chicago. They went to the museum, to Riverview and swimming at Montrose Beach.

Robert and Kay Roden and daughter, Kathy, 1212 N. Illinois, took several short trips during Robert's two-week vacation. The first few days were spent touring in Southern Illinois. They went to Decatur, Springfield and New Salem State Park. They returned home before going to Indiana, where they attended the Lake County Fair in Indiana. Last week they spent four days in Gilbert, Minn. visiting friends, the Charles Mahovlich family, returning home Friday.

Houseguests last week at the home of Lee and Lena Duss were Lena's sister and family, the Howard Baacks of Mason City, Iowa. They left Thursday after spending two days with the Dusses, (A

The Labor Day weekend was a happy and busy one for many residents of Arlington Acres. The end of the summer season was marked by a block party Sunday for the families in the 500 block S. Forrest. While the picnic supper centered in the yard of the Louis Leistikow home at 512, the festivities branched out into the yards of the Jim Bradys and the Jim Dwyers. Following a bedtime break to allow the younger party-goers to be taken home, the parents returned to continue their farewell to summer.

A warm welcome is extended to new neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Lauren Hulse and 4-year-old Jill, from Des Plaines who are now at home at 509 S. Forrest. Mr. Hulse is with Charles Bruning in Mount Prospect.

MR. AND MRS. Lyle Longrie, 429 S. Forrest, celebrated their Aug. 29 wedding anniversary by having dinner and attending a performance of "Wedding Breakfast" at the Stagelight Theatre near Wheeling on Saturday. The only flaw in an otherwise perfect evening was that they missed a phone call from their son, Chuck, at Laughlin AFB, Tex., to congratulate them and to wish his Dad a happy birthday.

Lyle's Sept. 2 birthday was marked Sunday by a family dinner with a special cake and a chorus of "Happy Birthday" sung by Marcia, Mark and Keith.

Another couple due to be congratulated are Mr. and Mrs. Francis Beem, 412 S. WAterman, on the occasion of their 19th wedding anniversary Sept. 2.

MR. AND MRS. George Williams, 424 S. Waterman, had an Aug. 28 wedding anniversary. The event was celebrated at the Rustic Manor near Gurnee, where they had dinner with their son, Michael, soon to leave for college, and their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Moore of Park Ridge.

THE WEEKEND was a busy one for the Robert Swaim family, 512 S. Waterman, starting Saturday afternoon with a party in honor of son David's sixth birthday Sept. 1. A trip to Kiddieland for David, his sister, Shelly, Nancy and Laura Post, Ingrid and Randy Holt, Bruce Alvin, Val Grafitti, Gary Nye, Daniel Rinn and Nancy Klinger was the highlight of the day, followed by birthday cake and ice cream.

To wind up the busy day, Bob and Jo Ann spent the evening taking in a show with the Duke Kruses of 2123 E. Park, close friends and neighbors.

While Sept. 1 is a big day in the life of David Swaim, it has an added special meaning for his parents, being their wedding anniversary. To top off the round of celebrations, the anniversary. To top off the round of celebrations, the Swaims, accompanied by a friend, Edmond Wassel of Chicago, enjoyed Sunday dinner at Villa D'Este in Cary.

KATHY GANZER'S third birthday Aug. 30 and the 10th birthday of her brother, Billy, on Sept. 4 were celebrated jointly Sunday at a festive supper hosted by an aunt and uncle, the Charles McGurns of Prospect Heights. Voices which swelled the volume of the Happy Birthday chorus were those of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Ganzer, 408 S. Prindle, sisters and brother, Joan Marie, Mary Pat, Janet and Tommy, as well as Grandpa Tyler and aunts, Mary and Pat Tyler of Evanston. The whole affair had an especially happy atmosphere, since the McGurns (she is Mrs. Ganzer's sister) have just moved to the area from Kansas City.

The Lynn Lemons family, 504 S. Prindle, are home after a 3-week vacation during which they traveled 3600 miles. Many of their stops were at places rich in American history, such as Washington, D.C., Philadelphia, Williamsburg and Jamestown, which Kevin and Murray particularly enjoyed. Spencer and Kirk proved themselves good travelers, but too young to absorb much history. Several days were spent visiting friends and former Arlington Acres neighbors, the Wendell Swenson family of Murray Hill, N.J., and in seeing New York City.

THE SCENIC side of the trip included the drive along the Blue Ridge Trail and through the Smoky Mountains. After a stop in Olmsted to see Joan's parents, the family arrived back in Arlington in time to receive the best wishes of their friends on their Sept. 1 wedding anniversary. Lynn and Joan felt "just being home" enough of a celebration of the day.

The friends and neighbors of the Harald Holt family, formerly of 509 S. Phelps, who left Arlington Acres last June will be happy to know that the Holts' new home in Norway is being readied and passage has been booked for December. (A

Eastwood Events

Bill and Rae Inman and their sons, Bob and Greg, returned Monday from a train trip to California. Bob's trip west was made by plane as he was in Cleveland playing in the Junior Davis tennis round robin when his folks left. First California stop for the Inmans was in Sacramento where they visited with Bill's sister, Mrs. Carl Swanson. From there they drove to San Francisco and Lake Tahoe, and then followed the coast through Monterrey and Carmel to Los Angeles, stopping there with Mr. Inman's sister, Mrs. Richard Lauer.

In San Diego the Inmans were guests at the wedding of former Eastwooder, Lee Watson and Miss Mary Anderson. They stayed at the same motel as did Lee's mother, Virginia, and had a grand reunion there with her.

Minaki, Ontario, north of Kenora, was the fishing site for 10 days for Rus Walters and his son, Rusty, of N. Douglas Avenue. "Pretty good" fishing was reported by the Walters and their vacation companion, uncle Tom Bryant, from Chicago.

EVELYN AND Joe Babs spent the Labor Day weekend in Omaha, where they visited with the Mulligans, old school friends of Mr. Babs.

Douglas Avenue residents, Earl and Jane Frazier, flew to Flint, Mich. recently to see Mr. Frazier's father.

Sharon Templin's Aug. 29th fifth birthday was celebrated on the 30th with a party for playmates, Susie and Kathy, the Kozakiewicz twins; Norine Anderson, Susan and Lauri Schaefer, Randy Brinckman, and her brother, Gary. All the mommies joined the youngsters for coffee and cake.

Recent visitor at the Arthur Templins at 214 N. Dryden was Mr. Templin's brother, Paul, from Peoria. After a week's visit his other brother, Bernard, came for a short stay before they both left for home.

THE TEMPLIN family spent both Saturday and Sunday with Mrs. Templin's folks, the Fred Haufs in Evanston, where family members "dropping in like rain" didn't leave enough room for the Templins to stay overnight. Other visitors were cousins from Colgate, Wis. and Mrs. Templin's sister and family, the John Brandts from Morris, Ill.

The first stage of the Robert Brinckmans' and their sons, Randy and Greg's, camping trip in Wisconsin was spent near Peshtigo, where they have property, at the cabin of friends. From there they went to their campsite in Copper Harbor in the upper peninsula. Here 6-year-old Randy and his dad hiked eight miles in five hours to Governor's Peak in the Porcupine Mts.

AUGUST HAS been a busy and varied month for the Perry Duderstadts' son, Perry Jr., of 303 N. Lincoln Lane. On Aug. 1 he underwent nasal surgery in St. Luke-Presbyterian Hospital; on the 21st he qualified for his driver's license; on the 22nd he and his parents weekended at Holy Hill, Wis. and on the 25th he celebrated his 17th birthday. Peery, who is a senior at Quigley Preparatory Seminary in Niles, also recently attended a 3-day retreat at Quigley before official opening of school.

Last year the Duderstadts vacationed in California with Veronica's cousin, Celeste Provost and her family. This summer the Provosts returned their visit and while they stayed with Mrs. Provost's folks in Park Ridge, they did visit in Arlington for two days. Hawthorn-Mellody Farm was one of their sightseeing trips which the Provost children thoroughly enjoyed. (A

Arlington Greens

An officers and directors meeting of the Arlington Greens Community Association will be held Tuesday, Sept. 10, beginning at 8:30 p.m., at 635 E. Clarendon.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Nichols and son, Terry, of N. Beverly Lane vacationed in Wisconsin's north woods for a week. A summer cottage in the Flambeau Flowage area near Butternut was their fishing and relaxing site.

The William Smolz family, E. Olive, enjoyed a sightseeing tour in the east during their two-week holiday in August. Washington, D.C., Gettysburg and Williamsburg were some of the historic spots they toured. Before returning home they visited relatives and friends in downstate Edwardsville, guesting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Burk, where young Bill remained for several days longer. The Colorado vacationing Richard Wiedeys, also of Edwardsville, stopped for a day's visit just as the unpacking began.

Business trips during the summer for dad became pleasant excursions for other members of the Stan Reed family, N. Hickory. Mrs. Reed visited friends in St. Louis, returning home as the Labor Day weekend began, and the youngsters visited with aunts and uncles, the Joseph and Robert Petrillos in Wilmette and Evanston. Earlier in the month Jeff and Laura experienced their first jet rides "going along with dad" to Kansas City and Des Moines.

MRS. INEX CORDER and daughters, Linda and Sharon, returned to their Dryden Avenue home in mid-August from a summer stay at a camp on Lake Narrin in Michigan. Side trip for Mrs. Corder during her six weeks nurse duty was a few days' visit with her father, Blaine Nason in Marquette.

The beginning of the Labor Day weekend brought to a close the two-week trip east for the Gary Waffle family of N. Dryden. For Mr. Waffle, a member of the U. S. Navy Reserves, it was training duty aboard the USS Rankin, while the rest of the family enjoyed swimming and vacationing at Oceanview in the Norfolk, Va. area. As a family group they did enjoy a drive through the Shenandoah Valley and a day's visit with the Scott Waffle family in Richmond.

Mr. and Mrs. Mel Weeg and sons, Matthew, Mark and Luke, returned to their N. Beverly Lane home as the long holiday weekend began, ending their week's vacation in Pennsylvania. They visited Dr. A. Howard Weeg and his family in Allentown, Glen Ellyn residents until a year ago. Their first trip east, the Weegs enjoyed touring the nearby Valley Forge Memorial.

Also returning in time to enjoy the holiday weekend at home was the Karl Buttstadt family, E. Olive. A resort on Lake Owen near Hayward was the vacation choice for Karl, Rand, Kathy and their parents.

BIRTHDAY party for 2-year-old Fred Damiano Jr. N. Pine Court, was celebrated Sunday afternoon at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Damiano in Chicago.

Thursday was moving day for the David Bartlett family, from 1217 N. Hickory to Madison, Wis. They were Greens residents for the past 10 years.

Also moving last week was the John Lutsch family, 712 E. Oakton. Residents of the Greens for the past five years, they moved to Crystal Lake.

David Andrew, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Pettenuzzo, was christened in St. James Catholic Church on Sunday by the Rev. James Doherty. Godparents were an aunt, Miss Dolores Zanetti of Venice, Calif., and uncle, Peter Pettenuzzo of Chicago. Among the 40 relatives and friends attending the buffet supper in honor of the occasion were his grandparents, Mrs. Peter Pettenuzzo of Elmwood Park and the Guido Zanettie of Chicago. Zanetti for the trip and visit home was Miss Penny Petticord.

Terence Lee, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. George Olson Jr., was also christened in St. James Catholic Church on Sunday by the Rev. James Doherty. His godparents were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Geisler of Des Plaines. Guests at the dinner party given for the occasion were the Louis Heaney and Richard Ruocco families of Racine, the Joseph Snells, the William Lashers and grandparents, Mrs. Gertrude Borofka and the senior George Olsons who reside at the Oakton Street address. Registration for Play School Soon

Registration for the Arlington Heights Park Distict play schools will be Tuesday, Sept. 17, at 10:00 a.m.

The 1963-64 play school program will be offered at three locations, Recreation, Pioneer, and Hasbrook park fieldhouses.

Persons wishing to register for classes at Recreation park or Hasbrook park should sign up at Recreation park office, 500 E. Miner, and those desiring classes at Pioneer park should enroll at Pioneer park office, 500 S. Fernandez.

THE CLASSES will be divided into three 10-week sessions, the first starting Sept. 24 - Nov. 27, the second Dec. 3 - Feb. 20 and the third Feb. 25 - April 30.

Parents may enroll their children for one of the three sessions at a fee of $15.

The program is open to children 3 to 5 years of age, prior to entering Kindergarten. Classes will meet Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday from 9 to 11:30 a.m.

This recreation activity is a cooperative program, in which the mothers are required to assist the teacher as their turns come up. (A

42 New Students At Nursing School

The Lutheran General and Deaconess Hospitals School of Nursing, Park Ridge, will begin its 54th year Monday, Sept. 9, as a class of 42 new students begin a week of orientation, according to Miss Erna Ruggeberg, associate director of nursing education.

Registration and opening chapel services will be held Monday.

A welcoming tea will be held in the afternoon in the nurses residence and "Big Sisters" will entertain the new students at a party Monday evening.

During the first week, orientation lectures will be given by members of the school staff including Miss Ruggeberg; the Rev. Arne Jessen, campus pastor; Sister Olive Hanson, residence director; and T. L. Jacobsen, executive director of Lutheran General and Deaconess Hospitals.

TUESDAY afternoon an all-school beach party is scheduled. First rehearsals for the choir will be held on Wednesday.

Total enrollment at the school of nursing will be 92 for the coming year.

Lutheran General and Deaconess Hospitals School of Nursing was founded in 1906 at Lutheran Deaconess Hospital, Chicago, as a training program for Lutheran deaconesses. The school received accreditation in 1926.

In 1960 the school was moved from Chicago to a new $850,000 campus just east of Lutheran General Hospital. It is the only school of nursing in the northwest suburban area. (B-8

1100-Acre Community Jealously Guards Natural Beauty of Area

Sleepy Hollow Plans Way of Life First

Builds Community To Plan

Kids, adults enjoy unusual advantages for sports and recreation – share many health-building outdoor activities year 'round

(Special) — First thing about Sleepy Hollow, 1100-acre community located just west of Dundee, Illinois, to intrigue the visitor, is its name.

But, far from being the forgotten little hamlet of Washington Irving's well-known tale, the modern-day Sleepy Hollow is a very active, growing community of over two hundred families. And all citizens, young and old, are well aware of the area's outstanding attractions for healthful, outdoor activities and recreation. In fact, those attractions are carefully guarded by Village ordinance which prohibits crowding of homes, and otherwise protects the community's natural beauty.

Driving through picturesque Sleepy Hollow, the visitor immediately notes the scenic streams, lakes and wooded areas among the uncrowded homes and homesites. Safety features of winding streets, roads and lanes fall into the planning naturally, because the community has been fitted to the land, rather than vice versa. Almost 20 per cent, some 220 acres, of land within the Village limits has been set aside for parks. 176 acres are reserved for roads and bridle trails. Moonlight ride-outs and cook-outs—and hayrides in the autumn—are part of this community's way of life. And many homes and sites have a little stream cutting attractively across the back of the property.

PLANNERS WORK WITH NATURE, NOT AGAINST HER

Perhaps the biggest attraction of Sleepy Hollow—for prospective buyers of homes and homesites there—is retention of the trees, gentle hills and spring-fed water courses in preparing the 1100 acres for community development.

In the original plan for Sleepy Hollow, protection—and proper use—of the area's natural beauty was considered of utmost importance.

Raymond W. Hazekamp, well-known midwest land planner and engineer, prepared and supervised the Sleepy Hollow plan.

Hazekamp not only champions the planting and moving in of more trees in such residential development. He insists that planners work with nature, not against her—retaining as much of the natural topography and contours as possible, fitting the layout to the land. He protests that, "Too many developments begin without a proper survey of what Nature has provided. The result, too often, has been wanton destruction of woodlands, hilltops and natural water courses."

RAYMOND W. Hazekamp, well-known land planning engineer, supervised Sleepy Hollow's attractive layout.

IN SLEEPY HOLLOW, from its beginning some seven years ago as choice farmland, the planners foresaw the unsurpassed opportunity here for healthy, outdoor country living. As a result, the community was laid out to take full advantage of Nature's handiwork. Much of the total acreage was set aside for parks and waterways. There are green-belt buffer and play areas, with trout-stocked ponds and streams. Roads and streets are curved and winding, for safety and eye-appeal.

HOMESITES FROM ONE-HALF TO 3 ACRES

The completed 1100-acre community will eventually be home for approximately five hundred families.

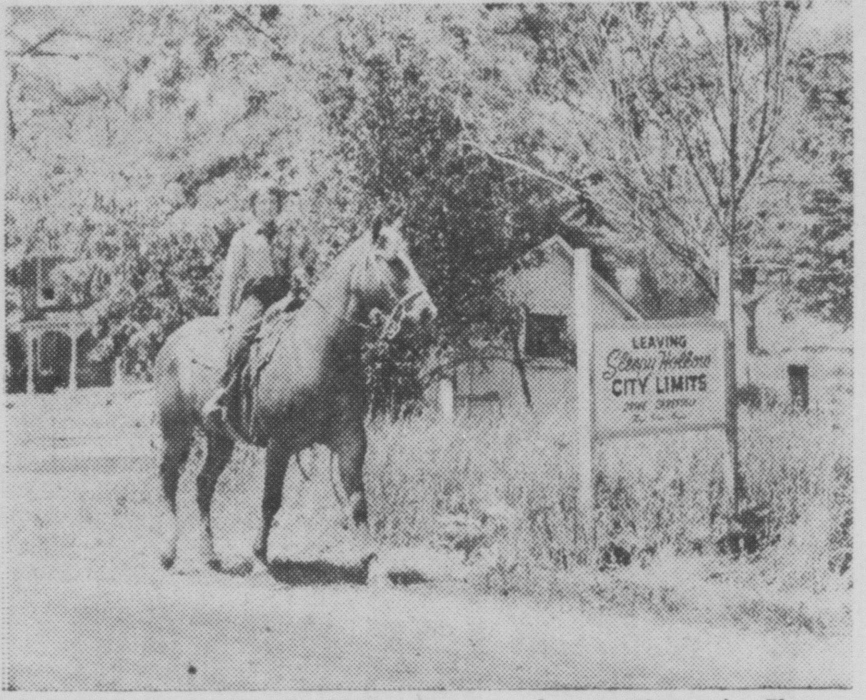
SITES ARE FROM a half-acre to three acres in size, varying among hillsides, wooded, grassy flatlands, and lake and stream locations.

Purchasers of homesites in the Village are encouraged to employ their own designer and builder when they come to building their homes, although the developers offer such services in construction of many popular models of ranch, split-level and Colonial homes.

LATEST AREA OF Sleepy Hollow to be opened to the public consists of approximately one hundred new sites, situated on high bluff property about three hundred feet above the nearby Fox River. Here, too, planning carefully follows the natural contours of the rolling terrain.

LOCATED ONE MILE WEST OF DUNDEE

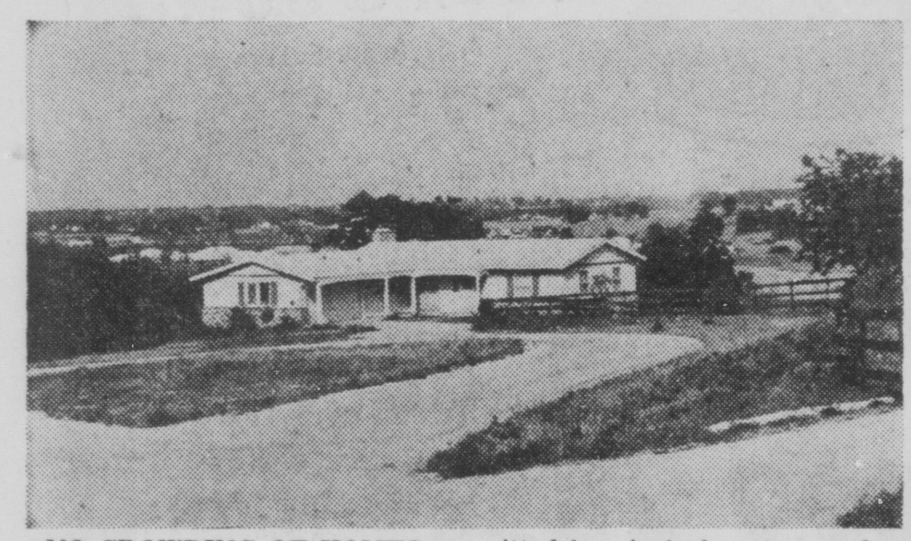
ENTRANCE TO SLEEPY HOLLOW is on U.S. Route 72 (Higgins Road), about a mile west of Route 31, just west of Dundee. Many visitors find it convenient to take the tollroad, Interstate 90, to the Route 31 turnoff just north of Elgin—then continuing north 1½ miles to Route 72, and turning west to Sleepy Hollow. Homesites and furnished model homes are open to the public daily from 10 a.m. till dusk.



RIDING IS ONE OF THE most popular pastimes in Sleepy Hollow, among both kids and their parents. Shown here, a young equestrian heads for the bridle path. Signs on the outskirts of the community note its entrances and exits.

GENTLE HILLSIDES and intriguing hilltops invite visitors to Sleepy Hollow to picture their "dream house" in this attractive, picturesque setting. Homesites are carefully planned to take full advantage of natural contours of the area. In building, overcrowding of homes is precluded by strict Village ordinance.

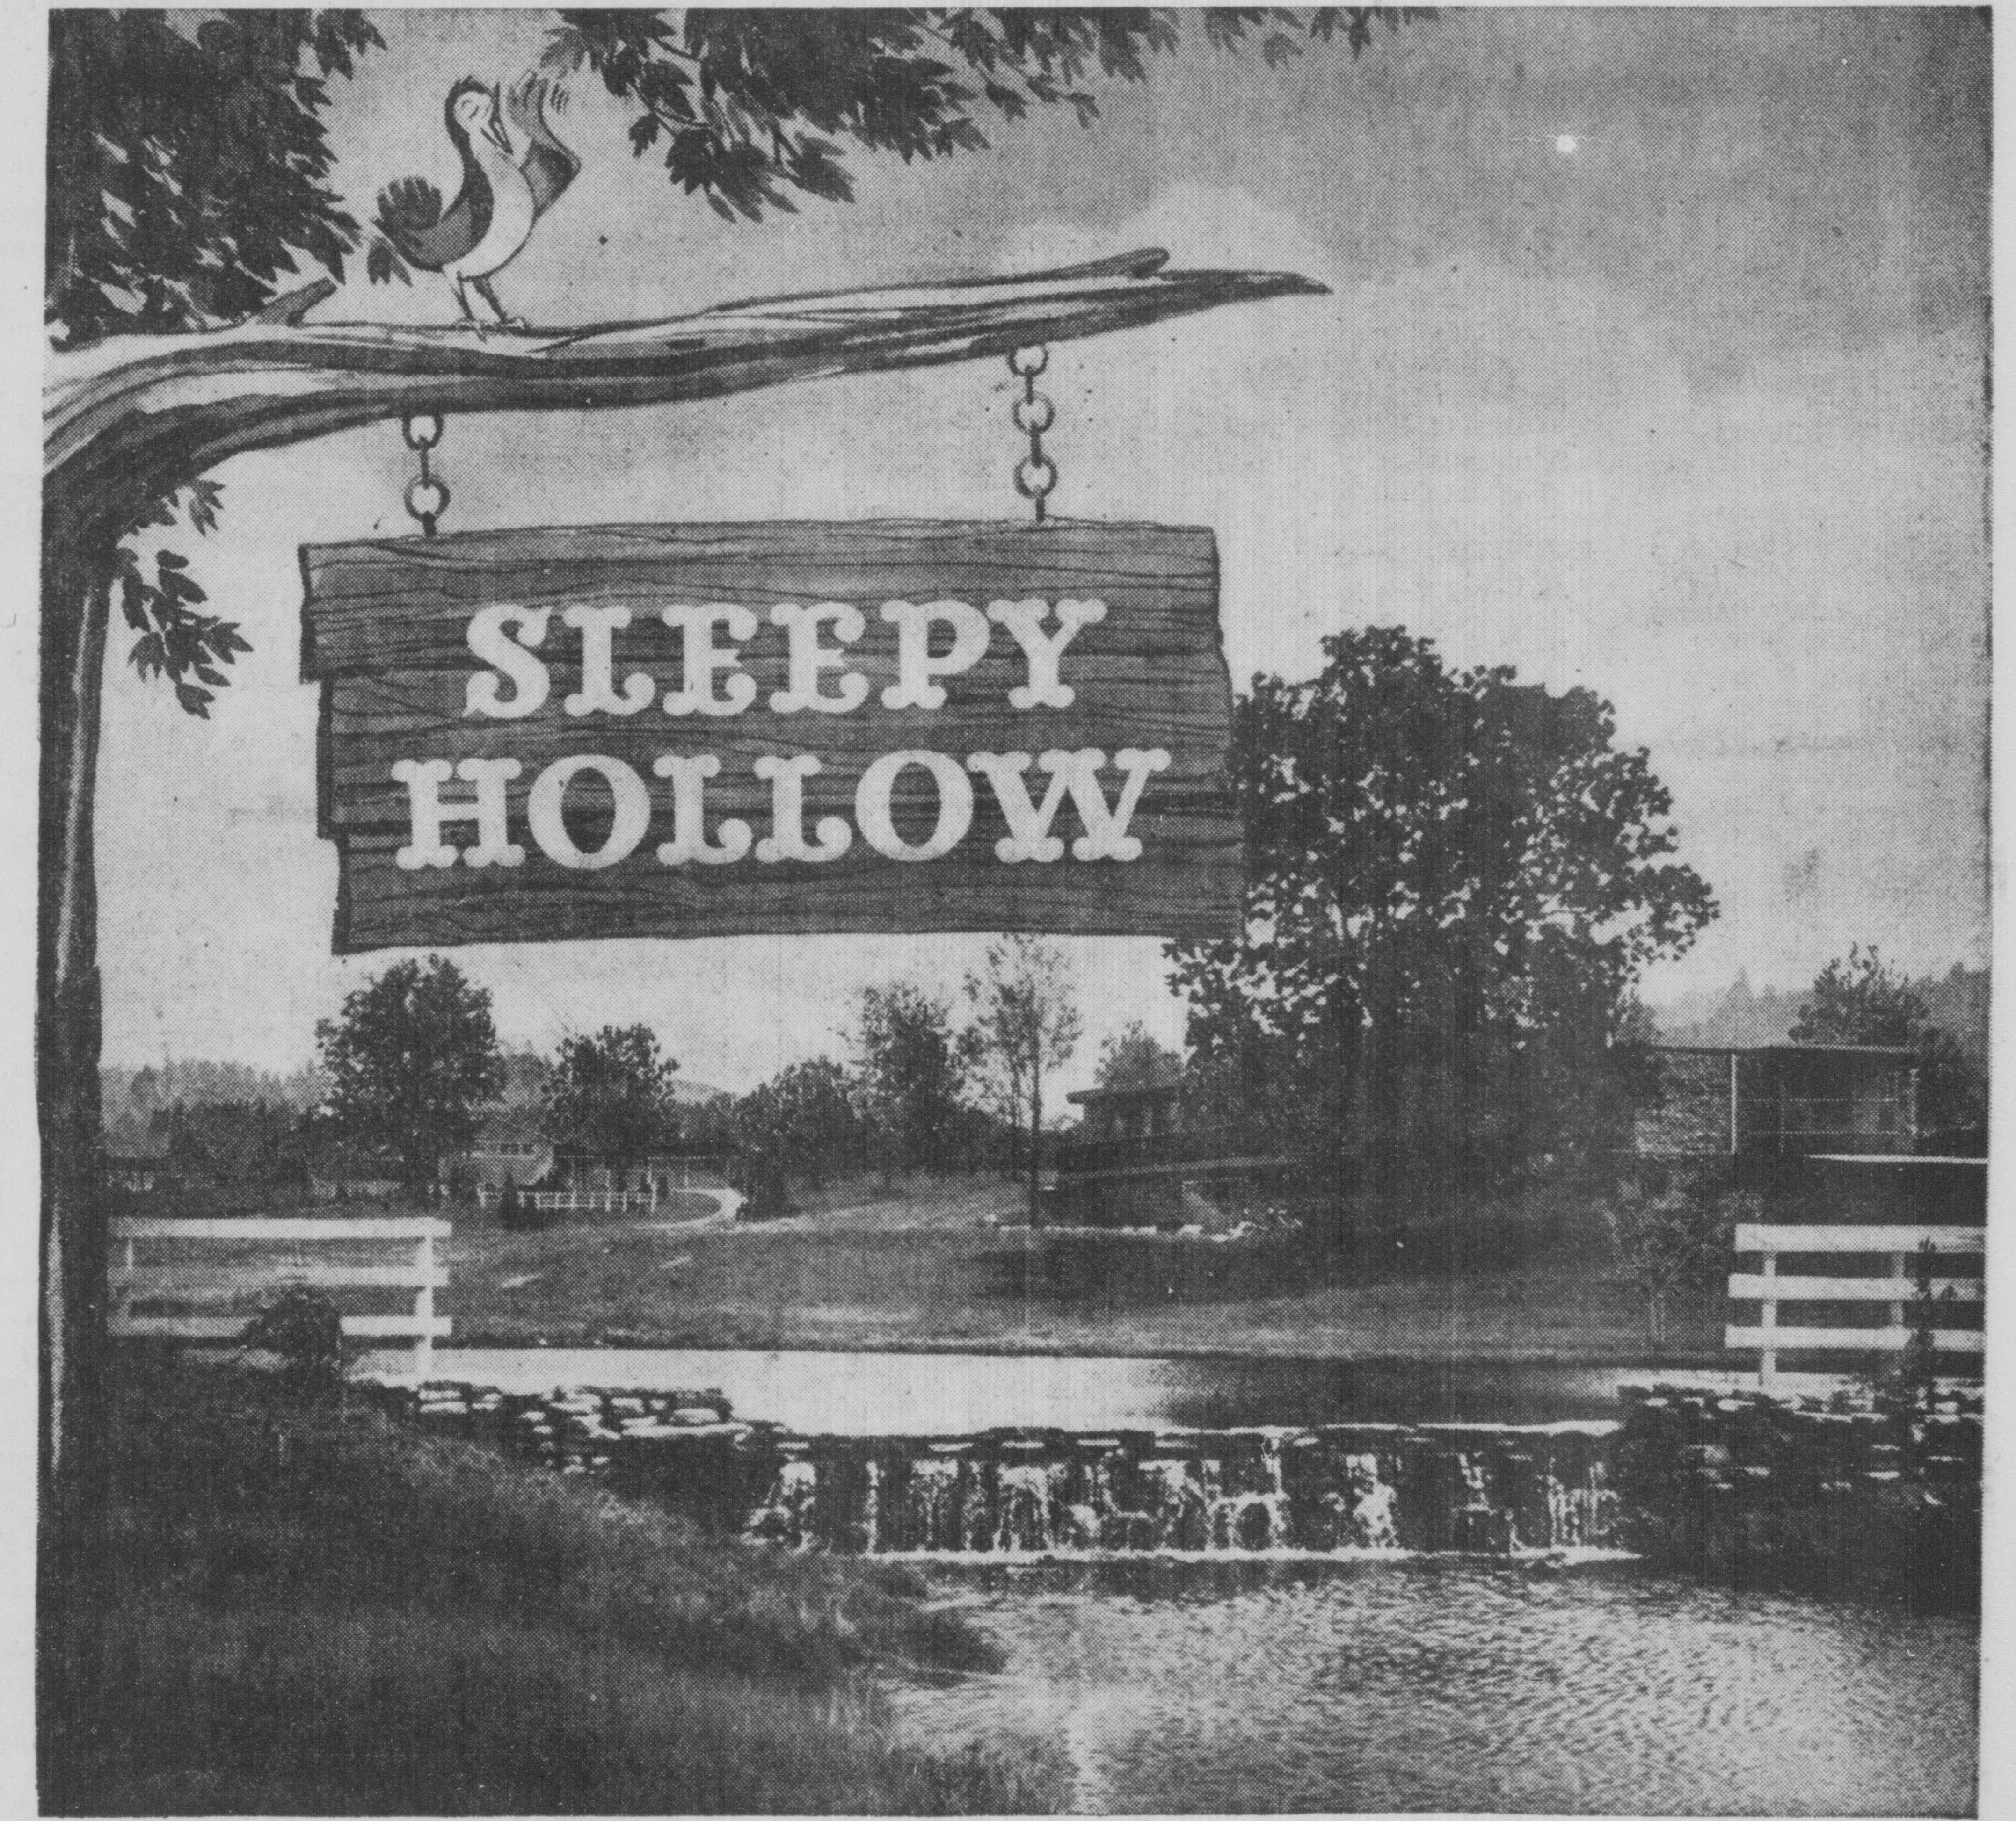
HORSES, PONIES AND youthful riders are an enthusiastic part of Sleepy Hollow's growing population. Here, Sharon Falese, daughter of Village president Floyd Falese, starts out on an early morning canter. An unusual feature of the well-planned community is its thirty-three miles of bridle paths.



NO CROWDING OF HOMES permitted here! And custom and semi-custom design is encouraged, with many eye-catching homes to be seen in Sleepy Hollow. Careful over-all planning allows extensive use of natural beauty in landscaping, and in selection of picturesque homesites.

THE VARIETY OF PROPERTY available in Sleepy Hollow for homesites is almost limitless. There are heavily wooded areas, as above, for those who like cooling shade and stately trees. And there is extensive choice in other, widely differing sites, including hillside, sunny hilltop views, and stream and lake-front property.

THIS IS A VIEW of the new community club which is the scene of much activity, for both kids and adults, in Sleepy Hollow. It offers complete facilities for sports and recreation, including Olympic-size pool, club rooms, picnic area, archery, tennis and—as can be seen at the right—a toboggan for winter fun.



Choose from 1,100 acres of picturesque homesites

priced from $3,900

Whether you are planning to build your "Dream House" soon or in a few years, there will never be a better time than now to choose the perfect setting for your home. In Sleepy Hollow you'll find a wide variety of exceptionally beautiful homesites ranging in size from ½ to 3 acres. Choose from hilltop lots nestled in forests of oak and maple, overlooking gently flowing spring-fed brooks. Or perhaps you would prefer a sunny glade or a breeze-swept hillside lot, which gently slopes to a stand of graceful willows bordering one of the many small lakes stocked with trout and pan fish. Sound good?—well there's more—much more.

In addition to its natural beauty, Sleepy Hollow offers many recreational facilities—fishing—horseback-riding (on 30 miles of bridle paths)—athletic fields and courts—ski and toboggan runs and ice skating, to mention only a few. A moderate cost recreational center provides year 'round activities for "young people" of all ages and an Olympic size swimming pool. Living in Sleepy Hollow is almost like being on vacation. Churches, schools, and shopping are all nearby too, and some of Chicagoland's best restaurants and golf courses are less than ten minutes away.

Sleepy Hollow is an incorporated village with established municipal services, a full time police department, fire protection, city water, gas and electricity, and rigid building codes to protect its natural beauty.

We must confess, however, that Sleepy Hollow can not offer two things that many other northwest communities provide—high taxes and the window rattling sound of low flying jets. But enough for words, come on out and see for yourself — Sleepy Hollow is not just houses . . . IT'S A WONDERFUL WAY OF LIFE!

If you can't make it out real soon, mail the coupon below and we'll send Sleepy Hollow to you—in the form of a brochure. There is, of course, absolutely no obligation of any kind.

State to Scrutinize Arlington's Teaching

THURS., SEPT. 5, 1963

Arlington High School has been named as one of 26 high schools in the state where a "pilot study" of social studies teaching will be "observed" by members of a state study commission.

The social studies group is composed of various subcommittees, the majority of which are continuing studies begun two years ago in the fields of government, sociology, economics, geography and history.

One of the subcommittees — Comparative International Political Systems — has been the target of much critical comment by the press and educators of the state.

Principal Bruno Waara of Arlington High School reported that Dr. James B. Holderman, social studies consultant in the office of public instruction in Springfield, had assured Arlington High that the "pilot study" would be a matter of observation only of present social studies programs now in use in the school.

A letter to be written by Holderman confirming this stand has not ben received to date although the telephone conversation took place two weeks ago.

IN THE LATEST news release on the social studies program, State Supt. of Public Instruction Ray Page is quoted as saying that the 26 schools had been selected for a pilot study of the new social studies curriculum program recommended by the State Office of Public Instruction.

Included in the membership of the Comparative International Political Systems committee is State Sen. Paul W. Broyles,

Included in the membership of the Comparative International Political Systems subcommittee is State Sen. Paul W. Broyles, R-Mount Vernon, who headed the investigation of Communistic influence at the University of Chicago in 1949 alleged Communistic influence at the University of Chicago in 1949 and 1957, authored the loyalty oath for teachers and other public employes.

In addition to Broyles, the controversial subcommittee includes members from the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion.

In addition the staff assistant for the social studies committee and two members of the political systems subcommittee are officers of the Institute for American Strategy (IAS).

BY ITS own description, the IAS purpose is to work with and assist established organizations and institutions in furthering public understanding of the Communist challenge to American freedom and how a free society can meet the Communist challenge. The operating director and the president of the institute are known for their "rightist" views.

In addition to the three staff members of the IAS, Page, who appointed the social studies committee, is a board member of IAS.

The chairman of the subcommittee on comparative political systems is Frederick M. Patterson, chairman of the social studies department, Waukegan Township High School. Patterson is a member of the Educational Advisory Committee for the IAS.

Dr. Holderman, assistant professor of government and public affairs, University of Illinois, is acting as a special social studies consultant for the state study. Holderman is similarly a member of the Educational Advisory Committee of the IAS.

THE FIRST news release on the social studies plan quoted Page as saying accreditation might be denied to high schools not complying with the program prescribed by Broyles and other members of the committee.

Page told a reporter when questioned about the Broyles appointment "If we had taken Sen. Broyles' advice 10 years ago the Communists wouldn't be in Cuba today."

In explaining the study, Page was quoted as saying "Withdrawal of recognigion by our office means the loss of state aid . . . so you can see there's teeth in this provision."

The state office has rapidly backtracked on this position and issued "clarifications" at regular intervals, with the last news release calling for a "pilot study of the new social studies curriculum program recommended by the State Office of Public Instruction" in the selected group of 26 schools.

Sad Sequel

Everything Taken But the Toothpicks

ANNA, ILL., (UPI) — Safecrackers took almost everything except soup and nuts in a burglary at the Anna IGA Foodliner store.

Owner Roscoe Jerrel said $3,000 was missing from the safe which was drilled and blown open.

The thieves also carted off: 180 pounds of wieners, 200 pounds of bologna, 20 hams, 10 pounds of longhorn cheese, 100 pounds of pork loin, 80 pounds of side meat and 32 cartons of cigarettes.

THEY LEFT some fingerprints which Police Chief Dallas West said are being studied.

West said it apparently was more than a one-man job. Entrance was gained by cutting bars in a ventilation opening.

The break-in was discovered when the store was opened today. It was a sad sequel to the store's first anniversary sale which ended last week. (B9

State to Scrutinize Arlington's Teaching

Arlington High School has been named as one of 26 high schools in the state where a "pilot study" of social studies teaching will be "observed" by members of a state study commission.

The social studies group is composed of various subcommittees, the majority of which are continuing studies begun two years ago in the fields of government, sociology, economics, geography and history.

One of the subcommittees — Comparative International Political Systems — has been the target of much critical comment by the press and educators of the state.

Principal Bruno Waara of Arlington High School reported that Dr. James B. Holderman, social studies consultant in the office of public instruction in Springfield, had assured Arlington High that the "pilot study" would be a matter of observation only of present social studies programs now in use in the school.

A letter to be written by Holderman confirming this stand has not ben received to date although the telephone conversation took place two weeks ago.

IN THE LATEST news release on the social studies program, State Supt. of Public Instruction Ray Page is quoted as saying that the 26 schools had been selected for a pilot study of the new social studies curriculum program recommended by the State Office of Public Instruction.

Included in the membership of the Comparative International Political Systems committee is State Sen. Paul W. Broyles,

Included in the membership of the Comparative International Political Systems subcommittee is State Sen. Paul W. Broyles, R-Mount Vernon, who headed the investigation of Communistic influence at the University of Chicago in 1949 alleged Communistic influence at the University of Chicago in 1949 and 1957, authored the loyalty oath for teachers and other public employes.

In addition to Broyles, the controversial subcommittee includes members from the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion.

In addition the staff assistant for the social studies committee and two members of the political systems subcommittee are officers of the Institute for American Strategy (IAS).

BY ITS own description, the IAS purpose is to work with and assist established organizations and institutions in furthering public understanding of the Communist challenge to American freedom and how a free society can meet the Communist challenge. The operating director and the president of the institute are known for their "rightist" views.

In addition to the three staff members of the IAS, Page, who appointed the social studies committee, is a board member of IAS.

The chairman of the subcommittee on comparative political systems is Frederick M. Patterson, chairman of the social studies department, Waukegan Township High School. Patterson is a member of the Educational Advisory Committee for the IAS.

Dr. Holderman, assistant professor of government and public affairs, University of Illinois, is acting as a special social studies consultant for the state study. Holderman is similarly a member of the Educational Advisory Committee of the IAS.

THE FIRST news release on the social studies plan quoted Page as saying accreditation might be denied to high schools not complying with the program prescribed by Broyles and other members of the committee.

Page told a reporter when questioned about the Broyles appointment "If we had taken Sen. Broyles' advice 10 years ago the Communists wouldn't be in Cuba today."

In explaining the study, Page was quoted as saying "Withdrawal of recognigion by our office means the loss of state aid . . . so you can see there's teeth in this provision."

The state office has rapidly backtracked on this position and issued "clarifications" at regular intervals, with the last news release calling for a "pilot study of the new social studies curriculum program recommended by the State Office of Public Instruction" in the selected group of 26 schools.

Sad Sequel

Everything Taken But the Toothpicks

ANNA, ILL., (UPI) — Safecrackers took almost everything except soup and nuts in a burglary at the Anna IGA Foodliner store.

Owner Roscoe Jerrel said $3,000 was missing from the safe which was drilled and blown open.

The thieves also carted off: 180 pounds of wieners, 200 pounds of bologna, 20 hams, 10 pounds of longhorn cheese, 100 pounds of pork loin, 80 pounds of side meat and 32 cartons of cigarettes.

THEY LEFT some fingerprints which Police Chief Dallas West said are being studied.

West said it apparently was more than a one-man job. Entrance was gained by cutting bars in a ventilation opening.

The break-in was discovered when the store was opened today. It was a sad sequel to the store's first anniversary sale which ended last week. (B9

MODERN NAVE and chancel of the new Southminster United Presbyterian Church sanctuary are representatives of the design of the entire structure. Balcony from which picture was taken offers choir facilities and more seating.

First Worship Sunday in New Presbyterian Church

The congregation of the Southminster United Presbyterian Church, in holding its first service of public worship in its new sanctuary this Sunday, Sept. 8, will celebrate another significant day in its relatively short history.

Slightly less than two years ago a small group of interested individuals met at Dryden School to discuss the formation o a new Presbyterian church in the village. Strong encouragement was given to the project by the First Presbyterian Church of Arlington Heights.

The church was formally organized in January, 1962, and the Rev. William T. Jones, D.D. the organizing minister, was installed as pastor.

The church has since grown into a congregation of 300, with a Sunday church school enrollment of 200.

CARL M. Teutsch and Associates have served as architects for the new sanctuary, of modified contemporary design, now completed on the church's five-acre site at Central Road and Dryden Avenue.

Seating for 420 is provided in pews in the nave of the building, with room for an additional 80 chairs for overflow. The balcony, now furnished with 35 seats for the choir, will accommodate another 100 when completed.

A large fellowship hall, covering the entire area below the sanctuary, will be used temporarily for Christian education purposes. Parking area, located immediately to the north of the building, has been completed to provide ample parking space for the congregation, and will be extended as the need arises.

C. P. CLARE headed the committee which has directed the building program over the past 12 months. On the committee also were Mrs. W. R. Impey, Mrs. J. H. Kuiper, David G. Brooke, Carl H. Bowen, Neal P. Hawkins, Jack V. Keller, Nicholas M. Lattof, James W. Lee, Lloyd C. Peterson, Harold B. Rose, and Everett F. Wagner.

Formal dedication of the building will take place in October.

"Our intention at Southminster Church," emphasized Dr. Jones as he looked forward to conducting the first service in the new sanctuary, "is to continue to develop here a well-rounded ministry of worship, Christian education, service, and fellowship.

"The response of the total community has been excellent, and we look forward to fruitful ministry in this rapidly growing northwest area."

THE NEW schedule of services will include Sunday Church School at 9:30 a.m., with classes for all ages from six on up, and morning worship at 11 o'clock, with cribbery, and classes for two to five year-olds during this hour. Dr. Jones has given strong encouragement to parents to bring children of six years and over to the 11 o'clock service so that families may be together in worship. (A

Baptist Youth to Banquet

South Church Baptist Youth Fellowship will begin its activities for 1963-64 with a fall "kickoff banquet" to be held this Saturday evening at the church.

The banquet is for seventh graders through college-age youths — all ages encompassed by the youth fellowship program .

Highlight of the evening will be some thoughts for youth by guest speaker Dr. Donald G. Smith, a member of the speech and language department of Moody Bible Institute.

ROAST BEEF dinner for the occasion will be prepared under co-chairmanship of Mrs. Gilbert Liebenow and Mrs. Cheryl O'Brien.

Other features of the evening will be special music planned by Art Steele and Jim Grady, and a movie, "Teenage Challenge."

The kickoff banquet is planned to present a challenge to young people of the church and their guests, according to Bob Gewecke, president of the youth fellowship.

Tickets are available from ticket chairmen Charles Cook and Faith Meyer, or program chairmen Harold McNaab and Bob Gewecke. (A

Lad Tries to Form Walkie-Talkie Group

It's a hard thing for a group of youngsters to turn a nuisance into an asset, Laurel Talbot concludes after trying to make good use of a walkie-talkie.

Laurel, a 17-year-old senior at Prospect High School who lives at 1208 N. Drury, Arlington Heights, is making an attempt at organization, but he frankly admits he needs help.

He and hundreds of other youths and adults in the area own walkie-talkie radios operating on the citizen's band at a range anywhere from a quarter mile to a mile.

But they are now just toys, serving to jam the citizen's frequencies and raise the ire of commercial and industrial interests using the band for business purposes.

LAUREL believes it is time to organize—to get off the air at peak commercial times and get on during evenings and weekends when the small handsets will not create a disturbance.

In fact, he maintains that walkie-talkie operators could be organized to serve as an emergency or auxiliary communications link in conjunction with local civil defense organizations.

The walkie-talkies are already in use in local Boy Scout organizations for communication during outdoor activities.

But first you have to find the walkie-talkie owners, says Laurel. They are not licensed as "ham" radio operators must be, nor are there existing clubs.

NEXT THESE owners must be able to organize around a function, such as civil defense auxiliary communications, he says.

But for a start he would just like to hear from other walkie-talkie owners in the Arlington Heights area, and from there try to solve some of the problems the units have created.

He has asked for calls from anyone interested—after school, of course—at CL 3-4231.

Church Choir to Begin 5th Season

The Senior Choir of Prospect Heights Grace Lutheran Church is set to begin its fifth season. First rehearsal is scheduled for this evening (Thursday) at 8 p.m.

The choir, under the direction of organist Darlene Reiels, will be a regular feature of the 11 a.m. worship service. Miss Reiels, by profession a biochemist, formerly served Chrst the King Lutheran Church in the Loop and Grace Lutheran Church on Chicago's west side.

Gustav Erickson, president of the choir, extends an invitation to anyone wishing to know more about the music of the church to contact him at CL 9-4037.

Apartment Trend Careens Ahead in Suburbs

But Permits Are Down in Chicago

Apartment construction in the suburbs continues to pick up speed, while that in Chicago proper is being sharply curtailed, Harold P. Halleen, chairman of the board and president of Bell Savings and Loan Association, pointed out.

During the first seven months of 1963, suburban towns issued permits for 6,752 apartment units compared with 6,279 in the same period last year. In contrast, permits in Chicago dropped from 7,270 through July of last year to 3,038 this year.

"A big factor in the shifting trend may be the increasing number of older couples, who formerly might have moved back into city apartments when families were grown, but who now seek apartments in their suburban communities after selling their homes," Halleen observed.

AS A RESULT of the sharp drop in city permits, new apartment construction in the metropolitan area as a whole is off by more than 3400 units this year. However, Halleen noted that many high-rise buildings, for which Chicago issued permits in 1962, are still under construction.

Halleen said the suburban apartment boom began about six years ago in the western suburbs. From 1957 through 1962, west suburbs issued permits for more than 12,000 units, closely followed by the northwest communities with well over 11,000.

"Apartment construction has just recently hit some communities. In Mount Prospect, for example, not one permit was issued for apartment construction in the period between 1957 and 1961. But in 1962, permits were issued for 375 new units," Halleen said.

DECENTRALIZATION of industry, development of outlying shopping centers, opening of expressways and toll roads, and families moving into the Chicago area from other parts of the country are factors spurring the trend to suburban apartments, he stated.

"By 1965, it is estimated the Chicago area will contain nearly seven million people. Residential building land is getting increasingly scarce and expensive in some suburbs, and apartments are often the answer," he said.

Single family home building still outpaces construction of apartment units in most suburbs, but the balance is shifting. For example, in 1957 Villa Park issued permits for only six new apartment units. During the next five years, 914 apartment units were started—more than two-thirds the number of new homes built in the same period.

Kerner Completes Action on 1,615 Bills

Explains Veto of School Aid Boost

by United Press International

SPRINGFIELD, ILL. — Gov. Otto Kerner has completed a lengthy task of signing or vetoing 1,615 bills passed by the 73rd General Assembly.

The job took him two months from the time the legislature was adjourned by executive order.

He signed into law 1,375 bills, vetoed 232 measures, and partially vetoed eight others.

The most dissent followed his veto of a bill that would have increased the state's $252 payment per pupil per year to school districts to $297.

Kerner pointed out that overall payments for elementary, secondary and post-secondary education in the state would be $870.60 million the next two years — a 19.9 per cent increase over the last budget.

Kerner said the vetoed bill would have appropriated $32 million to handle the increased foundation payments "but the School Problems Commission acknowledges the total biennial cost would be $48 million" because of increased enrollments.

THE GOVERNOR said the General Assembly provided no additional source of revenue to meet the higher foundation level. "In fact," he said, "the Senate defeated an attempt to finance it by borrowing from the Motor Fuel Tax Fund."

Kerner said his budget "included the largest sum of state funds ever appropriated for educational purposes in Illinois. Included for the first time was a $6.7 million program of special education for gifted children.

"I do not intend to allow the education of the youth of this state to be short-changed, but I think that the record will show we have not neglected this primary call upon the state's finances," he said.

"Illinois is currently fourth among all the states in expenditures per pupil, ahead even of such a wealthy state as California and ahead of all of our Midwestern neighbors," Kerner said.

THE GOVERNOR admonished school boards to show they were building and operating their schools as efficiently and economically as possible.

Kerner also vetoed a bill which would have permitted teachers in Illinois public schools to lead students in daily recitations of four lines of the national anthem.

The four lines mentioned in the bill ended with the words, "And this be our motto, in God is our trust."

Kerner said it was his feeling that the national anthem could be sung or recited in state schools "without special dispensation from the state."

BUT HE ADDED, "Without question the sole purpose of the bill is to use this stanza as an instrument for indulging in a collective defiance of the United States Supreme Court because of its reaffirmation of the constitutional priniple of separation of church and state in the 'school prayer' decisions. I do not approve of the use of our national anthem for such purposes."

Republican Rep. George Brydia, Prophetstown, said he had introduced the measure "because the Supreme Court — a bunch of ordinary lawyers — has done more to tear down the U. S. Constitution than all the Supreme Courts of the last 150 to 160 years."

Kerner also vetoed two bills calling for pay raises for state legislators.

ONE OF the measures would have given lawmakers annual raises of $1,500 — boosting their yearly salaries from $6,000 to $7,500.

The other bill provided for $3,000 annual raises to a total of $9,000. The second bill would be effective only if the voters approved a constitutional amendment for annual legislative sessions.

In explaining his veto of the $1,500 raise, Kerner said, "In accordance with my pledge to the citizens of this state, I requested no new or additional general taxes in this past session, and I have made sure that promise was kept. The biennial cost of this pay increase — although the full cost would be borne in this biennium — amounts to $705,000. Our finances are not in a position to absorb that amount." (A14

Lutheran Laymen To Hold Retreat

The annual Lutheran Laymen's League retreat will be held this Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 7 and 8, at Camp Duncan, Volo, Ill.

Theme of the retreat, "The Church of the World," will be introduced Saturday by Pastor Enno Gahl.

Other retreat activities, built around the organization's concern for dissemination of the message of the gospels, include: discussion of the inner-city church, touching on the integrated church and problems of establishment of a new congregation in a civic housing project.

SHOWING of the film "Question 7" and subsequent discussion: sunrise service conducted by the Rev. Kenneth Schueler; discussion led by Rev. Schueler of the "Challenge of Africa," based on his travels to foreign mission stations on that continent.

Reservations for the retreat are available through local Lutheran laymen's clubs.

Republicans Assail Kerner on School Aid

by United Press International

Illinois Republicans assailed Democratic Gov. Otto Kerner's veto of increased state aid to public schools Friday. There were indications that the veto may be an issue in the campaign for governor next year.

"The need does not disappear by ignoring it," Charles H. Percy, a candidate for the GOP nomination for governor, said.

Hayes Robertson, also a candidate for the nomination, said Kerner's explanation of his veto was "phony as a $3 bill."

Ray Page, Illinois Superintendent of Public Instruction, said Kerner showed "lack of consideration of the boys and girls of our state" by delaying his action until some schools had opened and others were ready to open.

PERCY, SPEAKING at Ottawa, Ill., said the state must provide help for school districts to prevent federal intervention and control of education.

"When we as a state fail to meet a need," the Chicago business executive said, "The (federal) government is invited to step in because the need is still there."

Robertson accused Kerner of preaching a false economoy. He said at Chicago the veto was "a clear indication that he (Kerner) is choosing to load the state with political payrollers at the expense of the school distributive fund."

ROBERTSON, Cook County GOP chairman, said the bill would have cost $32 million. He said Kerner's contention that the state could not afford it was "ridiculous when you figure that he (Kerner) has added 10,000 new payrollers since he took office as governor."

Page said at Springfield Kerner's delay in acting on the bill is "further evidence of his disregard for the problems of local school districts and our entire state system."

"The veto underlines another period of gubernatorial inactivity during which school board districts all over Illinois spent thousands of dollars preparing two separate budgets so they could be prepared for any course the governor might take," Page said.

KERNER HAD the support of the chairman of the School Problems Commission, Democratic State Sen. Edward C. Eberspacher of Shelbyville. Eberspacher said he had opposed the bill.

"Even though there are some school districts that needed the increase, I thought the state had done pretty good to come up with $40 million for additional enrollment and $16 million for new programs," he said.

This opinion, he said, was not a unanimous one on the commission. (A-14

Charged with Theft Of Hospital Funds

A 42-year-old Arlington Heights resident was scheduled to appear today Thursday before U.S. Commissioner C. S. Bentley Pike on an indictment for grand theft.

Seanoy D. Turner, 410 S. Lincoln St., was arrested last Thursday by FBI agents for unlawful flight to avoid the charges.

The original charge, from which he was allegedly in flight, was misappropriation of $17,000 in funds placed in a Phoenix, Ariz., savings account for purchasers of bonds of a Phoenix hospital.

MARLIN W. Johnson, special agent in charge of the Chicago FBI office, said the indictment alleges that Turner agreed to sell the hospital's bonds and opened the account for partial payments from bond buyers, then made unauthorized withdrawals from the account.

Turner was employed in Chicago as a sales manager for Aircraft Services Co. at Midway Airport. (A

Tire Firm Moves To New Quarters

Youngs Tire and Supply and L & S Service Inc. have moved to 1416 E. Northwest Hwy., Arlington Heights.

The building was formerly occupied by Master Electric and Radio Service.

Wesley Youngs, owner of Youngs Tire and Supply, said this week that his business will offer a complete tire service at the new headquarters when ordered equipment arrives.

The firm moved from smaller quarters at 40 S. Evergreen approximately three weeks ago.

L & S Service Inc., owned by George Sutter, will offer the same washer, dryer, television and small appliance service formerly offered by Master Electric.

It is the same business at the same location under different management, Sutter explained.

L & S Service is sub-leasing its portion of the building from Youngs. (A

Wayside Parish To Picnic Sunday

The annual picnic of Our Lady of the Wayside Parish will be held this Sunday at Busse Woods in Elk Grove.

The Rev. Harold O'Hara, pastor, with help from the officers of the Catholic Woman's Club and the Holy Name Society, has planned an exciting afternoon for all who attend.

The first event of the afternoon, a father-and-son softball game, will start at 1 p.m. Games and contests for children of all age groups as well as adults are scheduled at 3 p.m. and will continue throughout the afternoon.

Prizes will be awarded to all winners.

ALL ARE INVITED to this affair, which has proved in past years to be a gay meeting place for all old and new members of the parish, according to Father O'Hara.

Families may bring their picnic baskets or purchase refreshments at the grove. Hot dogs, soft drinks and coffee will be available. (A

Kerner Completes Action on 1,615 Bills

Explains Veto of School Aid Boost

by United Press International

SPRINGFIELD, ILL. — Gov. Otto Kerner has completed a lengthy task of signing or vetoing 1,615 bills passed by the 73rd General Assembly.

The job took him two months from the time the legislature was adjourned by executive order.

He signed into law 1,375 bills, vetoed 232 measures, and partially vetoed eight others.

The most dissent followed his veto of a bill that would have increased the state's $252 payment per pupil per year to school districts to $297.

Kerner pointed out that overall payments for elementary, secondary and post-secondary education in the state would be $870.60 million the next two years — a 19.9 per cent increase over the last budget.

Kerner said the vetoed bill would have appropriated $32 million to handle the increased foundation payments "but the School Problems Commission acknowledges the total biennial cost would be $48 million" because of increased enrollments.

THE GOVERNOR said the General Assembly provided no additional source of revenue to meet the higher foundation level. "In fact," he said, "the Senate defeated an attempt to finance it by borrowing from the Motor Fuel Tax Fund."

Kerner said his budget "included the largest sum of state funds ever appropriated for educational purposes in Illinois. Included for the first time was a $6.7 million program of special education for gifted children.

"I do not intend to allow the education of the youth of this state to be short-changed, but I think that the record will show we have not neglected this primary call upon the state's finances," he said.

"Illinois is currently fourth among all the states in expenditures per pupil, ahead even of such a wealthy state as California and ahead of all of our Midwestern neighbors," Kerner said.

THE GOVERNOR admonished school boards to show they were building and operating their schools as efficiently and economically as possible.

Kerner also vetoed a bill which would have permitted teachers in Illinois public schools to lead students in daily recitations of four lines of the national anthem.

The four lines mentioned in the bill ended with the words, "And this be our motto, in God is our trust."

Kerner said it was his feeling that the national anthem could be sung or recited in state schools "without special dispensation from the state."

BUT HE ADDED, "Without question the sole purpose of the bill is to use this stanza as an instrument for indulging in a collective defiance of the United States Supreme Court because of its reaffirmation of the constitutional priniple of separation of church and state in the 'school prayer' decisions. I do not approve of the use of our national anthem for such purposes."

Republican Rep. George Brydia, Prophetstown, said he had introduced the measure "because the Supreme Court — a bunch of ordinary lawyers — has done more to tear down the U. S. Constitution than all the Supreme Courts of the last 150 to 160 years."

Kerner also vetoed two bills calling for pay raises for state legislators.

ONE OF the measures would have given lawmakers annual raises of $1,500 — boosting their yearly salaries from $6,000 to $7,500.

The other bill provided for $3,000 annual raises to a total of $9,000. The second bill would be effective only if the voters approved a constitutional amendment for annual legislative sessions.

In explaining his veto of the $1,500 raise, Kerner said, "In accordance with my pledge to the citizens of this state, I requested no new or additional general taxes in this past session, and I have made sure that promise was kept. The biennial cost of this pay increase — although the full cost would be borne in this biennium — amounts to $705,000. Our finances are not in a position to absorb that amount." (A14

Lutheran Laymen To Hold Retreat

The annual Lutheran Laymen's League retreat will be held this Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 7 and 8, at Camp Duncan, Volo, Ill.

Theme of the retreat, "The Church of the World," will be introduced Saturday by Pastor Enno Gahl.

Other retreat activities, built around the organization's concern for dissemination of the message of the gospels, include: discussion of the inner-city church, touching on the integrated church and problems of establishment of a new congregation in a civic housing project.

SHOWING of the film "Question 7" and subsequent discussion: sunrise service conducted by the Rev. Kenneth Schueler; discussion led by Rev. Schueler of the "Challenge of Africa," based on his travels to foreign mission stations on that continent.

Reservations for the retreat are available through local Lutheran laymen's clubs.

Awesome Zoning Ordinance

Declare Truce in Airport Versus Suburbs Zone War

Agree to Examine Problem

by BILL HALLS
Staff Writer

A truce has been declared in the O'Hare International Airport zoning war.

Last June, Chicago petitioned the Illinois Department of Aeronautics to adopt an awesome zoning ordinance encompassing some 310 square acres around the giant airdrome. In effect, the proposed law would give the IDA power to regulate all building in this area.

Immediately local officials protested, raising the traditional "don't tread on me" arguments of home rule, most sacred of all municipal scared cows.

The proposal, asked by Chicago in the interests of safety, created so much protest in the northwest suburbs that some 30 villages have banded together in an effort to fight adoption of the law.

THEY ARGUE that the proposal would hinder residential, commercial and industrial development in one of the fastest growing areas in the nation.

The ordinance is primarily concerned with man made or natural obstacles which would create hazards for O'Hare already the world's busiest airport.

Specifically, the law would restrict size and placement of buildings, and regulate population density in proximity to runway corridors.

THE SUBURBAN Municipal Council, the name given to the protesting suburbs, and the Chicago Real Estate Board, have already filed formal protests with the IDA.

The result was a joint meeting at which both sides agreed to make a more definitive study of the ordinance. The IDA has agreed to re-write the proposed law, keeping in mind the major objections of the suburban groups.

The revised proposal will be presented at public hearings some time this fall.

THERE IS no doubt that regulations of some kind will be adopted, if not by Illinois, then by the Federal Aviation Agency which has the right to enforce safety regulations around major airports.

The safety issue is of major concern because most airplane accidents occur near airports. Thus the concern about population density and high rise obstacles, such as apartments, radio station antenna, and utility poles.

There is an ironic touch to the problem, however. The airport attracts people, especially in the jet age. People like to be near to the airport in order to make ready use of it, but at the same time dislike the inconvenience of having the noisy jet aircraft roaring over their tree-shaded suburbs.

EVER SINCE O'Hare replaced Midway Airport as the world's "busiest" and ushered in the jet age, the suburbs have been conducting a constant campaign for noise abatement.

Chicago's push for safety regulations is a reasonable proposal, but the powers given the IDA under the law is just too much for the suburbs to swallow.

As one official put it:

"It's a hot potato and they're trying to shove it down our throats." (A14

Bensenville Home to Hold Its Annual Festival Sunday

The annual festival and homecoming of the Bensenville Home for aged and children, is set to begin at 2 p.m. Sunday.

Numerous outdoor stands selling refreshments and treats, as well as fresh fruits and vegetables, and one devoted entirely to fancy work in the way of handmade linens and similar articles, will open at that time.

Puppet shows for the children are scheduled periodically throughout the afternoon, and clowns will be on hand for the children's amusement during the days.

Mrs. Marie Zvanja Burton of Itasca, a prominent portrait artist, will be present to make sketches. The festival annually attracts thousands of visitors.

TOURS OF the facilities are planned for the adults while the children are engaged in the other events.

A worship service is planned for 3 p.m., featuring a sermon by the Rev. Dr. Harold H. Wilke, director of the Council for Church and Ministry of The United Church of Christ.

Greetings will be extended to the assembly by Dr. William Rest, president of the North Illinois Synod, Evangelical and Reformed Church; the Rev. Jacob Warkentin, registrar of the Northern Association, Congregational Christian Church, and Dr. Alvin J. Munsterman, superintendent of the home.

Ushers for the worship service are being recruited from the United Church of Christ churches in the Arlington Heights region. A group of men from Christ Church, Des Plaines, will assist with the ushering.

An entertainment program is scheduled for 4:30 p.m. and all alumni will meet at 5:30 p.m.

Gifts and proceeds from the festival will be used for the benefit of the 70 children in foster homes and the more than 140 aged in the Bensenville home.

Ample parking facilities will be available at the home.

It's been a hectic weekend for the Wally Fredericks of Estates Drive. Friday Debbie had her sixth birthday party with 26 neighborhood children attending. Games were played and Mrs. Fredericks saw to it that "all" won a prize. Saturday was another celebration for Debbie, in that her grandparents, aunts, uncles and cousins attended to enjoy a barbecue and birthday cake. Sunday the Fredericks celebrated their seventh anniversary with a cook-out in the back yard with the parents of Wally and Joan attending.

Saturday was a special day for Judy Daniels. Twelve neighborhood children attended her fourth birthday party. There was candy, cake and ice cream for each and on going home, they were given a big jar of "bubbles."

The Dick Knippels had a back yard outing Sunday for five couples. They played ping pong, volleyball and badminton, with the men the victors. A barbecue was served late in the evening.

Saturday the Wade Gales visited the Jack Thalmans in Des Plaines for an evening of pinochle. Monday the Gales celebrated Labor Day with dinner at the Heritage House in Des Plaines.

WELCOMES are in order this week to Ken and Nancy Bracki. Kathy, 4, Debbie, 3, and Cynthia Lynn, 3 weks old, who moved from Des Plaines to 408 Hatlen; to Mr. and Mrs. Warren Schlatter and son, Ronald, 9, who moved from Chicago to 1702 Robbie Lane; and to Mr. and Mrs. Allan Nilsson and Joyce, 21, Ronald, 18, and Curtis, 14, who moved from Chicago to 1726 Robbie Lane. Joyce is a professional model and has just returned from Hollywood where she completed a film for she will leave for New York to do more in this field.

Lynda Hill and Bonnie Trznadel celebrated their third birthdays on Monday with a luncheon party for seven neighborhood children.

The Jim Kingsboroughs entertained the Jess Black family of Des Plaines and the Rodell Black family of Huntly on Sunday. They had a cook-out. The 11 children enjoyed the end of the summer outing.

Mrs. Jerry Kingsborough celebrated her birthday with a trip back to their neighborhood in Chicago with her children. She states that it was so nice to see her friends, but even nicer to get back home.

THE VINCENT Marinellis entertained the Thomas Garos and Bobby, Joe, George and Mary Jo on Sunday. While the dads enjoyed golf, the children played badminton.

Friday the Frank Lowe family visited Mr. and Mrs. Charles Myers in Elmhurst; Saturday the George Lowes and daughters of Reseda, Calif. were dinner guests of the Frank Lowes; Sunday the Frank Lowe family helped Frank's dad celebrate his birthday in Chicago; and Tuesday Arlene Lowe and children spent the afternoon in Glenview at the home of Helen O'Grady, Arlene's aunt, for a cook-out luncheon.

Susan Long celebrated her second birthday Friday with her grandparents and aunts and uncles attending her party.

The Bill Camerons' Sunday afternoon guests were the E. Guertins of Westchester and Mrs. Josephine Guertin. Bill was enjoying his last week of vacation so took the children and Nadine around the lake for a picnic and then to tour the Museum of Science and Industry. On the way home, Deanne was taken to her grandfather's office to spend a few days with her grandparents. The Bill Cameron, of Elmwood Park visited Mrs. Mary Hoffman of Mokena. Later in the evening they met the senior Camerons to have dinner at the Chariot Restaurant. Kiddieland was on the agenda Friday for Deanne and Bobby Cameron.

Birthday greetings this week are extended to Daniel Paus, Rey Martinez and Jim Larson. (AME

Missing Cotter Pin Leads to Fraud Suit

EAST ST. LOUIS, ILL., ...—Atty Gen. William G. Clark filed suit here seeking to halt operations of a garage which allegedly billed customers for repairs on cars in perfect running condition.

The suit asked that a temporary and permanent injunction be issued to halt four men, doing business as Bill and Dean's transmission service, from misrepresenting the mechanical condition of automobiles.

DEFENDENTS are William Curtman, Dean Curtman, Bill Wright and John A. Williams.

Investigator Norman Wright of the attorney general's office said he had a brand new automatic transmission installed in his vehicle at another garage and then had the proprietor remove a cotter pin. This caused the gears to shift at a lower speed and the transmission to leak fluid.

The "damaged" vehicle then was taken to Bill and Dean's where, the suit alleged, Wright was told his automatic transmission was "shot" and that it would cost about $180 to repair it.

WRIGHT then had the car towed to four other garages in the area, each of which found the missing cotter pin upon inspection of the transmission.

Clark's suit alleged that Bill and Dean's misrepresented Wright's car by stating the "planetary was ruined, the housing was warped, discs were saturated with oil and ruined and that the sun gear was worn."

The suit was brought under the act to prevent customer fraud. (A-14

Organ Club To Begin New Season

The Lynn Lakin Organ Club will hold its kickoff fall meeting at 7:30 p. m. Monday, Sept. 9, in the Lyon-Healy store in Randhurst.

Members are past, present and future students of Lynn Lakin, Arlington Heights organ instructor. A total of 507 northwest suburban organists have received lessons from the local teacher. Approximately 105 are currently active students.

LAKIN TEACHES special classes at Maine West and East High Schools during the school year.

The president or vice-president of Hammond Organ Co., and the general manager of Lyon-Healy will attend the special Monday night meeting, Lakin announced this week. Marion Deutch of Oak Park, one of Lakin's first students and a member of the club, will be a featured soloist at the kickoff meeting. Miss Deutch is a double amputee. (A-14

Reat has also served as school superintendent at Oregon, Ill., high school principal and superintendent at Burlington, Ill., and elementary school principal at Arthur, Ill.

REAT is a graduate of Eastern Illinois University at Charleston and has his masters degree from Colorado University. Further graduate study has been taken at the University of Illinois and Northern Illinois University.

The new assistant principal served at Schaumburg School District 54 last year.

Reat presently is commuting from Elgin where he lives with his wife Marian, daughter Holly, 7, and son Mike, 11.

Reat is a member of Illinois Education Association, National Education Association, American Association of School Administrators and was elected to membership in Phi Delta Kappa, national honorary education fraternity. (AH

Blood Needed By Youth

Sixty pints of blood are needed to replace transfusions received recently by a 1963 Prospect High graduate.

An appeal for donations for Richard Beck, 17, of Mount Prospect, was issued this week.

Hospitalized since Aug. 5 at Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge, the teenager has received 30 pints of blood. He is expected to be hospitalized for approximately three more weeks.

All blood types will be accepted. Two pints are needed to replace each received by the Mount Prospect youth.

Awesome Zoning Ordinance

Declare Truce in Airport Versus Suburbs Zone War

Agree to Examine Problem

by BILL HALLS
Staff Writer

A truce has been declared in the O'Hare International Airport zoning war.

Last June, Chicago petitioned the Illinois Department of Aeronautics to adopt an awesome zoning ordinance encompassing some 310 square acres around the giant airdrome. In effect, the proposed law would give the IDA power to regulate all building in this area.

Immediately local officials protested, raising the traditional "don't tread on me" arguments of home rule, most sacred of all municipal scared cows.

The proposal, asked by Chicago in the interests of safety, created so much protest in the northwest suburbs that some 30 villages have banded together in an effort to fight adoption of the law.

THEY ARGUE that the proposal would hinder residential, commercial and industrial development in one of the fastest growing areas in the nation.

The ordinance is primarily concerned with man made or natural obstacles which would create hazards for O'Hare already the world's busiest airport.

Specifically, the law would restrict size and placement of buildings, and regulate population density in proximity to runway corridors.

THE SUBURBAN Municipal Council, the name given to the protesting suburbs, and the Chicago Real Estate Board, have already filed formal protests with the IDA.

The result was a joint meeting at which both sides agreed to make a more definitive study of the ordinance. The IDA has agreed to re-write the proposed law, keeping in mind the major objections of the suburban groups.

The revised proposal will be presented at public hearings some time this fall.

THERE IS no doubt that regulations of some kind will be adopted, if not by Illinois, then by the Federal Aviation Agency which has the right to enforce safety regulations around major airports.

The safety issue is of major concern because most airplane accidents occur near airports. Thus the concern about population density and high rise obstacles, such as apartments, radio station antenna, and utility poles.

There is an ironic touch to the problem, however. The airport attracts people, especially in the jet age. People like to be near to the airport in order to make ready use of it, but at the same time dislike the inconvenience of having the noisy jet aircraft roaring over their tree-shaded suburbs.

EVER SINCE O'Hare replaced Midway Airport as the world's "busiest" and ushered in the jet age, the suburbs have been conducting a constant campaign for noise abatement.

Chicago's push for safety regulations is a reasonable proposal, but the powers given the IDA under the law is just too much for the suburbs to swallow.

As one official put it:

"It's a hot potato and they're trying to shove it down our throats." (A14

Bensenville Home to Hold Its Annual Festival Sunday

The annual festival and homecoming of the Bensenville Home for aged and children, is set to begin at 2 p.m. Sunday.

Numerous outdoor stands selling refreshments and treats, as well as fresh fruits and vegetables, and one devoted entirely to fancy work in the way of handmade linens and similar articles, will open at that time.

Puppet shows for the children are scheduled periodically throughout the afternoon, and clowns will be on hand for the children's amusement during the days.

Mrs. Marie Zvanja Burton of Itasca, a prominent portrait artist, will be present to make sketches. The festival annually attracts thousands of visitors.

TOURS OF the facilities are planned for the adults while the children are engaged in the other events.

A worship service is planned for 3 p.m., featuring a sermon by the Rev. Dr. Harold H. Wilke, director of the Council for Church and Ministry of The United Church of Christ.

Greetings will be extended to the assembly by Dr. William Rest, president of the North Illinois Synod, Evangelical and Reformed Church; the Rev. Jacob Warkentin, registrar of the Northern Association, Congregational Christian Church, and Dr. Alvin J. Munsterman, superintendent of the home.

Ushers for the worship service are being recruited from the United Church of Christ churches in the Arlington Heights region. A group of men from Christ Church, Des Plaines, will assist with the ushering.

An entertainment program is scheduled for 4:30 p.m. and all alumni will meet at 5:30 p.m.

Gifts and proceeds from the festival will be used for the benefit of the 70 children in foster homes and the more than 140 aged in the Bensenville home.

Ample parking facilities will be available at the home.

Forest View News

It's been a hectic weekend for the Wally Fredericks of Estates Drive. Friday Debbie had her sixth birthday party with 26 neighborhood children attending. Games were played and Mrs. Fredericks saw to it that "all" won a prize. Saturday was another celebration for Debbie, in that her grandparents, aunts, uncles and cousins attended to enjoy a barbecue and birthday cake. Sunday the Fredericks celebrated their seventh anniversary with a cookout in the back yard with the parents of Wally and Joan attending.

Saturday was a special day for Judy Daniels. Twelve neighborhood children attended her fourth birthday party. There was candy, cake and ice cream for each and on going home, they were given a big jar of "bubbles."

The Dick Knippels had a back yard outing Sunday for five couples. They played ping pong, volleyball and badminton, with the men the victors. A barbecue was served late in the evening.

Saturday the Wade Gales visited the Jack Thalmans in Des Plaines for an evening of pinochle. Monday the Gales celebrated Labor Day with dinner at the Heritage House in Des Plaines.

WELCOMES are in order this week to Ken and Nancy Bracki. Kathy, 4, Debbie, 3, and Cynthia Lynn, 3 weks old, who moved from Des Plaines to 408 Hatlen; to Mr. and Mrs. Warren Schlatter and son, Ronald, 9, who moved from Chicago to 1702 Robbie Lane; and to Mr. and Mrs. Allan Nilsson and Joyce, 21, Ronald, 18, and Curtis, 14, who moved from Chicago to 1726 Robbie Lane. Joyce is a professional model and has just returned from Hollywood where she completed a film for she will leave for New York to do more in this field.

Lynda Hill and Bonnie Trznadel celebrated their third birthdays on Monday with a luncheon party for seven neighborhood children.

The Jim Kingsboroughs entertained the Jess Black family of Des Plaines and the Rodell Black family of Huntly on Sunday. They had a cook-out. The 11 children enjoyed the end of the summer outing.

Mrs. Jerry Kingsborough celebrated her birthday with a trip back to their neighborhood in Chicago with her children. She states that it was so nice to see her friends, but even nicer to get back home.

THE VINCENT Marinellis entertained the Thomas Garos and Bobby, Joe, George and Mary Jo on Sunday. While the dads enjoyed golf, the children played badminton.

Friday the Frank Lowe family visited Mr. and Mrs. Charles Myers in Elmhurst; Saturday the George Lowes and daughters of Reseda, Calif. were dinner guests of the Frank Lowes; Sunday the Frank Lowe family helped Frank's dad celebrate his birthday in Chicago; and Tuesday Arlene Lowe and children spent the afternoon in Glenview at the home of Helen O'Grady, Arlene's aunt, for a cook-out luncheon.

Susan Long celebrated her second birthday Friday with her grandparents and aunts and uncles attending her party.

The Bill Camerons' Sunday afternoon guests were the E. Guertins of Westchester and Mrs. Josephine Guertin. Bill was enjoying his last week of vacation so took the children and Nadine around the lake for a picnic and then to tour the Museum of Science and Industry. On the way home, Deanne was taken to her grandfather's office to spend a few days with her grandparents. The Bill Cameron, of Elmwood Park visited Mrs. Mary Hoffman of Mokena. Later in the evening they met the senior Camerons to have dinner at the Chariot Restaurant. Kiddieland was on the agenda Friday for Deanne and Bobby Cameron.

Birthday greetings this week are extended to Daniel Paus, Rey Martinez and Jim Larson. (AME

Missing Cotter Pin Leads to Fraud Suit

EAST ST. LOUIS, ILL., ...—Atty Gen. William G. Clark filed suit here seeking to halt operations of a garage which allegedly billed customers for repairs on cars in perfect running condition.

The suit asked that a temporary and permanent injunction be issued to halt four men, doing business as Bill and Dean's transmission service, from misrepresenting the mechanical condition of automobiles.

DEFENDENTS are William Curtman, Dean Curtman, Bill Wright and John A. Williams.

Investigator Norman Wright of the attorney general's office said he had a brand new automatic transmission installed in his vehicle at another garage and then had the proprietor remove a cotter pin. This caused the gears to shift at a lower speed and the transmission to leak fluid.

The "damaged" vehicle then was taken to Bill and Dean's where, the suit alleged, Wright was told his automatic transmission was "shot" and that it would cost about $180 to repair it.

WRIGHT then had the car towed to four other garages in the area, each of which found the missing cotter pin upon inspection of the transmission.

Clark's suit alleged that Bill and Dean's misrepresented Wright's car by stating the "planetary was ruined, the housing was warped, discs were saturated with oil and ruined and that the sun gear was worn."

The suit was brought under the act to prevent customer fraud. (A-14

Organ Club To Begin New Season

The Lynn Lakin Organ Club will hold its kickoff fall meeting at 7:30 p. m. Monday, Sept. 9, in the Lyon-Healy store in Randhurst.

Members are past, present and future students of Lynn Lakin, Arlington Heights organ instructor. A total of 507 northwest suburban organists have received lessons from the local teacher. Approximately 105 are currently active students.

LAKIN TEACHES special classes at Maine West and East High Schools during the school year.

The president or vice-president of Hammond Organ Co., and the general manager of Lyon-Healy will attend the special Monday night meeting, Lakin announced this week. Marion Deutch of Oak Park, one of Lakin's first students and a member of the club, will be a featured soloist at the kickoff meeting. Miss Deutch is a double amputee. (A-14

Right of Way

The right of way is what they had. The Institute for Safer Living warns that motorists should never insist on taking the right of way at intersections, either from pedestrians or motorists. In theory the right of way may be yours, but the other driver often feels the same way about the matter. Always play it safe and alert. Be prepared to yield.

SUNDAY, SEPT. 8 .... 1 p.m. to 10 p.m.

designed for the Utmost Comfort & Convenience
Three Spacious Chapels
Lovely entrance foyer and comfortable lounge
Large, Private Parlors
Spacious Casket Selection Room
Private Arrangements Office

This weekend, the doors of the all-new Drake & Son Funeral Home, just completed at 625 Busse Highway in Park Ridge, will be open to you, your family and your friends. You are most cordially invited to inspect the spacious, new facilities which we now offer to families living in the North and Northwest Suburbs.

Courteous staff members will be on hand during our Open House to conduct all visitors throughout these new facilities, pointing out the various features, and answering any questions which may be asked.

This will be an ideal opportunity for everyone to inspect all the facilities offered in a modern funeral home — under pleasant conditions. Such an opportunity may never again be available. We'll look forward to seeing and visiting with you.

open house
at the NEW Drake & Son funeral home

SATURDAY, SEPT. 7.. 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.
SUNDAY, SEPT. 8.... 1 p.m. to 10 p.m.

This weekend, the doors of the all-new Drake & Son Funeral Home, just completed at 625 Busse Highway in Park Ridge, will be open to you, your family and your friends. You are most cordially invited to inspect the spacious, new facilities which we now offer to families living in the North and Northwest Suburbs.

Courteous staff members will be on hand during our Open House to conduct all visitors throughout these new facilities, pointing out the various features, and answering any questions which may be asked.

This will be an ideal opportunity for everyone to inspect all the facilities offered in a modern funeral home — under pleasant conditions. Such an opportunity may never again be available. We'll look forward to seeing and visiting with you.

"NEWEST AND FINEST IN THE SUBURBAN AREAS"

September Suburbia Today Offers Versatile Reading

Not since the gold rush has there been a bigger attraction for new settlers than the suburbs, where the population leaped 10,000,000 between 1950 and 1960. But what happens to these newcomers in a strange land? How are they accepted by the old settlers?

See this month's Round Table —"Old Settlers and New People—How Do They Mix?"—edited by George Fielding Eliot for the September issue of Suburbia Today in this week's edition of Paddock Publications. Editors of suburban newspapers across the country speak up on this ticklish aspect of today's rush to the "peaceful" suburbs.

Nobody realizes how sick he is, laments Edward Streeter, author of "Father of the Bride." Even his doctor (the ingrate, after years of regular annual checkups) gives him the brush off—with a clean bill of health, need we add? And after Mr. Streeter, in his weakened state, had prepared a long list of his ominous symptoms, too. Sound familiar? There's more to come as this famous, ungrateful patient tells the whole sad story in "Listen, Doctor."

BRISK CARIBBEAN tradewinds, a 70-foot schooner, warm blue seas, a tropical sun—all this was once a millionaire's adventure but now anyone can have it. In "Caribbean Charter Cruise," Bill Robinson, associate editor of Yachting Magazine, takes you on a charter cruise through the fabulous Antilles.

For women who sew and for those who have so far been timid about trying to, the fashion editor of Suburbia Today presents "New Cloth, New Clothes" in photographs and sketches. There are swatches of the new bright plaids, snappy tweeds, bold houndstooth checks, etched brocades, and puffy matelasses, and with them are shown patterns for well-cut easy to-sew new clothes—coasts and skirts and all day jumpers, and the glamourous long evening dress of this autumn.

TOM BLANEY cares for 2,000 house plants as part of his duties as the head gardener for the United Nations. And since more than two million visitors see the plants each year, they have to be kept in top condition. In "Do You Love House Plants?" Samm Sinclair Baker interviews Blaney on his rules for keeping plants alive and looking lively, beginning with the most impodtant one—Give them loving care.

In "Split-Level Child," poet and artist Rosalind Welcher takes you into the secret world of the junior members of suburbia through her verses and sketches "after-nature."

Now that we've moved indoors and food is hot and hearty again, why not serve your guests "An Informal Supper in the Italian Tradition," assembled by the Food Editor of Suburbia Today, Melanie De Proft. Start off with Zucchini Vinaigrette, followed by Chicken Cacciatore with a platter of Artichokes Florentine, and then surprise them with Biscuit Tortoni (delicious—and not at all complicated to produce with your own hand) and Italian Butter Cookies.

"SOLVE YOUR Space Problem"—For the vast majority of people who have a lack of storage space in their home, Suburbia Today has picked four designs (a wall-to-wall bookcase, a garden tool shed, an all-purpose storage unit, and a hobby cabinet) which the head of the house can order and make in his spare time at home.

This month the news department of Suburbia Today gets around to a young taxpayer in Prairie Village, Kansas, with a plan that could turn the tax department inro a matrimonial bureau; reports on a cantankerous bear, who has been giving the slip to the local police department in Rockland County, New York; and learns from a reader in Dallas County, Texas, that Whistler painted dad as well as mother, although the portrait now rests in rather shabby surroundings.

Battles Bees with Blanket

MOLINE, (UPI) — A swarm of bees attacked a 2-year-old boy and his mother fought them off with a blanket.

In satisfactory condition was Billy Plummer, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Plummer.

Mrs. Plummer said the child was playing outside with his two older brothers when she heard their screams.

SHE RUSHED outside to find that Billy had fallen from a wagon into a water ditch, and about 200 bees had covered his head. A swarm of 300 bees also had attacked the other two children.

Mrs. Plummer fought off the bees with a blanket, pulled the stingers out and rushed Billy to the hospital. (A14

Council to Honor Past Grand Knight

Holy Ghost Council of the Knights of Columbus will honor its immediate past grand knight, Harry Faugnan, 137 E. Washington, Palatine, on Saturday, Sept. 7.

A reception and dinner at Campbells' Hearthstone Supper Club will begin at 7 p.m. for members, prospective members and their ladies. For reservations, call John Busch at FL 9-1717.

After his term of office was completed, Faugnan was appointed to the post of deputy of District 2 of Illinois.

In this post he has jurisdiction over Regina Council of Wheeling, Cardinal Stritch Council of Libertyville, Queen of Peace Council of Barrington and Holy Angel Council of Wauconda.

Holy Ghost Council consists of men from St. Thomas of Villanova and St. Theresa parishes in Palatine and St. Hubert's Parish in Hoffman Estates. (A14

METROPOLITAN SANITARY DISTRICT OF GREATER CHICAGO

Notice

House Bill Number 1415 was passed by the 73rd General Assembly of the State of Illinois and became effective on August 7, 1963, on which date it was signed by Governor Otto Kerner.

The provisions of the Bill are quoted below for the information of all concerned:

SECTION 1. The corporate limits of The Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago are hereby extended so as to embrace and include within the same the territory and tracts of land situated in the County of Cook and State of Illinois, hereinafter described as follows:

That part of the Southeast Quarter (SE ¼) of the Southwest Quarter (SW ¼) of Section Sixteen (16), Township Forty-two (42) North, Range Ten (10) East of the Third Principal Meridian, described as follows: Beginning at the Southeast Corner of the Southwest Quarter (SW ¼) and running thence West along the South line of said Quarter Section, 926.3 feet; thence on a 124 degrees 36' 30'' angle to the right of the last described course, 109.75 feet; thence on a 39 degrees 07' 30'' angle to the left of the last described course, 131.8 feet; thence on a 10 degrees angle to the right of the last described course, 360.0 feet; thence on a 58 degrees 20' angle to the right of the last decribed course, 111.0 feet; thence on a 10 degrees angle to the left of the last described course, 224.0 feet; thence on a 33 degrees angle to the left of the last described course, 88.0 feet; thence on a 40 degrees angle to the right of the last described course 103.0 feet; thence on a 22 degrees angle to the right of the last described course, 77.0 feet; thece on a 19 degrees 40' angle to the left of the last described course, 182.0 feet; thence on a 34 degrees 04' angle to the right of the last described course, 196.15 feet to the east line of the Southeast Quarter (SE ¼) of the Southwest Quarter (SW ¼) of said Section, thence Southerly along the East line of said Quarter Section, 961.0 feet to the place of beginning, all in Cook County, Illinois.

Section 2. Within 30 days after the effective date of this Act, the corporate authorities of The Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago shall cause to be published for three successive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation in the above described territory, a notice that the voters of the above described territory (describing it) have 30 days within which to file a petition with the Clerk of The Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago praying that the question of adoption of this Act be submitted to a vote of the electors of said territory, and that, if no such petition is filed, the described territory will become a part of The Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago. If such petition, signed by not less than 10 per cent of the legal voters within the above described territory, praying that the question of the adoption of this Act shall be submitted to a vote of the electors of said territory shall be filed with the clerk of said sanitary district, then and in such case the question of the adoption of this Act shall be submitted to a vote of the electors, as in said petition prayed, at any general or municipal election held after the adoption of this Act, and in such case, this Act shall not be in force unless a majority of the votes cast at said election, upon the question of the adoption of this Act, shall be in favor of the adoption thereof.

In case said petition is filed, it shall be the duty of the election officers having charge of the preparation of the ballots and the giving of the notices of election and of the counting and canvassing and making returns of the ballots, to take all necessary steps and do all necessary acts to cause the said question of the adoption of this Act to be submitted to a vote as hereinabove provided, and to cause the results of such election to be cancassed and certified as provided by law in similar cases.

All such petitions referred to in Section 2 above shall be filed with Mr. Harry E. Eaton, Clerk of the Board of the Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago, 100 East Erie Street, Chicago 11, Illinois.

HARRY E. EATON
Clerk of the Board
Metropolitan Sanitary
District of Greater Chicago.

METROPOLITAN SANITARY DISTRICT OF GREATER CHICAGO

Notice

House Bill Number 1415 was passed by the 73rd General Assembly of the State of Illinois and became effective on August 7, 1963, on which date it was signed by Governor Otto Kerner.

The provisions of the Bill are quoted below for the information of all concerned:

SECTION 1. The corporate limits of The Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago are hereby extended so as to embrace and include within the same the territory and tracts of land situated in the County of Cook and State of Illinois, hereinafter described as follows:

That part of the Southeast Quarter (SE ¼) of the Southwest Quarter (SW ¼) of Section Sixteen (16), Township Forty-two (42) North, Range Ten (10) East of the Third Principal Meridian, described as follows: Beginning at the Southeast Corner of the Southwest Quarter (SW ¼) and running thence West along the South line of said Quarter Section, 926.3 feet; thence on a 124 degrees 36' 30'' angle to the right of the last described course, 109.75 feet; thence on a 39 degrees 07' 30'' angle to the left of the last described course, 131.8 feet; thence on a 10 degrees angle to the right of the last described course, 360.0 feet; thence on a 58 degrees 20' angle to the right of the last decribed course, 111.0 feet; thence on a 10 degrees angle to the left of the last described course, 224.0 feet; thence on a 33 degrees angle to the left of the last described course, 88.0 feet; thence on a 40 degrees angle to the right of the last described course 103.0 feet; thence on a 22 degrees angle to the right of the last described course, 77.0 feet; thece on a 19 degrees 40' angle to the left of the last described course, 182.0 feet; thence on a 34 degrees 04' angle to the right of the last described course, 196.15 feet to the east line of the Southeast Quarter (SE ¼) of the Southwest Quarter (SW ¼) of said Section, thence Southerly along the East line of said Quarter Section, 961.0 feet to the place of beginning, all in Cook County, Illinois.

Section 2. Within 30 days after the effective date of this Act, the corporate authorities of The Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago shall cause to be published for three successive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation in the above described territory, a notice that the voters of the above described territory (describing it) have 30 days within which to file a petition with the Clerk of The Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago praying that the question of adoption of this Act be submitted to a vote of the electors of said territory, and that, if no such petition is filed, the described territory will become a part of The Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago. If such petition, signed by not less than 10 per cent of the legal voters within the above described territory, praying that the question of the adoption of this Act shall be submitted to a vote of the electors of said territory shall be filed with the clerk of said sanitary district, then and in such case the question of the adoption of this Act shall be submitted to a vote of the electors, as in said petition prayed, at any general or municipal election held after the adoption of this Act, and in such case, this Act shall not be in force unless a majority of the votes cast at said election, upon the question of the adoption of this Act, shall be in favor of the adoption thereof.

In case said petition is filed, it shall be the duty of the election officers having charge of the preparation of the ballots and the giving of the notices of election and of the counting and canvassing and making returns of the ballots, to take all necessary steps and do all necessary acts to cause the said question of the adoption of this Act to be submitted to a vote as hereinabove provided, and to cause the results of such election to be cancassed and certified as provided by law in similar cases.

All such petitions referred to in Section 2 above shall be filed with Mr. Harry E. Eaton, Clerk of the Board of the Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago, 100 East Erie Street, Chicago 11, Illinois.

HARRY E. EATON
Clerk of the Board
Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago.

consider this:

You are about to invest money for an ad and you are entitled to get results. To accomplish this it is necessary for you to TELL ALL about the details of your offer. Be sure you don't make any of the following errors that prevent results:

1. DON'T OMIT THE ADDRESS

Many out-of-town readers will write you, but will not spend money for a long distance call.

2. DON'T OMIT THE PHONE NUMBER

Many readers will call you but do not find it convenient to come to your home.

3. DON'T USE BLIND BOX NUMBERS

Avoid them if at all possible. They are difficult to answer and many people are suspicious of them.

4. DON'T CONCEAL THE PRICE DESIRED

Surveys show that a high percentage of readers will not answer an ad unless the price is given.

5. DON'T LEAVE HOME ON THE DAYS YOU ADVERTISE

Many good prospects will not call the second time if your phone is unanswered.

HINTS TO HOMEOWNERS

by James Fizzell, Associate Farm Advisor

ALERT HOMEOWNERS DIAL DAILY 392-3060

Although summer is on its last legs, this doesn't mean that your annual flowers have "had it" for the season. But they'll do better from now until frost if you give them a little extra attention.

Some flowers, particularly zinnias, roses and pansies and others are very susceptible to mildew. Proper use of fungicides is the only way to prevent this disease. Dusting with sulfur is usually all that is required or you can spray with Karathane or Acti-Dione PM. (mildew also attacks Merion bluegrass in shaded areas).

Use one of the materials at the first sign of mildew on the leaves. Repeat every seven to ten days, or more often if the weather is very damp.

BOTRYTIS is another disease which can become troublesome in garden flowers. It usually attacks over-ripe flowers causing unsightly, gray, moldy growths. This disease can be prevented by removing all old flowers and foliage from early-blooming flowers, and by dusting with zineb.

Trim back petunias. Trimming will bring them back into full flower in a few weeks. Remove long, rank growth so that new shoots will develop from the center of the plant.

Remove spent snapdragon spikes so that new shoots will develop. In cutting the spikes leave about six inches of stem on the plant.

Also remove faded flowers from annual phlox, leaving about six inches of stem on the plant. Do the same for marigolds and zinnias. To keep annuals growing vigorously throughout the rest of the summer, apply a complete fertilizer at the rate of two or three pounds per 100 square feet of bed area. Be sure the soil is moist when you apply the fertilizer. Wash off any fertilizer that gets on plant foliage.

CRICKETS, spiders, and ants may be a problem at any time around the home. To prevent these insects from entering the house, apply a water-base spray of 2 per cent chlordane or 0.5 per cent dieldrin to the outside foundation. Spray, to the point of run-off, the area from the sill to the soil level around the entire house. Pay particular attention to areas under porches and around steps. Approximately 3 to 5 gallons of diluted spray is adequate for the average home. Do not apply directly on shrubbery or flowers.

BEFORE APPLYING INSECTICIDES, read the labels carefully and follow all precautions. This not only will insure personal safety, but will also eliminate insecticide residue hazards. (A14

The DuPage County Historical Society presented an AWARD OF HONOR to Mount Emblem in 1956 for preserving the Old Dutch Mill as an educational and historic exhibit.

Visitors to the Old Dutch Mill are always welcome.

Mount Emblem is distinctly different.

Here is the expression of an ideal — Nature's eternal loveliness transformed into a memorial of Living Beauty. Natural Beauty — unmarred by artificiality or perishable structures. This is the keynote of our landscape policy. Objects of nature are real, their appeal is universal, continuous through time.

When you visit, you will be aware of the meticulous maintenance. You will find that our prices are moderate. It costs no more to own the best.

HINTS TO HOMEOWNERS

by James Fizzell, Associate Farm Advisor

ALERT HOMEOWNERS DIAL DAILY 392-3060

Although summer is on its last legs, this doesn't mean that your annual flowers have "had it" for the season. But they'll do better from now until frost if you give them a little extra attention.

Some flowers, particularly zinnias, roses and pansies and others are very susceptible to mildew. Proper use of fungicides is the only way to prevent this disease. Dusting with sulfur is usually all that is required or you can spray with Karathane or Acti-Dione PM. (mildew also attacks Merion bluegrass in shaded areas).

Use one of the materials at the first sign of mildew on the leaves. Repeat every seven to ten days, or more often if the weather is very damp.

BOTRYTIS is another disease which can become troublesome in garden flowers. It usually attacks over-ripe flowers causing unsightly, gray, moldy growths. This disease can be prevented by removing all old flowers and foliage from early-blooming flowers, and by dusting with zineb.

Trim back petunias. Trimming will bring them back into full flower in a few weeks. Remove long, rank growth so that new shoots will develop from the center of the plant.

Remove spent snapdragon spikes so that new shoots will develop. In cutting the spikes leave about six inches of stem on the plant.

Also remove faded flowers from annual phlox, leaving about six inches of stem on the plant. Do the same for marigolds and zinnias. To keep annuals growing vigorously throughout the rest of the summer, apply a complete fertilizer at the rate of two or three pounds per 100 square feet of bed area. Be sure the soil is moist when you apply the fertilizer. Wash off any fertilizer that gets on plant foliage.

CRICKETS, spiders, and ants may be a problem at any time around the home. To prevent these insects from entering the house, apply a water-base spray of 2 per cent chlordane or 0.5 per cent dieldrin to the outside foundation. Spray, to the point of run-off, the area from the sill to the soil level around the entire house. Pay particular attention to areas under porches and around steps. Approximately 3 to 5 gallons of diluted spray is adequate for the average home. Do not apply directly on shrubbery or flowers.

BEFORE APPLYING INSECTICIDES, read the labels carefully and follow all precautions. This not only will insure personal safety, but will also eliminate insecticide residue hazards.

MOUNT EMBLEM
"Illinois' Most Beautiful Cemetery"
Site of the OLD DUTCH MILL
Built in 1850
The DuPage County Historical Society presented an AWARD OF HONOR to Mount Emblem in 1956 for preserving the Old Dutch Mill as an educational and historic exhibit.
Visitors to the Old Dutch Mill are always welcome.
Mount Emblem is distinctly different.
Here is the expression of an ideal — Nature's eternal loveliness transformed into a memorial of Living Beauty. Natural Beauty — unmarred by artificiality or perishable structures. This is the keynote of our landscape policy. Objects of nature are real, their appeal is universal, continuous through time.
When you visit, you will be aware of the meticulous maintenance. You will find that our prices are moderate. It costs no more to own the best.

Jazz Organist Concert Here

Les Strand, prominent jazz organist, will be guest artist Tuesday night at the Northwest Chapter-Hammond Organ Society's first meeting of the fall season.

The meeting and concert will be held at 8 p.m. in the Town Hall of Randhurst Center, Route 83 and Rand Road, Mount Prospect.

Strand's recordings have consistently won top 4-star ratings from Down Beat Magazine, which recently described him as "a jazz organist with consistent taste, a feeling for dynamics, and personal invention on ballads as well as swingers."

COMMENTING on the LP album "Les Strand: Plays Jazz Classics," the reviewer for High Fidelity Magazine wrote: "Strand himself is one of the subtle delights that occur in jazz all too infrequently."

The 31-year-old Chicagoan has made featured appearances at the Blue Note, Cloister, Streamliner, and Sutherland lounges.

Strand's program is open to the public, and additional information may be obtained from Wilma Kups, chapter secretary, at CL 3-1599.

Refreshments will be served after the meeting and concert, and Mrs. Clara Loomis will serve as hostess.

THE ORGAN society chapter was organized to "bring together people who are interested in the Hammond organ, whether or not they are owners of the instrument," explained Paul W. Trava, president, "as well as to encourage enjoyment of good organ music and aid in acquisition of playing techniques and skills."

Chapter officers, in addition to Miss Kups and Trava, are Dorothy Evans, vice president, and Vivian Brennan, treasurer.

'Get Away' Special Planned at Sahara

Gene Autry's Sahara Inn, 3939 N. Mannheim Road, Schiller Park, has initiated a special "get-away-from-it-all" weekend for two which includes Saturday night dinner, dancing and floor show in the Sultan's Table, a Friday evening cocktail in the Celebrity Lounge, and a complete Sunday Champagne Bruncheon.

This was announced Aug. 28 by Erwin H. Schlicht, general manager, who said the special package rate starts anytime after Noon Fridays, and extends through the following Sunday evening.

He said it includes complete use of the Sahara's olympic-style swimming pool and all the other recreational facilities for the three days and two nights.

Beginning Aug. 29 for three weeks, singing star Connee Boswell will headline the show in the Sultan's Table. Dinner is served from 5:30 p.m. to 1 a.m. nightly in a room noted for its elegant black velvet and red-and-gold satin surroundings.

Shows are at 8:30 and 11 p.m. nightly, with CBS star Ollie Raymond and his orchestra providing music for dancing and listening.

CURRENTLY swinging in the Celebrity Lounge are the Johnny Lewis Trio and pianist Virginia Paul, who entertain continuously from 6 p.m. until 3:30 a.m.

The Sahara Inn is owned and managed by the Gene Autry Hotel Co., Hollywood, Calif. The company also operates the Ocotillo Lodge in Palm Springs, Calif., and Hotel Continental in the movie capital. (Bill

New Sinatra Comedy for Golf Mill

The new Technicolor and Panavision Frank Sinatra comedy, "Come Blow Your Horn," opens Friday at the Golf Mill Theatre, Niles.

Adapted from the Broadway comedy success, the cast includes Lee J. Cobb, Molly Picon, Jill St. John and Barabara Rush.

"Come Blow Your Horn" is a modern-day, sophisticated comedy that sparkles with as urban New York City setting, beautiful girls, lovely clothes, fast automobiles, the fanciest penthouse you can imagine, and an old country mother and father who are bewildered by the antics of their two sons.

As a special treat for children, the Golf Mill will show a children's movie Saturday matinee at 1 p.m. featuring Buddy Hackett and Mickey Rooney in "Everything's Ducky" plus one hour of cartoons and comedies. The program ends at 4 p.m.

Golf Mill is located in Golf Mill Shopping Center, Golf Road and Milwaukee Avenue. (Bill

'Get Away' Special Planned at Sahara

Gene Autry's Sahara Inn, 3939 N. Mannheim Road, Schiller Park, has initiated a special "get-away-from-it-all" weekend for two which includes Saturday night dinner, dancing and floor show in the Sultan's Table, a Friday evening cocktail in the Celebrity Lounge, and a complete Sunday Champagne Bruncheon.

This was announced Aug. 28 by Erwin H. Schlicht, general manager, who said the special package rate starts anytime after Noon Fridays, and extends through the following Sunday evening.

He said it includes complete use of the Sahara's olympic-style swimming pool and all the other recreational facilities for the three days and two nights.

Beginning Aug. 29 for three weeks, singing star Connee Boswell will headline the show in the Sultan's Table. Dinner is served from 5:30 p.m. to 1 a.m. nightly in a room noted for its elegant black velvet and red-and-gold satin surroundings.

Shows are at 8:30 and 11 p.m. nightly, with CBS star Ollie Raymond and his orchestra providing music for dancing and listening.

CURRENTLY swinging in the Celebrity Lounge are the Johnny Lewis Trio and pianist Virginia Paul, who entertain continuously from 6 p.m. until 3:30 a.m.

The Sahara Inn is owned and managed by the Gene Autry Hotel Co., Hollywood, Calif. The company also operates the Ocotillo Lodge in Palm Springs, Calif., and Hotel Continental in the movie capital. (Bill

New Sinatra Comedy for Golf Mill

The new Technicolor and Panavision Frank Sinatra comedy, "Come Blow Your Horn," opens Friday at the Golf Mill Theatre, Niles.

Adapted from the Broadway comedy success, the cast includes Lee J. Cobb, Molly Picon, Jill St. John and Barabara Rush.

"Come Blow Your Horn" is a modern - day, sophisticated comedy that sparkles with as urban New York City setting, beautiful girls, lovely clothes, fast automobiles, the fanciest penthouse you can imagine, and an old country mother and father who are bewildered by the antics of their two sons.

As a special treat for children, the Golf Mill will show a children's movie Saturday matinee at 1 p.m. featuring Buddy Hackett and Mickey Rooney in "Everything's Ducky" plus one hour of cartoons and comedies. The program ends at 4 p.m.

Golf Mill is located in Golf Mill Shopping Center, Golf Road and Milwaukee Avenue. (Bill

At Countryside Gallery

Patron Party Slated

Patrons of the Countryside Gallery will attend a champagne party and preview of the Gallery's first exhibit for the new year, this Saturday.

The party will be from 9 to 11 p.m. adjacent to the gallery, which is located at 10 W. Miner St., Arlington Heights.

During 1962-63, the Countryside Gallery had over 70 patrons. Plans are to double the patron list for 1963-64.

Patron advantages include previews of the monthly exhibits at the gallery, a discount on art classes, an invitation to all Countryside Art Center lecture-demonstrations, and others.

In addition to Arlington Heights, Gallery patrons during the past year came from Wood Dale, Deerfield, Barrington, Palatine, Glenview, Inverness, Park Ridge, Prospect Heights, Bannockburn, Northbrook and Winnetka.

Music is also a part of Saturday's program. The Northwestern University School of Music will supply musicians to play.

GALLERY patron information may be obtained by calling either Mrs. Laura Heiberger, 710 S. Beverly Lane, Arlington Heights, CL 9-4022, or Mrs. Betty Bowen, 516 S. Beverly Lane, Arlington Heights, CL 3-8218.

The Countryside Gallery is associated with the Countryside Art Center which as part of its activities conducts art classes for both adults and children. Art classes will start again the beginning of October.

Information and details on the art classes can be secured from Mrs. Rosemary Bogaerts, 91 Pleasant Hill, Palatine, FL 8-5328.

ON THURSDAY, Sept. 12, Chicago sculptor Abbott Pattison will discuss and demonstrate sculpting at the art center's first fall meeting.

The lecture will be held at Pioneer Park in Arlington Heights at 8 p.m.

New Art Gallery Exhibit

Paintings and sculpture from eight Chicago art galleries form the basis for the 11th monthly exhibit at the Countryside Gallery, Arlington Heights.

This "Chicago Galleries Invitational" will open this Sunday with a reception from 1 to 4 p.m. and will continue through Oct. 3.

Mrs. Robert Anderson of Wood Dale, chairman of the gallery directors, has identified the Chicago galleries as: Fairweather-Hardin, Richard Feigen, Allan Frumkin, Gilman, B. C. Holland, Main Street, Oehlschlaeger and Devorah Sherman.

"THE WORK of 16 artists will be hung in this September show," Mrs. Anderson commented, "and will provide an opportunity for visitors to see at one time, paintings and sculpture that would ordinarily mean many trips to all these leading galleries in Chicago."

Regular gallery visiting hours are Tuesdays through Sundays from 1 to 4 p.m. and other hours may be arranged by groups or individuals by calling the gallery at 255-9718. The Countryside Gallery is located in the center of Arlington Heights at 10 W. Miner St.

Art Fair Sunday at Des Plaines Bank

"Come to the Fair", say the artists from 13 suburbs who are planning to exhibit their works at the Des Plaines Art Guild's eighth outdoor art fair Sunday, Sept. 8, from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the Des Plaines National Bank parking lot, Lee and Ellinwood, Des Plaines.

Admission to the outdoor fair is free, and refreshments will be available. In the event of rain, the fair will be held Sunday, Sept. 15, at the same location.

Over 60 artists have reserved space in the exhibit area according to Art Wetter, Des Plaines, president of the Des Plaines Art Guild and chairman of the fair.

ARTISTS FROM Prospect Heights, Mount Prospect and Palatine are planning to show their paintings. They are:

Betty H. Bieg, 706 Greco Court, Prospect Heights; Betty L. Hayes, 253 Parallel, Palatine; Wylma C. Stier, 500 Baldwin Road, Palatine; Pierre Deck, 805 S. Hi-Lusi Ave., Mount Prospect; Dorothy R. Kruse, 718 S. Williams, Palatine; Hedvic A. Vlasak, 611 S. Emerson St., Mount Prospect; Ruth Kastner, 208 S. Albert St., Mount Prospect; Christl Hansen, 110 S. Edward, Mount Prospect.

Des Palines residents will be exhibiting along with artists from Chicago, Park Ridge, Niles, Prospect Heights, Mount Prospect, Palatine, McHenry, Mundelein, Barrington, Naperville, Northbrook, Maybrook and Palos Park.

PURCHASE awards totaling $200 will be presented at noon by Des Plaines Mayor, Herbert H. Behrel and president of Des Plaines National Bank Charles Burgess.

In addition to displays of oil paintings, watercolors, pastels, collages, mosaics, ceramics, sculpture, enamelware and jewelry, there will be several working artists at the fair doing sketches.

By Masque, Staff

Plan 'Picnic' For Opener

Masque and Staff of Elk Grove Village will present as its first play of the 1963-64 season the Pulitzer-prize winning drama "Picnic," by William Inge.

Rehearsals are under way, directed by Guy Marsh, and production committees are hard at work under the guidance of producer Diane Africk.

The cast includes many favorites of local theater-goers as well as several newcomers. Taking their first roles in a Masque and Staff production are Marilyn Presar as "Madge" and Floyr Foster as "Hal," one of the romantic twosomes in the play, the other pair being Lois McKelvey as "Rosemary" and Jim Spahr as "Howard."

WALLY MEYER is Madge's erstwhile fiance "Alan," thereby creating an eternal triangle in the plot. Sollace Hotze takes the demanding role of "Millie," the younger sister.

Bonnie Casey, as "Mrs. Potts, a beloved next door neighbor, and Liz Broderson as "Mrs. Owens," mother of the two girls, will both have to be aged considerably by makeup to portray older women.

Providing some comic relief are Patricia Marshall and Marilou Arnold as school teacher colleagues of Rosemary. Last but not least is Ben Kallaway, who portrays the paper boy bearing the euphonious name of "Bomber Gutzel".

THE PLAY opens Friday, Sept. 27, at Dempster Junior High School Auditorium, opening night being the occasion for a benefit performance sponsored by the Elk Grove Chapter of the Northwest Mental Health Association.

There will be a regular performance the following evening, Sept. 28, and again on Oct. 4 and 5. Tickets will be available at the door or from Masque and Staff members. If there are questions regarding tickets call HE 7-1292. (Bill

"THE LIST OF Adrian Messenger" directed by John Huston, presents an unusual type of crime drama with mystery elements in both story and cast. Tony Curtis, Kirk Douglas (above), Burt Lancaster, Robert Mitchum and Frank Sinatra are seen in "surprise" character delineations. Above R. is George C. Scott. Starts Friday, Sept. 6 Oasis Drive In Theater.

Bev Adams Heads Guild Play Cast

Beverly Adams of Mount Prospect has been selected to play the leading lady in "Critic's Choice," opening play of the season for the Des Plaines Theatre Guild, it was announced by director Don Baylor.

"Critic's Choice" will be presented on three weekends, starting Friday Sept. 13, at the new Guild Playhouse, 620 Lee St. It is the story of a drama critic whose wife writes a play —a very bad play—which he feels duty-bound to review. Divorce almost results.

Beverly will play the part of the critic's wife, Angela. She has appeared on the Guild stage as Julie in "The Golden Fleecing," and the school teacher in "Desperate Hours." Beverly has also acted with thatre groups in Salem, Oregon and Pasedena, Calif.

SHE TEACHES French at Rolling Meadows to grades three through seven, and has three small children of her own.

Her critic - husband, Parker Ballantine, will be played by Bill Bucher.

The role of Angela's mother, Charlotte Orr, is in the hands of Hazel Peck of Arlington Heights. Hazel is known to Theatre Guild audiences for her performances as Julia in "Sabrina Fair," Content Lowell in Marriage - Go - Round," and Mrs. Railton - Bell in the recent production of "Separate Tables." (Bill

Casting Will Open Sunday for Comedy

This Sunday afternoon, from 1 to 5 p.m., casting will begin for "Critic's Choice," a recent Broadway hit chosen to open the season for Arlington Heights Village Theatre.

Tryouts are scheduled for the Recreation Park gym, Miner and Douglas Streets, in Arlington Heights. Rehearsals under the direction of Richard Tyler, resident director, will begin Sept. 13 and continue on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday nights.

Performance nights are Oct. 25, 26, 27, Nov. 1 and 3 at Prospect High School Little Theatre, Mount Prospect.

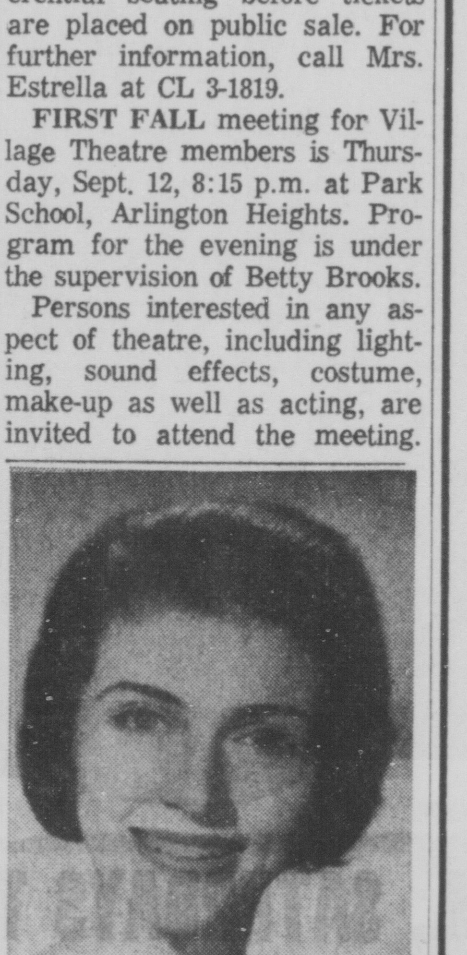
THE CAST for Ira Levin's comedy includes three major women's roles, two major men's roles, a part for a boy and a woman's "bit" part. Casting is open to anyone interested in community theatre.

Mary Estrella, patron chairman of Village Theatre, announces that patron memberships will be accepted until Sept. 15.

A patron is a season ticket holder who is entitled to choice of performance night and preferential seating before tickets are placed on public sale. For further information, call Mrs. Estrella at CL 3-1819.

FIRST FALL meeting for Village Theatre members is Thursday, Sept. 12, 8:15 p.m. at Park School, Arlington Heights. Program for the evening is under the supervision of Betty Brooks.

Persons interested in any aspect of theatre, including lighting, sound effects, costume, make-up as well as acting, are invited to attend the meeting.



BARBARA SIMPSON plays the title role in the first midwest professional performance of the British mystery-comedy, "We Must Kill Toni," opening Wednesday, Sept. 4, in the Country Club Theatre of the Old Orchard Country Club, Rand Road and Euclid Avenue, Prospect Heights. (Bill

You Can Tell: It's New Year

By BETTY ROGERS

Hooray! Hooray! and a Happy New Yead to you too!

Now don't go and tell me that I've flipped and don't even know what day of the year it is. I know what day it is. It's New Year's Day, or week or month or whatever you want to call it.

I can feel it. I bet you have, too. Just because someone once didn't have anything better to do and decided that January 1 (he made that up too) was New Year's Day, there is no law that says I can't wish you a Happy New Year today.

Last week Thursday, it was still summer. It was hot, all the park district pools were still open and everywhere you looked there were children around. Right? You betcha.

But what about today? See? Happy New Year! It doesn't make any difference if it's hot or cool today, no, not at all. The pools are closed, allright, but even if they weren't, that wouldn't make the difference. But, aha, where are the children?

Oh, yours are right beside you where they've been all summer. Then all I can say to you is, "Well, Dearie, you're much younger than I."

But you have noticed that there aren't as many children around the neighborhood, haven't you? It's a New Year.

Time to make resolutions, recharge, rearrange, and RELAX . . . just a little. If your household is anything like ours, you will agree that the last two weeks have been a bit hectic. There were all of those things that have to be done before the kids go back to school, but things change and here we are a couple of weeks later.

Everything and everyone is getting back on schedule. No more sleeping late every so often. No more coming and going in and out of the house all day long. Nope. Things have changed.

You can see the signs all around you. Motorists have seen the crossing guards on the corners. When you're driving and you see that 20 mph speed zone, you automatically slow down. There are all kinds of buses travelling up and down the streets. It's quiet. A sort of solemn church-like air prevails. It's school time and the morning breezes quietly whisper, "Thank God!"

I've even seen signs of it at Randhurst. Mothers casually having their 10 o'clock coffee break at one of the restaurants and window shopping with an ease they didn't seem to have before. When they make a purchase, it might even be an item just for them alone.

Of course, by 4 p. m., Randhurst again takes on the family look, but during the late morning hours and early afternoon, there's many a Mom who is seen enjoying the pleasant shopping of Randhurst.

It's a New Year at Randhurst too. We saw the old year out with a giant celebration of sales, gifts, entertainment, a giant birthday cake and glorious fireworks. I overheard a little preschooler on the Mall the other day bemoan the fact that "the birthday cake is all gone."

"Well, yes," little girl, "the birthday cake is all gone." We're starting a New Year and we hope a greater one. Like the man says, "There's always something going on at Randhurst."

First of all, there's all the new fall merchandise in all the shops and stores. Beautiful colors and textures of the autumn season are seen throughout the Center as the new Fall lines make their appearance. The service shops have a year's experience of meeting all of you great shoppers and will do their very best to be of the greatest service to you.

In September, there will be a police show for you to see. And in October, our second annual art exhibit. You remember how great these were last year.

And, so summer is almost over, autumn is due, the children are in school, and a Very Happy New Year to everyone!

CHANGING HANDS AT RANDHURST CENTER, Mount Prospect, is The Fair store scheduled to be converted to a full-line Montgomery Ward & Co. retail department store. Responsible for management of the Ward store will be Robert L. Daly (left), shown above with J. P. Hansen, vice president of Ward and president of The Fair stores. The conversion plan, scheduled for completion by November, will not affect operations of the other Fair stores. The Fair is owned by Ward's.

Everything and everyone is getting back on schedule. No more sleeping late every so often. No more coming and going in and out of the house all day long. Nope. Things have changed.

You can see the signs all around you. Motorists have seen the crossing guards on the corners. When you're driving and you see that 20 mph speed zone, you automatically slow down. There are all kinds of buses travelling up and down the streets. It's quiet. A sort of solemn church-like air prevails. It's school time and the morning breezes quietly whisper, "Thank God!"

I've even seen signs of it at Randhurst. Mothers casually having their 10 o'clock coffee break at one of the restaurants and window shopping with an ease they didn't seem to have before. When they make a purchase, it might even be an item just for them alone.

Of course, by 4 p. m., Randhurst again takes on the family look, but during the late morning hours and early afternoon, there's many a Mom who is seen enjoying the pleasant shopping of Randhurst.

It's a New Year at Randhurst too. We saw the old year out with a giant celebration of sales, gifts, entertainment, a giant birthday cake and glorious fireworks. I overheard a little preschooler on the Mall the other day bemoan the fact that "the birthday cake is all gone."

"Well, yes," little girl, "the birthday cake is all gone." We're starting a New Year and we hope a greater one. Like the man says, "There's always something going on at Randhurst."

First of all, there's all the new fall merchandise in all the shops and stores. Beautiful colors and textures of the autumn season are seen throughout the Center as the new Fall lines make their appearance. The service shops have a year's experience of meeting all of you great shoppers and will do their very best to be of the greatest service to you.

In September, there will be a police show for you to see. And in October, our second annual art exhibit. You remember how great these were last year.

And, so summer is almost over, autumn is due, the children are in school, and a Very Happy New Year to everyone!

Wild Turkeys

Of the two species of turkey in existence, one is still undomesticated — the ocellated turkey which inhabits parts of Mexico, Guatemala and British Guiana.

Clanging Bells

The United States Census Bureau reports there were 2.4 million telephone sets manufactured during the first quarter of this year.

NI Gas to Sponsor Community Growth Seminar September 26

Northern Illinois Gas Company will sponsor a day-long conference on Community Development, Thursday, Sept. 26, at Pheasant Run Lodge and Country Club on Route 64, near St. Charles, according to J. C. Snyder district superintendent for NI-Gas.

Experts in the field of community planning and industrial growth will speak to interested citizens and civic officials of 200 communities from the utility's central, western and northern service areas.

Invited are all the towns from Chicago's western suburbs through to DeKalb and sweeping northeast in an arc to Lake Michigan. About 300 persons are expected to attend and obtain answers to local development problems, advice and materials to aid growth and prosperity.

THE ALL-DAY affair will begin at 9:30 a.m. at Pheasant Run with a welcome from the gas company's vice president (sales) H. A. Dickmann, and will continue through a 6 p.m. dinner program.

Among the highly rated speakers scheduled for the conference are:

Dr. Howard Roepke, of the University of Illinois' department of geography; Gene Cermak, director of industrial development, Chicago and North Western Railway; Maurice Fulton, The Fantus Company, world-wide location consultants; Dr. Jerome Fellmann, of the department of geography at the University of Illinois; Gene Graves, executive director, Board of Economic Development, State of Illinois; and George Phillips, director of management research, Illinois Institute of Technology.

THESE MEN will discuss topics ranging from industrial site location, zoning and industrial parks, to the role of the state and ending with the responsibilities of development within the local community. Dr. Roepke will conduct a panel discussion and question-answer session for members of the audience following the speeches.

According to Snyder, this is the fourth in a series of community development programs sponsored by the gas company around its service territory. NI-Gas conducts the informational meetings as part of its continuing program to aid local growth and prosperity of its 346 franchised communities.

Snyder said the conference is open to anyone, and reservations may be made through his office at 1454 Miner St., Des Plaines.

New Funeral Home To Hold Open House

Residents of Northwest suburbs are invited to attend an open house Saturday and Sunday at the newly-constructed Drake & Son Funeral Home in Park Ridge.

Hours for the open house are from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Saturday, and from 1 until 10 p.m. Sunday, according to Charles R. Drake, manager of the family-owned firm.

Staff members will be on hand at all times to conduct visitors through the funeral home and to answer any questions concerning funeral service.

"This will be an ideal opportunity for everyone to inspect a modern funeral home," Drake said.

THE NEW establishment is a ranch-style, red brick building nearly identical to the firm's funeral home at 5303 Western Ave. in Chicago, which was opened in December, 1957.

Included in the new facilities are an attractive entrance foyer, foyer lounge, three service chapels, several parlors for visitation, private rooms for the family during services, music rooms, business and arrangements offices, a smoking lounge, men's and women's lounges, a modern, hospital-type preparation room, a spacious well-lighted casket selection room, garages for the firm's funeral cars and ambulances and an apartment which will be occupied by Charles R. Drake Jr. and his family.

Also included is a community meeting room for the use of clubs and church and civic groups. A separate entrance is provided for this room for added convenience.

THE INTERIOR decoration, planned by Mrs. Drake, is a blending of furnishings from the French Provincial, Early American and Eighteenth Century periods.

Arrangements offices are away from the parlor and chapel areas, enabling the funeral home staff to met with each family making arrangements in complete privacy. The firm's business offices are at the rear of the building, away from the public areas.

THE CASKET selection room is especially spacious and well illuminated. Here is displayed a large selection of caskets in all styles, materials, colors and price ranges, enabling each family to make an appropriate choice.

The new facilities also include off-street parking, illuminated and black-topped for convenience.

Drake & Son Funeral Homes were established in Chicago in 1900 by Charles R. Drake, grandfather of the present owner, and have been owned and operated by the Drake family ever since.

Drake & Son Funeral Homes hold professional membership in the Illinois Funeral Directors Association, National Funeral Directors Association, Federated Funeral Directors of America, Chicago Funeral Directors Association and The Order of the Golden Rule. (BB

Financial Help Is Offered New Industry

At least 41 localities in Illinois are prepared to offer some sort of financial assistance to prospective industry.

This was disclosed in findings of a state-wide survey of community industrial development programs, conducted by the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce.

In addition to the communities covered in the report, other localities in the state are prepared to make financing available from private sources through less formally organized programs, said State Chamber President Ray C. Dickerson.

"The survey results give convincing evidence that Illinois communities are able to conduct sound financing programs for industry with private resources," added Dickerson, who is president of Felmley-Dickerson Co., Urbana general contracting firm.

OTHER MAJOR conclusions of the study:

—Some form of financial inducement to new industry can be found in communities of all sizes in nearly every part of the state. The ability to raise money for such purposes seems to vary inversely with the level of prosperity in a community.

—Local supplemental financing efforts designed to attract new industry to a community vary widely. They range from small loans at current interest rates to outright gifts to cover part or all of the costs of such items as land, buildings, machinery or moving expenses.

Between these extremes are various programs, loans or other aids to help new industry during its early life in a community or to help an existing industry expand.

—There is a variation among communities as to specific purpose for which financing is available. Most popular purposes are site and building acquisition or improvement.

—MONEY FOR industrial development loans and gifts is raised principally from donations and the sale of stock. No tax monies are being used in any of the communities responding to the survey.

—Most communities which have such programs consider them useful. Many attribute a large part of their success in securing industry to a loan or gift offered by local interests.

—Organizational structure of formalized financing programs vary. Some communities have separate financing organizations; in others, such funds are part of the local chamber of commerce. Most appear to be established on a non-profit basis; however, there is a generous sprinkling of for-profit corporations. (BB

New Funeral Home To Hold Open House

Residents of Northwest suburbs are invited to attend an open house Saturday and Sunday at the newly-constructed Drake & Son Funeral Home in Park Ridge.

Hours for the open house are from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Saturday, and from 1 until 10 p.m. Sunday, according to Charles R. Drake, manager of the family-owned firm.

Staff members will be on hand at all times to conduct visitors through the funeral home and to answer any questions concerning funeral service.

"This will be an ideal opportunity for everyone to inspect a modern funeral home," Drake said.

THE NEW establishment is a ranch-style, red brick building nearly identical to the firm's funeral home at 5303 Western Ave. in Chicago, which was opened in December, 1957.

Included in the new facilities are an attractive entrance foyer, foyer lounge, three service chapels, several parlors for visitation, private rooms for the family during services, music rooms, business and arrangements offices, a smoking lounge, men's and women's lounges, a modern, hospital-type preparation room, a spacious well-lighted casket selection room, garages for the firm's funeral cars and ambulances and an apartment which will be occupied by Charles R. Drake Jr. and his family.

Also included is a community meeting room for the use of clubs and church and civic groups. A separate entrance is provided for this room for added convenience.

THE INTERIOR decoration, planned by Mrs. Drake, is a blending of furnishings from the French Provincial, Early American and Eighteenth Century periods.

Arrangements offices are away from the parlor and chapel areas, enabling the funeral home staff to met with each family making arrangements in complete privacy. The firm's business offices are at the rear of the building, away from the public areas.

THE CASKET selection room is especially spacious and well illuminated. Here is displayed a large selection of caskets in all styles, materials, colors and price ranges, enabling each family to make an appropriate choice.

The new facilities also include off-street parking, illuminated and black-topped for convenience.

Drake & Son Funeral Homes were established in Chicago in 1900 by Charles R. Drake, grandfather of the present owner, and have been owned and operated by the Drake family ever since.

Drake & Son Funeral Homes hold professional membership in the Illinois Funeral Directors Association, National Funeral Directors Association, Federated Funeral Directors of America, Chicago Funeral Directors Association and The Order of the Golden Rule. (BB

Financial Help Is Offered New Industry

At least 41 localities in Illinois are prepared to offer some sort of financial assistance to prospective industry.

This was disclosed in findings of a state-wide survey of community industrial development programs, conducted by the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce.

In addition to the communities covered in the report, other localities in the state are prepared to make financing available from private sources through less formally organized programs, said State Chamber President Ray C. Dickerson.

"The survey results give convincing evidence that Illinois communities are able to conduct sound financing programs for industry with private resources," added Dickerson, who is president of Felmley-Dickerson Co., Urbana general contracting firm.

OTHER MAJOR conclusions of the study:

—Some form of financial inducement to new industry can be found in communities of all sizes in nearly every part of the state. The ability to raise money for such purposes seems to vary inversely with the level of prosperity in a community.

—Local supplemental financing efforts designed to attract new industry to a community vary widely. They range from small loans at current interest rates to outright gifts to cover part or all of the costs of such items as land, buildings, machinery or moving expenses.

Between these extremes are various programs, loans or other aids to help new industry during its early life in a community or to help an existing industry expand.

—There is a variation among communities as to specific purpose for which financing is available. Most popular purposes are site and building acquisition or improvement.

—MONEY FOR industrial development loans and gifts is raised principally from donations and the sale of stock. No tax monies are being used in any of the communities responding to the survey.

—Most communities which have such programs consider them useful. Many attribute a large part of their success in securing industry to a loan or gift offered by local interests.

—Organizational structure of formalized financing programs vary. Some communities have separate financing organizations; in others, such funds are part of the local chamber of commerce. Most appear to be established on a non-profit basis; however, there is a generous sprinkling of for-profit corporations. (BB

Insurance Queries Answered

In response to inquiries being received by Paddock Publications from applicants for the Emergency Protection Personal Accident Policy now available as a public service to our subscribers and their family household members, this particular policy does not restrict the insured from holding any other type of personal accident policy issued by another company.

At this time Paddock Publications also wishes to make it clear to all of our readers that the policy, with an annual premium of only $5, is not intended to suffice or replace any other policy, whether it be obtained privately through a local agent, or on a group basis through an organization or an employer.

Suburbanites in the news

Business Building Improving

THIS NEWSPAPER makes the policy available to its readers because it realizes that a serious accident situation exists and many folks simply do not have this type of necessary protection for two reasons. First, their finances at this time do not permit the purchase of a more expensive policy tailored to their full need. Second, many folks are not aware of the need and value of such full insurance protection.

Paddock Publications is certain that this policy will greatly help those folks with limited finances when plagued with accident expenses and through this experience when finances permit will realize the need for greater coverage which must then be obtained through the local agent selling such insurance.

Goldblatt's Sets Up Benefit Bake Center

A Benefit Bake Center has been established at the Goldblatt store in the Mount Prospect Plaza, it was announced today by W. W. Dunkel, manager of the Mount Prospect store.

The Bake Center is a special area in a strategic main floor location that has several tables on which organizations' home goods will be offered for sale for fund - raising projects. The sale will be 'manned" by members of the organization.

Goldblatt's will herald each organization's event by designing and donating a special sign in the Bake Center.

THE BAKE Center, which can be reserved by calling the store, is available to any organization that holds sales of home-baked goods for worthy fund-raising projects.

"We are particularly pleased that we are able to help worthy organizations in their endeavors through making these facilities available," Dunkel noted.

The Benefit Center will be booked on a first-come basis; reservations can be made by calling Mrs. Bertha Schmidt, the Benefit Coordinator at the Goldblatt store, telephone 259-1800.

Similar facilities also are being made available at the Goldblatt store in the Lawrence-Shopping Center. (BB

Olsen Marks Retirement

Kenneth W. Olsen, 405 N. Fairview Ave., Mount Prospect, marked his 30th service anniversary with Commonwealth Edison Company Aug. 28.

He started in 1933 as a meter reader and transferred to the stores department in 1947. He is a stockman at the Chicago-North division.

During World War II, Olsen served with the 79th Infantry Division and he is a member of Commonwealth Edison Post of the American Legion. He is also a member of Lodge 3, Loyal Order of Moose.

He and his wife, Louisa, have been married 15 years. They have a son, Richard. (BB

Mayor Criticizes Curfew for Youth

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., (UPI) — Mayor Nelson Howarth issued a statement criticizing Illinois' new curfew law for juveniles under 18 years old.

"If an 18-year-old can fight for his country, why should he have to be off the streets at 11 or 12 o'clock," Howarth said.

HOWARTH pointed out that young people could be picked up for violating the curfew laws and have "a blot on their future" life that might affect their reputations and their chances of getting jobs.

Howarth also said he thought the allowances in the bill making it permissable for youths with jobs to be out after the curfew would make the law unconstitutional. (B-9

Says Fluoride in Water Saves Money

MADISON, WIS., (UPI) — The acceptance of flouridation in public drinking water could save about $125 in dentist bills, Dr. Carl N. Neupert, state health officer, said today.

Noting that a number of people still will not accept the addition of fluoride to the public water supply, Dr. Neupert said, "Experimentation in Wisconsin has shown that it reduces tooth decay as much as 65 per cent."

DR. NEUPERT said that the addition of fluoride in amounts of one drop to 13 ½ gallons of water does not change the taste, color or odor of the water.

The fluoride, Dr. Neupert said, hardens the enamel on children's teeth, and if widely used can greatly cut dental expenses.

"A recent survey showed that dental care of one child from birth through the age of 14 costs about $172. After fluoridation the same care averaged $46.38," Dr. Neupert said. (B9

Goldblatt's Sets Up Benefit Bake Center

A Benefit Bake Center has been established at the Goldblatt store in the Mount Prospect Plaza, it was announced today by W. W. Dunkel, manager of the Mount Prospect store.

The Bake Center is a special area in a strategic main floor location that has several tables on which organizations' home goods will be offered for sale for fund - raising projects. The sale will be 'manned" by members of the organization.

Goldblatt's will herald each organization's event by designing and donating a special sign in the Bake Center.

THE BAKE Center, which can be reserved by calling the store, is available to any organization that holds sales of home-baked goods for worthy fund-raising projects.

"We are particularly pleased that we are able to help worthy organizations in their endeavors through making these facilities available," Dunkel noted.

The Benefit Center will be booked on a first-come basis; reservations can be made by calling Mrs. Bertha Schmidt, the Benefit Coordinator at the Goldblatt store, telephone 259-1800.

Similar facilities also are being made available at the Goldblatt store in the Lawrence-Shopping Center. (BB

Olsen Marks Retirement

Kenneth W. Olsen, 405 N. Fairview Ave., Mount Prospect, marked his 30th service anniversary with Commonwealth Edison Company Aug. 28.

He started in 1933 as a meter reader and transferred to the stores department in 1947. He is a stockman at the Chicago-North division.

During World War II, Olsen served with the 79th Infantry Division and he is a member of Commonwealth Edison Post of the American Legion. He is also a member of Lodge 3, Loyal Order of Moose.

He and his wife, Louisa, have been married 15 years. They have a son, Richard. (BB

Mayor Criticizes Curfew for Youth

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., (UPI) — Mayor Nelson Howarth issued a statement criticizing Illinois' new curfew law for juveniles under 18 years old.

"If an 18-year-old can fight for his country, why should he have to be off the streets at 11 or 12 o'clock," Howarth said.

HOWARTH pointed out that young people could be picked up for violating the curfew laws and have "a blot on their future" life that might affect their reputations and their chances of getting jobs.

Howarth also said he thought the allowances in the bill making it permissable for youths with jobs to be out after the curfew would make the law unconstitutional. (B-9

Says Fluoride in Water Saves Money

MADISON, WIS., (UPI) — The acceptance of flouridation in public drinking water could save about $125 in dentist bills, Dr. Carl N. Neupert, state health officer, said today.

Noting that a number of people still will not accept the addition of fluoride to the public water supply, Dr. Neupert said, "Experimentation in Wisconsin has shown that it reduces tooth decay as much as 65 per cent."

DR. NEUPERT said that the addition of fluoride in amounts of one drop to 13 ½ gallons of water does not change the taste, color or odor of the water.

The fluoride, Dr. Neupert said, hardens the enamel on children's teeth, and if widely used can greatly cut dental expenses.

"A recent survey showed that dental care of one child from birth through the age of 14 costs about $172. After fluoridation the same care averaged $46.38," Dr. Neupert said. (B9

World's Richest Race Slated Saturday

BY BOB FRISK

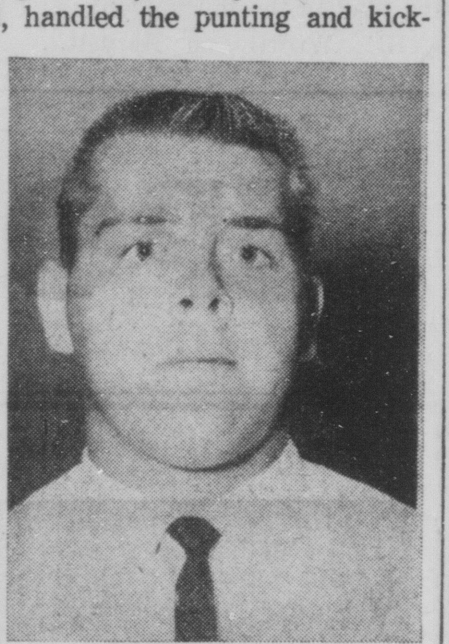
KICKIN' IT AROUND

YOU HEAR STORIES ABOUT these high school phenoms who can do everything with a football. They're fabulous passers, kickers, and runners, real one-man gangs. Maybe you've seen one in action.

Folks who followed Chicago Catholic league football nine years ago this fall saw a bonafide triple-threater strut his stuff while wearing the colors of Holy Trinity High School.

When they passed out post-season honors to Illinois preps in 1954, Joe Gliwa picked up everything in sight. He was All-City, All-State, and All-Catholic All-American. The list doesn't end here but space dictates.

Gliwa did a little of everything for Holy Trinity. He ran (200 yards per game worth), passed, handled the punting and kickoffs. He led the league in scoring.



JOE GLIWA

Today, this former All-Everything of Chicago Catholic league football is the head man of the varsity football team at St. Viator High School in Arlington Heights. He's directing a squad for the first time after serving as line coach at his high school alma mater for two seasons.

Joe likes his new assignment. He likes coaching although he admits missing his playing days. Actually, the 27-year-old carries approximately the same weight he had as a gridiron standout and appears capable of stepping into a college backfield today. He's still the solidly-built individual who attracted offers from 50 colleges.

A regular three years in high school, Gliwa actually attended Holy Trinity on a scholarship. "The larger schools gave scholarships in our league in those days," he said, "but that plan has been dropped. I weighed 185 pounds as a freshman and that was all they could go on. They thought I could help out on the football team."

Gliwa broke into the starting alignment as a sophomore (freshmen were ineligible for varsity athletics) and sparkled for three seasons. He was second team All-City as a junior, then tore the league apart as a senior in 1954.

Joe recalled his most memorable high school game. "We beat DeLaSalle 21-13 and I scored five touchdowns but had two called back. They were on runs over 40 yords. I scored eight touchdowns and had five called back when we beat St. Pat's."

Feats like that had colleges pounding on his door for many months and although Joe was interested in attending Notre Dame, the Irish weren't interested in Gliwa. They felt he was "too small."

"I was really disappointed," Joe remembers. "I had wanted to play for Notre Dame and at 5-10, 190 I certainly didn't think I was too small. They didn't talk to me but relied on game films. Notre Dame didn't go after the Chicago area boys then and there was quite a controversy about that."

Purdue landed the Holy Trinity product with Joe Krupa, now a line standout with the Pittsburgh Steelers, showing Gliwa around the campus and delivering a big assist in recruiting the halfback.

But the days of headline-making were over for Gliwa. It wasn't because he couldn't crack big-time football. It was a combination of things.

"As a sophomore I tore a cartilege in my leg just before a game with Missouri and had to sit out three weeks," Joe related. "I made a couple trips with the team but they decided to keep me out for the rest of the season to gain another year of eligibility."

Personal reasons forced joe to drop out of school for almost two years and he admitted he had lost something when he got back. "You can't stay away from football for a couple years and expect to be ready to go when you come back. As a junior I made all the trips but didn't play much. It was the same way in my senior year."

Gliwa didn't use that extra year of eligibility. "I had become a pretty familiar face at those spring sessions," he mused. "I went to four."

Joe graduated in June of 1961 and signed a contract to teach at his alma mater, Holy Trinity High School.

He served as line coach at Holy Trinity for two seasons before taking the St. Viator job. Actually, Joe intended to work as the backfield coach at St. Ignatius this fall but when the school dropped football from its program he decided to look elsewhere.

"They offered me a teaching position, but I didn't want to get out of coaching. Football has meant a lot to me, and I feel very fortunate that I was able to come to St. Viator. They have a fine program, and I've certainly been encouraged by what I've seen so far."

Gliwa, who still lives in Chicago with his wife and one child, also will head the first wrestling program at the Arlington Heights school. He will teach physical education.

Allen Sees Friday's Scrimmage as Help In Finding Starters

by BOB FRISK

Al Allen, the new head man in Arlington High School's football camp, is looking for a lengthy scrimmage Friday to provide some of the answers to some puzzling questions.

Allen and his staff have been sending the varsity candidates through their paces for two weeks now but still feel "it's too early to tell" how the squad will line up at East Leyden in the non-conference opener.

"Friday's scrimmage should tell us a lot," Allen indicated at the outset of the week. "We're hoping to find out who the real hitters are.

"Right now I'd say this is a pretty even group,"

ALTHOUGH ALLEN admits he has a unit lacking in size, speed, and experience, he has been encouraged by the progress of drills. "The boys have a fine attitude and that's important," he added.

The Cardinal camp hasn't been plagued by any injuries of consequence although Hugh Smeed, a promising lineman, had to withdraw from the squad following a doctor's examination.

Illustrating the problem that will face Allen and his staff when they prepare starting alignments for the East Leyden lidlifter is the number of boys currently listed as "probables" at the offensive berths.

ALLEN ADMITS that the positions are wide open right now and that includes the important signal-calling spot manned last year by both Jim Ewart and Dan Meyer. Meyer, who directed the Cards past York in the season windup, has graduated,

"All four quarterbacks are

Two Paddock Classic Leagues Kick Off Campaigns Saturday

Bowling moves back into the spotlight Saturday as the Paddock Classic Traveling leagues for men and women launch their 1963-64 schedules.

The gals will get under way at 6:30 p.m. at Sim's Bowl in Des Plaines with six teams again in the alignment.

The men's division, consisting of eight squads, will hold its opening festivities at Pioneer Lanes in Addison with a 6:30 starting time.

A meeting of league members will precede the men's action to consummate plans for the forthcoming campaign and elect officers.

The high-flying men's league, fatest in the suburban area, has moved one of its franchises from Hi-Way Recreation in Palatine to Rick Casares Pro Bowl in Buffalo Grove.

THE OPENING night's competition includes Pioneer Lanes vs. River Rand, Jeffery Lanes vs. Country Lanes, Rolling Meadows Bowl vs. Rick Casares Pro Bowl, Morton Pontiac of Beverly Lanes vs. Gunnell's Lanes.

The Pro Bowl's roster was recently completed and includes Capt. Bob Hurwitz, Norm Schoemann, and John Emmert of Wheeling; Lobby Lobinsky of Arlington Heights; Bob Rogers of Mount Prospect; and Tony Donushi of Prospect Heights.

Moyle Construction, representing Country Lanes in Lake Zurich, captured the men's team title last year in a playoff with Highland Motors.

GEORGE SARGENT, who helped spark Moyle to the title, had the top average (198) in Classic play in 1962-63. He's back for the Country Lanes-based representative.

The Paddock men's league is heading into its seventh year of operation. Bowlng will terminate on Saturday, April 11, 1964, with no open nights.

For the gals this will be their fourth season with Steve's Restaurant annexing the coveted first prize last May. Steve's took four of five games in the roll-off with Moyle Construction.

Pat Proebstle of Arlington Heights paced the gals for the second straight year with a fine 184 average over 75 games. She carried a 186 mark as the women's leader in the 1961-62 season.

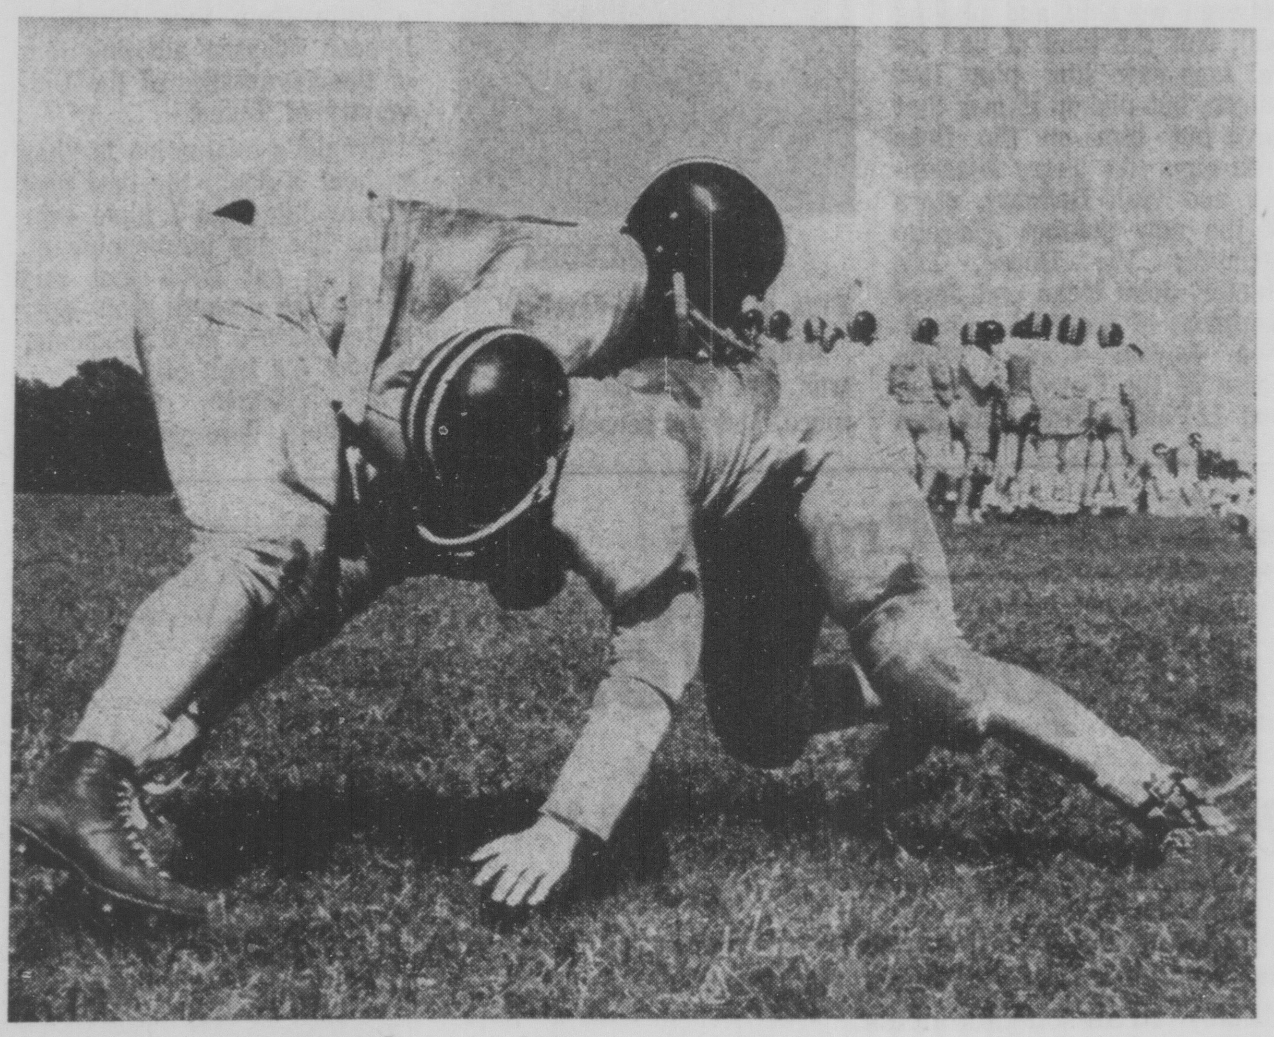
Football Rules Meeting Slated

A football rules interpretation meeting will be held next Tuesday, Sept. 10, in the Prospect High School Little Theatre.

Charles Hillman of Hinckley, Ill. will serve as the interpreter for the meeting which will get under way at 8 p.m. A new film entitled "This Is Football" lso will be shown.

All coaches and officials are invited.

Dick Kinneman, Prospect Athletic Director, is manager of the rules meeting.



SCOTT ARMSTRONG, leading center candidate for Forest View High's varsity football team, throws a cross body block into tackle Bill Wright during a Falcon workout last week. Prospect Grid Slots Up for Grabs in Full Scrimmage Saturday

by BILL HALLS

With only eight practice days remaining until the season opener with North Chicago September 14, J. O. Jackson, head football coach at Prospect High, is still undecided about a starting lineup.

"Everything's wide open," said Jackson, just before practice Tuesday. "We'll probably know more after Saturday's scrimmage."

A full game condition scrimmage—minus kickoffs — is set for 10 a.m., Saturday. Jackson will dress his full 40-man squad and all boys should see some action.

"We've been doing so much switching we haven't had a chance to put a full unit together yet," said Jackson. "But it looks like several of our boys will go both ways."

A GOOD many of the squad played Jayvee ball last year (7-1) and will bring experience to go with the two returning lettermen, halfback Jim McMillan and end Ron Kunz.

McMillan picked up 233 yards in 40 tries for a 5.8 yards per try average, (last year while Kunz played mostly on defense.

Quarterback, the toughest position to fill in prep football, is a toss-up between Mike Phillips and Dave White. Phillips is probably the better ball handler and signal-caller, but White has the advantage as a passer.

"Both boys are good leaders," said Jackson. "We'll probably use them equally. They don't seem to mind."

JACKSON SAID both Phillips and White work together and neither suffers a let-down if the other is picked to call the signals. Both boys are seniors.

The rest of the halfbacks are speedster; Grant Gentry, who is the heaviest at 175; and Ron Wesley, who has looked good in early workouts.

Including McMillan, all are seniors.

Fighting it out for the fullback job are Ron Kuklinski, Rick Lytle and Rich Green. Kuklinski and Lytle probably have the inside track. But Green should see plenty of action because he can also be used as a halfback.

KUNZ WILL team up at end with Dave Gobeille, a senior who did not play last year because of illness; and Greg Kowal, Greg Melzer and Jim La-

Elk Grove Man to Head Hockey Loop

Arthur Castle of Elk Grove Village was re-elected president of the Illinois Ice Hockey League at the re-organization meeting of the amateur circuit

William Marsh was renamed Secretary and Harry Sator, Chairman of the Board. Five were elected to the Board of Directors representing the teams that will play in the state's leading amateur league at the Dundee Polar Dome this coming season.

The directors are John Novak, Aurora Falcons; Harry Sator, Elgin Blades; Bill Marsh, Dundee Vikings; Neal Callahan, the Chicago Firemen, and Jim Skoda of the Chicago Reed Hornets.

The league will open at the Polar Dome on Saturday night, October 19. There will be a 40 game schedule and games will be played every Wednesday and Saturday nights.

Workouts will be held every Friday and Sunday night at the Polar Dome beginning Friday, September 6. There are still openings for players on all teams. Players must be 18 years of age or over.

Futurity Held At 7 Furlongs

One Mile Governor's Event Concludes Card

The summer season at Arlington Park rounds out its final full week of sport Saturday, a week climaxed by the world's richest race, the estimated $350,000 Arlington-Washington Futurity for two-year-olds at 7 furlongs.

Then just one more day remains on the 1963 schedule — Monday, Sept. 9, when the $25,000 added Governor's Trophy Handicap at one mile for older Illinois-breds helps ring down the curtain.

The Futurity was introduced to turfdom last year and in its initial running proved an immediate hit. Thirteen youngsters clashed in the lucrative event and when the smoke had cleared Candy Spots stood in the charmed circle.

CHANCES ARE excellent that Greentree Stable's top-ranked Malicious, winner of the recent Hyde Park Stakes here, and Roy Sturgis' Sapling Stakes hero, Mr. Brick, both will be supplemented to the Futurity at $25,000 each.

Powhatan Stable's Chieftain is a definite starter despite his defeat by Malicious in the recent Hyde Park. The Bold Ruler colt previously had won the Tremont in New York and the Tyro at Monmouth Park.

Grace Creek Farm's Amastar, whose unbeaten string was snapped in last week's Hopeful at Saratoga, also is expected to face the barrier Saturday. Amastar ran off with a division of the Arch Ward here—the other section was captured by William Radkovich's Wil Rad, who overhauled Mrs. Dorothy Rigney's Dunfee at midstretch. They're all eligible for the Futurity.

Miss Mary V. Fisher's Golden Ruler, undefeated in three starts is another powerhouse candidate as is Rex C. Ellsworth's The Scoundrel as the field takes on shape for the world's richest race.

IN LAST Saturday's Arlington-Washington Lassie Sari's Song coasted to an easy victory before 27,690. The victor broke on top from her No. 12 post position and it was no contest after that.

Ye-Cats finished second by half a length over Wheatley Stable's Castle Forbes. Bold Queen finished fourth.

Sari's Song, purchased for $17,000 at the Keeneland yearling sales, now has earnings of $118,655. She returned $3.80, $3.20 and $2.40 to her backers Saturday.

THE AXE II captured the $111,450 Benjamin F. Lindheimer Handicap at 1½ miles over the turf course Monday. Ridden by Johnny Rotz, the winner came in with a head margin over B. Major.

Bagging his sixth win in nine starts this season, and third in a stakes, The Axe II pushed his career bankroll to $277,996. His backers in the holiday gathering of 32,804 collected $5.04, $3.80, and $3.

Arlington Harriers Get Ready

A non-league meeting with Notre Dame of Niles will serve as the opener on Arlington High School's 1963 varsity and frosh-soph cross country schedule.

Coached by Russ Attis and John Gardner, the Cardinals will kick off the season on Tuesday, Sept. 17, with a home meet against the Dons.

Arlington swings into West Suburban competition the following Friday (Sept. 20) and couldn't ask for a much rougher assignment. The Cards will journey to Elmhurst to meet the defending state champion York Dukes.

Arlington finished 1-8 in duals and was eighth in the league run on a varsity level last fall. The sophs placed fifth in the WSC run with John Brunner collecting an individual third.

A complete rundown on personnel on the 1963 Cardinal varsity will be presented next week.

Midget Football League to Hold Sign-Up Saturday

The Arlington Heights Midget Football League will hold its next registration on Saturday, Sept. 7, at Recreation Park Gym from 9 a.m. until 12 noon.

All boys in the 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th grades and living in the village or Park District limits are eligible.

Those boys who did not participate in the program last year must have proof of age and all boys must be accompanied by one of their parents. The fee will be $3 per boy.

THE REGISTRATION will be accompanied by a used football equipment sale. All boys who have equipment that they have no use for are asked to bring the items to Recreation Park Bathhouse on Friday, Sept. 6, at 7:30 p.m.

Each boy can price his own item and the league will conduct the sale. In this way, boys who are new in the program may be able to save themselves a substantial sum of money by purchasing used gear.

The rosters for each team will be made up Sunday, Sept. 8, so it is important that all boys who wish to play on a team composed of boys from their own neighborhood sign up on Sept. 7. After that date, the late-comers will be placed wherever the league administrator feels it is necessary to balance out the league.

Arlington Boys Baseball Sets Election Date

The annual election of officers for the Arlington Heights Boys Baseball Program will be held Monday, Sept. 16, at Pioneer Park at 8:15 p.m. in the North Room.

All parents of boys in the program are invited to attend and also to put in nomination any candidate they so desire. The list of offices and committees can be found on the first page of the 1963 program book issued to each boy.

Some articles of clothing have been turned in to the league office by the Lost and Found Committee. If they are not claimed before the first of October, they will be turned over to the Park District for distribution to the needy.

World's Richest Race Slated Saturday

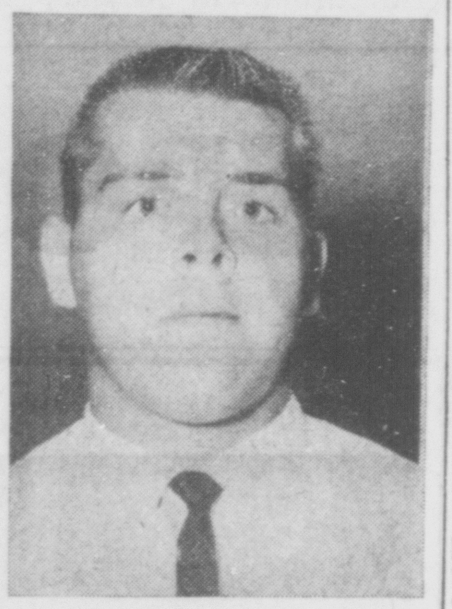
KICKIN' IT AROUND

YOU HEAR STORIES ABOUT these high school phenoms who can do everything with a football. They're fabulous passers, kickers, and runners, real one-man gangs. Maybe you've seen one in action.

Folks who followed Chicago Catholic league football nine years ago this fall saw a bonafide triple-threater strut his stuff while wearing the colors of Holy Trinity High School.

When they passed out post-season honors to Illinois preps in 1954, Joe Gliwa picked up everything in sight. He was All-City, All-State, and All-Catholic All-American. The list doesn't end here but space dictates.

Gliwa did a little of everything for Holy Trinity. He ran (200 yards per game worth), passed, handled the punting and kickoffs. He led the league in scoring.



JOE GLIWA

Today, this former All-Everything of Chicago Catholic league football is the head man of the varsity football team at St. Viator High School in Arlington Heights. He's directing a squad for the first time after serving as line coach at his high school alma mater for two seasons.

Joe likes his new assignment. He likes coaching although he admits missing his playing days. Actually, the 27-year-old carries approximately the same weight he had as a gridiron standout and appears capable of stepping into a college backfield today. He's still the solidly-built individual who attracted offers from 50 colleges.

A regular three years in high school, Gliwa actually attended Holy Trinity on a scholarship. "The larger schools gave scholarships in our league in those days," he said, "but that plan has been dropped. I weighed 185 pounds as a freshman and that was all they could go on. They thought I could help out on the football team."

Gliwa broke into the starting alignment as a sophomore (freshmen were ineligible for varsity athletics) and sparkled for three seasons. He was second team All-City as a junior, then tore the league apart as a senior in 1954.

Joe recalled his most memorable high school game. "We beat DeLaSalle 21-13 and I scored five touchdowns but had two called back. They were on runs over 40 yords. I scored eight touchdowns and had five called back when we beat St. Pat's."

Feats like that had colleges pounding on his door for many months and although Joe was interested in attending Notre Dame, the Irish weren't interested in Gliwa. They felt he was "too small."

"I was really disappointed," Joe remembers. "I had wanted to play for Notre Dame and at 5-10, 190 I certainly didn't think I was too small. They didn't talk to me but relied on game films. Notre Dame didn't go after the Chicago area boys then and there was quite a controversy about that."

Purdue landed the Holy Trinity product with Joe Krupa, now a line standout with the Pittsburgh Steelers, showing Gliwa around the campus and delivering a big assist in recruiting the halfback.

But the days of headline-making were over for Gliwa. It wasn't because he couldn't crack big-time football. It was a combination of things.

"As a sophomore I tore a cartilege in my leg just before a game with Missouri and had to sit out three weeks," Joe related. "I made a couple trips with the team but they decided to keep me out for the rest of the season to gain another year of eligibility."

Personal reasons forced joe to drop out of school for almost two years and he admitted he had lost something when he got back. "You can't stay away from football for a couple years and expect to be ready to go when you come back. As a junior I made all the trips but didn't play much. It was the same way in my senior year."

Gliwa didn't use that extra year of eligibility. "I had become a pretty familiar face at those spring sessions," he mused. "I went to four."

Joe graduated in June of 1961 and signed a contract to teach at his alma mater, Holy Trinity High School.

He served as line coach at Holy Trinity for two seasons before taking the St. Viator job. Actually, Joe intended to work as the backfield coach at St. Ignatius this fall but when the school dropped football from its program he decided to look elsewhere.

"They offered me a teaching position, but I didn't want to get out of coaching. Football has meant a lot to me, and I feel very fortunate that I was able to come to St. Viator. They have a fine program, and I've certainly been encouraged by what I've seen so far."

Gliwa, who still lives in Chicago with his wife and one child, also will head the first wrestling program at the Arlington Heights school. He will teach physical education.

Two Paddock Classic Leagues Kick Off Campaigns Saturday

Bowling moves back into the spotlight Saturday as the Paddock Classic Traveling leagues for men and women launch their 1963-64 schedules.

The gals will get under way at 6:30 p.m. at Sim's Bowl in Des Plaines with six teams again in the alignment.

The men's division, consisting of eight squads, will hold its opening festivities at Pioneer Lanes in Addison with a 6:30 starting time.

A meeting of league members will precede the men's action to consummate plans for the forthcoming campaign and elect officers.

The high-flying men's league, fatest in the suburban area, has moved one of its franchises from Hi-Way Recreation in Palatine to Rick Casares Pro Bowl in Buffalo Grove.

THE OPENING night's competition includes Pioneer Lanes vs. River Rand, Jeffery Lanes vs. Country Lanes, Rolling Meadows Bowl vs. Rick Casares Pro Bowl, Morton Pontiac of Beverly Lanes vs. Gunnell's Lanes.

The Pro Bowl's roster was recently completed and includes Capt. Bob Hurwitz, Norm Schoemann, and John Emmert of Wheeling; Lobby Lobinsky of Arlington Heights; Bob Rogers of Mount Prospect; and Tony Donushi of Prospect Heights.

Moyle Construction, representing Country Lanes in Lake Zurich, captured the men's team title last year in a playoff with Highland Motors.

GEORGE SARGENT, who helped spark Moyle to the title, had the top average (198) in Classic play in 1962-63. He's back for the Country Lanes-based representative.

The Paddock men's league is heading into its seventh year of operation. Bowlng will terminate on Saturday, April 11, 1964, with no open nights.

For the gals this will be their fourth season with Steve's Restaurant annexing the coveted first prize last May. Steve's took four of five games in the roll-off with Moyle Construction.

Pat Proebstle of Arlington Heights paced the gals for the second straight year with a fine 184 average over 75 games. She carried a 186 mark as the women's leader in the 1961-62 season.

Football Rules Meeting Slated

A football rules interpretation meeting will be held next Tuesday, Sept. 10, in the Prospect High School Little Theatre.

Charles Hillman of Hinckley, Ill. will serve as the interpreter for the meeting which will get under way at 8 p.m. A new film entitled "This Is Football" lso will be shown.

All coaches and officials are invited.

Dick Kinneman, Prospect Athletic Director, is manager of the rules meeting.

Allen Sees Friday's Scrimmage as Help In Finding Starters

by BOB FRISK

Al Allen, the new head man in Arlington High School's football camp, is looking for a lengthy scrimmage Friday to provide some of the answers to some puzzling questions.

Allen and his staff have been sending the varsity candidates through their paces for two weeks now but still feel "it's too early to tell" how the squad will line up at East Leyden in the non-conference opener.

"Friday's scrimmage should tell us a lot," Allen indicated at the outset of the week. "We're hoping to find out who the real hitters are.

"Right now I'd say this is a pretty even group,"

ALTHOUGH ALLEN admits he has a unit lacking in size, speed, and experience, he has been encouraged by the progress of drills. "The boys have a fine attitude and that's important," he added.

The Cardinal camp hasn't been plagued by any injuries of consequence although Hugh Smeed, a promising lineman, had to withdraw from the squad following a doctor's examination.

Illustrating the problem that will face Allen and his staff when they prepare starting alignments for the East Leyden lidlifter is the number of boys currently listed as "probables" at the offensive berths.

ALLEN ADMITS that the positions are wide open right now and that includes the important signal-calling spot manned last year by both Jim Ewart and Dan Meyer. Meyer, who directed the Cards past York in the season windup, has graduated,

Bragiel Ready to Switch From Little Boys to Big Boys

by TOM TULLY

In Evanston they liken Jim Bragiel to a guy who stumbled into a room full of gold.

The former Palatine baseball coach isn't quite sure he agrees. He visualizes the possibility of a few problems, and more than a little responsibility as he prepares to take the reins of what figures to be the most talented group of freshman basketball players in Northwestern history.

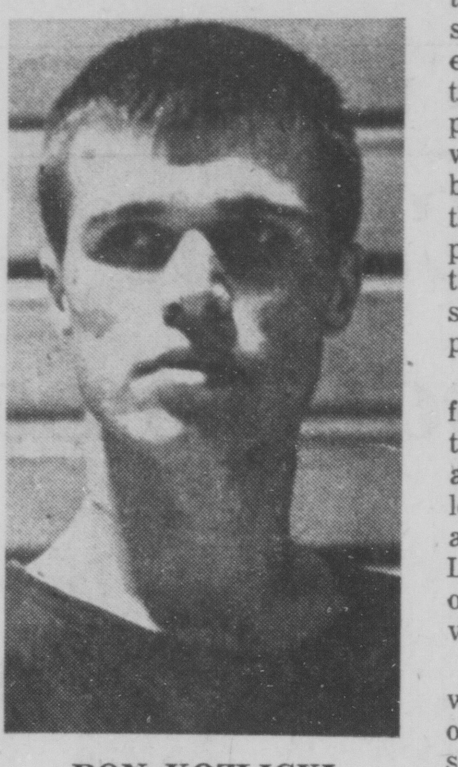
Until then—and then begins on Aug. 26 with the first coaches meeting, Bragiel is treading water as a counselor at the Wildcat Day Camp on the campus.

WITH THE attraction of University facilities and a top flight staff of counselors, some 250 children from the northern suburbs are taking advantage of the program. Working with Bragiel on the staff are such men as Brad Snyder, new N.U. head coach; George McKinnon, baseball coach; Bob Earhart, track coach; and Rick LoPassa and Rich Falk, stars on the Wildcat cage squad.

Speaking about the wealth of talent the Cats have recruited, and Northwestern has certainly rounded up the best freshman team in the Midwest, if not the nation, Bragiel says that the N.U. coaching staff has been pleasantly confounded by their coup.

"As far as we can determine, the academic quality of the boys has been the biggest factor. This just happened to be a year when the kids we wanted were loaded with class. In two of the boy's cases we know that Northwestern's academic rating was the deciding factor. We suspect the same may be true of the others."

With the exception of Jack Cummins, the Cedar Rapids, Iowa boy, Bragiel has seen all of the boys play ball. In most cases, he has worked out with them. In no particular order, here are the boy's credentials, and his observations.



RON KOZLICKI

RON KOZLICKI, of course, needs no introduction to either Bragiel or suburban basketball fans. His cage feats at Palatine made him the state's top big man. He has divided his summer between working and playing ball. Not the kind of ball local fans saw him play last winter, but pickup games that have put him on the floor with guys like Terry Dischinger and Walt Bellamy, stars of the now defunct Chicago Zephyrs; Vic Rouse, Les Hunter, John Egan and Jerry Harkness of the NCAA champion Loyola team; Willie Jones of the Detroit Pistons; and LoPassa, Falk, and Jim Pitts of the N.U. varsity.

Bragiel's comment on Ron was that were he a sophomore, and the season starting tomorrow, you would have to say that he would be a starter at any school in the country. "Ron's defense is improving, and his rebounding, which everyone figured would be strong, has not suffered in the fast company he has been playing in. We will concentrate on improving his outside shot since he will probably play forward for us."

Rich Mason, 6-8 center from East Chicago Washington. A two year all-stater and the recipient of 200 college offers. This guy even got a letter from Vice President Lyndon Johnson advising him of the advantages of the University of Texas.

Bragiel's evaluation is "has without a doubt the best shot of any big man I have ever seen. The guy is phenomenal. He goes out 20-25 feet and shoots like a small man—only better. Also a good rebounder despite his lack of heft."

JIM BURNS, 6-4½, McLeansboro. Two years an all-stater, and the leading scorer in the state tourney as a junior.

Bragiel's analysis. "Frankly I was a little skeptical about Jim. I had heard great things about him, but he was the last boy to sign a tender and with what we already had, I was doubtful that he could make it as a forward, and wondered whether he could make the transition to guard."

"Forget it. This guy is a guard who just happens to be 6-4½. Just say he does every thing well, except shoot. He's a great shooter."

Walt Tiberi, 6-2, Bloom. Quarterback of Bloom's superb five. Averaged around 15 per game and was named to every all-state team.

His new coach has this to say. "Walt will fill the same role for us that he did for Bloom, he will be our playmaker and, we expect, a good one."

JIM BRAGIEL

Ken Barnett, 6-8, Braidwood, rose from obscurity to all-state recognition with his fine play in the tournament.

THE WORD on Barnett. "Ken's forte is his shooting ability which is ample. Right now I would have to say he ranks behind Kozlicki and Mason on over-all ability, but don't misunderstand, I still rate him a fine college prospect."

The last boy is Cummins and Bragiel is speaking on hearsay. "I'll get my first look at him this weekend. I do know this. He is considered to be the best turned out in Iowa last year. He is a big, rugged boy at 6-4 and 205. He was a two year all-stater at Regis High School and averaged 23-24 points a game. He'll play forward for us."

So, with these strapping young giants to greet him, Bragiel will soon be shifting his attention from the teaching of little boys to the coaching of big ones and his prospects aren't of the type that signal a long, cold winter.

Pirates Prepare For 'Unknown Quantity'

An unknown quantity on opening night and a possible conference showdown the following week. That's what the early portion of the 1963 football schedule holds in store for Charley Feutz' ambitious Palatine Pirates.

Untried Forest View will make its varsity debut under Bob Scott when the Falcons open the season at the Wood Street field on Sept. 13.

The trip to Woodstock Sept. 20 looms as an early power struggle between two of the three teams figured to fight it out for North Suburban honors. Defending champion Barrington has also received pre-season support.

AFTER FOREST View, visitors at Pirate field this fall will get a look at NSC opponents, Libertyville, Dundee and McHenry. The Dundee clash on Oct. 12 is the homecoming game.

Feutz started the Pirates out on a relatively light diet this week. They had a light workout on Labor Day, and only a half line scrimmage on Tuesday. The pace picked up yesterday with a full scrimmage and Feutz plans to work his team hard until next Wednesday when they will let up for the opener two nights later. They'll get a break in the routine on Saturday when the coaching staff conducts another game type scrimmage similar to the one held last week.

The injury bug continues to curtail Pirate progress. The half dozen boys who either missed or turned up lame in were still on the shelf in this week's early drills.

JOINING them on the 'out' list on Monday was regular half back Johnny Warder, who skipped the workout with a sore throat and a fever.

With the opener just nine days off, Feutz has several pleasant problems. Competition at several positions has the Pirate coach undecided on a starting lineup for the opener.

One man who has Feutz scratching his head is all-purpose back Scott Rudolph. The staff's early thinking placed Rich Weeks at quarter, Duane Brooks and Warder at the halves, and transplanted halfback Seth Norton at fullback in the number one backfield.

Rudolph has been so impressive of late, however, that he is pushing for a starting job at both halfback and fullback.

THREE BOYS, Mark Williams, Jim Keoppl and John Palumbo are locked in a three way struggle for the tackle jobs and while Tom Springer and Charley Prews are solid at guard, Feutz is looking for a number three man to replace John Heisel, who transferred out.

Another battle looms at end where Paul Weber is attempting to dislodge current starters Ken Stahl and Mark Sauer.

With this competition existing, several Pirate regulars will be in a 'do the job or step down' situation during the last week of pre-season practice.

ARLINGTON HIGH SCHOOL product Mike Dundy started his final season of football competition at the University of Illinois Monday when he joined Coach Pete Elliott's forces for the beginning of practice. Mike lettered as a sophomore in 1961 when he was regular right halfback, but was hampered by a back injury last season. Dundy is an excellent defensive back and has seen most action in that capacity in his two previous varsity campaigns. Although he is small for a Big Ten footballer at 5-10 and 164 pounds, Mike makes up for his lack of size with desire and intelligence. He is listed behind speedsters Jim Warren and Trenton Jackson on the current Illinois roster.

very even," Allen pointed out. "Jim (Ewart) has the varsity experience, but Steve Martin, Mike Frase, and Jerry Culbertson also are possibilities."

Allen indicated that a possible position switch would send Culbertson, a swift junior, to halfback. "If we move Jerry to halfback, it would be because of his speed," Al said.

OTHER HALFBACK contenders are Tom Fagerson, a hardworking senior letterman; Charley Hood, Chuck Haney, Bill Truax, Mike Anderson, and Tom McGrath.

Truax, an All-Stater in track, is trying football after missing two years and "doesn't look too bad" according to Allen.

Bidding for the starting fullback spot are Denny Werkau, Pete Loris, Bob Lindsay, and Rip Van Sky.

Of the fourteen top backfield candidates only Fagerson and Ewart were monogram winners last fall in a 2-5-1 season.

Each line berth is manned by a letterman but the starting slots are still up for grabs.

AT THE FLANKS are Dan Sherman and Dave Berrvagan, both lettermen; Dave Christensen, Scott Somers, Jerry Fink, and Neal Newman. The battle for the offensive tackle slots currently is between lettermen Arnie Koriath and Randy Opela; and Scott Sully, Louis Provost, Randy Hendricks, Bob Gardner, Letterman Jack Johnson, a scrappy senior overlooked in a previous listing of returning monogram winners, is back at guard and is joined by Jim Stueber, Bob Hoban, Paul Gustitus, Larry Bulinski, and Ed Lemar. Hoban was a frosh-soph manager last fall, and Lemar is a transfer from Maine West who saw extensive service on Arlington's varsity baseball team in the spring.

Senior letterman Earl Seul is joined by Mirrel Kephart and Ken Butcher in the battle for the starting offensive center position.

JIM EWART

ALTHOUGH THERE are a host of candidates for the line berths, size isn't a characteristic of the group. "We only have about four or five boys on the team around 200 pounds," Allen pointed out.

Fifty-five boys currently are working out under Allen and his staff on a varsity level from an original list of 63. No additional cuts are planned.

Illness and injuries cost Americans an estimated $13.6 billion in 1962, according to a survey by the University of Chicago. (F

Bragiel Ready to Switch From Little Boys to Big Boys

by TOM TULLY

In Evanston they liken Jim Bragiel to a guy who stumbled into a room full of gold.

The former Palatine baseball coach isn't quite sure he agrees. He visualizes the possibility of a few problems, and more than a little responsibility as he prepares to take the reins of what figures to be the most talented group of freshman basketball players in Northwestern history.

Until then—and then begins on Aug. 26 with the first coaches meeting, Bragiel is treading water as a counselor at the Wildcat Day Camp on the campus.

WITH THE attraction of University facilities and a top flight staff of counselors, some 250 children from the northern suburbs are taking advantage of the program. Working with Bragiel on the staff are such men as Brad Snyder, new N.U. head coach; George McKinnon, baseball coach; Bob Earhart, track coach; and Rick LoPassa and Rich Falk, stars on the Wildcat cage squad.

Speaking about the wealth of talent the Cats have recruited, and Northwestern has certainly rounded up the best freshman team in the Midwest, if not the nation, Bragiel says that the N.U. coaching staff has been pleasantly confounded by their coup.

"As far as we can determine, the academic quality of the boys has been the biggest factor. This just happened to be a year when the kids we wanted were loaded with class. In two of the boy's cases we know that Northwestern's academic rating was the deciding factor. We suspect the same may be true of the others."

With the exception of Jack Cummins, the Cedar Rapids, Iowa boy, Bragiel has seen all of the boys play ball. In most cases, he has worked out with them. In no particular order, here are the boy's credentials, and his observations.

RON KOZLICKI, of course, needs no introduction to either Bragiel or suburban basketball fans. His cage feats at Palatine made him the state's top big man. He has divided his summer between working and playing ball. Not the kind of ball local fans saw him play last winter, but pickup games that have put him on the floor with guys like Terry Dischinger and Walt Bellamy, stars of the now defunct Chicago Zephyrs; Vic Rouse, Les Hunter, John Egan and Jerry Harkness of the NCAA champion Loyola team; Willie Jones of the Detroit Pistons; and LoPassa, Falk, and Jim Pitts of the N.U. varsity.

RON KOZLICKI

Bragiel's comment on Ron was that were he a sophomore, and the season starting tomorrow, you would have to say that he would be a starter at any school in the country. "Ron's defense is improving, and his rebounding, which everyone figured would be strong, has not suffered in the fast company he has been playing in. We will concentrate on improving his outside shot since he will probably play forward for us."

Rich Mason, 6-8 center from East Chicago Washington. A two year all-stater and the recipient of 200 college offers. This guy even got a letter from Vice President Lyndon Johnson advising him of the advantages of the University of Texas.

Bragiel's evaluation is "has without a doubt the best shot of any big man I have ever seen. The guy is phenomenal. He goes out 20-25 feet and shoots like a small man—only better. Also a good rebounder despite his lack of heft."

JIM BURNS, 6-4½, McLeansboro. Two years an all-stater, and the leading scorer in the state tourney as a junior.

Bragiel's analysis. "Frankly I was a little skeptical about Jim. I had heard great things about him, but he was the last boy to sign a tender and with what we already had, I was doubtful that he could make it as a forward, and wondered whether he could make the transition to guard."

"Forget it. This guy is a guard who just happens to be 6-4½. Just say he does every thing well, except shoot. He's a great shooter."

Walt Tiberi, 6-2, Bloom. Quarterback of Bloom's superb five. Averaged around 15 per game and was named to every all-state team.

His new coach has this to say. "Walt will fill the same role for us that he did for Bloom, he will be our playmaker and, we expect, a good one."

Ken Barnett, 6-8, Braidwood, rose from obscurity to all-state recognition with his fine play in the tournament.

JIM BRAGIEL

THE WORD on Barnett. "Ken's forte is his shooting ability which is ample. Right now I would have to say he ranks behind Kozlicki and Mason on over-all ability, but don't misunderstand, I still rate him a fine college prospect."

The last boy is Cummins and Bragiel is speaking on hearsay. "I'll get my first look at him this weekend. I do know this. He is considered to be the best turned out in Iowa last year. Lion Grid Picture Starting to Clear Up for Coach Gliwa

by BOB FRISK

It was blurred at the outset but the St. Viator High School football picture is slowly coming into focus for head coach Joe Gliwa.

Gliwa is a newcomer to the area, and he didn't know what to expect when he greeted the varsity Lions for the first time two weeks ago.

TOM OSTERMANN

Today, after watching the boys bump heads in some stiff practice sessions the former high school All-American has some definite ideas on the boys who will be seeing extensive action this fall.

But there still are some questions to be answered.

"We'll have a controlled scrimmage Saturday," Gliwa said Tuesday, "and that should help clear up some problems."

GLIWA AND assistant coach Frank Mariani, in considering the top prospects at this stage of the workouts, revealed an alignment with only six seniors.

Two of those fourth-year men are battling for the coveted quarterback slot.

Either Bill Roche or Joe Heitz, currently the class of the signal-callers, will get the nod in the opener with St. Francis DeSales on Sunday, Sept. 15.

HEITZ WAS ineligible for part of the 1962 season but did see some game action. Roche alternated on a varsity level with Jim Vidt, now an end.

Finding the two starting halfbacks is posing a problem for Gliwa and Mariani. Ranking high right now are seniors Jeff Haiduke and Jim Murray and juniors Jay Chaiser, Don Knudson, Tim Walinski, and Jim McNamara.

Murray, more noted for his exploits on the basketball floor, by-passed football last fall after leading the squad in ground-gaining as a soph. He should help.

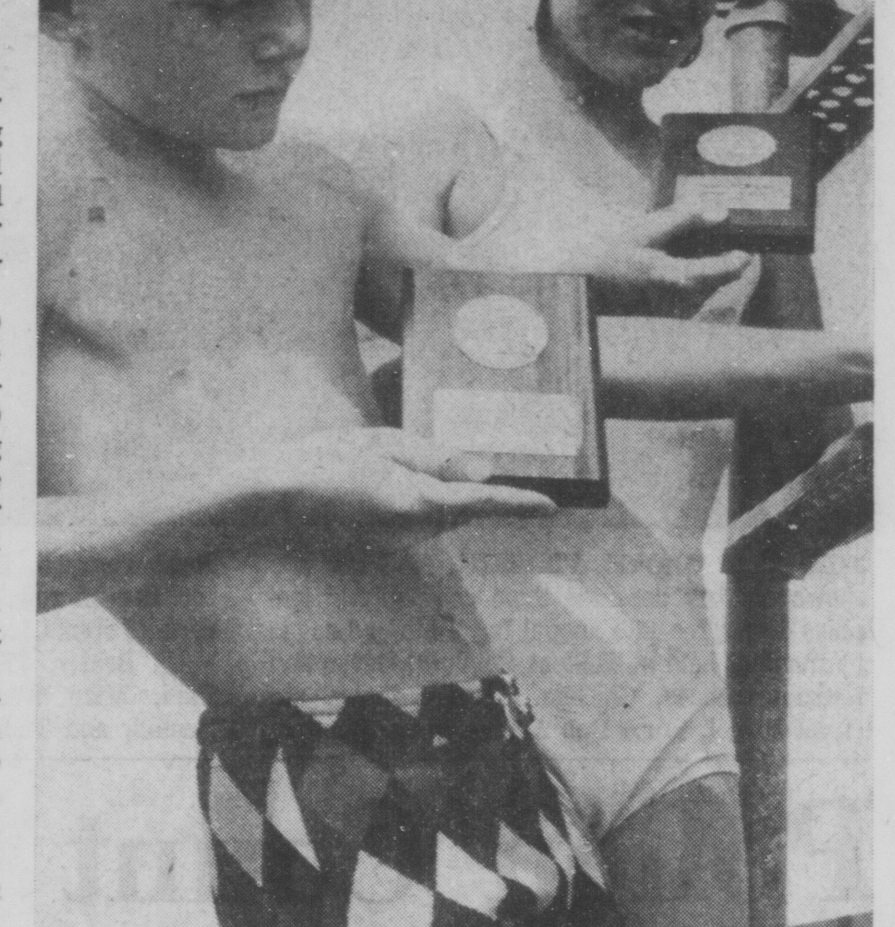
TOM OSTERMANN, a rugged senior, ranks as the No. 1 fullback although Chaiser and McNamara are pushing him. Ostermann transferred from Arlington High School last January and did letter with the varsity football Cardinals as a junior.

Juniors Chuck Heinrich (180) and Jim Vidt (180) head the end candidates with Gary Forstan (205) and John Kidd (215) the leading tackles. Battling for the guard slots are Pete Rickerson (180), Dennis Zitzer (165), Don Wikinson (170), and Gary Drabant (160).

Mike Graczyk (180) and Pat Kennedy (160) will get the first call at center.

Senior guard Bob Shanley reported for the first time this week and may be able to help out. Another end prospect is junior Norm Zeller. Norm served as a first string flank as a soph but transferred to Arlington and played with the Card sophs last fall.

St. Viator will open its season at home against St. Francis DeSales on Sunday, Sept. 15, with a soph preliminary. The varsity encounter will get under way at approximately 2 p.m.



MOST IMPROVED SWIMMERS in the Arlington Park District's Learn to Swim program were Martin Waxstein, 606 S. Ridge, Arlington Heights, and Patricia McLaughlin, 405 S. Princeton. The two youngsters are shown displaying the trophies they won in the summer activity. (Staff Photo)

Know Your Distress Signals!

(This is another in a series of articles directed to the operator of a small boat. These articles have been prepared by the public relations office of the Waukegan Power Squadron, a unit of the United States Power Squadrons, a nationwide organization dedicated to the promotion of safety afloat.)

by ALFRED RICHTER

Sooner or later, every boating enthusiast finds he has to summon help or render assistance to another boat in distress. Knowing how to get help, as well as give it, becomes very important in emergencies.

Ship-to-ship and ship-to-shore radios now are so popular and inexpensive that even outboard cruisers often are equipped with transmitters. Radio techniques are included in the free piloting courses offered by the United States Power Squadrons, nation-wide organization dedicated to safer boating.

The international distress band is 2182 kc. This does not vary anywhere in the world, and is monitored constantly by agencies such as our United States Coast Guard. The usual call words are "Mayday! Mayday!".

LITERALLY, THIS means "Help me!" as it is a corruption of the French "M'Aiden!". After repeating the phrase three times, give the name of your boat and approximate location, followed by the call letters. Wait, and repeat until you get an answer.

In the meatime, other visible signals can be used. Flying your ensign upside down may not do the trick, but lighting a fire in a metal container on deck certainly should get attendion sooner or later.

Other methods include firing rocket flares (surplus Very pistols are inexpensive), hanging a shirt on a signal mast, or in general, anything that will attract attention. The idea is to get somone within shouting distance so you can tell him your troubles.

ON THE other hand, suppose you are answering some one else's plea for help. Always approach a distressed vessel slowly and carefully, keeping clear until you find out the trouble.

If a small boat has overturned and people are hanging onto the hull, come up slowly with a line or pole to reach the victims. Have another person on board ready with a paddle to fend off the overturned craft and prevent her from damaging your boat.

With a man overboard, or picking up swimmers, cut off the motor and drift up to the person in the water if possible. If someone falls off your boat, heave a ring buoy or cushion NEAR not AT, the person quickly, cut off the motor while swinging the wheel hard around.

THEN, AFTER you clear the swimmer, start the motor to complete the turn, and approach him slowly for the pick up maneauver.

Learn artifical respiration at any good first aid class. Like swimming, it's a little used but vital knowledge for boatmen.

If the rescue job is beyond your capability or capacity, hurry and get proper aid immediately.

Boating safety means greater boating enjoyment. Attend free boating classes starting this fall in this area offered by the United States Power Squadrons. For more information, write P. O. Box 64, Waukegan.

WEAW to Air Northwestern Football Games

WEAW, Evanston station serving the Chicago area, will carry the entire schedule of Northwestern University football games with George Beres and Ed Wheeler at the microphones. This year marks the 17th continuous year of WEAW coverage of Northwestern athletic events.

The broadcast schedule starts with an away game at Missouri on Saturday, September 21 and ends with the game at Ohio State on November 16. All home Northwestern football games are played at Dyche Stadium in Evanston.

After the football season, WEAW will again carry all the Northwestern home and away basketball encounters.

Defending Champs Top Field in Third Mixed Doubles Meet

Everything went according to form in Paddock Publications' Third Annual Mixed Doubles tennis tournament.

The top ranked team battled the second-seeded entry for the championship while the third and fourth-seeded crews bowed out in the semi-finals.

That was the story Saturday and Sunday at the Arlington High School courts as defending champs Bob and Marjorie Fink of Palatine swept past three opponents and annexed their second tourney title.

The talented husband and wife entry, top-seeded in the 1963 attraction, handled Yvonne Foley of Mount Prospect and Don Johnson of Elk Grove in the finale 4-6, 7-5, 6-2.

MRS. FOLEY, competing in her third championship match in as many years, and Johnson were second seeded in pre-tourney evaluation.

Fifteen couples participated in the meet which was open to all tennis players in the area.

Bob and Marg Fink drew a bye in first round competition because of their top seed and dumped John Moore of Arlington and Mary Valiquet of Des Plaines in the quarter-finals 6-1, 6-0.

THE NEXT TWO matches weren't as easy for the champs. Larry Brown and Ruth Rees of Arlington Heights, runnerup in the 1961 headliner, gave the Palatine entry a stiff argument but still fell in straight sets 6-4, 10-8.

That set the stage for the championship match, and the Finks needed three sets in this one for the title. Mrs. Foley, who teamed with Johnson for second place, was participating in her third straight championship match.

The former Danish Women's Jr. champion teamed with Bill Thompson for first place honors in 1961 and with Larry Brown for second place last year.

MRS. FOLEY and Johnson opened their title bid with a 6-3 6-1 victory over Martha Hughsen of Mount Prospect and Rog King of Buffalo Grove. They moved into the semi-finals with a rough 5-7, 6-4, 6-3 decision over a brother and sister team, Mary Lou and Jim Jakubiec of Arlington.

In the semi-finals Mrs. Foley and Johnson stopped fourth-seeded Donna Cunningham of Arlington and Bob Sir of Mount Prospect 6-2, 6-3.

Handsome trophies were presented to the entries that finished first and second in the tournament.

In addition to the Finks of Palatine, there was another husband-wife entry in the tourney with Joy and Loyal Liken of Arlington Heights. The father daughter combinations were Jane and Jim Ulrich of Arlington and Celia and Charles Close of Arlington.

Both the Likens and Close's reached the quarter-finals before falling to seeded teams.

The summary:

FIRST ROUND

Marge and Bob Fink (Palatine) drew a bye

Mary Valiquet (Des Plaines) and John Moore (Arlington) beat Ann Heuer and Mac McGregor (Arlington) 6-0, 6-1

Thrill Shows Set For O'Hare Track

As the 1963 stock care racing season nears an end, drivers begin to care less and less about the survival of their cars and competition — naturally— takes on all the aspects of devil-may-care mayhem.

For that reason, the programs slated Saturday and Sunday nights at O'Hare Stadium, Mannheim and Irving Park Rds., are being billed as thrill spectaculars for they'll undoubtedly be just that with record fields of cars going all out to get in on the cash prizes that will end as soon as cool weather sets in.

Gates open each night at 6 p.m. with the first race at 8:30 p.m. Full programs will be presented both nights with twin main events. Fans are urged not to miss either of these thrill-packed nights since not many more race dates remain. Special economy admission will be in effect Saturday evening.

Michigan State's first and only soccer coach Gene Kenney has guided the Spartan booters to an amazing record of 51 wins, six losses and three ties from 1956 to 1962.

Falcons Bang Heads Saturday; Get Ready For Palatine Opener

by BILL HALLS

Forest View's head football coach Bob Scott gave his offense a full-scale workout Wednesday, and plans to do the same for the defense Saturday.

"We could look better," he said earlier this week, but his tone indicated he was somewhat pleased with his club's progress so far.

The Falcons open September 13 with Palatine, a team which has 18 lettermen and won its last four games last year.

AS IS HIS custom, Scott has divided his 40-man squad into three offensive units — Aces, Bombers and Kamikaze — and one defensive unit (Chinese Bandits) for the campaign.

Week to week performances dictate where a boy will play, but a starting team is beginning to shape up.

A few boys who are sure to go both ways include Ralph Kaspari, Ray Goertz, Bill Wright, Scott Armstrong, Ron Destories and Joe Mueller.

The only serious question mark so far is Chuck Lemke, a regular tackle last season, who has been hampered in early workouts by a knee injury sustained this summer in a swimmin gaccident.

"CHUCK SAYS he wants to play," said Scott. "We'll use him on defense to begin with and see how things go."

The Falcons, who has a 6-2 record last year, will carry 27 lettermen this year, their first in varsity competition.

The team was strong on defense last season, holding four of eight opponents to fewer than four first downs, and allowing only 72 points for an 8.8 points per game average.

It should be just as solid this year with Goertz, Bill Wright and Lemke in the middle and probably Russ Barger and Destories at defensive ends. Joe Gebhardt and Armstrong will be the linebackers, with Kaspari and Jim Humphrey as the cornerbacks.

JACK McRAE, a speedy junior, and Mueller will hold down the deep spots.

On offense, Mike Griesman appears to have the quarterback job over Barger and Mueller. Mueller should play a lot at slotback in Scott's Green Bay Packer pro-style offense. Kaspari will be the halfback and probably Destories at fullback.

McRae, Humphrey and Fred Colovos will back up the first string. Other backfield candidates include Dale LeFevre, Kevin Hawk and Tom Wilkes.

Gregg Garlisch and Tom Meyers have the inside track at end. Gary Busse, Bud Mitenbuler, Dick Anderson, Jim Garvos, a transfer student, and Barger will also see action here.

Bob Wright, Bill's brother, and Mike Herigodt lead the guards. But Guy Perna, Mike Mortenson, Rog Shutt and Jim Jenkins, a transfer student from Battle Creek, Mich., provide strong depth.

Tackle is also strong with Bill Wright and Goertz as the possible starters. Dave Hicks, Tom Brennan, Mike Newton and Chip Julin round out the line.

Armstrong and Gebhardt give Scott two fine offensive centers. Paul Robb will back them up.

Christensen Tops Field In Mile Run

Al Allen, Arlington High School's new head football coach, staged a special mile run for all grid candidates at the opening day of practice with clockings at 6:30 or under expected.

Senior end Dave Christensen turned in a fine 5:19.0 clocking on a muddy track to easily win first place honors.

Others in the top six were Tom Fagerson (5:40), Steve Martin (5.41), Bob Splitberger (5.41), Jim Ewart (5:55), and Pete Loris (5:56).

"It has been a tradition with me for about 12 years to hold this mile run for all candidates, including freshmen, at the first day of practice," Allen explained.

He was satisfied with the overall condition of his squad.

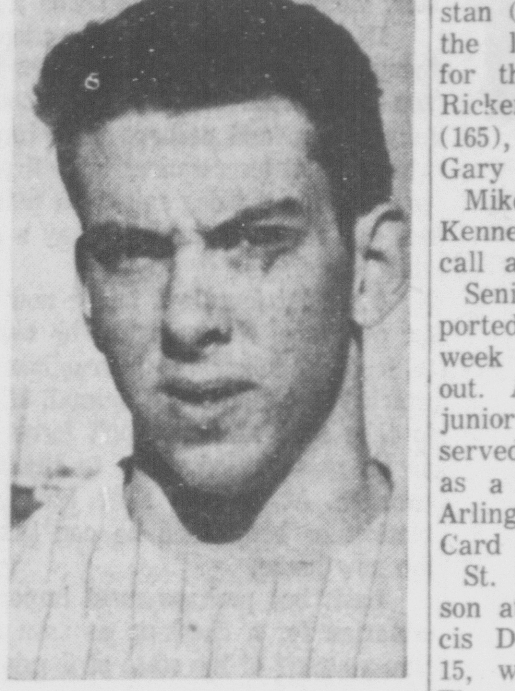
Lion Grid Picture Starting to Clear Up for Coach Gliwa

by BOB FRISK

It was blurred at the outset but the St. Viator High School football picture is slowly coming into focus for head coach Joe Gliwa.

Gliwa is a newcomer to the area, and he didn't know what to expect when he greeted the varsity Lions for the first time two weeks ago.



TOM OSTERMANN

Today, after watching the boys bump heads in some stiff practice sessions the former high school All-American has some definite ideas on the boys who will be seeing extensive action this fall.

But there still are some questions to be answered.

"We'll have a controlled scrimmage Saturday," Gliwa said Tuesday, "and that should help clear up some problems."

GLIWA AND assistant coach Frank Mariani, in considering the top prospects at this stage of the workouts, revealed an alignment with only six seniors.

Two of those fourth-year men are battling for the coveted quarterback slot.

Either Bill Roche or Joe Heitz, currently the class of the signal-callers, will get the nod in the opener with St. Francis DeSales on Sunday, Sept. 15.

HEITZ WAS ineligible for part of the 1962 season but did see some game action. Roche alternated on a varsity level with Jim Vidt, now an end.

Finding the two starting halfbacks is posing a problem for Gliwa and Mariani. Ranking high right now are seniors Jeff Haiduke and Jim Murray and juniors Jay Chaiser, Don Knudson, Tim Walinski, and Jim McNamara.

Murray, more noted for his exploits on the basketball floor, by-passed football last fall after leading the squad in ground-gaining as a soph. He should help.

TOM OSTERMANN, a rugged senior, ranks as the No. 1 fullback although Chaiser and McNamara are pushing him. Ostermann transferred from Arlington High School last January and did letter with the varsity football Cardinals as a junior.

Juniors Chuck Heinrich (180) and Jim Vidt (180) head the end candidates with Gary Forstan (205) and John Kidd (215) the leading tackles. Battling for the guard slots are Pete Rickerson (180), Dennis Zitzer (165), Don Wikinson (170), and Gary Drabant (160).

Mike Graczyk (180) and Pat Kennedy (160) will get the first call at center.

Senior guard Bob Shanley reported for the first time this week and may be able to help out. Another end prospect is junior Norm Zeller. Norm served as a first string flank as a soph but transferred to Arlington and played with the Card sophs last fall.

St. Viator will open its season at home against St. Francis DeSales on Sunday, Sept. 15, with a soph preliminary. The varsity encounter will get under way at approximately 2 p.m.

Know Your Distress Signals!

(This is another in a series of articles directed to the operator of a small boat. These articles have been prepared by the public relations office of the Waukegan Power Squadron, a unit of the United States Power Squadrons, a nationwide organization dedicated to the promotion of safety afloat.)

by ALFRED RICHTER

Sooner or later, every boating enthusiast finds he has to summon help or render assistance to another boat in distress. Knowing how to get help, as well as give it, becomes very important in emergencies.

Ship-to-ship and ship-to-shore radios now are so popular and inexpensive that even outboard cruisers often are equipped with transmitters. Radio techniques are included in the free piloting courses offered by the United States Power Squadrons, nation-wide organization dedicated to safer boating.

The international distress band is 2182 kc. This does not vary anywhere in the world, and is monitored constantly by agencies such as our United States Coast Guard. The usual call words are "Mayday! Mayday!".

LITERALLY, THIS mean s "Help me!" as it is a corruption of the French "M'Aiden!". After repeating the phrase three times, give the name of your boat and approximate location, followed by the call letters. Wait, and repeat until you get an answer.

In the meatime, other visible signals can be used. Flying your ensign upside down may not do the trick, but lighting a fire in a metal container on deck certainly should get attendion sooner or later.

Other methods include firing rocket flares (surplus Very pistols are inexpensive), hanging a shirt on a signal mast, or in general, anything that will attract attention. The idea is to get somone within shouting distance so you can tell him your troubles.

ON THE other hand, suppose you are answering some one else's plea for help. Always approach a distressed vessel slowly and carefully, keeping clear untii you find out the trouble.

If a small boat has overturned and people are hanging onto the hull, come up slowly with a line or pole to reach the victims. Have another person on board ready with a paddle to fend off the overturned craft and prevent her from damaging your boat.

With a man overboard, or picking up swimmers, cut off the motor and drift up to the person in the water if possible. If someone falls off your boat, heave a ring buoy or cushion NEAR not AT, the person quickly, cut off the motor while swinging the wheel hard around.

THEN, AFTER you clear the swimmer, start the motor to complete the turn, and approach him slowly for the pick up maneauver.

Learn artifical respiration at any good first aid class. Like swimming, it's a little used but vital knowledge for boatmen.

If the rescue job is beyond your capability or capacity, hurry and get proper aid immediately.

Boating safety means greater boating enjoyment. Attend free boating classes starting this fall in this area offered by the United States Power Squadrons. For more information, write P. O. Box 64, Waukegan.

WEAW to Air Northwestern Football Games

WEAW, Evanston station serving the Chicago area, will carry the entire schedule of Northwestern University football games with George Beres and Ed Wheeler at the microphones. This year marks the 17th continuous year of WEAW coverage of Northwestern athletic events.

The broadcast schedule starts with an away game at Missouri on Saturday, September 21 and ends with the game at Ohio State on November 16. All home Northwestern football games are played at Dyche Stadium in Evanston.

After the football season, WEAW will again carry all the Northwestern home and away basketball encounters.

Defending Champs Top Field in Third Mixed Doubles Meet

Everything went according to form in Paddock Publications' Third Annual Mixed Doubles tennis tournament.

The top ranked team battled the second-seeded entry for the championship while the third and fourth-seeded crews bowed out in the semi-finals.

That was the story Saturday and Sunday at the Arlington High School courts as defending champs Bob and Marjorie Fink of Palatine swept past three opponents and annexed their second tourney title.

The talented husband and wife entry, top-seeded in the 1963 attraction, handled Yvonne Foley of Mount Prospect and Don Johnson of Elk Grove in the finale 4-6, 7-5, 6-2.

MRS. FOLEY, competing in her third championship match in as many years, and Johnson were second seeded in pre-tourney evaluation.

Fifteen couples participated in the meet which was open to all tennis players in the area.

Bob and Marg Fink drew a bye in first round competition because of their top seed and dumped John Moore of Arlington and Mary Valiquet of Des Plaines in the quarter-finals 6-1, 6-0.

THE NEXT TWO matches weren't as easy for the champs. Larry Brown and Ruth Rees of Arlington Heights, runnerup in the 1961 headliner, gave the Palatine entry a stiff argument but still fell in straight sets 6-4, 10-8.

BOB AND MARJORIE FINK of Palatine repeated as champions of Paddock Publications' Mixed Doubles tennis tournament with a 4-6, 7-5, 6-2 victory over Yvonne Foley of Mount Prospect and Don Johnson of Elk Grove.

That set the stage for the championship match, and the Finks needed three sets in this one for the title. Mrs. Foley, who teamed with Johnson for second place, was participating in her third straight championship match.

The former Danish Women's Jr. champion teamed with Bill Thompson for first place honors in 1961 and with Larry Brown for second place last year.

MRS. FOLEY and Johnson opened their title bid with a 6-3 6-1 victory over Martha Hughsen of Mount Prospect and Rog King of Buffalo Grove. They moved into the semi-finals with a rough 5-7, 6-4, 6-3 decision over a brother and sister team, Mary Lou and Jim Jakubiec of Arlington.

In the semi-finals Mrs. Foley and Johnson stopped fourth-seeded Donna Cunningham of Arlington and Bob Sir of Mount Prospect 6-2, 6-3.

Handsome trophies were presented to the entries that finished first and second in the tournament.

In addition to the Finks of Palatine, there was another husband-wife entry in the tourney with Joy and Loyal Liken of Arlington Heights. The father daughter combinations were Jane and Jim Ulrich of Arlington and Celia and Charles Close of Arlington.

Both the Likens and Close's reached the quarter-finals before falling to seeded teams.

The summary:

FIRST ROUND

Marge and Bob Fink (Palatine) drew a bye

Mary Valiquet (Des Plaines) and John Moore (Arlington) beat Ann Heuer and Mac McGregor (Arlington) 6-0, 6-1

Celia Close and Charles Close (Arlington) beat Jane Ulrich and Jim Ulrich (Arlington) 6-1, 6-2

JACK McRAE, a speedy junior, and Mueller will hold down the deep spots.

On offense, Mike Griesman appears to have the quarterback job over Barger and Mueller. Mueller should play a lot at slotback in Scott's Green Bay Packer pro-style offense. Kaspari will be the halfback and probably Destories at fullback.

Ford Dealers Plan Third Annual Punt, Pass & Kick Contest

Eligible youngsters desiring to compete in the third annual Punt, Pass and Kick Contest will be able to enter the competition at any of 70 Ford dealerships in the Chicagoland area Sept. 3 through Oct. 11.

Local preliminary contests will be held Oct. 12.

Johnny Lattner, former All-American halfback from Notre Dame and Heisman Trophy winner, will serve as Chicagoland PP&K coordinator.

The Ford Dealers of America and the National Football League are once again co-sponsoring this unique competition that attracted more than 432,000 boys last year, and was cited by President John F. Kennedy for its contribution to the "physical fitness of our youth."

Top prize for this year's eight national finalists—one in each age group from both the Eastern and Western Division team areas —will be an all-expense paid Tour of Champions for the youths and their parents December 26-29. It will begin with a two-day visit to Washington, D.C., which will be highlighted by a special tour of the White House.

FROM Washington, the group will be flown for a two-day visit to the city in which this year's National Football League championship game will be played December 29.

The two finalists in each age group from the Eastern and Western Divisons will face off for national honors and awards during halftime of the title game.

"Kicking off" the Punt, Pass and Kick program will be some 5,000 local contests. Approximately 60,000 prizes will be awarded to winners of these competitions. First prize will be a warm-up jacket, while football helmets and autographed footballs will be the second and third prizes.

Total scores, based on distance and accuracy of their punts, passes and place kicks, will determine the winners.

FROM AMONG those competing in local contests, four—one in each of the eight through 11 age groups—will be named regional winners in each of the 14 NFL team television coverage areas. These 56 youths will display their PP&K prowess at the halftimes of designated November NFL games of their home teams. From this group will emerge the eight boys who qualify for the Tour of Champions and the showdown competition for national honors at the NFL championship game.

Regional winners from the Chicago Bears' area will vie for a Tour of Champions berth Nov. 10 when the Bears meet the Los Angees Rams in Chicago.

State PP&K champions, based on highest point totals in each age bracket, will be awarded special trophies.

British Polo Club To Face Oak Brook

Great Britain's 22 goal team Cowdray Park will be playing Oak Brook's team on Sunday, Sept: 8 at 3 p.m. on International Field in an exhibition game. The same day at 1 p.m. the opening game in the series for the Butler National Handicap will be played between Milwaukee and Tulsa — both strong 25 goal teams.

Because of the horse virus that has been sweeping the country and has hit Oak Brook hard, with more than 100 horses down, Oak Brook's line-up for the 8th will not be definite until later in the week when the polo committee counts heads to find whose horses are well enough to play.

OAK BROOK'S shortage is a double problem because Oak Brook is also mounting the Briltish team, whose horses are also down with the virus.

Both Oak Brook and Cowdray Park played a magnificent game on Sunday in spite of borrowed horses and a five chukker game.

Tied in the 4th chukker at 3 all, and in the 5th at 5 all, the spell was broken by Lord Patrick Beresford who scored in the last minute of the game making the final score for the North American Challenge Cup 6-5 in favor of the popular British team.

A CROWD OF over 7,000 people cheered and groaned as each play was made, according to their particular sympathies, well aware of the danger and difficulties the players were experiencing due to unfamiliar ponies. These Britons play a rough, tough game and it will take the best of the United States' players to beat them.

Plans are for the second game in the Butler National Handicap between Great Britain and the U. S. Oak Brook team, to be played on Sept. 11th, with the finals of the Handicap on Sept. 15.

In order to do this, they will, of course, stay over the extra week, thus giving their horses and ours more chance to recover before the big games.

Indians Whip Colts, 5-1

The Indians, champions of the American Little League, whipped the Colts, their opposite numbers in the National League, 5-1 in the Palatine Minor League championship game at North Side Park last Thursday evening.

Mike Garms limited the Colts to just one hit—a fourth inning single by Messner—and fanned 13, including nine in a row.

Ricky Bowman gave Garms all the support he needed with a pair of triples good for three runs. Rich Rankhorn chipped in with a double for the Indians.

The winners pushed across single runs in the second and third frames and clinched in with a three run burst in the sixth.

The Colts tallied in their half of the sixth when Garms weakened and walked four batters.

Pollen Count Puts Bison Quarterback Dahlstrom on Shelf

JIM MARINANGEL

If you know a cure-all designed to handle a lingering case of asthma, a sprained ankle and a broken finger you can find a market in Fenton coach Bob Appleby.

While you're at it, bring along a spare end or two and maybe a center. If this doesn't exhaust your supply and you have a handy formula that puts on pounds and adds speed at the same time, chances are you can hang your feet under the table at the Appleby residence for the next three months.

Appleby is not complaining, you understand, he's just experiencing a gnawing feeling that Sept. 14 is right around the corner. That's the afternoon his Bisons open the 1963 grid season against Wes Leyden.

THE AILMENTS belong to Jim Dahlstrom, Bob Hettich and Lew Baylor. Should they last another week—particularly the first two—the herd might really be hurting.

Dahlstrom's asthmatic condition is particularly perplexing. The junior quarterback is at practice every day, but lack of sleep is robbing him of his energy. Appleby is hoping for a studden drop in the pollen count.

In his absence, another junior, George Stewart has moved into the important quarterback slot. Stewart ran the sophomore team, and while he lacks experience and size (145), Appleby is impressed with his desire and hustle. If need be, the Fenton coach feels the youngster can do the job.

Hettich, the veteran halfback, is the owner of the sprained ankle. It is not serious and he should be back in time for the opener, but he has missed several days of practice and is falling behind.

JUNIOR RAY Laboda has moved in and is doing a fine job in Hettich's spot. Appleby rates him as one of the top surprises of the pre-season workouts.

Baylor, a 255 pound husky, has the broken finger. His loss would not be as severe because, while he figures to play some ball, he is not a starter.

Three other boys rated Appleby's commendation for their performance thus far. Jim Marinangel, a quarterback last year, has made the switch to fullback and his progress has been rapid. His size, 6-2 and 185 should make him effective in the new spot.

Bob Gallis, a 170 pound junior guard, has been impressive and will go both ways, handling the strategic middle linebacker post on defense.

THE THIRD BOY is Dan Boone, who has nailed down a job as a corner linebacker despite his lack of size (158).

All is not so rosy. The Bisons don't have much size, and only fair speed. One trouble spot is end. Al Zaba and Dave Foss are the current operators, but Appleby has the help wanted sign out.

The only thing Appleby would like from Wayne Westfall and Fred Skultetty that the Bison tackles can't offer, is a little more size. The same thing applies at guard where Gallis and Ed Price are located.

Another trouble spot is center where Appleby could use some help for smallish (165) Terry Gobel.

The final starting position needs no help. It is the halfback post manned by the veteran Tom Schmidt.

Toppers Open at Wheaton

Glenbard West's varsity football Hilltoppers will swing into action on Friday, Sept. 13, when they journey to Wheaton for the traditional opener with the Tigers.

The Glen Ellyn eleven will be on the road for the first two contests before coming home to meet Maine East on Saturday, Sept. 28.

Glenbard will meet Maine East, Downers Grove (Oct. 5), and Arlington (Oct. 26) in home encounters.

The Hilltoppers posted a 2-5 record and tied for fifth on a varsity level last fall in the West Suburban Conference. Glenbard's frosh-sophs won three of seven league frays and finished fourth.

The schedule:
Sept. 13—Glenbard at Wheaton
Sept. 21—Glenbard at Riverside
Sept. 28—Maine East at Glenbard
Oct. 5—Downers at Glenbard
Oct. 12—Glenbard at LaGrange

Wildcats Win Playoff

The Wildcats, second round champions of the Bensenville Ponytail League, bounced back from a one game disadvantage to defeat the first half winners, the Bobcats, in the best-of-three playoff.

The Wildcats won the title by virtue of a 14-13 decision in the third game of the series. The third game was necessary when the Bobcats won the first game, 8-0, and the Wildcats the second, 8-4.

Sue Noe was the first game winner for the Bobcats, fanning ten and banging out a homer in her shutout. Jean Garry was the winner in both Wildcat victories.

JUST DOGS

by DAVE TERRILL

Dog . . . by adoption

Much has been written in the past few years about dogs that have been adopted by families wishing to own a pet that is perhaps, in some cases, a little older than a young pup. The idea is excellent and if a little thought is given to the matter, you can come up with an animal that is just what "the doctor ordered."

First, where to go? There are three principal places to obtain a dog by adoption. The Humane Associations and the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, which have branches all over the country. Next would be one of the many privately financed institutions and third, the local dog pound. Another source would be, of course, some private individual who is giving away a dog or perhaps a litter of "accidents." In the latter case, I would be a bit cautious about taking a dog unless some knowledge of the parents was known. Nothing like having a monster, when all you wanted was a small house pet.

IN PICKING A DOG for adoption, try to get one that looks as though he were a pure-bred. The reasons are obvious inasmuch as you at least have a fair idea about how the animal will look when fully grown, and perhaps most important, you can just about figure what sort of temperment he will possess. Cost wise the amount that you pay for the dog might be nothing, or, as in the case of a shelter, you might be asked to pay a small charge to help defray operating costs.

The first few days in the new home will be those of adjustment for everyone. Not only for the owners, but the dog. When it comes to feeding, follow the instructions given to you by the place from which you obtained the animal. If you find the dog a little reluctant to take food at first, don't force the issue. Like children, as soon as he gets settled down to the new location the food will be no problem. At the very start, have a place for him that is his . . . a blanket or bed, when he can take it easy and get accustomed to the new home.

Last, but perhaps most important, take him to your local veterinarian for a check-up as soon as possible. Not only can you assure yourself of the state of the dog's health, but also any necessary shots can be given.

Firmness . . .

Watching a mother doing her shopping recently, and who had taken the rather obnoxious actions of her youngster just so long and then decided that a firm hand in the right spot was in order, brings your editor around to the subject of firmness in training a dog. Teaching a dog to behave requires a firm tone of voice . . . short commands, and above all . . . follow-through.

Dogs, like youngsters, will try to get away with something, and if you don't correct it, you are not training the dog, he is training you. You may have to follow-through with a repeat of a command more than once, but stay with it.

Barks & Bays . . .

A good way to stop a dog fight is with water. If you are handy to a bucket or a hose, let them have it. Unless you are experienced in handling dogs, don't get your hands into the fracas. There is a right and wrong way, and most people try to break up a fight with their hands the wrong way . . . much to their sorrow. (Sp

Warrior Vets Await Opener With Dukes

Willowbrook, a club with ideas concerning the first football championship of the new Des Plaines Valley Conference, faces a schedule made to order for an ambitious eleven.

Vic Lesch's Warriors will make three appearances on the turf before meeting a conference opponent. The non-conference foes include traditional opening day adversary, York, luckless Deerfield, a non-winner in three years of varsity play, and Prospect a former playmate in the old Interim League.

The final five weeks of the season will be devoted to DPVC business against Niles West, Morton West, East Leyden, Proviso West and West Leyden the other members of the new league. Lesch sees his club battling Morton West and East Leyden for the title.

The Warrior coach has seen no signs of seniorities. His ample supply of veterans are working hard to retain their jobs. Consequently, there are just two positions that haven't been nailed down.

One is end where 6-5 Terry Meranda, who transferred in from Ohio after the football season last year, letterman Warren Phillips and Tom MacDonald, a regular on the JV's last season, are dueling for the two starting jobs.

The other is guard. All-Conference Gerry Moore appears to be set on one side, but Dwight Shiehl is battling letterman Mike Battista for the other.

The rest of the number one unit finds Ted Cunningham and Tom Ninser at the tackles, Dennis Hitzman at center, Nick Karales at quarterback, John Lundquist and Bob MacKaben at the halves, and All-Conference returnee Dick Busch at fullback.

All except Karales are lettermen and he has quarterbacked the frosh, soph and JV teams in his first three years.

Prospect Plaza Clinches Crown In Links Action

Under ideal weather conditions, the race for first place was ended Friday night for the St. Emily's Golf League. Prospect Plaza Bank has won the championship!

By winning a strong nine points, Prospect Plaza itself in front by 29 points which means that even by dropping all 13 points next week they cannot possibly lose.

The big battle remains for the second place spot since there is only ½ point separating Keefer's Pharmacy from removing the J & B Village Meat Market from the coveted position.

NEXT WEEK is position night which should determine second place.

The Market boys must play the champions while Keefer's could fatten up on Jim's Standard Service and slip into second. The tension is surely there, someone like Jake's Pizza could push past them all. This is how the race has been all year for the second spot, and obviously will go down to the last swing of the club.

Larry Zysko showed that practice has made perfect as he came in with a very fine 3 over par 36 to win the low gross for the night. His net 30 was not good enough to beat Ed Jarvis, who played spectacularly to score a low net of 27 for the night.

The one and only bird of the night was scored by Ed Miller on the tough No. 4 where he slipped around the dog leg hazard to score his bird 3. This was one of the very few scored on this hole all year.

The standings:

Prospect Plaza Bank	133½
J & B Village Mt. Mkt.	104½
Keefer's Pharmacy	104
Jim's Standard Serv.	98½
Jake's Pizza	97½
Redwood Inn	93½
Thunderbird Bowl	87
Don's Barber Shop	75

Ford Dealers Plan Third Annual Punt, Pass & Kick Contest

Eligible youngsters desiring to compete in the third annual Punt, Pass and Kick Contest will be able to enter the competition at any of 70 Ford dealerships in the Chicagoland area Sept. 3 through Oct. 11.

Local preliminary contests will be held Oct. 12.

Johnny Lattner, former All-American halfback from Notre Dame and Heisman Tropny winner, will serve as Chicagoland PP&K coordinator.

The Ford Dealers of America and the National Football League are once again co-sponsoring this unique competition that attracted more than 432,000 boys last year, and was cited by President John F. Kennedy for its contribution to the "physical fitness of our youth."

Top prize for this year's eight national finalists—one in each age group from both the Eastern and Western Division team areas—will be an all-expense paid Tour of Champions for the youths and their parents December 26-29. It will begin with a two-day visit to Washington, D.C., which will be highlighted by a special tour of the White House.

FROM Washington, the group will be flown for a two-day visit to the city in which this year's National Football League championship game will be played December 29.

The two finalists in each age group from the Eastern and Western Divisons will face off for national honors and awards during halftime of the title game.

"Kicking off" the Punt, Pass and Kick program will be some 5,000 local contests. Approximately 60,000 prizes will be awarded to winners of these competitions. First prize will be a warm-up jacket, while football helmets and autographed footballs will be the second and third prizes.

Total scores, based on distance and accuracy of their punts, passes and place kicks, will determine the winners.

FROM AMONG those competing in local contests, four—one in each of the eight through 11 age groups—will be named regional winners in each of the 14 NFL team television coverage areas. These 56 youths will display their PP&K prowess at the halftimes of designated November NFL games of their home teams. From this group will emerge the eight boys who qualify for the Tour of Champions and the showdown competition for national honors at the NFL championship game.

Regional winners from the Chicago Bears' area will vie for a Tour of Champions berth Nov. 10 when the Bears meet the Los Angees Rams in Chicago.

State PP&K champions, based on highest point totals in each age bracket, will be awarded special trophies.

British Polo Club To Face Oak Brook

Great Britain's 22 goal team Cowdray Park will be playing Oak Brook's team on Sunday, Sept. 8 at 3 p.m. on International Field in an exhibition game. The same day at 1 p.m. the opening game in the series for the Butler National Handicap will be played between Milwaukee and Tulsa — both strong 25 goal teams.

Because of the horse virus that has been sweeping the country and has hit Oak Brook hard, with more than 100 horses down, Oak Brook's line-up for the 8th will not be definite until later in the week when the polo committee counts heads to find whose horses are well enough to play.

OAK BROOK'S shortage is a double problem because Oak Brook is also mounting the Briltish team, whose horses are also down with the virus.

Both Oak Brook and Cowdray Park played a magnificent game on Sunday in spite of borrowed horses and a five chukker game.

Tied in the 4th chukker at 3 all, and in the 5th at 5 all, the spell was broken by Lord Patrick Beresford who scored in the last minute of the game making the final score for the North American Challenge Cup 6-5 in favor of the popular British team.

A CROWD OF over 7,000 people cheered and groaned as each play was made, according to their particular sympathies, well aware of the danger and difficulties the players were experiencing due to unfamiliar ponies. These Britons play a rough, tough game and it will take the best of the United States' players to beat them.

Plans are for the second game in the Butler National Handicap between Great Britain and the U. S. Oak Brook team, to be played on Sept. 11th, with the finals of the Handicap on Sept. 15.

In order to do this, they will, of course, stay over the extra week, thus giving their horses and ours more chance to recover before the big games.

Indians Whip Colts, 5-1

The Indians, champions of the American Little League, whipped the Colts, their opposite numbers in the National League, 5-1 in the Palatine Minor League championship game at North Side Park last Thursday evening.

Ricky Bowman gave Garms all the support he needed with a pair of triples good for three runs. Rich Rankhorn chipped in with a double for the Indians.

The winners pushed across single runs in the second and third frames and clinched in with a three run burst in the sixth.

The Colts tallied in their half of the sixth when Garms weakened and walked four batters.

Last, but perhaps most important, take him to your local veterinarian for a check-up as soon as possible. Not only can you assure yourself of the state of the dog's health, but also any necessary shots can be given.

Firmness . . .

Watching a mother doing her shopping recently, and who had taken the rather obnoxious actions of her youngster just so long and then decided that a firm hand in the right spot was in order, brings your editor around to the subject of firmness in training a dog. Teaching a dog to behave requires a firm tone of voice . . . short commands, and above all . . . follow-through.

Dogs, like youngsters, will try to get away with something, and if you don't correct it, you are not training the dog, he is training you. You may have to follow-through with a repeat of a command more than once, but stay with it.

Barks & Bays . . .

A good way to stop a dog fight is with water. If you are handy to a bucket or a hose, let them have it. Unless you are experienced in handling dogs, don't get your hands into the fracas. There is a right and wrong way, and most people try to break up a fight with their hands the wrong way . . . much to their sorrow. (Sp

Warrior Vets Await Opener With Dukes

Willowbrook, a club with ideas concerning the first football championship of the new Des Plaines Valley Conference, faces a schedule made to order for an ambitious eleven.

Vic Lesch's Warriors will make three appearances on the turf before meeting a conference opponent. The non-conference foes include traditional opening day adversary, York, luckless Deerfield, a non-winner in three years of varsity play, and Prospect a former playmate in the old Interim League.

The final five weeks of the season will be devoted to DPVC business against Niles West, Morton West, East Leyden, Proviso West and West Leyden the other members of the new league. Lesch sees his club battling Morton West and East Leyden for the title.

The Warrior coach has seen no signs of seniorities. His ample supply of veterans are working hard to retain their jobs. Consequently, there are just two positions that haven't been nailed down.

One is end where 6-5 Terry Meranda, who transferred in from Ohio after the football season last year, letterman Warren Phillips and Tom MacDonald, a regular on the JV's last season, are dueling for the two starting jobs.

The other is guard. All-Conference Gerry Moore appears to be set on one side, but Dwight Shiehl is battling letterman Mike Battista for the other.

The rest of the number one unit finds Ted Cunningham and Tom Ninser at the tackles, Dennis Hitzman at center, Nick Karales at quarterback, John Lundquist and Bob MacKaben at the halves, and All-Conference returnee Dick Busch at fullback.

All except Karales are lettermen and he has quarterbacked the frosh, soph and JV teams in his first three years.

Prospect Plaza Clinches Crown In Links Action

Under ideal weather conditions, the race for first place was ended Friday night for the St. Emily's Golf League. Prospect Plaza Bank has won the championship!

By winning a strong nine points, Prospect Plaza itself in front by 29 points which means that even by dropping all 13 points next week they cannot possibly lose.

The big battle remains for the second place spot since there is only ½ point separating Keefer's Pharmacy from removing the J & B Village Meat Market from the coveted position.

NEXT WEEK is position night which should determine second place.

The Market boys must play the champions while Keefer's could fatten up on Jim's Standard Service and slip into second. The tension is surely there, someone like Jake's Pizza could push past them all. This is how the race has been all year for the second spot, and obviously will go down to the last swing of the club.

Larry Zysko showed that practice has made perfect as he came in with a very fine 3 over par 36 to win the low gross for the night. His net 30 was not good enough to beat Ed Jarvis, who played spectacularly to score a low net of 27 for the night.

The one and only bird of the night was scored by Ed Miller on the tough No. 4 where he slipped around the dog leg hazard to score his bird 3. This was one of the very few scored on this hole all year.

The standings:

Prospect Plaza Bank	133½
J & B Village Mt. Mkt.	104½
Keefer's Pharmacy	104
Jim's Standard Serv.	98½
Jake's Pizza	97½
Redwood Inn	93½

Realtors Claim Top Prize in Golf Play; Kruse Fades to 2nd

Annen and Busse Realtors, with a finishing drive that could not be contained, toppled Kruse's Tavern and Restaurant, 8½-1½, last week in the final night of play and captured the Tuesday night division title of the Mount Prospect Twilight golf league.

The Realtors, laying back in second place since early July, had been quietly keeping pace with Kruse's, but as the Schlitzers started to fade late in the season, Annen and Busse seemed to gather strength and in the final night of play overwhelmed them to take first place with apparent ease.

Kruse's, league-leaders from the first meeting in July, couldn't seem to come out of their prolonged slump. At one stage of the season they commanded an 8½ point lead that seemed insurmountable, but a series of four disastrous matches, during which Annen and Busse was piling up victories, proved the Schlitzer's undoing.

The accumulation of good scores by the individual Schlitzers which resulted in low handicaps also assisted in Kruse's downfall.

HANK BAYLIS, "B" position player, was the key man in the Annen and Busse onslaught. His 39 gross 32 net was too much for the Schlitzer's strong man Don Snyder, who came home with a 44 gross 38 net. Baylis easily took two points plus a bonus one point for low individual net.

Pat Danna, the Realtors' "C" player and armed with an 8 handicap, met with and took two points from 6 handicapper Fred Jilek, another big gun for the Schlitzers.

Don Petelle of Annen's also won his match and two points from Art Skelton.

THE ONLY points won by the Schlitzers were taken by "E" player Roy Stevens, who turned in a nice 48 gross 34 net to win the match but tie the medal with Bob Kline, who came in with a 51 gross 34 net.

The Realtors were awarded the final bonus point for low team net. Final score: Kruse's 1½ points, Annen and Busse 8½ points and the first place trophy.

The final night of play was "position night." Surprisingly, with the notable exception of the two top teams, not another team in the division changed place in the standings. Most contests ended in ties.

WILLE LUMBER and Fuel, the strongest team in the league during the month of August, but who started their move just a little too late, were played to a 5-5 standoff by Keefer's Pharmacy. Phil's Pure Oil and Kirchhoff Insurance played to a 5-5 tie, and Mount Prospect Electric Construction and Licht's Paint Store were deadlocked at 5-all.

Illinois Range won their match with Golden Isle Restaurant, 6½-½, and Winkelman's Shell Service gave Mount Prospect Bowling Lanes their final defeat of the season, 5-3, which gave the Lanes undisputed possession of last place. Unfortunately, both of these contests were marred by forfeits.

Low shooters for the final night of the season were H. Baylis, E. Stofft, and G. Adams, all with 39s.

Birdies were reported by H. Baylis No. 1 and F. Jilek No. 9.

Final team standings:

Annen & Busse Realtors	105
Kruse's Tavern & Rest.	98-1/6
Keefer's Pharmacy	95½
Wille Lumber & Fuel	94½
Phil's Pure Oil	91
Kirchhoff Insurance	87½
Mt. Prospect Electric Constr. Co.	87½
Licht's Paint Store	87-5/6
Illinois Range	79

Plaza Shell Tops Hoffman Golf Division

Plaza Shell closed the Hoffman Men's golf season with a 10-6 win over Snyder's Hoffman Drugs to cop its third consecutive league title.

Though absent for the final round, it was Captain Roy Jenkins' third in a row also. They made it home with a 2½ point bulge over Monroe Auto Equipment, who halved 8-8 with Rainbow Inn. Rainbow hung onto a first division (6th place) berth by ½ point over Jupiter Cleaners.

Jupiter threatened the first division by blasting Plaza Liquors 16-0, leaving Plaza all alone in last place. They were quite at home there, however, having spent most of the season either in, sharing, or close to the cellar.

KICZULA Insurance downed Roselle State Bank 9½-6½, but fell one point shy of bumping the bankers out of third place. Tony's Sinclair blasted Schaumrose Inn 14-2 and Roselle Color Center edged Roselle Ace Hardware 7-5.

With their victory over Schaumrose, Tony's Sinclair copped team low net with 178, while Nick Chockron took individual honors with a 40-10-30.

John Milke and alternate Roger Leland, subbing for Plaza Shell Captain Roy Jenkins, shared low gross, both with sterling 38's.

The league tournament will be held at the scene of the weekly crimes on Saturday, Sept. 14. The front foursome will lead off shortly before 10 a.m. Handicaps will be based on season-long averages rather than the best three of the last four scores, which prevails for weekly play.

The tournament will precede the annual banquet, which will begin at 7:30 for cocktails and 8:30 for dinner. Wives are encouraged to attend the banquet.

The aim here is to let them pick up the prizes, both tournament and league, for their hardier mates who may, or may not, be able to take their kudos.

Plaze Shell	155½
Monroe Auto Equipment	153
Roselle State Bank	149
Kiczula Insurance	148
Tony's Sinclair	143
Rainbow Inn	139½
Jupiter Cleaners	139
Schaumrose Inn	122½
Roselle Ace Hardware	119½
Snyder's Hoffman Drug	116½
Roselle Color Center	112½
Plaza Liquors	108½

Peters Golfers Triumph

Peters and Co. Realtors posted a half-point advantage over Arlington Realty in the closest finish on record in the Old Scratch Golf League.

Wayne Rolfs registered a sparkling 33 to pace the victory over Colt Restaurant, and he was aided by Bokelman with a 36 and Meling with a 38.

Arlington Realty, second place team, played Black's to a four-point draw in the windup.

Other impressive scores last Friday were a 35 by Len Arnold, and 36s by Bob Kronn, Rieland, Hager and Stuerak.

Ralph Becker earned the best average score for the 1963 season with a 36.7. He was followed by Bokelman (37.0) and Arnold (37.6).

Playoff Day is scheduled for Sunday, Sept. 29, at 11 a.m.

Pederson Records 3rd Hole-in-One

Have you had your hole-in-one lately?

Probably not. Very few golfers ever are able to brag about an ace.

Then there is Chuck Pederson, pro at Rolling Green Country Club. Hole-in-ones are becoming a habit with this former Arlington High School golfer.

Chuck recently bagged the second in his career and had it recorded on film at Rolling Green. A few weeks later he did it again.

Playing with Errie Ball at the Oak Park Country Club, Chuck dropped in a seven iron shot on the 169 yard 15th hole. He finished with a 74 on the par 72 course.

Pro Sport Shop Cops Friday Night Crown At Mount Prospect

It was a narrow squeak last Friday night for Captain Erwin Kokes and his Pro Sport Shop quintet but they successfully withstood the last minute surge of Captain Dick Piehl and his Jim's Standard Servicemen to capture the 1963 championship of the Friday Night Twilight League at the Mount Prospect Country Club.

With a now-or-never effort, Dick Piehl and his Jim's Standard Servicemen, leaders of the Friday night loop for most of the season, went out to overcome a five point deficit - and they almost did it. When all the cards were in, Kokes and his Pro Sport Shoppers owned first place by a mere 1.8 point margin, but it was enough for the championship.

It was a head to head battle for first place as the Pro Sport Shop five met the second place Jim's Standard Service quintet for the league flag.

IN THE CAPTAIN'S match, long-hitting Dick Piehl set the stage for his Jim's Standard Servicemen by beating Captain Erwin Kokes as they both fired net 40's. Joe Kubik added more valuable points for the Servicemen with a fine net 39. At this point it looked like the supset was in the making.

But the leaders didn't get in the lead by playing dead as Holmes McLendon proved by battling Dick Stone to a halved match with a net 37 that included a birdie four on Mount Prospect's 485 yard 15th. However, Don Bertrand made it another win for Jim's Standard Service as he downed John Burck with a net 35.

And who saved the championship for the Pro Sport Shop five? It was left for the No. 5 man on the team, Joe Graffeo, as he downed Walt Czeropski in the final match. His net 38 gave him one net point, and his win gave him a match point, a total of two points for the night. His team won the championship by only 1.8 points.

FOR THE Arlington Camera Shop five led by Captain Bill Harner, the season was just not long enough. Beginning late in June when they were in ninth place, the Cameramen moved up in the standings as the season progressed to finish in third place only nine points back of the leaders.

The Cameramen finished off the season with a 7-4 win over Ken Sophie and his Meeske's Super Marketeers, but it was only good enough to carry them into third place.

Captain's Bill Harner and Ken Sophie were locked in a tight match, but the best Harner could garner was a helved match with Sophie despite his birdie 3 on the 349 yard fifth.

FINISHING fourth in the standings was Captain Joe Wylie and his Williams-Gray Co. five, only .1 points behind the third place team. They might have made it except for the fine round turned in by Dr. Ed Luzwick of Ray Felitto's Wille Lumbermen. Luzwick carded a fine net 38 in his match with Ed Seeber of the Williams-Gray five that included a birdie 3 on Mount Prospect's 342 yard eighth.

The fifth place team, the Esquire Barbers led by Dudley Hartman, moved from seventh to fifth on the final night as they downed Captain Harold Lins and his Kruses' quintet. Esquire Barber Don Quigley whipped Jack Buyers with a neat net 39 that included a birdie four on the 485-yard 15th.

ONE OF THE BEST performances of the year, and certainly the finest of the last night, was carded by Captain Stan Shaw of the 10th place finishing Keefer's Pharmacy five. Shaw closed out the season with a one over par 36 on Mt. Prospect's front nine with a birdie three on the 342-yard eighth.

Another fine card was turned in by Captain Jim Carter of the ninth place Mt. Prospect State Bankers. Carter toured the tough back nine at Mt. Prospect in just 39 strokes as he narrowly beat Captain Warren Collier of the F.B.K. Realtors.

Other birds were turned in by Dick Wood of the Doyno Motors five as he shaved a stroke off par on the 285 yard ninth, and by Stan Grabarek of the F.B.K. Realtors who birdied the 268 yard 13th.

ONLY TWO more events are scheduled for the Friday Night Twilighters at Mt. Prospect. Competition for the season will be closed out with an End of the Year tournament to be played September 7th at the Mt. Prospect course.

The season officially ends September 28th with an annual dinner dance.

C. P. Golfers Clinch First With 5-2 Win

C. P. Floor and Tile clinched first place in the Rob Roy Tuesday golf league by beating Rodewald Dairy 5-2 in a wild scramble.

Vince Hoffman was the only dairy boy able to cope with the pressure-packed situation and he brought home the two points with a 38-5-33.

Joy Di Tool & Mach exploded to post the season's second best totals of 158-19-139 against L-Nor Cleaners. However, the 6-1 win still was one point short of clinching second place.

Next week, on the final night play, the golfers will battle in a Position Round.

WEBBER PAINTS toppled Borchardt's Restaurant last week 5½-1½ while Golf Rand Golf Center divided its match with Kelter Realty. Borchardt's and Golf Rand are in a tight battle for third and should have an interesting match this week.

Gunnell's handled Rankin 5-2 to keep the latter from moving into a contending position for third place.

Kirchhoff Insurance trounced Propect Heights Service behind Wayne Rolfs' par performance. Prospect Heights Pharmacy moved out of last place by trouncing the barbers 6½-½. The winners were led by Tom Brogan's two-over-par 38.

Bob Hobornbostel shared par honors with Wayne Rolpfc.

Luzwick carded a fine net 38 in his match with Ed Seeber of the Williams-Gray five that included a birdie 3 on Mount Prospect's 342 yard eighth.

The fifth place team, the Esquire Barbers led by Dudley Hartman, moved from seventh to fifth on the final night as they downed Captain Harold Lins and his Kruses' quintet. Esquire Barber Don Quigley whipped Jack Buyers with a neat net 39 that included a birdie four on the 485-yard 15th.

ONE OF THE BEST performances of the year, and certainly the finest of the last night, was carded by Captain Stan Shaw of the 10th place finishing Keefer's Pharmacy five. Shaw closed out the season with a one over par 36 on Mt. Prospect's front nine with a birdie three on the 342-yard eighth.

Another fine card was turned in by Captain Jim Carter of the ninth place Mt. Prospect State Bankers. Carter toured the tough back nine at Mt. Prospect in just 39 strokes as he narrowly beat Captain Warren Collier of the F.B.K. Realtors.

Other birds were turned in by Dick Wood of the Doyno Motors five as he shaved a stroke off par on the 285 yard ninth, and by Stan Grabarek of the F.B.K. Realtors who birdied the 268 yard 13th.

ONLY TWO more events are scheduled for the Friday Night Twilighters at Mt. Prospect. Competition for the season will be closed out with an End of the Year tournament to be played September 7th at the Mt. Prospect course.

The season officially ends September 28th with an annual dinner dance.

C. P. Golfers Clinch First With 5-2 Win

C. P. Floor and Tile clinched first place in the Rob Roy Tuesday golf league by beating Rodewald Dairy 5-2 in a wild scramble.

Vince Hoffman was the only dairy boy able to cope with the pressure-packed situation and he brought home the two points with a 38-5-33.

Joy Di Tool & Mach exploded to post the season's second best totals of 158-19-139 against L-Nor Cleaners. However, the 6-1 win still was one point short of clinching second place.

Next week, on the final night play, the golfers will battle in a Position Round.

WEBBER PAINTS toppled Borchardt's Restaurant last week 5½-1½ while Golf Rand Golf Center divided its match with Kelter Realty. Borchardt's and Golf Rand are in a tight battle for third and should have an interesting match this week.

Gunnell's handled Rankin 5-2 to keep the latter from moving into a contending position for third place.

Kirchhoff Insurance trounced Propect Heights Service behind Wayne Rolfs' par performance. Prospect Heights Pharmacy moved out of last place by trouncing the barbers 6½-½. The winners were led by Tom Brogan's two-over-par 33.

Bob Hobornbostel shared par honors with Wayne Rolpfc.

Par	454	344	434	—35
Wayne	444	444	344	—35-3-32
Bob	543	255	434	—35-2-33

This Sunday is league play day at Rob Roy with tee off time at 11 a.m.

The standings:

Morton Pontiac Wins Golf Title

Morton Pontiac is the champion of the Monday night golf league at Mount Prospect Country Club.

Morton ifnished wth 106-2/3 points for a comfortable margin over runnerup Picket Paint.

Picket, Paddock tourney champs, retained second place by only one-third of a point as Mount Prospect Savings & Loan charged into third.

Gus Knaack picked up two and one-half points while Jack Flick could post only one and one-half in the battle for individual honors. Knaack picked up the Most Valuable Player award for the second straight year. Dick Fox finished behind Flick.

Birdies were recorded by Bob Mors on No. 6, John Krueger and Howard Bersted on 8, John Krueger on 3, George Kratsch on 13, and Harris Lyon on 14.

The standings:

Morton Pontiac	106-2/3

Plaza Shell Tops Hoffman Golf Division

Plaza Shell closed the Hoffman Men's golf season with a 10-6 win over Snyder's Hoffman Drugs to cop its third consecutive league title.

Though absent for the final round, it was Captain Roy Jenkins' third in a row also. They made it home with a 2½ point bulge over Monroe Auto Equipment, who halved 8-8 with Rainbow Inn. Rainbow hung onto a first division (6th place) berth by ½ point over Jupiter Cleaners.

Jupiter threatened the first division by blasting Plaza Liquors 16-0, leaving Plaza all alone in last place. They were quite at home there, however, having spent most of the season either in, sharing, or close to the cellar.

KICZULA Insurance downed Roselle State Bank 9½-6½, but fell one point shy of bumping the bankers out of third place. Tony's Sinclair blasted Schaumrose Inn 14-2 and Roselle Color Center edged Roselle Ace Hardware 7-5.

With their victory over Schaumrose, Tony's Sinclair copped team low net with 178, while Nick Chockron took individual honors with a 40-10-30.

John Milke and alternate Roger Leland, subbing for Plaza Shell Captain Roy Jenkins, shared low gross, both with sterling 38's.

The league tournament will be held at the scene of the weekly crimes on Saturday, Sept. 14. The front foursome will lead off shortly before 10 a.m. Handicaps will be based on season-long averages rather than the best three of the last four scores, which prevails for weekly play.

The tournament will precede the annual banquet, which will begin at 7:30 for cocktails and 8:30 for dinner. Wives are encouraged to attend the banquet.

The aim here is to let them pick up the prizes, both tournament and league, for their hardier mates who may, or may not, be able to take their kudos.

Plaze Shell	155½
Monroe Auto Equipment	153
Roselle State Bank	149
Kiczula Insurance	148
Tony's Sinclair	143
Rainbow Inn	139½
Jupiter Cleaners	139

Snyder's Hoffman Drug	116½
Roselle Color Center	112½
Plaza Liquors	108½

Pederson Records 3rd Hole-in-One

Have you had your hole-in-one lately?

Probably not. Very few golfers ever are able to brag about an ace.

Then there is Chuck Pederson, pro at Rolling Green Country Club. Hole-in-ones are becoming a habit with this former Arlington High School golfer.

Chuck recently bagged the second in his career and had it recorded on film at Rolling Green. A few weeks later he did it again.

Playing with Errie Ball at the Oak Park Country Club, Chuck dropped in a seven iron shot on the 169 yard 15th hole. He finished with a 74 on the par 72 course.

Horcher Captures Title; Lohr's 2nd

Horcher Decorators picked up eight points Friday night to finish with 107½ and first place in the Arlington Twilight Golf League.

Team standings:

Horcher Decorators	107½
Lohr's Pharmacy	100
New Emerald Cleaners	97½

City Welding Sales	89
Crest Heating	88½
Harris Pharmacy	86½
National Conveyor	86
Lautrburg & Oehler	82
Parkway Liquors	79
Koops Mustard	75½

Lohr's Pharmacy emerged with nine and one-half markers and claimed second place ahead of New Emerald Cleaners.

Charles Staadt fired his best league round of the season with a 37 and tied Len Haines Jr. for low gross. Dale Wilson had a fine round of 44 for low net of 37. Olson and Staadt also finished with 34 nets.

Individual winners this season were C. Kleinofen (No. 1 players), D. McGowan (No. 2), W. Dobbelaere (No. 3), W. Ley (No. 4), and D. Wilson (No. 5). J. Wundsam topped the alternates.

Home Water 'Refining' Essential

Suburban Living

Especially for Women

Home Week Inspires Handyman Projects

National Home Week (Sept. 8-15) is a good time to give thought to home improvement plans. You probably had many fix-up projects planned for the summer, but with all the heat and summer activities, just never seemed to get around to completing them.

With the advent of cooler weather and the children packed off to school, you now can accomplish those improvement tasks.

Making good use of all available space is one of the primary objectives of all home owners. Not all are blessed with abundant closet space, but if a seldom-used closet is available, it may serve a dual purpose.

A PRACTICAL HANDYMAN PROJECT during National Home Week Sept. 8-15 is to convert an upstairs hall closet into a year-round storage space for fur coats, jackets, or stoles. A cedar-lined fur closet offers maximum protection. The rose and white wood blends well with any decor, too. Local lumber dealers carry aromatic red cedar closet lining in prepackaged bundles. It can be installed over old closet walls and needs no finishing.

THE EXTRA closet in the hall or the guest-room, for instance, can efficiently be turned into a year-round fur storage closet for your fur coats, jackets, hats or stoles by lining it with red cedar.

The natural fragrance of red cedar wood drives away pesky moths, thus providing effective, low-cost moth protection. In addition, red cedar closets are as attractive as they are functional. The rose and white wood complements any decor with its distinctive appearance.

The addition of a small shelf will be handy for storing small articles, or, if space permits, install five or six shelves for keeping woolen articles, such as sweater, gloves and mufflers.

WHEN SPRING cleaning time rolls around, place your winter clothing in the red cedar closet for protection during the hot summer months. The fragrant aroma of the red cedar kills newly - hatched moths before they can mature and attack surrounding items.

Aromatic red cedar closet lining is easy to install, as well as being moderately-priced. It is available at local lumber yards in pre-packaged bundles.

The first step in lining a closet with aromatic red cedar is to remove old fixtures and equipment from the walls. Then locate the studs by punching holes in the plaster with a thin nail.

NEXT, BUILD up the cedar lining, starting at the bottom and fastening the strips to the studs with four-penny nails. When no corner molding is used, the joints should be measured carefully to insure a close fit.

Lining closets with red cedar is an inexpensive, practical project for the family handyman during National Home Week.

Experts Outline Advances

EDITOR'S NOTE: Part I of this article, published last week, called attention to a growing national problem—our country's water supply and the need to conserve it. Part II outlines additional aspects of this problem and what citizens in every community can do to help.)

By NANCY ANDERSON
(Second of Two Articles)

For thousands of years we have known that the only really pure water is in rain clouds. Thus cisterns were used through the ages to catch the pure water as it fell.

In our 20th century industrial world, however, rain collects many impurities even as it falls through the air. Then it carries along some of the material over which it flows—fertilizers from farmlands, decayed particles from deep forest floors, natural and man-made wastes.

WHERE water flows underground it collects minerals. It is the mineral content, specifically calcium and magnesium, which gives the hardness factor to water and causes so many problems.

Just what are the unwelcome effects of calcium and magnesium in water?

Some of the effects are immediately apparent. Many soaps and detergents can't win the fight against hardness; they unite with the calcium and magnesium to form curds. It is these curds which leave the bathtub rings, which cling to fabrics and eat into linens, weakening them so they tear easily, often in a matter of months.

AS THE homemaker scours a bathtub or replaces torn linens she has a graphic example of what excessive amounts of these minerals in bath and laundry water can do.

What she can't see is that these same minerals are building up deposits in her home's water pipes, deposits which may clog those pipes so badly that replacements must be made long before normal wear would make them necessary.

Once the homemaker knows what is causing these unwanted effects her first though often is, "Why can't our water department refine our water . . .after all, it's a public utility. It's the community's job to furnish us with soft water."

THAT, HOWEVER, is not practical either physically or economically.

PLUMBER SHOWS SUBURBAN housewife a section of clogged pipe which he has removed from above her laundry tubs. The extreme hardness of some suburban water supplies will clog the interior of pipe with calcium and magnesium deposits which eventually will nearly prevent water from passing through the pipe. You may have experienced this weak pressure in your bathroom shower.

It is estimated that only 35 per cent of a community's water supply is used for household purposes. The remaining 65 per cent is used by industry and for lawn watering, fire fighting, etc. A whopping big 25 per cent is simply wasted. To use tax money to refine all of the community's water supply, at its source, even if it were physically possible to do so, would obviously be wasteful.

What then can be done Science has been at work on the problem for more than 100 years.

THE FIRST home water softening machine was developed in the mid-nineteenth century, but it was a cumbersome, impractical affair.

By 1920 development of a gel-type zeolite made possibl e smaller and more effective machines. It is only since the close of World War I, however, that research and engineering, spurred on by increasing water problems, have produced home water refining systems which do a complete job of providing water which is tasteless and odorless, as water should be; which leaves no lime spot residue on dishes or glasses; no harmful soap curds in linens, no mineral deposits in plumbing.

Hardness factor varies from area to area; Chicago's ranges from 7 to 8 grains; on Manhattan Island it is only 2. In one Chicago suburb the hardness factor is 7 yet in a housing development seven miles away homemakers struggle with the problems created by water testing out at 27 grains.

The range of the hardness factor can be great, but until it gets down to almost nothing sheets get grayer and the ring around the bathtub will continue to form. Labor and money will have to be expended to counteract these effects.

BUT ISN'T a home water refining system expensive? Even if it saves money in the long run, can the average suburban family afford the investment? Many seem to have an inflated impression of the cost involved.

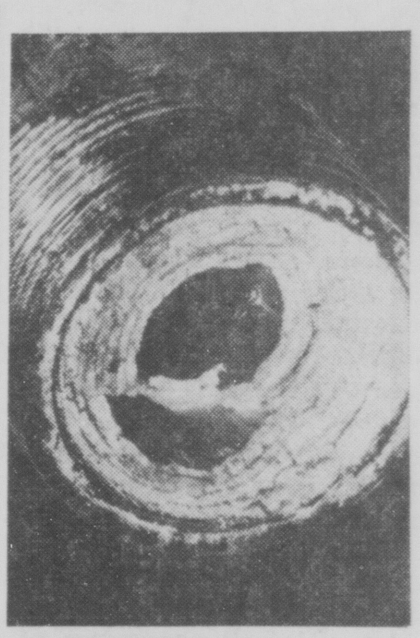
Actually, a water refining systeem to meet the average family's needs costs about $400. Rentals are available at about $8 monthly. An added cost is salt which must be supplemented periodically.

What are the actual dollars and cents savings possible through the use of a home water refining system? Nobody can answer that question. The average homeowner cannot know how much plumbing damage results each year year from hard water mineral deposits, for example. If household linens are replaced frequently the cost may be charged off to the hard wear which the family gives them. Often no record is kept of the cost of laundry supplies.

In all of these areas, however, it has been established that soft water users do save an appreciable amount of money. There are intangible benefits, too, in more sparkling glassware, in improved grooming, in a cleaner-looking, whiter laundry.

AS YET we do not know what health factors may be involved. A study made at Northwestern University indicates that calcium soap residue, left on the skin through bathing in hard water, forms a film which protects bacteria, allowing it to multiply, enter the pores and cause infection. Does this mean that the hard water curd in dishpans is leaving a bacteria-protective film on family utensils, too?

These and other questions are yet to be answered by science, but science has already demonstrated enough reasons why home water refining systems are rapidly becoming essential, not only to the individual family but to the nation as a whole and to the conservation of its life-giving water supply.



DO THE PIPES in your house look like this one? Calcium and magnesium of hard water leave deposits in pipes over the years which clog them, sometimes to a capacity point of less than one-third. The cost of replacing your plumbing comes high. Refined water leaves no such residue.

Despite Baby Shortage

Adoptions Are Easier

While there still are not enough babies for everyone, it's considerably easier to adopt a baby now than it was a few years ago.

This statement was made recently by Miss Rita Dukette, director of the adoption services division of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid Society.

Why is it easier to adopt? Are there more babies available? Have adoption agencies lowered standards?

"We continue to have more applicants than babies. Yet it is true that due to changing population trends the number of babies available for adoption has increased while the number of couples seeking to adopt babies has declined," Miss Dukette explained.

"It means that there now are fewer couples asking for each baby."

MISS DUKETTE told the society, the largest non-sectarian child care agency in the state, has made efforts to simplify the adoption process and eliminate red tape without sacrificing good service to the children and couples applying.

Long ago the Illinois Children's Home and Aid Society did away with waiting lists and rigid requirements. the society encourages all young couples interested in adopting a child to call. While all couples cannot be helped, the Society is able to inform applicants within a reasonable length of time about the likelihood of the Society placing a baby with them. If it does not look like there will be a baby for them, they are encouraged to try another adoption agency.

Because permanent homes are needed for children of every race and nationality, we hope interested couples of all racial and nationality backgrounds will come to us," Miss Dukette said.

WHAT DOES the society look for in couples seeking to adopt a child?

It looks for couples who are happy, contented people who could accept and love an adopted child as their own. They should have been married long enough to be adjusted to living together, and should have made medical investigation of their inability to have a child of their own. Also, they should be able to add a member to the family without undue financial strain.

The society will place more than one child with a family and a couple is not ruled out as prospective adoptive parents if they have a child of their own and, because of inability to have more children, would like to increase the size of their family by adoption.

For more information, interested couples may telephone the society's adoption intake caseworker at Whitehall 4-3313, or write the Adoption Division, 1122 N. Dearborn St., Chicago, 10, Illinois. It is privately supported by contributions. It is certified by the State of Illinois Department of Mental Health and is endorsed by the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry.

Scientists Develop Tiny Refrigerators

LAFAYETTE, IND., (UPI) — Research by a Purdue University professor may lead to the development of noiseless refrigerators and air conditioners as small as a package of cigarettes.

Prof. Jack B. Chaddock of Purdue and William F. Stoecker, a former Purdue graduate student now on the faculty of the University of Illinois, described their research Thursday at the International Congress on Refrigeration at Munich, Germany.

They said it could aid the design of tiny cooling units by helping develop efficient thermo - electric cooling systems with vastly increased durability because they have no moving parts.

THE PRESENT reciprocating type compressor systems could be replaced by a pair of semiconductors, one positive and one negative.

Chaddock and Stoecker presented a mathematical method for analyzing the performace of an economical temperature control system to operate the refrigerator and lower its cost, which is now about 10 times that of conventional cooling systems.

Thermo - electric refrigerators and air conditioners already are in use on a limited scale where price is a secondary consideration but the two scientists said they are luxury items in homes.

Facing the Inevitable

Some things in life can be changed. Others are absolutely inevitable. After many years of trying to change the inevitable, I have finally come to the conclusion it is best to ride with the punches.

By the inevitable, I mean that certain events are bound to take place no matter what. For instance, for years when the young were very young and not the medium young of today, it was certain sure that someone would spill his or her milk at every meal. It wasn't always the same child but it sure as all get out would be one of them.

MARY

As we would sit down, I would plead sweetly for them to please be careful because, dearie me, we wouldn't want to make a mess and make Mama cross would we. In retrospect, I don't think the spills were intentional. They just seemed that way. We all were probably so tensed up over the thing that spilling was the only way to relieve the strain. I'm sure we all relaxed somewhat after the mess was cleared, the soggy tablecloth removed and the empty glass refilled. We then proceeded with the business at hand. Eating.

Another for instance concerns a certain dress of mine. I am very fond of this dress and wear it quite a bit. However, I may be forced to give it up as every time I wear it, I spill something on it. When I eat spaghetti, I can more or less see where an accident might occur. But, goodness gracious, whatever am I doing to be flipping steak and green beans into my lap? Mother taught me better than that and clad in anything else I am as neat an eater as the next one.

Little doll, youngest daughter, has a blue dress in which she looks divine. This dress attracts chocolate like a flame attracts moths. When she wears it, I caution her carefully on the affinity between the dress and chocolate. I've come to the conclusion that even if she didn't have chocolate, the dress would. It sneaks in on the side when she isn't looking. It's called Kismet. I think.

Home Week Inspires Handyman Projects

National Home Week (Sept. 8-15) is a good time to give thought to home improvement plans. You probably had many fix-up projects planned for the summer, but with all the heat and summer activities, just never seemed to get around to completing them.

With the advent of cooler weather and the children packed off to school, you now can accomplish those improvement tasks.

Making good use of all available space is one of the primary objectives of all home owners. Not all are blessed with abundant closet space, but if a seldom-used closet is available, it may serve a dual purpose.

THE EXTRA closet in the hall or the guest-room, for instance, can efficiently be turned into a year-round fur storage closet for your fur coats, jackets, hats or stoles by lining it with red cedar.

The natural fragrance of red cedar wood drives away pesky moths, thus providing effective, low-cost moth protection. In addition, red cedar closets are as attractive as they are functional. The rose and white wood complements any decor with its distinctive appearance.

The addition of a small shelf will be handy for storing small articles, or, if space permits, install five or six shelves for keeping woolen articles, such as sweater, gloves and mufflers.

WHEN SPRING cleaning time rolls around, place your winter clothing in the red cedar closet for protection during the hot summer months. The fragrant aroma of the red cedar kills newly - hatched moths before they can mature and attack surrounding items.

Aromatic red cedar closet lining is easy to install, as well as being moderately-priced. It is available at local lumber yards in pre-packaged bundles.

The first step in lining a closet with aromatic red cedar is to remove old fixtures and equipment from the walls. Then locate the studs by punching holes in the plaster with a thin nail.

NEXT, BUILD up the cedar lining, starting at the bottom and fastening the strips to the studs with four-penny nails. When no corner molding is used, the joints should be measured carefully to insure a close fit.

Lining closets with red cedar is an inexpensive, practical project for the family handyman during National Home Week.

A PRACTICAL HANDYMAN PROJECT during National Home Week Sept. 8-15 is to convert an upstairs hall closet into a year-round storage space for fur coats, jackets, or stoles. A cedar-lined fur closet offers maximum protection. The rose and white wood blends well with any decor, too. Local lumber dealers carry aromatic red cedar closet lining in prepackaged bundles. It can be installed over old closet walls and needs no finishing.

Experts Outline Advances

EDITOR'S NOTE: Part I of this article, published last week, called attention to a growing national problem—our country's water supply and the need to conserve it. Part II outlines additional aspects of this problem and what citizens in every community can do to help.)

By NANCY ANDERSON

(Second of Two Articles)

For thousands of years we have known that the only really pure water is in rain clouds. Thus cisterns were used through the ages to catch the pure water as it fell.

In our 20th century industrial world, however, rain collects many impurities even as it falls through the air. Then it carries along some of the material over which it flows—fertilizers from farmlands, decayed particles from deep forest floors, natural and man-made wastes.

WHERE water flows underground it collects minerals. It is the mineral content, specifically calcium and magnesium, which gives the hardness factor to water and causes so many problems.

Just what are the unwelcome effects of calcium and magnesium in water?

Some of the effects are immediately apparent. Many soaps and detergents can't win the fight against hardness; they unite with the calcium and magnesium to form curds. It is these curds which leave the bathtub rings, which cling to fabrics and eat into linens, weakening them so they tear easily, often in a matter of months.

AS THE homemaker scours a bathtub or replaces torn linens she has a graphic example of what excessive amounts of these minerals in bath and laundry water can do.

What she can't see is that these same minerals are building up deposits in her home's water pipes, deposits which may clog those pipes so badly that replacements must be made long before normal wear would make them necessary.

Once the homemaker knows what is causing these unwanted effects her first though often is, "Why can't our water department refine our water . . .after all, it's a public utility. It's the community's job to furnish us with soft water."

THAT, HOWEVER, is not practical either physically or economically.

It is estimated that only 35 per cent of a community's water supply is used for household purposes. The remaining 65 per cent is used by industry and for lawn watering, fire fighting, etc. A whopping big 25 per cent is simply wasted. To use tax money to refine all of the community's water supply, at its source, even if it were physically possible to do so, would obviously be wasteful.

What then can be done Science has been at work on the problem for more than 100 years.

THE FIRST home water softening machine was developed in the mid-nineteenth century, but it was a cumbersome, impractical affair.

By 1920 development of a gel-type zeolite made possible smaller and more effective machines. It is only since the close of World War I, however, that research and engineering, spurred on by increasing water problems, have produced home water refining systems which do a complete job of providing water which is tasteless and odorless, as water should be; which leaves no lime spot residue on dishes or glasses; no harmful soap curds in linens, no mineral deposits in plumbing.

Hardness factor varies from area to area; Chicago's ranges from 7 to 8 grains; on Manhattan Island it is only 2. In one Chicago suburb the hardness factor is 7 yet in a housing development seven miles away homemakers struggle with the problems created by water testing out at 27 grains.

The range of the hardness factor can be great, but until it gets down to almost nothing sheets get grayer and the ring around the bathtub will continue to form. Labor and money will have to be expended to counteract these effects.

BUT ISN'T a home water refining system expensive? Even if it saves money in the long run, can the average suburban family afford the investment? Many seem to have an inflated impression of the cost involved. Actually, a water refining systeem to meet the average family's needs costs about $400. Rentals are available at about $8 monthly. An added cost is salt which must be supplemented periodically.

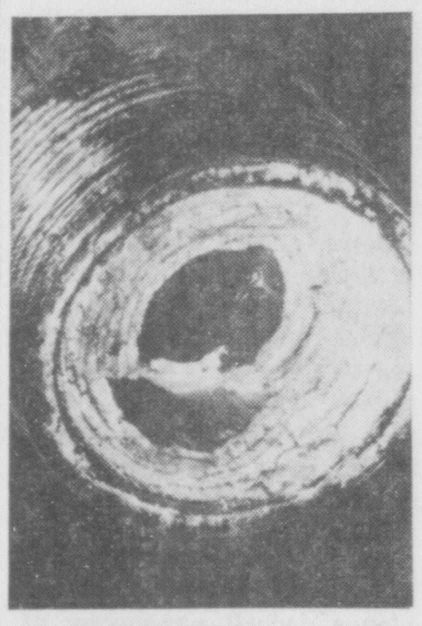
What are the actual dollars and cents savings possible through the use of a home water refining system? Nobody can answer that question. The average homeowner cannot know how much plumbing damage results each year year from hard water mineral deposits, for example. If household linens are replaced frequently the cost may be charged off to the hard wear which the family gives them. Often no record is kept of the cost of laundry supplies.

In all of these areas, however, it has been established that soft water users do save an appreciable amount of money. There are intangible benefits, too, in more sparkling glassware, in improved grooming, in a cleaner-looking, whiter laundry.

AS YET we do not know what health factors may be involved. A study made at Northwestern University indicates that calcium soap residue, left on the skin through bathing in hard water, forms a film which protects bacteria, allowing it to multiply, enter the pores and cause infection. Does this mean that the hard water curd in dishpans is leaving a bacteria-protective film on family utensils, too?

These and other questions are yet to be answered by science, but science has already demonstrated enough reasons why home water refining systems are rapidly becoming essential, not only to the individual family but to the nation as a whole and to the conservation of its life-giving water supply.

PLUMBER SHOWS SUBURBAN housewife a section of clogged pipe which he has removed from above her laundry tubs. The extreme hardness of some suburban water supplies will clog the interior of pipe with calcium and magnesium deposits which eventually will nearly prevent water from passing through the pipe. You may have experienced this weak pressure in your bathroom shower.



DO THE PIPES in your house look like this one? Calcium and magnesium of hard water leave deposits in pipes over the years which clog them, sometimes to a capacity point of less than one-third. The cost of replacing your plumbing comes high. Refined water leaves no such residue.

New Zealand Keeps Spectacular Promise

Beautiful Scenery Is Travel Thrill

by JACK P. GABRIEL

CHRISTCHURCH, NEW ZEALAND — Travelers who enjoy the world's most beautiful scenery will think of this country as the Promised Land for it gives promise of spectacular vistas — and it keeps its promise.

Lying some 1,100 miles south of Fiji, and 1,400 miles east of Australia in the South Pacific, there are waterfalls and geysers, mountains and glaciers, fiords, rivers of hot water, as well as grottoes with an unearthly light from millions of unique glowworms. These and many other attractions are all in this astonishing country that's about the size of the state of Colorado in the U.S.A., and divided into two islands, North and South. The distance between them narrows to 22 miles at one point, according to the Pacific Area travel Association.

Too many tourists stop only at Auckland on North Island, and make short trips into the surrounding countryside, particularly to Rotorua and the surrounding thermal areas, the world's greatest. Also, in that section of North Island, one can visit the Maoris, who are descended from the original Polynesian settlers.

SOUTH ISLAND, 400 miles long and 200 across at its widest, is the larger of the two islands. It contains the Southern Alps, craggy, massive, snow-covered peaks that serve as a base for enormous glaciers that are larger than any but those in the polar regions or the Himalayas. The Tasman is the largest of these, eighteen miles long and a mile wide. Mount Cook at 12,349 feet is the highest peak, with the charming Hermitage, a hotel built for comfort and the spectacular view.

Even farther south is the grandeur of Milford Sound and its fiordlands. In all, there are seventeen huge mountaintops piercing the sky, each reaching more than 10,000 feet high, and many waterfalls plunge down the face of granite cliffs, some tumbling into fiords which are deeper than the famed ones of Norway.

There are some parts of this area which remain unexplored. Only Milford Sound is easily accessible, but there are some fine trails for anyone interested in hiking, as many visitors are. Milford Track is the best known of these, and it starts at Lake Te Anau, crosses 3,400 foot Mackinnon Pass and ends at Milford Sound.

GOVERNMENT huts accommodate hikers, feeding them and providing beds, so no one has to carry a pack unless by choice.

Skiing, or all snow activities, add an endless variety of sports, and special ski planes deposit passengers at some of the choice locations for skiing, delivering them back to an area near their hotels after a day of it. The deep sea fishing, and that for trout, is superb in New Zealand.

Once a British Crown Colony, New Zealand is now an autonomous nation with a population of about two and one half million. About 100 years ago it was little more than a wilderness; today it is one of the world's leading suppliers of food. Almost half its economy is agricultural, it is the world's third largest producer of wool, and exports huge quantities of frozen or chilled meat, cheese and butter, as well as skins and hides.

CHRISTCHURCH has a fine modern international airport and this capital city of South Island is easily reached nowadays. On the edge of the Canterbury Plains, the city is built around a Gothic cathedral with a spire that towers 210 feet. It has a population of almost 225,000 and is the country's largest city. The Avon River flows through the center of it, a narrow body of water lovingly landscaped on both sides, providing miniature parks for those with time to sit beside them.

Somewhat English in character, parts of Christchurch also resemble many mid-western cities in the U.S.A., and buildings look as if they were left over by a film company.

The Clarendon and Warners are two good hotels here, and just outside the city is Shirley Lodge, a splendid motel-hotel with dining room that features a good smorgasbord, and bar. This is a particularly good place for anyone seeing the country by car, which is certainly the best way.

ANOTHER splendid feature about New Zealand is that it is inexpensive, comparatively speaking. It is not yet so overrun by tourists that prices have spiralled up and out of line. Money is treated with respect here, and not too much of it is asked for services rendered. The people of the country are attractive and friendly, with an obvious liking for Americans.

Many sections of the world are referred to as "God's Country," and New Zealand seems to satisfy everyone else, as well.

For more information on New Zealand, write to the Pacific Area Travel Association, 442 Post St., San Francisco, California. (T

Players to Give Show On Lincoln

For the 18th consecutive season, the Abe Lincoln Players will present Robert E. Sherwood's immortal broadway play, "Abe Lincoln in Illinois" at New Salem State Park.

The show will be given Aug. 22, 23, 24, 25 and repeated the following weekend 29, 30, 31 and Sept. 1.

Only three of the original cast have never missed a single show during 109 consecutive performances. They are G. William Horsley who plays the part of Abe Lincoln, Norman Bullard who plays the part of Josh Speed and Carl Richardson who plays Ninian Edwards.

THIS PLAY has gained such worldwide repute that it is destined to become a permanent attraction at New Salem year after year and is now listed by all national magazines and travel agencies, who recommend it as one of the outstanding summer theatricals.

The play has taken on a new look with costumes, scenery and furnishings.

The admission prices are the same as last year—adults $1.50—children 50 cents, no tax. No extra charge is made for seats in the reserved area. Children under 12 will be admitted free each Thursday and Friday night.

For information write Abe Lincoln Players, Inc., 316 E. Adams St., Springfield, Ill.

Greyhound Expands Its $99 Tours

Greyhound has filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission a new version of its "American $99 travel plan" — a $99 for 99 days "See America Now" bus travel offer.

The plan will be available to the nation's travelers beginning Oct. 1, and will expire March 15, 1964. It will enable them to travel around or across the nation for up to 99 days for a total of $99.

THE GREYHOUND plan, according to James E. Hawthorne, marketing vice president of the Greyhound Corporation, is in response to President Kennedy's recent request that the U.S. travel industry "...encourage Americans to learn more about their own country and the glory of their heritage."

The President told Congress July 18, in a special balance-of-payments message, that "a See America Now program to be in full operation by the Spring of 1964, will make the most of our magnificent resources and make travel at home a more appealing alternative to travel abroad."

Under Greyhound's new plan, no roundtrip will cost more than $99. The fare also will apply to trips taken by travelers who want to circle the entire United States, or who wish to take other, less extensive "circle tours" within the country.

THE ORIGINAL $99 plan, introduced last fall, enabled more than 25,000 persons to travel across or around the entire United States for up to 99 days for only $99.

Hawthorne said Greyhound believes that "at least half of the travelers under the plan were persons stimulated to take a bus trip they hadn't previously planned." (T

Whaling Fans Discover Lure

By JEANNE WELCH
Travel Editor

With all of the talk today about how Johnny can't— or won't—read, I'm not sure how many younger Moby Dick Devotees there might be around. Perhaps Melville's classic seems dull to space-age youngsters. I am fairly certain, however ,that they would find the Moby Dick Trail at New Bedford, Mass., an interesting experience.

Once the locale of the book has been seen the whaling tale takes on reality. For those who already have enjoyed the book it is fun to identify the sites about which one has read.

New Bedford, some 50 miles south of Boston, is now a prosperous city of more than 100,000 but it was once the whaling center of the world. It was from New Bedford that the Acushnet, the ship on which Melville sailed, set out on the journey described in the novel. The Counting House, the Sail Loft, the Candleworks, Merrill's Wharf, all mentioned in the book, once existed and some are still to be seen.

WELCH

Reader or not, who could resist a name like Johnny Cake Hill, the site of the Seaman's Bethel, called Whaleman's chapel in Moby Dick. This church, built in 1832, contains a pulpit in the form of a ship's prow. In earlier days the minister ascended to it by use of a rope ladder. Today's more effete pastor uses wooden steps. The walls of the church are lined with tablets which tell the stories of ships tragically lost during the whaling period.

Just across the street from the Bethel is the Bourne Whaling Museum, the most complete in the world. Even a landlubber can get a pretty comprehensive understanding of the rigors and skill involved in whaling expeditions.

Probably the most interesting exhibit is the scale model of the whaling ship, Lagoda, owned by the Bourne family from which the museum takes its name. Visitors are allowed on board, to stand at the wheel (small boys love this; so do their dads) or go below decks. A small admission fee is charged at the museum and it is closed on Mondays.

New Bedford, burned by the British in the War of 1812, has fine facilities to offer the visitor in 1963. There are many fine motels ringing the city and countless good seafood restaurants many of which offer—what else—whale steak.

RECENT VISITOR TO INDIA was Gerald L. Carpenter, 419 Willow, Itasca. He is shown viewing the sculptures and inscriptions on the walls of the Laxminarayan Temple in Delhi. Dedicated to the Supreme God Narayan and Goddess Lakshmi, it houses images of other deities as well. Numerous paintings on the wall depict scenes from the Hindu mythology and history. This temple is popular with tourists, according to the Government of India Tourist Office. (T

Michigan Happy With Tourist Boom

LANSING, MICH., (UPI)—Michigan may be headed for the greatest year in tourist history, a mid-summer survey by the state tourist council showed today.

"There can be no doubt we are headed for our greatest summer season," William T. McGraw, tourist council director said.

"It is true that we have had favorable weather and a rising economy to assist us, but it is clear that Michigan is beginning to feel the effects of increased promotional activity at the state, regional and local levels.

McGRAW credited the state legislature and the legislative tourist committees for a major assist in the record. The legislature contributed a $124,000 increase in this year's promotional budget and McGraw claimed it was paying off.

Travel information and literature requests received by the council through July are up more than 15 per cent, he said.

"While variations exist in some areas, the general pattern indicates that with continued favorable weather this fall we will greatly surpass our expectation of a $700 million tourist year," he said. Tourist spending in the state reached an all-time high list year of $680 million, he said.

Committee To Boost Tourism

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., (UPI) — Gov. Otto Kerner today named five members to a special advisory committee to promote tourism in Illinois.

Appointed to two-year terms were William Horstman, Chicago, president of the Chicago Hotel Association; Fred Summers, Alton, president of the American Motel Association of Illinois; Jesse H. Higgins, Springfield, executive secretary of the Illinois Oil Council; Jim Goforth, Anna, president of the Southern Illinois Restaurant Council, and Larry Buckmaster, Chicago, executive secretary of the Chicago and Illinois Restaurant Association.

THE NINE-MEMBER committee also includes two state senators and two representatives. New Tourist Law Enacted For Japan

With the recent enactment of the Fundamental Tourist Industry Law in Japan, that country has taken a big step toward promoting tourism, according to the Pacific Area Travel Association. The law was passed by the Houses of Representatives and Councillors in Japan.

It aims at further inducement of foreign visitors to that country, encouragement of domestic travel, improvement of existing tourist facilities, development of more sightseeing routes and eliminating congestion in certain tourist areas.

THE LAW also calls for an increase in the number of tax-free goods for foreign visitors, simplification of frontier formalities, relaxation or total abolishment of the existing limits of reconverting unspent yen into foreign currencies. (T

Beautiful Scenery Is Travel Thrill

by JACK P. GABRIEL

CHRISTCHURCH, NEW ZEALAND — Travelers who enjoy the world's most beautiful scenery will think of this country as the Promised Land for it gives promise of spectacular vistas — and it keeps its promise.

Lying some 1,100 miles south of Fiji, and 1,400 miles east of Australia in the South Pacific, there are waterfalls and geysers, mountains and glaciers, fiords, rivers of hot water, as well as grottoes with an unearthly light from millions of unique glowworms. These and many other attractions are all in this astonishing country that's about the size of the state of Colorado in the U.S.A., and divided into two islands, North and South. The distance between them narrows to 22 miles at one point, according to the Pacific Area travel Association.

Too many tourists stop only at Auckland on North Island, and make short trips into the surrounding countryside, particularly to Rotorua and the surrounding thermal areas, the world's greatest. Also, in that section of North Island, one can visit the Maoris, who are descended from the original Polynesian settlers.

SOUTH ISLAND, 400 miles long and 200 across at its widest, is the larger of the two islands. It contains the Southern Alps, craggy, massive, snow-covered peaks that serve as a base for enormous glaciers that are larger than any but those in the polar regions or the Himalayas. The Tasman is the largest of these, eighteen miles long and a mile wide. Mount Cook at 12,349 feet is the highest peak, with the charming Hermitage, a hotel built for comfort and the spectacular view.

Even farther south is the grandeur of Milford Sound and its fiordlands. In all, there are seventeen huge mountaintops piercing the sky, each reaching more than 10,000 feet high, and many waterfalls plunge down the face of granite cliffs, some tumbling into fiords which are deeper than the famed ones of Norway.

There are some parts of this area which remain unexplored. Only Milford Sound is easily accessible, but there are some fine trails for anyone interested in hiking, as many visitors are. Milford Track is the best known of these, and it starts at Lake Te Anau, crosses 3,400 foot Mackinnon Pass and ends at Milford Sound.

GOVERNMENT huts accommodate hikers, feeding them and providing beds, so no one has to carry a pack unless by choice.

Skiing, or all snow activities, add an endless variety of sports, and special ski planes deposit passengers at some of the choice locations for skiing, delivering them back to an area near their hotels after a day of it. The deep sea fishing, and that for trout, is superb in New Zealand.

Once a British Crown Colony, New Zealand is now an autonomous nation with a population of about two and one half million. About 100 years ago it was little more than a wilderness; today it is one of the world's leading suppliers of food. Almost half its economy is agricultural, it is the world's third largest producer of wool, and exports huge quantities of frozen or chilled meat, cheese and butter, as well as skins and hides.

CHRISTCHURCH has a fine modern international airport and this capital city of South Island is easily reached nowadays. On the edge of the Canterbury Plains, the city is built around a Gothic cathedral with a spire that towers 210 feet. It has a population of almost 225,000 and is the country's largest city. The Avon River flows through the center of it, a narrow body of water lovingly landscaped on both sides, providing miniature parks for those with time to sit beside them.

Somewhat English in character, parts of Christchurch also resemble many mid-western cities in the U.S.A., and buildings look as if they were left over by a film company.

The Clarendon and Warners are two good hotels here, and just outside the city is Shirley Lodge, a splendid motel-hotel with dining room that features a good smorgasbord, and bar. This is a particularly good place for anyone seeing the country by car, which is certainly the best way.

ANOTHER splendid feature about New Zealand is that it is inexpensive, comparatively speaking. It is not yet so overrun by tourists that prices have spiralled up and out of line. Money is treated with respect here, and not too much of it is asked for services rendered. The people of the country are attractive and friendly, with an obvious liking for Americans.

Many sections of the world are referred to as "God's Country," and New Zealand seems to satisfy everyone else, as well.

For more information on New Zealand, write to the Pacific Area Travel Association, 442 Post St., San Francisco, California. (T

Players to Give Show On Lincoln

For the 18th consecutive season, the Abe Lincoln Players will present Robert E. Sherwood's immortal broadway play, "Abe Lincoln in Illinois" at New Salem State Park.

The show will be given Aug. 22, 23, 24, 25 and repeated the following weekend 29, 30, 31 and Sept. 1.

Only three of the original cast have never missed a single show during 109 consecutive performances. They are G. William Horsley who plays the part of Abe Lincoln, Norman Bullard who plays the part of Josh Speed and Carl Richardson who plays Ninian Edwards.

THIS PLAY has gained such worldwide repute that it is destined to become a permanent attraction at New Salem year after year and is now listed by all national magazines and travel agencies, who recommend it as one of the outstanding summer theatricals.

The play has taken on a new look with costumes, scenery and furnishings.

The admission prices are the same as last year—adults $1.50—children 50 cents, no tax. No extra charge is made for seats in the reserved area. Children under 12 will be admitted free each Thursday and Friday night.

For information write Abe Lincoln Players, Inc., 316 E. Adams St., Springfield, Ill.

Greyhound Expands Its $99 Tours

Greyhound has filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission a new version of its "American $99 travel plan" — a $99 for 99 days "See America Now" bus travel offer.

The plan will be available to the nation's travelers beginning Oct. 1, and will expire March 15, 1964. It will enable them to travel around or across the nation for up to 99 days for a total of $99.

THE GREYHOUND plan, according to James E. Hawthorne, marketing vice president of the Greyhound Corporation, is in response to President Kennedy's recent request that the U.S. travel industry "...encourage Americans to learn more about their own country and the glory of their heritage."

The President told Congress July 18, in a special balance-of-payments message, that "a See America Now program to be in full operation by the Spring of 1964, will make the most of our magnificent resources and make travel at home a more appealing alternative to travel abroad."

Under Greyhound's new plan, no roundtrip will cost more than $99. The fare also will apply to trips taken by travelers who want to circle the entire United States, or who wish to take other, less extensive "circle tours" within the country.

THE ORIGINAL $99 plan, introduced last fall, enabled more than 25,000 persons to travel across or around the entire United States for up to 99 days for only $99.

Hawthorne said Greyhound believes that "at least half of the travelers under the plan were persons stimulated to take a bus trip they hadn't previously planned." (T

New Bedford, Mass.

Whaling Fans Discover Lure

By JEANNE WELCH
Travel Editor

With all of the talk today about how Johnny can't— or won't —read, I'm not sure how many younger Moby Dick Devotees there might be around. Perhaps Melville's classic seems dull to space-age youngsters. I am fairly certain, however ,that they would find the Moby Dick Trail at New Bedford, Mass., an interesting experience.

Once the locale of the book has been seen the whaling tale takes on reality. For those who already have enjoyed the book it is fun to identify the sites about which one has read.

New Bedford, some 50 miles south of Boston, is now a prosperous city of more than 100,000 but it was once the whaling center of the world. It was from New Bedford that the Acushnet, the ship on which Melville sailed, set out on the journey described in the novel. The Counting House, the Sail Loft, the Candleworks, Merrill's Wharf, all mentioned in the book, once existed and some are still to be seen.

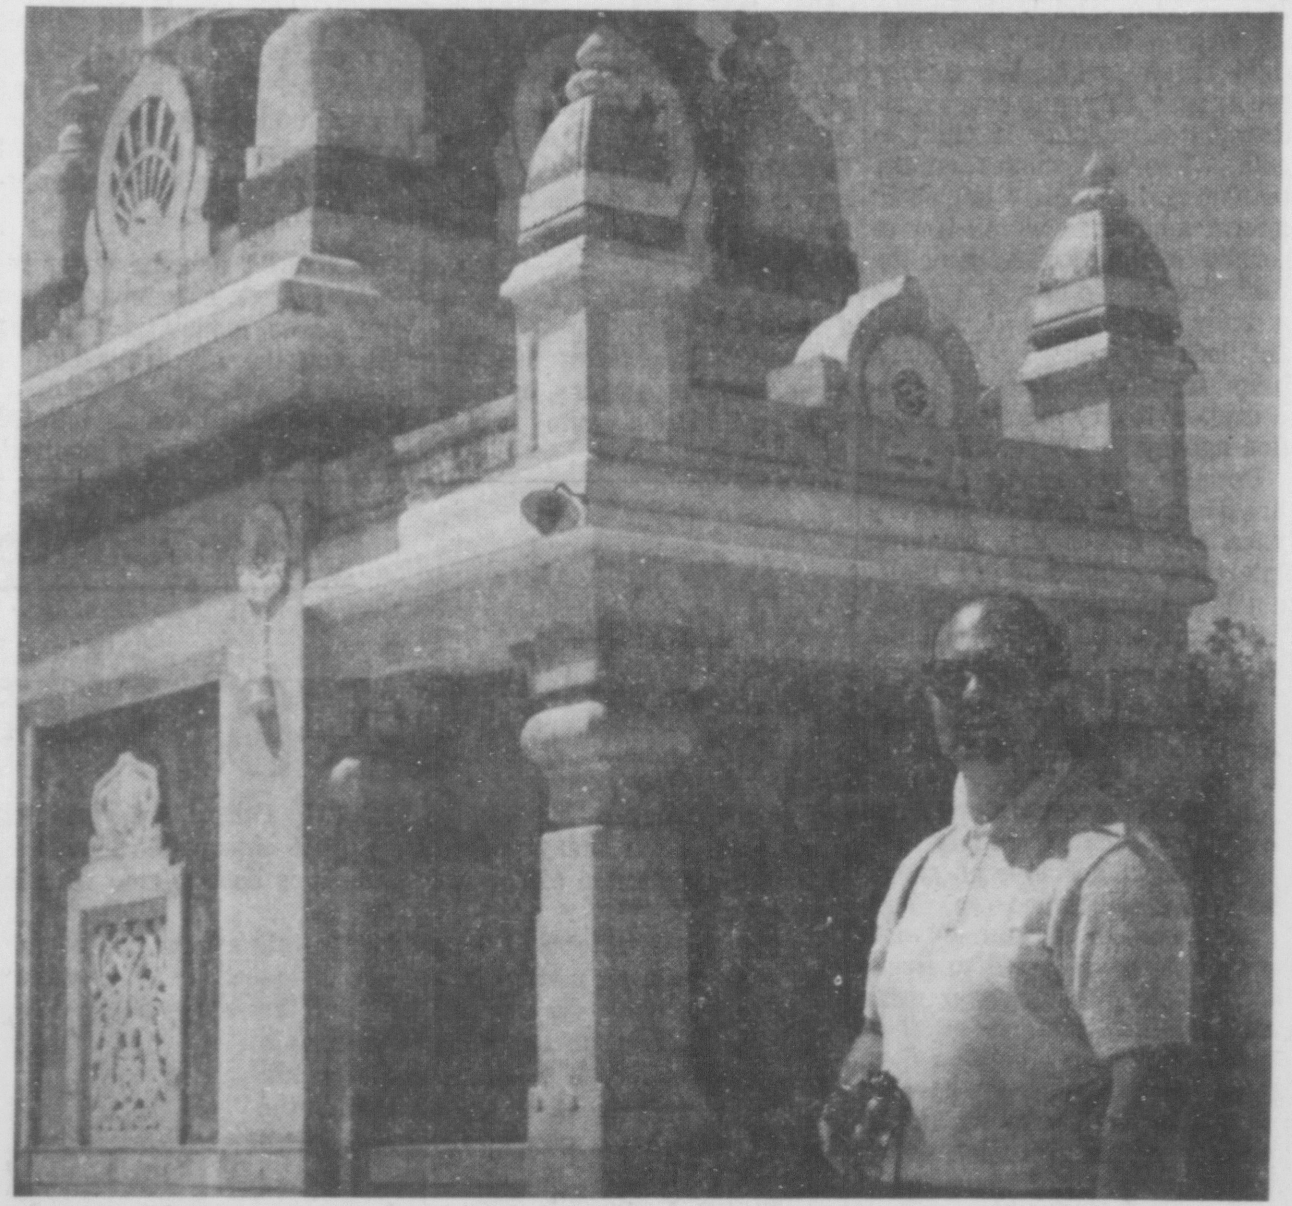
WELCH

Reader or not, who could resist a name like Johnny Cake Hill, the site of the Seaman's Bethel, called Whaleman's chapel in Moby Dick. This church, built in 1832, contains a pulpit in the form of a ship's prow. In earlier days the minister ascended to it by use of a rope ladder. Today's more effete pastor uses wooden steps. The walls of the church are lined with tablets which tell the stories of ships tragically lost during the whaling period.

Just across the street from the Bethel is the Bourne Whaling Museum, the most complete in the world. Even a landlubber can get a pretty comprehensive understanding of the rigors and skill involved in whaling expeditions.

Probably the most interesting exhibit is the scale model of the whaling ship, Lagoda, owned by the Bourne family from which the museum takes its name. Visitors are allowed on board, to stand at the wheel (small boys love this; so do their dads) or go below decks. A small admission fee is charged at the museum and it is closed on Mondays.

New Bedford, burned by the British in the War of 1812, has fine facilities to offer the visitor in 1963. There are many fine motels ringing the city and countless good seafood restaurants many of which offer—what else—whale steak.



RECENT VISITOR TO INDIA was Gerald L. Carpenter, 419 Willow, Itasca. He is shown viewing the sculptures and inscriptions on the walls of the Laxminarayan Temple in Delhi. Dedicated to the Supreme God Narayan and Goddess Lakshmi, it houses images of other deities as well. Numerous paintings on the wall depict scenes from the Hindu mythology and history. This temple is popular with tourists, according to the Government of India Tourist Office. (T

Michigan Happy With Tourist Boom

LANSING, MICH., (UPI)—Michigan may be headed for the greatest year in tourist history, a mid-summer survey by the state tourist council showed today.

"There can be no doubt we are headed for our greatest summer season," William T. McGraw, tourist council director said.

"It is true that we have had favorable weather and a rising economy to assist us, but it is clear that Michigan is beginning to feel the effects of increased promotional activity at the state, regional and local levels.

McGRAW credited the state legislature and the legislative tourist committees for a major assist in the record. The legislature contributed a $124,000 increase in this year's promotional budget and McGraw claimed it was paying off.

Travel information and literature requests received by the council through July are up more than 15 per cent, he said.

"While variations exist in some areas, the general pattern indicates that with continued favorable weather this fall we will greatly surpass our expectation of a $700 million tourist year," he said. Tourist spending in the state reached an all-time high list year of $680 million, he said.

Committee To Boost Tourism

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., (UPI) — Gov. Otto Kerner today named five members to a special advisory committee to promote tourism in Illinois.

Appointed to two-year terms were William Horstman, Chicago, president of the Chicago Hotel Association; Fred Summers, Alton, president of the American Motel Association of Illinois; Jesse H. Higgins, Springfield, executive secretary of the Illinois Oil Council; Jim Goforth, Anna, president of the Southern Illinois Restaurant Council, and Larry Buckmaster, Chicago, executive secretary of the Chicago and Illinois Restaurant Association.

THE NINE-MEMBER committee also includes two state senators and two representatives. Plum Grove Garden Members Merit Ribbons at Area Shows

Plum Grove Garden Club members were well represented among the ribbon winners at the recent Randhurst Gladioli Show and "Old Orchard in Bloom" at Old Orchard in Skokie. Heading the list of ribbon winners was Mrs. Leonard Lawrenz, 225 S. Smith St., Palatine, who won five blue ribbons, six red ribbons and three yellow ribbons in the horticulture class at Old Orchard as well as a yellow ribbon in the artistic class.

Other blue ribbons in the horticulture class at Old Orchard were awarded to Mrs. Donald Gardner, 1002 Pendleton, Mount Prospect and Mrs. Wiley Carr, 207 S. George, Mount Prospect. Blue ribbon winner of the artistic class was Mrs. Jack Perkins, 662 Stuart Lane, Palatine. Red ribbon winner in this class was Mrs. Gardner, while a yellow ribbon went to Mrs. Ronald Emmons, 662 Stuart Lane, Palatine. Mrs. R. H. Golterman, 143 S. Hale, Palatine, took both red and yellow ribbons in horticulture.

AT THE Randhurst show, Mrs. Walter Dreyfus, 613 Burno Drive, Palatine, was awarded a blue ribbon in horticulture and a yellow ribbon in the artistic class, and Mrs. Otto Petersen, 233 S. Bothwell, received a red ribbon in the artistic class.

Chairman of judges and clerks for the Old Orchard show was Mrs. Ralph Sandeen of Mount Prospect. Clerks were Mrs. Dreyfus, Mrs. Golterman and Mrs. Harry Eickenberg of Palatine.

Members of Plum Grove Garden Club met recently in the home of Mrs. Lawrenz to hear Miss Gail Reilley speak on her activities as a student of the Conservation School she attended this summer at Southern Illinois University. Miss Reilley was one of two students at the school sponsored by the Plum Grove Club. Business transacted at the meeting included the appointment of Mrs. Andrew Obara, 621 Burno, Palatine, as recording secretary to succeed Mrs. Milton Cramer, who is moving to Michigan.

The group is now making plans for its annual fund-raiser, "Christmas in Pleasant Hill," a Dec. 6 tour of homes. Mrs. Carr is chairman of the project, assisted by Mrs. Charles Pease.

Next board meeting of the group will be held at 1 p.m. Sept. 16, in the home of Mrs. Jack Evans, 572 Plum Grove Road, Palatine. (S

Former Arlington Hts. Girl Is Married in California

A nuptial arch of baby's breath and roses, flanked by bouquets of white glads and yellow chrysanthemums, formed the setting for the marriage of Miss Susan Jane Nichols and Clyde Donald Benoit, son of the Omer R. Benoits of Hudson, Mass. The bride, daughter of former Arlington Heights residents, Mrs. Elizabeth D. Nichols of Ojai, Calif. and Hugh E. Nichols of Glenview, was married Aug. 24 in the California home of her mother.

Rev. Lester Kinzie performed the 5 o'clock candlelight ceremony, which was attended by members of the families and a group of close friends. Coming from the midwest to attend the wedding of their sister were Mrs. Richard Kallinger of Wheaton, who served as matron of honor, and Mrs. Ward J. Siewert of St. Charles, Mo., a former Arlington Heights and Palatine resident. Mr. Siewert served as best man and the Siewerts' young daughters, Sally and Linda, lighted the white cathedral tapers at the flowered arch.

THE BRIDE entered on the arm of Neal Graham, a longtime family friend, for the double ring ceremony. She wore a street-length bridal gown fashioned of white Chantilly lace with bateau neckline and long sleeves, and a chapel veil of white illusion falling from a cap of lace embroidered with seed pearls. Her bouquet of stephanotis and yellow rosebuds was carried on a lace Bible with ribbon cascade.

Mrs. Kallinger was gowned in a gold shantung sheath with matching lace overdress and cap of gold mesh, and wore a green cypripedium corsage. Sally and Linda wore identical dresses of floral print organza with green carnation corsages.

The bride's mother was dressed in pale blue crepe with white accessories and a corsage of white orchids.

Following a short wedding trip, the couple will be at home in Oxnard, Calif. The new Mrs. Benoit attended Arlington Heights schools and was graduated from Stanford University in Palo Alto, Calif. For the past year she has been on the staff of the Ventura County Welfare Department. (S

Area Bethel Has Exchange Night

Aug. 28 was Exchange Night at Bethel 103, Jobs Daughters, Arlington Heights. Miss Dixie Alletto, honored queen, introduced as acting honored queen, Miss Judy Nixon, honored queen of Bethel 105, Des Plaines. Other stations were also filled by officers and members of the Des Plaines Bethel.

Lettered on the stage backdrop curtain were the words, "A Symbol of Everlasting Friendship" with clasped hands beneath them. Miss Linda Bruning and Miss Gini Hengl, both of Arlington Heights, and officers of Bethel 103, were the artists and also presented a reading entitled "If I knew you and you knew me", in honor of the guest officers.

Congratulations were extended to Des Plaines Bethel for their drill team having won first place at the Supreme Session in Lincoln, Nebraska, recently.

MISS BONNIE Birch and Miss Gini Hengl were officially installed as marshal and first messenger, respectively, for the balance of the term as they were unable to be present at the public installation held previously. Mrs. Carol Schaetzlein, guardian, served as installing officer, and Mrs. Bernice Wallace, guardian treasurer, was installing guide.

A hayride party is scheduled for 2 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 14, for Bethel 103 girls. Miss Donna Gephardt, at 259-3212, is taking reservations.

Following the meeting, cosmetic demonstration took place, with Miss Debbie Deehring as the model.

NEXT MEETING of Bethel 103 will be Wednesday, Sept. 11, Advance Royalty Night. Miss Sandra Larsen, senior princess, will advance to the office of honored queen for the evening.

A bus trip to visit a Milwaukee Bethel is planned for Saturday, Oct. 12. (S

Wheeling Juniors Set Annual Members Tea

Sunday Sept. 8 is the date set for the annual Wheeling Junior Woman's Club Membership Tea, to be held in the Library of the Jack London Junior High School, from 3 to 5 p.m.

Board members will provide finger sandwiches, cookies and punch, as prospective members become acquainted with members and purposes of the club. Mrs. Raymond Spletzer, president, and two women speakers from the Illinois Federation of Womans Clubs, will address the women on interesting aspects of the club.

Anyone wishing to attend is welcome and should contact Mrs. Helen Rank, membership chairman, at 537-0873. (S

Hair Style Show For Dorcas Aid

A hair style show presented by Ray Raines of the Beauty Bar in Arlington Heights, will highlight the social program Tuesday, Sept. 10, when Dorcas Aid Society of St. Peter Lutheran Church gets its fall program under way. The ladies will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Noack Hall of the church at 111 W. Olive St., Arlington Heights.

Part of the business meeting will be devoted to planning the Oct. 17 bazaar and luncheon and members are reminded to bring their donations for the "bakeless bake sale" to the meeting.

Hostesses for the meeting will be the September group, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Edwin Jannusch. All interested ladies of the congregation are invited to the Aid meetings, which are held the second Tuesday of each month. (S

Guests to Get Royal Carpet Treatment at Alexian Ball

Guests attending the first annual ball presented by Alexian Brothers Hospital Auxiliary will get the same royal treatment afforded celebrities and dignitaries, for the same plush, red carpet trod upon by their famous feet at the airport and other spots in Chicago, will be rolled down at the entrance to the New Orleans Ballroom of the Pheasant Run Lodge where the ball will take place Saturday, Sept. 21.

HIGHLIGHT of the evening will be the Presidential Waltz to introduce the auxiliary's president, Mrs. Richard McGrenera of Elk Grove Village, who with Mr. McGrenera, will officially open the Ball when they waltz to the music of The Mike Dell Quintet.

Silver candelabra will enhance the tables of the ballroom, which overlooks an exact replica of Bourbon Street in New Orleans and a gourmet treat will spark the evening when the guests are served a lavish midnight buffet.

Bids for the ball are available by contacting Mrs. Richard Kinney at HE 7-0132. Table reservations will be accepted upon receipt of donation. (S

Plum Grove Garden Members Merit Ribbons at Area Shows

Plum Grove Garden Club members were well represented among the ribbon winners at the recent Randhurst Gladioli Show and "Old Orchard in Bloom" at Old Orchard in Skokie. Heading the list of ribbon winners was Mrs. Leonard Lawrenz, 225 S. Smith St., Palatine, who won five blue ribbons, six red ribbons and three yellow ribbons in the horticulture class at Old Orchard as well as a yellow ribbon in the artistic class.

Other blue ribbons in the horticulture class at Old Orchard were awarded to Mrs. Donald Gardner, 1002 Pendleton, Mount Prospect and Mrs. Wiley Carr, 207 S. George, Mount Prospect. Blue ribbon winner of the artistic class was Mrs. Jack Perkins, 662 Stuart Lane, Palatine. Red ribbon winner in this class was Mrs. Gardner, while a yellow ribbon went to Mrs. Ronald Emmons, 662 Stuart Lane, Palatine. Mrs. R. H. Golterman, 143 S. Hale, Palatine, took both red and yellow ribbons in horticulture.

AT THE Randhurst show, Mrs. Walter Dreyfus, 613 Burno Drive, Palatine, was awarded a blue ribbon in horticulture and a yellow ribbon in the artistic class, and Mrs. Otto Petersen, 233 S. Bothwell, received a red ribbon in the artistic class.

Chairman of judges and clerks for the Old Orchard show was Mrs. Ralph Sandeen of Mount Prospect. Clerks were Mrs. Dreyfus, Mrs. Golterman and Mrs. Harry Eickenberg of Palatine.

Members of Plum Grove Garden Club met recently in the home of Mrs. Lawrenz to hear Miss Gail Reilley speak on her activities as a student of the Conservation School she attended this summer at Southern Illinois University. Miss Reilley was one of two students at the school sponsored by the Plum Grove Club. Business transacted at the meeting included the appointment of Mrs. Andrew Obara, 621 Burno, Palatine, as recording secretary to succeed Mrs. Milton Cramer, who is moving to Michigan.

The group is now making plans for its annual fund-raiser, "Christmas in Pleasant Hill," a Dec. 6 tour of homes. Mrs. Carr is chairman of the project, assisted by Mrs. Charles Pease.

Next board meeting of the group will be held at 1 p.m. Sept. 16, in the home of Mrs. Jack Evans, 572 Plum Grove Road, Palatine. (S

Wheeling Juniors Set Annual Members Tea

Sunday Sept. 8 is the date set for the annual Wheeling Junior Woman's Club Membership Tea, to be held in the Library of the Jack London Junior High School, from 3 to 5 p.m.

Board members will provide finger sandwiches, cookies and punch, as prospective members become acquainted with members and purposes of the club. Mrs. Raymond Spletzer, president, and two women speakers from the Illinois Federation of Womans Clubs, will address the women on interesting aspects of the club.

Anyone wishing to attend is welcome and should contact Mrs. Helen Rank, membership chairman, at 537-0873. (S

Hair Style Show For Dorcas Aid

A hair style show presented by Ray Raines of the Beauty Bar in Arlington Heights, will highlight the social program Tuesday, Sept. 10, when Dorcas Aid Society of St. Peter Lutheran Church gets its fall program under way. The ladies will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Noack Hall of the church at 111 W. Olive St., Arlington Heights.

Part of the business meeting will be devoted to planning the Oct. 17 bazaar and luncheon and members are reminded to bring their donations for the "bakeless bake sale" to the meeting.

Hostesses for the meeting will be the September group, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Edwin Jannusch. All interested ladies of the congregation are invited to the Aid meetings, which are held the second Tuesday of each month. (S

Guests attending the first annual ball presented by Alexian Brothers Hospital Auxiliary will get the same royal treatment afforded celebrities and dignitaries, for the same plush, red carpet trod upon by their famous feet at the airport and other spots in Chicago, will be rolled down at the entrance to the New Orleans Ballroom of the Pheasant Run Lodge where the ball will take place Saturday, Sept. 21.

HIGHLIGHT of the evening will be the Presidential Waltz to introduce the auxiliary's president, Mrs. Richard McGrenera of Elk Grove Village, who with Mr. McGrenera, will officially open the Ball when they waltz to the music of The Mike Dell Quintet.

Silver candelabra will enhance the tables of the ballroom, which overlooks an exact replica of Bourbon Street in New Orleans and a gourmet treat will spark the evening when the guests are served a lavish midnight buffet.

Bids for the ball are available by contacting Mrs. Richard Kinney at HE 7-0132. Table reservations will be accepted upon receipt of donation. (S

Lunch-Fashion Show Slates Gourmet Menu

Reservations are still available for the luncheon and fashion show benefit being presented Tuesday, Sept. 10, in Arlington Park's newly-decorated Post and Paddock and Classic Clubs by the Auxiliary of Northwest Community Hospital.

Menu for this fifth annual luncheon will include tomato stuffed with crab salad, boneless leg of capon stuffed with wild rice, sauce poulette, imported baby belgian carrots, chive garni, petite French rolls and butter, fruit compote with cointreau and dainties, as well as beverages.

FASHIONS for the show will be from Carson, Pirie Scott, with professional models showing the garments.

Proceeds of the benefit will be applied to the Auxiliary's pledge to the Hospital Building Fund to provide additional space and improve present facilities. Tickets and reservations may be obtained by calling the Pink Lady Snack Bar at the hospital. (S

Former Arlington Hts. Girl Is Married in California

A nuptial arch of baby's breath and roses, flanked by bouquets of white glads and yellow chrysanthemums, formed the setting for the marriage of Miss Susan Jane Nichols and Clyde Donald Benoit, son of the Omer R. Benoits of Hudson, Mass. The bride, daughter of former Arlington Heights residents, Mrs. Elizabeth D. Nichols of Ojai, Calif. and Hugh E. Nichols of Glenview, was married Aug. 24 in the California home of her mother.

Rev. Lester Kinzie performed the 5 o'clock candlelight ceremony, which was attended by members of the families and a group of close friends. Coming from the midwest to attend the wedding of their sister were Mrs. Richard Kallinger of Wheaton, who served as matron of honor, and Mrs. Ward J. Siewert of St. Charles, Mo., a former Arlington Heights and Palatine resident. Mr. Siewert served as best man and the Siewerts' young daughters, Sally and Linda, lighted the white cathedral tapers at the flowered arch.

THE BRIDE entered on the arm of Neal Graham, a longtime family friend, for the double ring ceremony. She wore a street-length bridal gown fashioned of white Chantilly lace with bateau neckline and long sleeves, and a chapel veil of white illusion falling from a cap of lace embroidered with seed pearls. Her bouquet of stephanotis and yellow rosebuds was carried on a lace Bible with ribbon cascade.

Mrs. Kallinger was gowned in a gold shantung sheath with matching lace overdress and cap of gold mesh, and wore a green cypripedium corsage. Sally and Linda wore identical dresses of floral print organza with green carnation corsages.

The bride's mother was dressed in pale blue crepe with white accessories and a corsage of white orchids.

Following a short wedding trip, the couple will be at home in Oxnard, Calif. The new Mrs. Benoit attended Arlington Heights schools and was graduated from Stanford University in Palo Alto, Calif. For the past year she has been on the staff of the Ventura County Welfare Department. (S

Area Bethel Has Exchange Night

Aug. 28 was Exchange Night at Bethel 103, Jobs Daughters, Arlington Heights. Miss Dixie Alletto, honored queen, introduced as acting honored queen, Miss Judy Nixon, honored queen of Bethel 105, Des Plaines. Other stations were also filled by officers and members of the Des Plaines Bethel.

Lettered on the stage backdrop curtain were the words, "A Symbol of Everlasting Friendship" with clasped hands beneath them. Miss Linda Bruning and Miss Gini Hengl, both of Arlington Heights, and officers of Bethel 103, were the artists and also presented a reading entitled "If I knew you and you knew me", in honor of the guest officers.

Congratulations were extended to Des Plaines Bethel for their drill team having won first place at the Supreme Session in Lincoln, Nebraska, recently.

MISS BONNIE Birch and Miss Gini Hengl were officially installed as marshal and first messenger, respectively, for the balance of the term as they were unable to be present at the public installation held previously. Mrs. Carol Schaetzlein, guardian, served as installing officer, and Mrs. Bernice Wallace, guardian treasurer, was installing guide.

A hayride party is scheduled for 2 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 14, for Bethel 103 girls. Miss Donna Gephardt, at 259-3212, is taking reservations.

Following the meeting, cosmetic demonstration took place, with Miss Debbie Deehring as the model.

NEXT MEETING of Bethel 103 will be Wednesday, Sept. 11, Advance Royalty Night. Miss Sandra Larsen, senior princess, will advance to the office of honored queen for the evening.

A bus trip to visit a Milwaukee Bethel is planned for Saturday, Oct. 12. (S

Arlington AAUW Branch To Hold Coffee September 9

Members of Arlington Heights Branch of the American Association of University Women will entertain prospective members at a "coffee" to be held at 8 p.m. Monday, Sept. 9, in Pioneer Park Field House.

The coffee will serve to acquaint them with AAUW objectives and branch activities planned for the coming year. Material to be covered by the various study groups will be presented.

Over-all arrangements for the evening to which 80 guests have been invited, have been made by Mrs. Ted Meyer, vice president and membership chairman, assisted by her committee: Mrs. C. Bolline, Mrs. Howard Rice, Mrs. Robert Staley and Mrs. B. E. J. Waring. A refreshment committée, headed by Mrs. Paul Davis, includes Miss Carey Clark, Mrs. Garrett Duel and Mrs. W. C. Steuber.

THE BRANCH will hold its first regular meeting of the season at 8 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 12, at the Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Association, 25 E. Campbell. Speakers will be two state officers, Mrs. C. D. Fiester of Lake Forest and Mrs. James Morrow of Deerfield.

Those interested in further information about the branch may telephone Mrs. Meyer, CL 9-1049. Membership is open to women in Arlington Heights and nearby communities who are graduates of AAUW-approved colleges. (S

Membership Drive Opens Season for M.P. Juniors

Mount Prospect Junior Women's Club will begin its club year Sept. 11 at the Mount Prospect Country Club. A membership drive is now under way to find women in the community interested in the activities of a federated club.

"Our club is both a service and social organization," stated Mrs. Jack Ristow, membership chairman. "As a member, the younger woman in our community is able to participate in our many philanthropic causes and at the same time enjoy new friendships and social activities."

PHILANTHROPIC projects in the past have included Clearbrook School for Retarded Children, Brain Research Foundation, Project Hope and scholarships for teachers of exceptional children. Funds have been raised through planned social events such as fashion shows and card parties.

Mount Prospect Junior Woman's Club is a member of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs and the General Federation of Women's Club and meets the second Wednesday of the month at 8:15 p.m. in Mount Prospect Country Club. "As a federated club, we are able to extend our interests to a broader area than would be possible by an individual club, concluded Mrs. Ristow.

Women interested in joining the group may call Mrs. Ristow at CL 5-4678 who will also arrange transportation if necessary. (S

St. Thomas Women 'Set Up Housekeeping' as Year Opens

Moving into a new home is no easy chore but St. Thomas of Villanova ladies are ready to begin a very busy year on the threshhold of the newly-completed Parish Hall, at the first meeting of the 1963-64 season, at 8:30 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 12.

"With only a year of existance behind them, the Villanova Women can boast a well-organized club and anticipate an active and successful second year," commented the president. All ladies of the parish are invited to attend and become active members of the St. Thomas of Villanova Catholic Women's Club.

REV. FRANCIS C. Waldron, pastor and spiritual moderator of the club will open the meeting with a prayer. Mrs. J. Michael Clery, president, will conduct the meeting introducing the following officers and committee chairmen: Mrs. Richard Kunzweiler, 118 E. Norman, Palatine, first vice president; Mrs. Joseph S. Gillespie Jr., 209 Boynton Drive, Palatine, second vice president; Mrs. William K. Fallon, 1735 N. Kennicott, Arlington Heights, secretary; Mrs. James W. Gordon, 224 Clark Drive, Palatine, treasurer; Mrs. William A. Sorensen, 1339 N. Illinois, Arlington Heights, corresponding secretary.

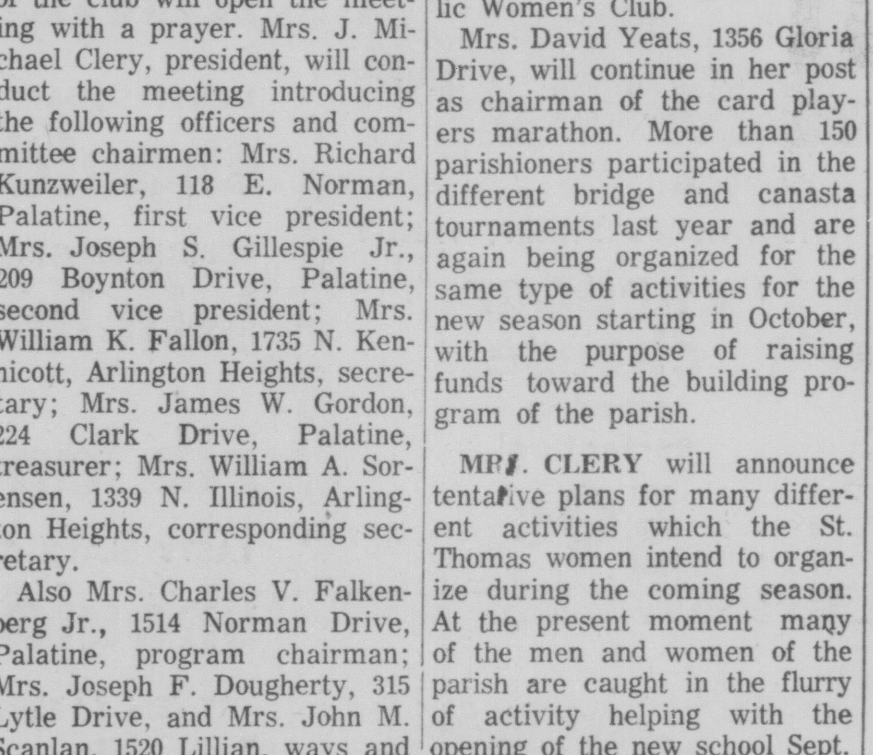
Also Mrs. Charles V. Falkenberg Jr., 1514 Norman Drive, Palatine, program chairman; Mrs. Joseph F. Dougherty, 315 Lytle Drive, and Mrs. John M. Scanlan, 1520 Lillian, ways and means; Mrs. Anthony Rotella, 227 Rohlwing Road, block captains; Mrs. Michael Radigan, 310 Clark Drive, constitution and by-laws; Mrs. H. J. Bennett, 119 Richards Drive, hospitality; Mrs. Edward J. Sullivan Jr., 205 Lytle Drive, spiritual; Mrs. James P. Ryther, 124 Richards Drive, medical missions; Mrs. William Carrol, 310 Richards Drive, St. Vincent's Orphanage; Mrs. Richard M. Blassey, 1730 N. Ridge, news.

MRS. JOSEPH P. O'Neill Jr., 1729 N. Ridge, has accepted the task of troop organizer and already has three Girl Scout Troops and one Brownie Troop which will be sponsored by the St. Thomas of Villanova Catholic Women's Club.

Mrs. David Yeats, 1356 Gloria Drive, will continue in her post as chairman of the card players marathon. More than 150 parishioners participated in the different bridge and canasta tournaments last year and are again being organized for the same type of activities for the new season starting in October, with the purpose of raising funds toward the building program of the parish.

MRS. CLERY will announce tentative plans for many different activities which the St. Thomas women intend to organize during the coming season. At the present moment many of the men and women of the parish are caught in the flurry of activity helping with the opening of the new school Sept. 4 as well as the "Classic Dinner Dance" at the Arlinton Park Jockey Club being sponsored by St. Thomas of Villanova and St. Collette parishes Saturday, Sept. 14.

Close to 4,000 persons are expected to attend this tremendous affair. Joe Brandt, owner of Brandt's Restaurant has undertaken the overwhelming task of catering the affair. Ralph Marterie and his Marlboro Orchestra will provide the dance music. The dance team of Tom and Agnes DeBartolos will entertain. Tickets may be obtained by calling Paul McWilliams, 358-4713 or Al Brisard CL 5-1176. (S



OLD ORCHARD COUNTRY CLUB was the scene of a recent marriage ceremony in which Miss Drusilla Ellen White, daughter of the junior Abiathar Whites, 4311 Hawthorne, Rolling Meodaws, became the bride of Darrell Lucht, son of the W. A. Luchts of West Chicago. The newlyweds are now residing in DeKalb, where the bride, a graduate of Arlington High School, is attending Northern Illinois University. The groom received his B.S. and M.A. degrees in guidance and counselling from Southern Illinois University and is now employed at Sheridan Reformatory.

AAUW Tea Is September 11th

Plans for a get-acquainted tea for Paddock area members and prospective members of Northwest Suburban Branch of the American Association of University Women were completed recently at a meeting of the membership committee.

To be held Wednesday, Sept. 11, in the Mount Prospect home of Mrs. J. J. Atkinson, any woman with a degree from a college or university meeting AAUW standards is invited. Those interested may contact Mrs. R. S. Ruffolo, 392-2889, Mount Prospect.

The group is also sponsoring evening get-acquainted parties in Park Ridge and Des Plaines.

Student Nurses Set Style Show

The Student Nurses Association of Lutheran General and Deaconess Hospitals School of Nursing, Park Ridge, will sponsor a fashion show Monday, Sept. 23, at 8 p.m. in Maine East Township High School.

"Patterns in Music" is the title for the show. Fall fashions for ages 6 to 60 will be shown by student models and Service League members.

Tickets are on sale from students. (S

Especially for Women

Membership Drive Opens Season for M.P. Juniors

Mount Prospect Junior Women's Club will begin its club year Sept. 11 at the Mount Prospect Country Club. A membership drive is now under way to find women in the community interested in the activities of a federated club.

"Our club is both a service and social organization," stated Mrs. Jack Ristow, membership chairman. "As a member, the younger woman in our community is able to participate in our many philanthropic causes and at the same time enjoy new friendships and social activities."

PHILANTHROPIC projects in the past have included Clearbrook School for Retarded Children, Brain Research Foundation, Project Hope and scholarships for teachers of exceptional children. Funds have been raised through planned social events such as fashion shows and card parties.

Mount Prospect Junior Woman's Club is a member of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs and the General Federation of Women's Club and meets the second Wednesday of the month at 8:15 p.m. in Mount Prospect Country Club. "As a federated club, we are able to extend our interests to a broader area than would be possible by an individual club, concluded Mrs. Ristow.

Women interested in joining the group may call Mrs. Ristow at CL 5-4678 who will also arrange transportation if necessary. (S

Arlington AAUW Branch To Hold Coffee September 9

Members of Arlington Heights Branch of the American Association of University Women will entertain prospective members at a "coffee" to be held at 8 p.m. Monday, Sept. 9, in Pioneer Park Field House.

The coffee will serve to acquaint them with AAUW objectives and branch activities planned for the coming year. Material to be covered by the various study groups will be presented.

Over-all arrangements for the evening to which 80 guests have been invited, have been made by Mrs. Ted Meyer, vice president and membership chairman, assisted by her committee: Mrs. C. Bolline, Mrs. Howard Rice, Mrs. Robert Staley and Mrs. B. E. J. Waring. A refreshment committée, headed by Mrs. Paul Davis, includes Miss Carey Clark, Mrs. Garrett Duel and Mrs. W. C. Steuber.

THE BRANCH will hold its first regular meeting of the season at 8 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 12, at the Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Association, 25 E. Campbell. Speakers will be two state officers, Mrs. C. D. Fiester of Lake Forest and Mrs. James Morrow of Deerfield.

Those interested in further information about the branch may telephone Mrs. Meyer, CL 9-1049. Membership is open to women in Arlington Heights and nearby communities who are graduates of AAUW-approved colleges. (S

St. Thomas Women 'Set Up Housekeeping' as Year Opens

Moving into a new home is no easy chore but St. Thomas of Villanova ladies are ready to begin a very busy year on the threshhold of the newly-completed Parish Hall, at the first meeting of the 1963-64 season, at 8:30 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 12.

"With only a year of existance behind them, the Villanova Women can boast a well-organized club and anticipate an active and successful second year," commented the president. All ladies of the parish are invited to attend and become active members of the St. Thomas of Villanova Catholic Women's Club.

REV. FRANCIS C. Waldron, pastor and spiritual moderator of the club will open the meeting with a prayer. Mrs. J. Michael Clery, president, will conduct the meeting introducing the following officers and committee chairmen: Mrs. Richard Kunzweiler, 118 E. Norman, Palatine, first vice president; Mrs. Joseph S. Gillespie Jr., 209 Boynton Drive, Palatine, second vice president; Mrs. William K. Fallon, 1735 N. Kennicott, Arlington Heights, secretary; Mrs. James W. Gordon, 224 Clark Drive, Palatine, treasurer; Mrs. William A. Sorensen, 1339 N. Illinois, Arlington Heights, corresponding secretary.

Also Mrs. Charles V. Falkenberg Jr., 1514 Norman Drive, Palatine, program chairman; Mrs. Joseph F. Dougherty, 315 Lytle Drive, and Mrs. John M. Scanlan, 1520 Lillian, ways and means; Mrs. Anthony Rotella, 227 Rohlwing Road, block captains; Mrs. Michael Radigan, 310 Clark Drive, constitution and by-laws; Mrs. H. J. Bennett, 119 Richards Drive, hospitality; Mrs. Edward J. Sullivan Jr., 205 Lytle Drive, spiritual; Mrs. James P. Ryther, 124 Richards Drive, medical missions; Mrs. William Carrol, 310 Richards Drive, St. Vincent's Orphanage; Mrs. Richard M. Blassey, 1730 N. Ridge, news.

MRS. JOSEPH P. O'Neill Jr., 1729 N. Ridge, has accepted the task of troop organizer and already has three Girl Scout Troops and one Brownie Troop which will be sponsored by the St. Thomas of Villanova Catholic Women's Club.

Mrs. David Yeats, 1356 Gloria Drive, will continue in her post as chairman of the card players marathon. More than 150 parishioners participated in the different bridge and canasta tournaments last year and are again being organized for the same type of activities for the new season starting in October, with the purpose of raising funds toward the building program of the parish.

MRS. CLERY will announce tentative plans for many different activities which the St. Thomas women intend to organize during the coming season. At the present moment many of the men and women of the parish are caught in the flurry of activity helping with the opening of the new school Sept. 4 as well as the "Classic Dinner Dance" at the Arlinton Park Jockey Club being sponsored by St. Thomas of Villanova and St. Collette parishes Saturday, Sept. 14.

Close to 4,000 persons are expected to attend this tremendous affair. Joe Brandt, owner of Brandt's Restaurant has undertaken the overwhelming task of catering the affair. Ralph Marterie and his Marlboro Orchestra will provide the dance music. The dance team of Tom and Agnes DeBartolos will entertain. Tickets may be obtained by calling Paul McWilliams, 358-4713 or Al Brisard CL 5-1176. (S

Area Couple Aids Maryknoll

Committee members for the Maryknoll Fathers' brunch to be held Sunday, Sept. 15, include Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stanton, 508 I-Oka, Mount Prospect. The affair will be held in the Gold Coast Room of Chicago's Drake Hotel where colorful dolls, hand-made by refugees in Hong Kong, will decorate tables and illustrate the party's international theme.

The brunch will feature dancing and benefit the Maryknoll Seminary in Glen Ellyn. (S

Rainbow Girls Set Open Installation

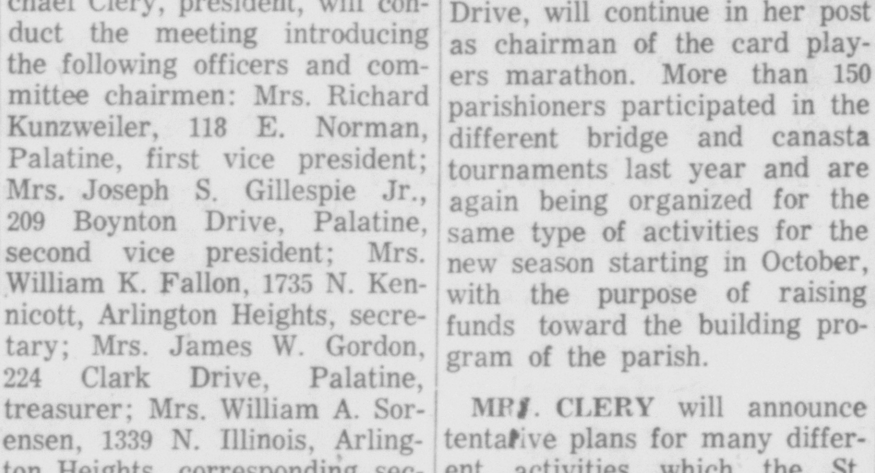
MARCIA JACOB

Order of Rainbow for Girls, Wheeling Assembly 81, will hold an open Installation of Officers Saturday, Sept. 14, at 8 p.m. in the Wheeling Masonic Temple. Marcia Jacob, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall S. Jacob, 1201 Stratford, Arlington Heights, will be installed as Worthy Advisor.

Retiring Worthy Advisor Donna Mankel will act as mistress of ceremonies. Lynn Miller, past grand representative to Kentucky will act as installing officer, assisted by Karen Palmer, past worthy advisor, as installing marshal; Bonnie Fisher, past grand love, installing chaplain; Sandy Provost, installing recorder; Hugh Gillon, installing soloist; and Helen Stavros, past member of the State Executive Committee, installing musician.

MEMBERS of Prospect and Maywood Chapters, Order of DeMolay, will put on their Nine O'Clock Interpolation and Flower Talk.

Members of the Order of Rainbow for Girls, Order of DeMolay, Order of Eastern Star, Order of Job's Daughters, and Masonic lodges are invited to attend. (S



OLD ORCHARD COUNTRY CLUB was the scene of a recent marriage ceremony in which Miss Drusilla Ellen White, daughter of the junior Abiathar Whites, 4311 Hawthorne, Rolling Meodaws, became the bride of Darrell Lucht, son of the W. A. Luchts of West Chicago. The newlyweds are now residing in DeKalb, where the bride, a graduate of Arlington High School, is attending Northern Illinois University. The groom received his B.S. and M.A. degrees in guidance and counselling from Southern Illinois University and is now employed at Sheridan Reformatory.

AAUW Tea Is September 11th

Plans for a get-acquainted tea for Paddock area members and prospective members of Northwest Suburban Branch of the American Association of University Women were completed recently at a meeting of the membership committee.

To be held Wednesday, Sept. 11, in the Mount Prospect home of Mrs. J. J. Atkinson, any woman with a degree from a college or university meeting AAUW standards is invited. Those interested may contact Mrs. R. S. Ruffolo, 392-2889, Mount Prospect.

The group is also sponsoring evening get-acquainted parties in Park Ridge and Des Plaines.

Student Nurses Set Style Show

The Student Nurses Association of Lutheran General and Deaconess Hospitals School of Nursing, Park Ridge, will sponsor a fashion show Monday, Sept. 23, at 8 p.m. in Maine East Township High School.

"Patterns in Music" is the title for the show. Fall fashions for ages 6 to 60 will be shown by student models and Service League members.

Tickets are on sale from students. (S

Paper Cups Hold Cook's Frozen Fruit Salad

EVEN YOUNG BOYS ARE tempted by a frozen fruit salad when it is molded in an attractive shape and has an enticing flavor. Here Alan and Mark Puccetti watch their mother, Mrs. Albert J. Puccetti, arrange these individual salads on a serving plate. Made by an original recipe, this good cook molds the salad in paper cups and serves them topped with a maraschino cherry. (SH

Cherries Garnish Towering 'Molds'

by LOIS SEILER

A delicious fruit salad with a different flavor is one of Mrs. Albert J. Puccetti's favorite recipes.

"I picked up ideas for this salad here and there, and then put all the ideas together," Mrs. Puccetti said. The result is a Frozen Fruit Delight!

Fruit cocktail as well as fresh fruit is used in this recipe, along with coconut, miniature marshmallows and sour cream. Mrs. Puccetti freezes it in individual paper cups or a mold and serves it either as a dinner salad or for a luncheon accompanied by crackers or hot rolls and mixed nuts.

Another of this good cook's favorite recipes is one which she calls a "fun food." The recipe came from an Italian family and is called "Bagna Calda," which translated means "hot bath."

"This is a hot dip to be served as an appetizer, and everyone dips into the same dish," Mrs. Puccetti explained. "The dip itself is interesting, and the amusing name makes it a good conversation piece and gets a party off to a good start," she added.

This dip combines anchovy fillets, butter, crushed garlic and cream. Cooked for 30 minutes, Bagna Calda is served hot from a chafing dish with fresh bread, celery, lettuce and green pepper used as dippers.

This informal dish will score high with both family members and guests. And in addition to having an enticing flavor, the Italian specialty can be made in advance and frozen until needed.

"I HAVE another recipe with a peculiar name but a very practical use," Virginia Puccetti laughingly said. "This is called "Flu Stew" because my father always made it for his children after they had the flu. It is hearty, nourishing and easily digestable, and tastes good whether one is recuperating or in the pink of good health!"

Quick and easy to prepare, this recipe calls for ground beef, onion and potatoes, which are simply simmered together until the potatoes are tender. A meal in one, this tasty stew needs only a hot bread or rolls and a tossed salad as accompaniments.

Flu stew has become a favorite with Mrs. Puccetti's husband and their two sons, Alan, 8½, and Mark, 5½.

The Puccetti family lives at 1105 N. Douglas in Arlington Heights. Mrs. Puccetti is active at St. James Catholic Church, where she is second vice-president of the Women's Guild.

Ensalada Andaluza

Ripe garden-fresh tomatoes make a delicious salad combined with chopped anchovy filets, chopped pimento-stuffed olives, and a slice or two of raw onion, then dressed with Spanish olive oil, vinegar and salt. Marinate the mixture in olive oil for approximately half an hour before serving, add the salt and vinegar at the last moment.

FROZEN FRUIT DELIGHT

1 large can fruit cocktail
2½ cups diced fresh fruit (preferably not bananas)
½ can flaked or shredded coconut
1½ cups miniature marshmallows
1 cup commercial sour cream

Drain fruit cocktail. Add remaining ingredients and fold lightly. Freeze in a mold or paper cups. Serve on lettuce. Serves 3 to 4.

BAGNA CALDA
(Hot Bath)

½ pound butter
2 cans flat anchovy fillets
5 medium-size cloves garlic, crushed
4 ounces cream or half and half

Melt butter. Over low flame, add anchovy fillets and stir until anchovies dissolve. Add crushed garlic and stir until mixed. Gradually add cream and stir. Cook over a low flame for about 30 minutes. Serve hot in a chafing dish using fresh bread, lettuce, celery, green peppers, etc. as dippers.

FLU STEW

1½ pounds ground round steak
1 tablespoon bacon fat
1 medium onion, diced
Garlic salt
2 medium-size potatoes, diced

Brown round steak and diced onion in bacon fat. Sprinkle with garlic salt. Add diced potatoes and enough water to cover. Simmer until potatoes are cooked. Serves 4. (SH

For Better Nutrition

School Lunch Program Inspires 'Home' Meals

A glamorous tuna casserole topped with crisp noodles and presented in a graceful souffle dish seems a far cry from school lunch. Nevertheless, the school lunch may have been its source of inspiration. After 15 years of experience, those who manage the school lunch program have learned that participation in it give children double value.

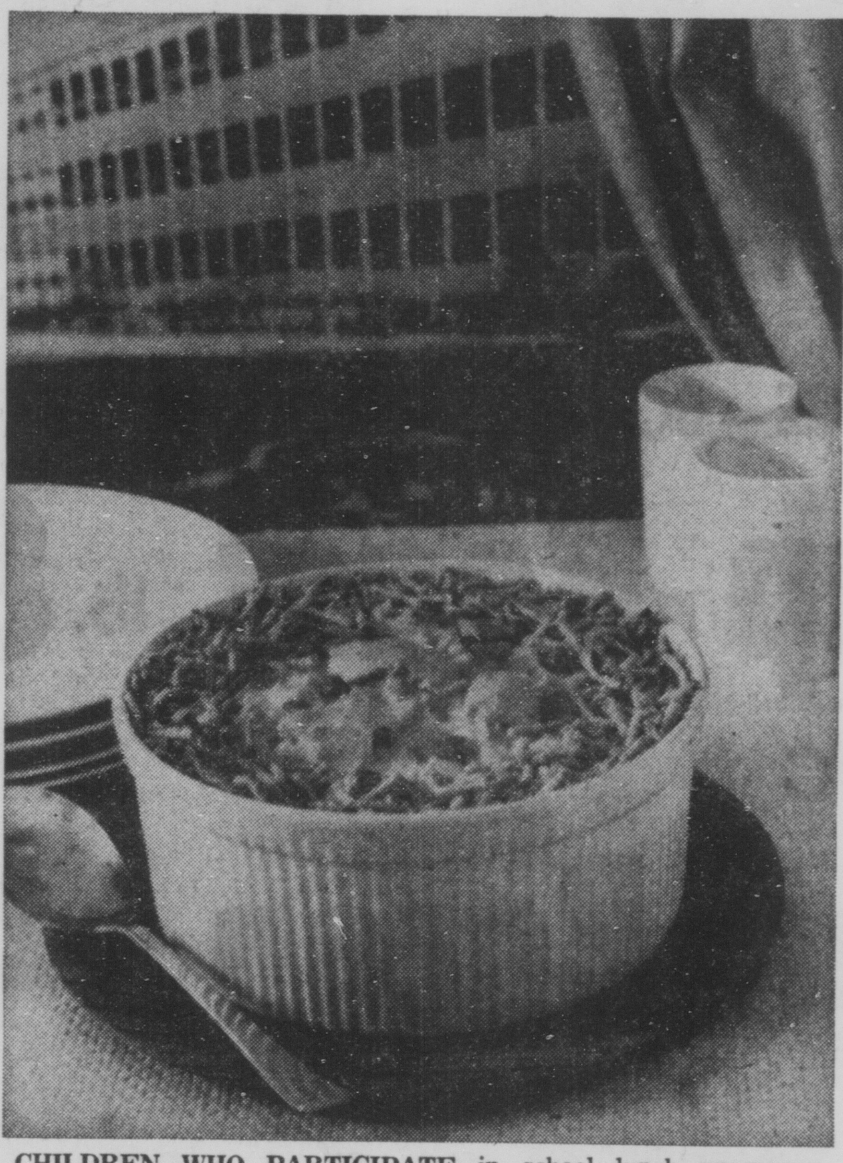
First, it assures them a well-balanced, nutritious noonday meal. Second, it helps them establish good eating habits that often improve the standards of family meals at home.

A TYPICAL school lunch program meal centers on a protein rich food, could be tuna, chicken, eggs, meat or cheese, supplemented by two or more vegetables or fruits, bread and butter and a half pint of milk. Such a meal, which meets definite basic standards specified by law, supplies one-third of the daily dietary allowances for children recommended by the National Research Council.

Many schools make use of the program to give children a taste for previously unfamiliar foods. Because they are in a group the children accept new foods more readily, particularly if the teacher knows how to approach the problem. She can inspire interest in a new dish by describing it to the children, perhaps letting them sample it in advance, or even taking them through the kitchen to observe its preparation.

Later, she may involve her class in menu planning, stress the value of well-balanced meals in her health classes, or let the children invent slogans and paint posters that stress the benefits of good school lunches.

WHAT THE children learn at school they take home to their families. Frequently, they teach their mothers about dishes not previously served at home and these become part of the regular family menu. The children also pass along what they have learned about the value of serving vegetables and fruits; thus, the whole standard of family dinners may well improve, resulting in better family health and more enjoyment of meals.



CHILDREN WHO PARTICIPATE in school lunch programs bring home new menu ideas. One such recipe is this Tuna-Chow Mein Casserole, which provides nutrition and good flavor all in one dish. (SH

Finally, the school lunch program has something to teach mothers directly.

A mother cannot give her children bag lunches that will compare in cost and nutritive value to what they can eat by participating in the school lunch program. With this idea in mind, she can learn something about getting the most nutrition for a limited food budget. No wonder the number of children participating in the school lunch program increases every year.

TUNA-CHOW MEIN CASSEROLE

1 can undiluted cream of mushroom soup
1 can (1 lb.) peas
1 can (4 oz.) pimiento, sliced
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 can (3 oz.) chow mein noodles
2 cans (6½ or 7 oz. each) tuna-in-vegetable oil

Combine undiluted soup, peas with liquid from can, pimiento, onion and lemon juice in a 1½-quart casserole. Set aside 1 cup of the noodles. Fold remaining noodles and tuna into mixture in casserole. Arrange reserved noodles around edge. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 25 minutes.

Yield: 6 servings. (SH

Hot Sandwich For Young School Set

Flavor a sandwich with peanut butter and youngsters come quickly running for lunch. Feature a sandwich of protein-rich ham and your meal will fulfill those noon-time appetites. And, when you combine these two foods, you'll create a sandwich with a double treat.

SUCH A sandwich, invitingly prepared open-face style, begins with toasted white bread. The sliced ham comes next, and it's spread with the peanut butter. On top of the peanut butter is a bit of salad dressing. A pretty sprinkling of shredded coconut adds a final flourish. A few minutes in the oven or broiler and the sandwich specialty is ready.

Leftover baked ham, fully-cooked or canned ham, or ready to serve chopped or "boiled" ham may be used.

HAM AND PEANUT BUTTER SANDWICH

6 slices white bread
¼ cup peanut butter
¼ cup salad dressing
2 tablespoons coconut

Toast bread lightly on both sides. To make each sandwich, cover each slice of toast with 2 ounces sliced ham. Spread ham with 2 teaspoons peanut butter, then 2 teaspoons salad dressing and sprinkle with 1 teaspoon coconut.

Place sandwiches on a cooky sheet and bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) 10 to 12 minutes or until lightly browned. 6 sandwiches.

Note: Sandwiches may also be broiled. Broil 3 inches from the heat for 3 to 5 minutes.

Here's Idea For Autumn Party Menu

For your next luncheon or bridge party, there's no need to go to elaborate preparation for refreshments. Quick foods that can be prepared ahead of time will leave time for you to get out the cards and tally sheets.

A delightful salad that your guests will be sure to enjoy is Avocado - Chicken - Apple Combo. It is a light salad, varied in texture. Combo calls for leftover chicken, crisp apples and soft avocado.

THE TANGY flavor of American blue cheese adds just the right amount of zest to this cool salad. The leftover chicken and economical price of American blue cheese keep your costs low.

Packaged rolls, dipped in butter, cinnamon and sugar, then baked, and plenty of steaming coffee will complete your luncheon fare.

AVOCADO - CHICKEN - APPLE COMBO

2 large apples, cubed
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 cups cooked, cubed chicken
1 ripe, cubed avocado
½ cup mayonnaise
¼ cup light cream
¼ cup crumbled American blue cheese
(about 1¼ ounces)
1 teaspoon minced onion

Sprinkle apples and avocado with lemon juice. Combine mayonnaise with cream. Add minced onion. Toss avocado, apples, American blue cheese and chicken with cream dressing. Serve on lettuce leaves. Serves 6-8.

Paper Cups Hold Cook's Frozen Fruit Salad

EVEN YOUNG BOYS ARE tempted by a frozen fruit salad when it is molded in an attractive shape and has an enticing flavor. Here Alan and Mark Puccetti watch their mother, Mrs. Albert J. Puccetti, arrange these individual salads on a serving plate. Made by an original recipe, this good cook molds the salad in paper cups and serves them topped with a maraschino cherry. (SH

Cherries Garnish Towering 'Molds'

by LOIS SEILER

A delicious fruit salad with a different flavor is one of Mrs. Albert J. Puccetti's favorite recipes.

"I picked up ideas for this salad here and there, and then put all the ideas together," Mrs. Puccetti said. The result is a Frozen Fruit Delight!

Fruit cocktail as well as fresh fruit is used in this recipe, along with coconut, miniature marshmallows and sour cream. Mrs. Puccetti freezes it in individual paper cups or a mold and serves it either as a dinner salad or for a luncheon accompanied by crackers or hot rolls and mixed nuts.

Another of this good cook's favorite recipes is one which she calls a "fun food." The recipe came from an Italian family and is called "Bagna Calda," which translated means "hot bath."

"This is a hot dip to be served as an appetizer, and everyone dips into the same dish," Mrs. Puccetti explained. "The dip itself is interesting, and the amusing name makes it a good conversation piece and gets a party off to a good start," she added.

This dip combines anchovy fillets, butter, crushed garlic and cream. Cooked for 30 minutes, Bagna Calda is served hot from a chafing dish with fresh bread, celery, lettuce and green pepper used as dippers.

This informal dish will score high with both family members and guests. And in addition to having an enticing flavor, the Italian specialty can be made in advance and frozen until needed.

"I HAVE another recipe with a peculiar name but a very practical use," Virginia Puccetti laughingly said. "This is called "Flu Stew" because my father always made it for his children after they had the flu. It is hearty, nourishing and easily digestable, and tastes good whether one is recuperating or in the pink of good health!"

Quick and easy to prepare, this recipe calls for ground beef, onion and potatoes, which are simply simmered together until the potatoes are tender. A meal in one, this tasty stew needs only a hot bread or rolls and a tossed salad as accompaniments.

Flu stew has become a favorite with Mrs. Puccetti's husband and their two sons, Alan, 8½, and Mark, 5½.

The Puccetti family lives at 1105 N. Douglas in Arlington Heights. Mrs. Puccetti is active at St. James Catholic Church, where she is second vice-president of the Women's Guild.

Ensalada Andaluza

Ripe garden-fresh tomatoes make a delicious salad combined with chopped anchovy filets, chopped pimento-stuffed olives, and a slice or two of raw onion, then dressed with Spanish olive oil, vinegar and salt. Marinate the mixture in olive oil for approximately half an hour before serving, add the salt and vinegar at the last moment.

FROZEN FRUIT DELIGHT

- 1 large can fruit cocktail
- 2½ cups diced fresh fruit (preferably not bananas)
- ½ can flaked or shredded coconut
- 1½ cups miniature marshmallows
- 1 cup commercial sour cream

Drain fruit cocktail. Add remaining ingredients and fold lightly. Freeze in a mold or paper cups. Serve on lettuce. Serves 3 to 4.

BAGNA CALDA
(Hot Bath)

- ½ pound butter
- 2 cans flat anchovy fillets
- 5 medium-size cloves garlic, crushed
- 4 ounces cream or half and half

Melt butter. Over low flame, add anchovy fillets and stir until anchovies dissolve. Add crushed garlic and stir until mixed. Gradually add cream and stir. Cook over a low flame for about 30 minutes. Serve hot in a chafing dish using fresh bread, lettuce, celery, green peppers, etc. as dippers.

FLU STEW

- 1½ pounds ground round steak
- 1 tablespoon bacon fat
- 1 medium onion, diced
- Garlic salt
- 2 medium-size potatoes, diced

Brown round steak and diced onion in bacon fat. Sprinkle with garlic salt. Add diced potatoes and enough water to cover. Simmer until potatoes are cooked. Serves 4. (SH

For Better Nutrition

School Lunch Program Inspires 'Home' Meals

A glamorous tuna casserole topped with crisp noodles and presented in a graceful souffle dish seems a far cry from school lunch. Nevertheless, the school lunch may have been its source of inspiration. After 15 years of experience, those who manage the school lunch program have learned that participation in it give children double value.

First, it assures them a well-balanced, nutritious noonday meal. Second, it helps them establish good eating habits that often improve the standards of family meals at home.

A TYPICAL school lunch program meal centers on a protein rich food, could be tuna, chicken, eggs, meat or cheese, supplemented by two or more vegetables or fruits, bread and butter and a half pint of milk. Such a meal, which meets definite basic standards specified by law, supplies one-third of the daily dietary allowances for children recommended by the National Research Council.

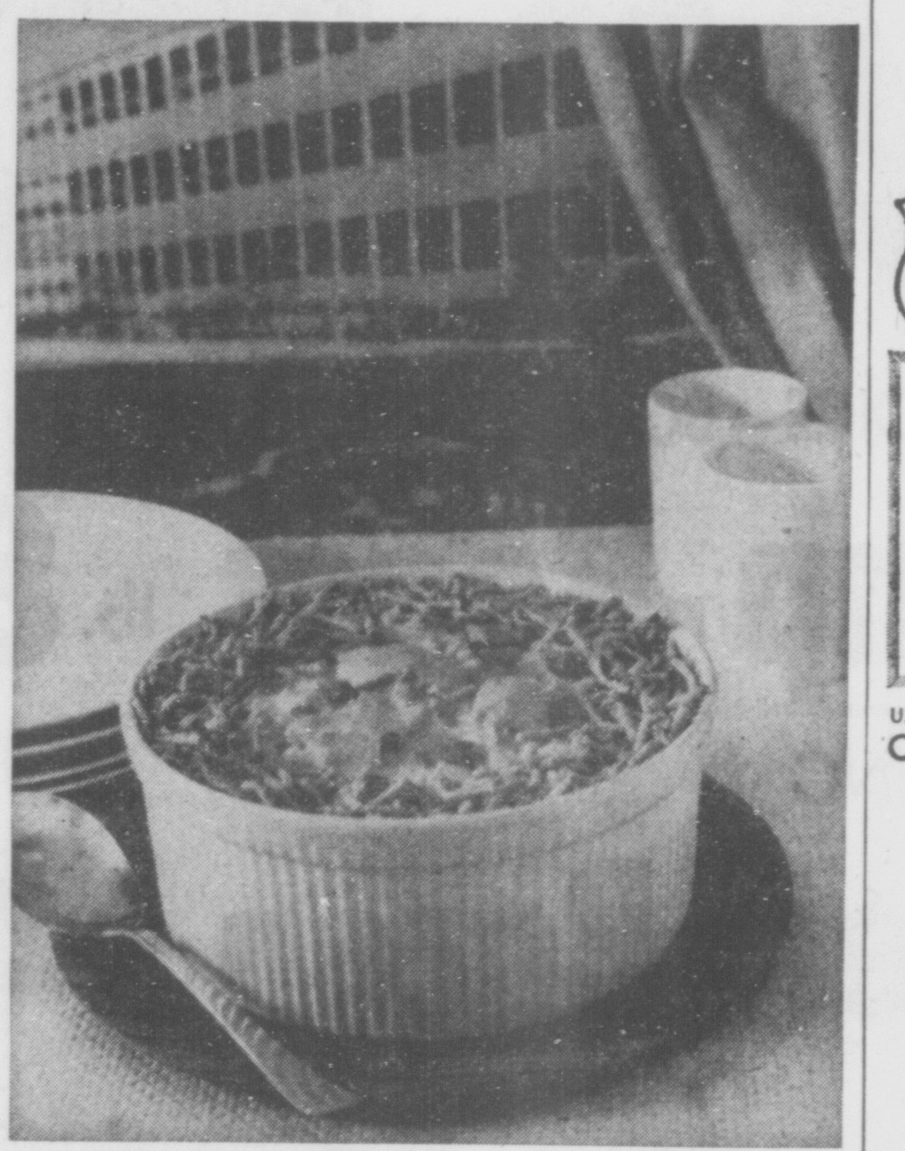
Many schools make use of the program to give children a taste for previously unfamiliar foods. Because they are in a group the children accept new foods more readily, particularly if the teacher knows how to approach the problem. She can inspire interest in a new dish by describing it to the children, perhaps letting them sample it in advance, or even taking them through the kitchen to observe its preparation.

Later, she may involve her class in menu planning, stress the value of well-balanced meals in her health classes, or let the children invent slogans and paint posters that stress the benefits of good school lunches.

WHAT THE children learn at school they take home to their families. Frequently, they teach their mothers about dishes not previously served at home and these become part of the regular family menu. The children also pass along what they have learned about the value of serving vegetables and fruits; thus, the whole standard of family dinners may well improve, resulting in better family health and more enjoyment of meals.

Finally, the school lunch program has something to teach mothers directly.

A mother cannot give her children bag lunches that will compare in cost and nutritive value to what they can eat by participating in the school lunch program. With this idea in mind, she can learn something about getting the most nutrition for a limited food budget. No wonder the number of children participating in the school lunch program increases every year.



CHILDREN WHO PARTICIPATE in school lunch programs bring home new menu ideas. One such recipe is this Tuna-Chow Mein Casserole, which provides nutrition and good flavor all in one dish. (SH

TUNA-CHOW MEIN CASSEROLE

- 1 can undiluted cream of mushroom soup
- 1 can (1 lb.) peas
- 1 can (4 oz.) pimiento, sliced
- 2 tablespoons chopped onion
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 can (3 oz.) chow mein noodles
- 2 cans (6½ or 7 oz. each) tuna-in-vegetable oil

Combine undiluted soup, peas with liquid from can, pimiento, onion and lemon juice in a 1½-quart casserole. Set aside 1 cup of the noodles. Fold remaining noodles and tuna into mixture in casserole. Arrange reserved noodles around edge. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 25 minutes.

Yield: 6 servings. (SH

Hot Sandwich For Young School Set

Flavor a sandwich with peanut butter and youngsters come quickly running for lunch. Feature a sandwich of protein-rich ham and your meal will fulfill those noon-time appetites. And, when you combine these two foods, you'll create a sandwich with a double treat.

SUCH A sandwich, invitingly prepared open-face style, begins with toasted white bread. The sliced ham comes next, and it's spread with the peanut butter. On top of the peanut butter is a bit of salad dressing. A pretty sprinkling of shredded coconut adds a final flourish. A few minutes in the oven or broiler and the sandwich specialty is ready.

Leftover baked ham, fully-cooked or canned ham, or ready to serve chopped or "boiled" ham may be used.

HAM AND PEANUT BUTTER SANDWICH

- 6 slices white bread
- ¼ cup peanut butter
- ¼ cup salad dressing
- 2 tablespoons coconut

Toast bread lightly on both sides. To make each sandwich, cover each slice of toast with 2 ounces sliced ham. Spread ham with 2 teaspoons peanut butter, then 2 teaspoons salad dressing and sprinkle with 1 teaspoon coconut.

Place sandwiches on a cooky sheet and bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) 10 to 12 minutes or until lightly browned. 6 sandwiches.

Note: Sandwiches may also be broiled. Broil 3 inches from the heat for 3 to 5 minutes.

Here's Idea For Autumn Party Menu

For your next luncheon or bridge party, there's no need to go to elaborate preparation for refreshments. Quick foods that can be prepared ahead of time will leave time for you to get out the cards and tally sheets.

A delightful salad that your guests will be sure to enjoy is Avocado - Chicken - Apple Combo. It is a light salad, varied in texture. Combo calls for leftover chicken, crisp apples and soft avocado.

THE TANGY flavor of American blue cheese adds just the right amount of zest to this cool salad. The leftover chicken and economical price of American blue cheese keep your costs low.

Packaged rolls, dipped in butter, cinnamon and sugar, then baked, and plenty of steaming coffee will complete your luncheon fare.

AVOCADO - CHICKEN - APPLE COMBO

- 2 large apples, cubed
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 2 cups cooked, cubed chicken
- 1 ripe, cubed avocado
- ½ cup mayonnaise
- ¼ cup light cream
- ¼ cup crumbled American blue cheese (about 1¼ ounces)
- 1 teaspoon minced onion

Sprinkle apples and avocado with lemon juice. Combine mayonnaise with cream. Add minced onion. Toss avocado, apples, American blue cheese and chicken with cream dressing. Serve on lettuce leaves. Serves 6-8.

Cold Meat Buffet

For an informal summer buffet present guests with a tray of inviting ready-to-serve meats and sausages for making into sandwiches. Since such a wide variety of ready-to-serve meats is available, you'll make your meal more lively with a really different assortment.

For Fall Appetites— Hearty Raisin Bread

Raisin bread comes to the fore during the hearty-eating days of early Fall, when the whole family goes for man-sized snacks. This fine adaptation of the popular Denver sandwich combines a well seasoned ham and egg mixture on slices of buttery raisin toast.

It's a healthy, hearty, tummy-filling snack for any meal around the clock.

THIRTY-SIX billion sandwich meals are eaten annually. Many types of taste surprising raisin bread are available at your favorite neighborhood bakery for eye brightening sandwich variety. Try them with your favorite sandwich fillings this week.

WESTERN HAM 'N' EGGS ON RAISIN TOAST

6 eggs
⅓ cup finely chopped green onion
⅓ cup finely chopped green pepper
¾ cup chopped cooked ham
¾ cup milk
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
Butter or margarine
12 slices raisin bread

Beat eggs lightly. Add onion, green pepper, ham, milk, salt and pepper. Melt 2 tablespoons butter in skillet. Add egg mixture and cook slowly, gently lifting from bottom and sides with spoon as mixture sets. Do not stir constantly. Cook just until eggs are set but still moist.

Toast and butter raisin bread. Spoon egg mixture evenly onto 6 slices raisin toast. Cover with remaining slices. Brush top slice with melted butter, if desired. Carefully cut in half and serve 2 or 3 halves per person. Makes 4 to 6 servings. (SH

Meat Salads For Hearty Main Dish

A crisp main dish salad bowl filled with meat can always be counted upon to furnish eating pleasure while keeping kitchens cool. Your meal will satisfy appetites, too, for meat has a definite stick-to-the ribs quality whether served warm or cold.

FOR EVERY day enjoyment here are two meat salads accented with garden-fresh vegetables. One calls for cooked corned beef, the other for cooked tongue.

These salads can serve your need for leftover ideas. Or, as suggested by home economist Reba Staggs, you can simply purchase the meat cooked and ready to serve from your food market.

GARDEN CRISP CORNED BEEF SALAD

2 cups julienne-style cooked corned beef
1 cup chopped fresh spinach
½ head lettuce, separated
1 small onion thinly sliced
Italian or French dressing

Toss together corned beef, spinach, lettuce, onion and enough Italian or French dressing to moisten. 6 servings.

TONGUE-TOMATO SALAD

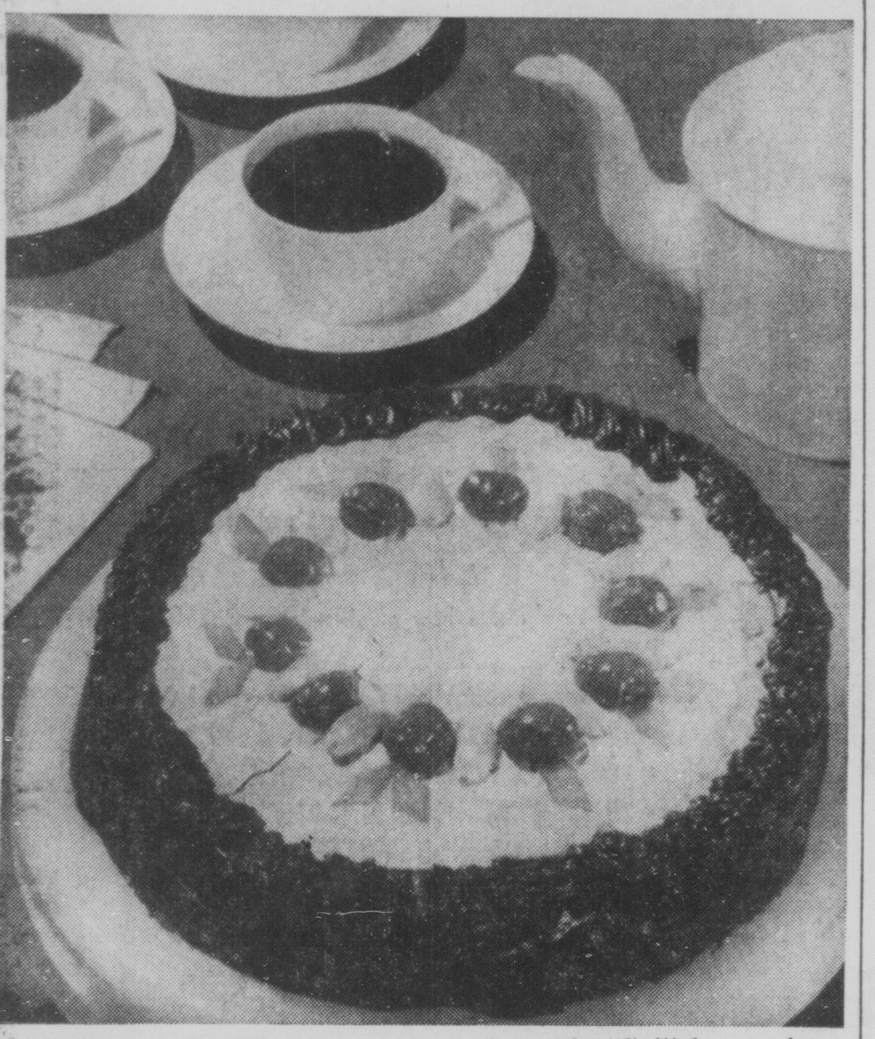
3 cups diced cooked tongue
½ cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
2 cups cooked peas, chilled
¼ cup chopped onion
1 cup chopped celery
½ cup chopped green pepper
¼ cup grated sharp cheddar cheese
6 to 8 medium tomatoes
6 to 8 lettuce leaves

Mix mayonnaise and mustard. Scald tomatoes 1 minute in boiling water and remove skin. Chill. Combine tongue, vegetables, cheese and mayonnaise mixture.

Cut tomatoes almost through in 6 sections and spread open, flower shaped, on lettuce leaf. Fill with tongue salad. 6 to 8 servings.

Elegant Torte Simplified

Master Art of Pastry As Viennese Cooks Do



BRING THE SIMPLEST meal to a dramatic "fini" by serving guests this Torte Versailles. It is an adaption of an authentic Viennese pastry, simplified for home use. (SH

Do you take pride in creating elegant desserts? For some enchanted evening of dining, you really ought to make a delicate semi-sweet chocolate torte for a beautiful "fini." A torte isn't a quick dessert. It's a labor of love, well worth the time for a special occasion, or when you want to cook to relax, as many of us do.

Most people know a torte has something to do with ground nuts, delicate chocolate, and ecstatic flavor, but one can't make a cake from that combination alone.

This beautiful torte is an authentic Viennese torte made by a simplified recipe. With the delicate chocolate flavor of semi-sweet chocolate morsels, the very same you use in your chocolate chip cookies, you can achieve a delicious filling in a very short time. Our recipe has been planned to make a torte as quickly and as simply as possible, while still creating a masterpiece of pastry art.

TORTE VERSAILLES
TORTE CIRCLES:

3 egg whites
¼ teaspoon salt
¾ cup light brown sugar, firmly packed
2 cups blanched almonds, finely chopped

Beat egg whites and salt until stiff, but not dry. Gradually add sugar and beat until very stiff. Fold in ground nuts. Cut 4 8-inch circles from brown paper; place on baking sheets. Spread each circle with ¼ of the mixture. Decorate 1 circle with additional whole almonds, waraschino cherries and pieces of citron.

Bake in a slow oven (300 degrees F.) 35 minutes. Cool; peel off paper.

FILLING:

1 6-ounce package (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate morsels
3 egg yolks
1 jar (7½ ounces) marshmallow cream
¼ cup water
¼ teaspoon peppermint flavoring
1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Melt semi-sweet chocolate morsels over hot, not boiling, water. Beat egg yolks until thick; gradually add melted chocolate, stirring rapidly. Stir in marshmallow cream, water and peppermint flavoring. Chill until mixture mounds when dropped from a spoon, about 20 minutes. Fold in whipped cream. Spread ¾ cup of the mixture on each undecorated circle.

Top with decorated circle; frost sides with remaining filling. Chill several hours, or overnight. Yield: 8 to 12 servings.

Pork Shoulder Is Budget Buy

When you're looking for a good buy in fresh pork cuts, turn to the section of your meat retailer's display case that features pork shoulder steaks.

This less-demanded cut generally exhibits an economy price tag, yet it presents the same fine flavor everyone likes so well in the more-demanded loin or rib chops. Pork shoulder steaks, either blade or arm, can usually be substituted in any pork chop recipe, states meat cookery expert Reba Staggs.

HERE IS a meat dish that especially calls for this pork cut. Each steak is breaded and cooked with a pear half. Chopped green parsley sprinkled on top contributes a touch of color. Pork and Pear Delight should call for particular attention now, for both pears and pork are in plentiful supply.

Pork and Pear Delight

6 pork shoulder steaks, cut ¾ inch thick
1 cup dry bread crumbs
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon garlic salt
¼ teaspoon poultry seasoning
1 teaspoon paprika
¼ cup milk
1 egg, slightly beaten
¼ cup lard or drippings
6 fresh pear halves
2 tablespoons chopped parsley, if desired
Flour for gravy, if desired

Mix together bread crumbs, salt, pepper, garlic salt, poultry seasoning and paprika. Combine milk and egg. Dredge steaks in seasoned bread crumbs, dip in egg mixture, then in bread crumbs. Brown steaks in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings.

Place a pear half on center of each steak and sprinkle with parsley, if desired. Cover tightly and cook slowly 1 hour. Thicken cooking liquid for gravy, if desired. Six servings.

Week's Best Food Values

Fryers, forequarter bef cuts and lamb take post-holiday market buy position. Pork is discounted on better supply by some stores, and eggs hold bargain level prices on production outlook.

Melons, potatoes, and yellow onions hold lower cost position; local vegetable supplies depress market prices, while apples are in heavier supply but wide range of prices on smaller crop outlook.

Chicago - area food values include:

Poultry: fryers; meats: beef chuck roasts, stewing beef, round steak, lamb leg and shoulder roasts, pork chops, picnics.

Groceries: salad oils, tuna fish, sugar, corn, peanut butter, peas, green beans.

Produce: grapes, honeydew melons, cantaloupe, apples; cucumbers, sweetcorn, cabbage, tomatoes, eggplant, peppers, lettuce, celery, carrots.

This reports the market week of Sept. 2 - 7 supplied by the University of Illinois. (SH

Flavorful 'Shrub' Made with Citrus

So many good citrus products come from the Sunshine State all year 'round. The frozen orange juice concentrate from Florida, in plentiful supply and of high quality, enjoys a 24-hour day.

Orange juice is not only America's favorite breakfast beverage, it's delicious in summer drinks and as a flavoring ingredient in dessert recipes.

You can make a delicious sherbet with frozen orange juice concentrate and unflavored geletin, serving scoops of the cool mixture with juices, to make a colorful, flavorful drink known as a "shrub" in Bermuda and the Indies.

Fill large glasses two-thirds full with grapefruit or orange and grapefruit juice, adding a scoop of the orange sherbet and garnishing with a perky sprig of mint. Small glasses of juice topped with a diminutive scoop of the sherbet make a novel and attractive first course for luncheon or dinner.

Use the sherbet as a topping for canned or chilled grapefruit or orange sections, or even as an accompaniment to a main course, reviving that delightful custom of serving an ice with the entree.

EASY ORANGE SHERBET

1 envelope unflavored gelatine
4 cups orange juice
1 cup sugar
1 egg white

Sprinkle gelatine on ½ cup of the orange juice in saucepan to soften. Place over low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatine is dissolved. Remove from heat; add sugar and remaining Florida orange juice; stir until sugar is dissolved.

Pour into an 8-cup loaf pan or several refrigerator trays. Place in freezing compartment of refrigerator; freeze, stirring occasionally. Break up frozen mixture in chilled bowl. Add unbeaten egg white and beat with electric mixer or rotary beater until smooth.

Return to freezing trays; freeze until firm. Approximately 2 quarts. (SH

A SIMPLE SHERBET of frozen orange juice, unflavored gelatin and canned fruit juices makes a cooling "shrub." (SH

Tomatoes Bake With 'Franks'

With the many big, bright tomatoes ripening this time of year, you're likely to gain a number of them from your own garden, from friends or from the market. And when tomatoes are at their peak of ripeness, they should be eaten quickly.

THE CENTERS of large tomatoes are scooped out to form cups. Inside goes a hearty stuffing of sliced frankfurters, bread crumbs, corn (or any other cooked vegetable), green onions, seasonings and the chopped tomato centers.

Serve this baked meat and vegetable entree for a delightful lunch or light supper.

BAKED TOMATOES— FRANKFURTER STUFFING

6 frankfurters, sliced
  ½ inch thick
1½ tablespoons lard or drippings
6 large tomatoes
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
½ cup cooked corn
1 cup soft bread crumbs
¼ cup chopped green onions

Brown frankfurters in lard or drippings. Remove slice from tops of tomatoes and scoop out centers. Chop tomato centers and combine with salt, pepper, corn, bread crumbs and green onions. Fill tomato cups with mixture.

Place in a greased baking dish. Pour ¼ cup water into bottom of baking dish. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 to 40 minutes. 6 servings.

New 'Twist'

The "old standby"—cheese and tomato sandwich—takes a new turn when the topping is mellow American blue cheese. Just butter slices of bread. Cover with thick slices of red, ripe tomatoes and top with crumbled blue cheese. Pop into the broiler for a few minutes or until cheese begins to melt.

Sandwich Spread 1-14 ital.... ....

The last warm days of summer usually mean much activity and quick, cool suppers for the family. A delicious sandwich spread that can be frozen uses up those little bits of left-overs. Just combine one cup chopped ham, ¼ cup crumbled American blue cheese (about 1¼ ounces), and ½ cup sour cream.

Spread thickly on rye bread. Serve with sliced tomatoes, a crisp green salad and tall glasses of iced tea. Makes 4 large sandwiches. (SH

Gild Fresh Peach Pie With Pecans

Those juicy, blushingly beautiful peaches just waiting for you to pluck from your grocer's fruit array bring some of the season's most scrumptious desserts to your table.

Just picture a fresh-baked peach pie, still warm from the oven, marvelously flavored and gilded with a crunchy pecan topping. Best of all, this pie reveals the tenderest, flakiest crust possible, for the recipe calls for lard.

Home economist Reba Staggs points out the fact that lard's high shortening power is responsible for these results.

Glamorized Veal Steak

Light, summer meals give you an ideal opportunity for the entrance of veal into your menu plans. Veal is delicate in flavor, yet filled with the protein with staying power to satisfy appetites.

VEAL CAN be glamorized in unlimited ways, too. A feature platter of Veal-Olive Birds illustrates one captivating preparation trick.

"Birds" is the term used to describe meat rolled up for individual servings. In this recipe, the veal is rolled around a crunchy and piquant stuffing of chopped olives, pecans and celery. The meat then cooks slowly in a creamy mushroom sauce accented by paprika.

Veal steaks and chops are best when braised since veal is very lean and lacking in fat.

VEAL-OLIVE BIRDS

2 veal round steaks, cut ½
  inch thick
1/3 cup chopped celery
1/3 cup chopped pecans
1/3 cup chopped stuffed olives
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
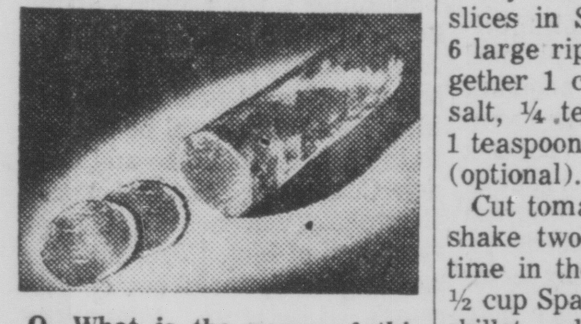
1 can (10½ ounces)
  condensed mushroom soup
½ cup milk
½ teaspoon paprika

Cut veal into 6 pieces. Pound to about ¼ inch thickness, Mix together celery, pecans and olives and spoon approximately 2 tablespoonsfuls on each piece of steak.

Roll as a jelly roll and fasten with wooden picks or tie with string. Brown meat in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Mix together mushroom soup, milk and paprika. Add to veal birds.

Cover tightly and cook slowly 45 minutes or until done. 6 servings. (SH

MEAT COOKERY
Quiz



Q. What is the name of this cut of Meat?

A. Canadian Style Bacon.

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?

A. It is the boned and rolled back strip of pork. The meat has been cured and smoked.

Q. How is it prepared?

A. It may be roasted, broiled, panbroiled or pan fried. For broiling, slice the meat at least ½ inch thick. Broil about 3 inches from the heat a total of 8 to 10 minutes. Slices thinner than ½ inch thick should be panbroiled about 6 to 8 minutes.

FOR ROASTING a whole piece, place the meat on a rack in an open roasting pan. Insert a meat thermometer into the center of the roast. Roast in a 350 degrees F. oven until the thermometer registers 160 degrees F., allowing about 35 to 40 minutes per pound.

No Wood?

We've had the Stone Age, Iron and Bronze Age but never a Wood Age, probably because there has never been a time in man's history when he did not use wood. Without wood, civilization would have been impossible.

Fiesta Lamb

Rely on imaginative, spirited combinations rather than complicated cookery for wholesome meals.

Lamb chops broiled with two of the season's bright fresh vegetables are a perfect example of the festive airs menus assume with little effort.

THE VEGETABLES are zuchinni squash slices and gay tomato halves topped with large mushrooms. They'll lend real fiesta styling to your meat platter.

The lamb may be either rib, loin or shoulder chops. With rib or loin chops, comments meat expert Reba Staggs, most people will want two if the meat is about ¾ inch thick. With more thickly cut chops one for each person should satisfy.

8 lamb rib or loin chops, or 4 shoulder chops, cut ¾
  inch thick
2 large tomatoes, cut in half
4 large mushrooms
4 medium zuchinni squash
¼ cup butter or margarine, melted
Salt and pepper

Slice squash and simmer until tender. Set regulator to broil. Place chops on broiler rack. Insert broiler pan and rack so the top of chops is 2 to 3 inches from the heat. Broil until browned, about 6 to 8 minutes. Season and turn.

Place tomatoes, cut side up, on broiler rack and top with a mushroom button. Arrange squash slices on rack. Brush tomatoes, mushrooms and squash with melted butter or margarine.

Continue broiling 4 to 5 minutes or until chops are done and vegetables are lightly browned. 4 servings. (SH

Fried Tomatoes Fine Side Dish

Now that tomatoes are in their prime, it's a good time to dish up the old-fashioned favorite, fried tomatoes. Give them flavor by sauteeing floured tomato slices in Spanish olive oil. For 6 large ripe tomatoes, shake together 1 cup flour, ¾ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon black pepper, 1 teaspoon minced or frozen dill (optional).

Cut tomatoes into thick slices, shake two or three slices at a time in the flour mixture. Heat ½ cup Spanish olive oil in heavy skillet, add the tomato slices, cook until golden on one side, turn to brown lightly on the other side.

Those slices that become very soft during the frying should be used for the sauce: drain off excess olive oil, replace soft tomatoes in the pan, add remaining flour mixture and slowly stir in 1 cup broth made with onion bouillon cube (or beef or chicken may be used if preferred). Simmer until thickened. Just before serving, add 2 tablespoons sour or heavy sweet cream to sauce.

Serve the sauce over the tomatoes. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Dairy 'Flow'

Over 46 per cent of the nation's milk supply is used as fluid milk and cream. Almost all of the remainder is prepared as butter, cheese, ice cream and other frozen dairy foods, evaporated, condensed, and non-fat dry milk, and many other dairy products. (SH

Flavorful 'Shrub' Made with Citrus

So many good citrus products come from the Sunshine State all year 'round. The frozen orange juice concentrate from Florida, in plentiful supply and of high quality, enjoys a 24-hour day.

Orange juice is not only America's favorite breakfast beverage, it's delicious in summer drinks and as a flavoring ingredient in dessert recipes.

You can make a delicious sherbet with frozen orange juice concentrate and unflavored geletin, serving scoops of the cool mixture with juices, to make a colorful, flavorful drink known as a "shrub" in Bermuda and the Indies.

Fill large glasses two-thirds full with grapefruit or orange and grapefruit juice, adding a scoop of the orange sherbet and garnishing with a perky sprig of mint. Small glasses of juice topped with a diminutive scoop of the sherbet make a novel and attractive first course for luncheon or dinner.

Use the sherbet as a topping for canned or chilled grapefruit or orange sections, or even as an accompaniment to a main course, reviving that delightful custom of serving an ice with the entree.

EASY ORANGE SHERBET

1 envelope unflavored gelatine
4 cups orange juice
1 cup sugar
1 egg white

Sprinkle gelatine on ½ cup of the orange juice in saucepan to soften. Place over low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatine is dissolved. Remove from heat; add sugar and remaining Florida orange juice; stir until sugar is dissolved.

Pour into an 8-cup loaf pan or several refrigerator trays. Place in freezing compartment of refrigerator; freeze, stirring occasionally. Break up frozen mixture in chilled bowl. Add unbeaten egg white and beat with electric mixer or rotary beater until smooth.

Return to freezing trays; freeze until firm. Approximately 2 quarts. (SH

Tomatoes Bake With 'Franks'

With the many big, bright tomatoes ripening this time of year, you're likely to gain a number of them from your own garden, from friends or from the market. And when tomatoes are at their peak of ripeness, they should be eaten quickly.

THE CENTERS of large tomatoes are scooped out to form cups. Inside goes a hearty stuffing of sliced frankfurters, bread crumbs, corn (or any other cooked vegetable), green onions, seasonings and the chopped tomato centers.

Serve this baked meat and vegetable entree for a delightful lunch or light supper.

BAKED TOMATOES— FRANKFURTER STUFFING

6 frankfurters, sliced ½ inch thick
1½ tablespoons lard or drippings
6 large tomatoes
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
½ cup cooked corn
1 cup soft bread crumbs
¼ cup chopped green onions

Brown frankfurters in lard or drippings. Remove slice from tops of tomatoes and scoop out centers. Chop tomato centers and combine with salt, pepper, corn, bread crumbs and green onions. Fill tomato cups with mixture.

Place in a greased baking dish. Pour ¼ cup water into bottom of baking dish. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 to 40 minutes. 6 servings.

New 'Twist'

The "old standby"—cheese and tomato sandwich—takes a new turn when the topping is mellow American blue cheese. Just butter slices of bread. Cover with thick slices of red, ripe tomatoes and top with crumbled blue cheese. Pop into the broiler for a few minutes or until cheese begins to melt.

Sandwich Spread 1-14 ital.... ....

The last warm days of summer usually mean much activity and quick, cool suppers for the family. A delicious sandwich spread that can be frozen uses up those little bits of left-overs. Just combine one cup chopped ham, ¼ cup crumbled American blue cheese (about 1¼ ounces), and ½ cup sour cream.

Spread thickly on rye bread. Serve with sliced tomatoes, a crisp green salad and tall glasses of iced tea. Makes 4 large sandwiches. (SH

Gild Fresh Peach Pie With Pecans

Those juicy, blushingly beautiful peaches just waiting for you to pluck from your grocer's fruit array bring some of the season's most scrumptious desserts to your table.

Just picture a fresh-baked peach pie, still warm from the oven, marvelously flavored and gilded with a crunchy pecan topping. Best of all, this pie reveals the tenderest, flakiest crust possible, for the recipe calls for lard.

Home economist Reba Staggs points out the fact that lard's high shortening power is responsible for these results.

FRESH PEACH PIE

CRUNCH TOPPING

PASTRY

1 cup sifted enriched flour
½ teaspoon salt
4 to 6 tablespoons lard
2 to 4 tablespoons cold water

To prepare pastry: Mix flour and salt. Cut lard into flour until crumbs are about the size of small peas. Add cold water, a little at a time, mixing quickly and evenly through flour with a fork until dough just holds in a ball.

Use as little water as possible. Roll to about ⅛ inch thickness and line a 9-inch pie pan, allowing ½ inch crust to extend over edge. Crimp edge of pastry.

FILLING AND TOPPING

¾ cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
¼ cup cornstarch
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
4 cups sliced fresh peaches
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
¼ cup brown sugar
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
¾ cup pecan halves

Mix together ¾ cup sugar, salt, cornstarch and nutmeg. Add to peaches and mix lightly. Spoon into pastry-lined pie pan. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) 30 minutes. Combine butter or margarine, brown sugar, orange rind and pecans. Sprinkle pecan topping over peach filling.

Return to oven and continue baking 10 minutes or until glaze is set. (SH

Wiltshire-Vorhees Reception In Old Orchard Country Club

A July 27 wedding reception at Old Orchard Country Club honored the former Gail Wiltshire, daughter of the Clifford L. Wiltshires of 817 N. Rand Road, Arlington Heights, and Vance K. Vorhees, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vance E. Vorhees, 422 W. McDonald Road, Prospect Heights.

Two-hundred guests attended. Earlier, the local pair exchanged rings and vows before Rev. Norman Herbert in the Community Presbyterian Church of Mount Prospect. For the 7:30 p.m. service assorted altar flowers and greenery and white bows on the pews added to the church's decor.

Before the bride's appearance, Russell Jensen, second tenor of Purdue University Glee Club, sang two wedding songs—"Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

MISS WILTSHIRE selected a traditional gown of white silk organza over taffeta, fashioned with a scalloped scoop neckline, fitted bodice and short sleeves, adorned with peau d' ange lace and small seed pearls. The wide skirt, with princess paneled front, flowed into a chapel train designed with panels of peau d' ange.

Completing her outfit was a three-tiered veil of French silk illusion, which cascaded from a headpiece of pearl petals and peau d' ange, and a bouquet formed with white Amazon lilies and lily-of-the-valley.

Street-length dresses of nile green taffeta, detailed with fitted lace bodices, square necklines and three-quarter-length sleeves, were worn by Mrs. Barbara Lunaburg, matron of honor; and bridesmaids, Misses Valerie and Sue Vorhees, sisters of the groom; and Margaret Shain.

All four reside in Prospect Heights. Accenting their dresses were velvet sashes of contrasting green, over the controlled bell-shaped skirts, and bouquets of yellow roses.

BOTH MOTHERS wore identical dresses of yellow crepe and chiffon illusion, and used the same color for their corsages of cymbidiums. Robert Lunaberg of Prospect Heights was best man. Bill Schuman of the same town served as usher, as did Bill Wiltshire of Arlington Heights, brother of the bride; and John Bassing, Skokie.

After a week's honeymoon at King's Gateway and Big Sand Lodge in Wisconsin, the newlyweds moved to their new apartment at 120 N. Wolf in Wheeling. The bride, an Arlington High graduate, is employed at Ekco Container, Inc. in Wheeling, and her groom, an industrial engineer graduate of Purdue University, is with Crane Packing Co. in Morton Grove.

Bride's Pearl Pendant Worn By Grandmother 49 Years Ago

A heart-shaped pendant worn by her grandmother 49 years ago at her wedding, was the only jewelry worn by Miss Karen Kay Hopp, daughter of the Floyd E. Hopps of Algonquin, when she became the bride of Richard J. Daniels, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Daniels, 313 S. Pine, Mount Prospect. The pendant, made of pearls, complemented the bride's full-length gown of white organza, which had seed pearls embroidered into the sweetheart neckline. Pearls, in an apron effect, also accented the front of the bouffant skirt. A back bow caught up the full-length train and a pearl tiara held her 3-tiered veil of ivory illusion.

The double ring wedding took place at 11 a.m. July 27, in St. Raymond Catholic Church, Mt. Prospect, with Fr. Doyle officiating. Organist was Mrs. Myron Weigle and soloist was Mrs. Joseph O'Brien.

THE BRIDE, on the arm of her father, approached the altar on a white carpet and then stood with her attendants amid a setting of white mums. Her sister, Virginia Brunes of Elgin, was matron of honor and bridesmaids were Sally Hopp of Elgin and Kay Thierback and Janice Beth, both of Carpentersville.

The attendants wore identical sheath gowns of unpolished taffeta in nile green with matching nylon, bell overskirts. They also wore matching picture hats of net and carried crescents of white carnations and ivy. The bride's flowers were a crescent of Amazon lilies, stephanotis and ivy.

Dennis Daniels of Mount Prospect was his brother's best man and ushers were James Flaherty and Tony Divito of Chicago and Tom Richards of Mount Prospect.

FOLLOWING THE service, the groom's parents were hosts at a brunch for 30 guests in the Pantry in Park Ridge. That evening, 300 guests attended the buffet reception at the Bowl-Hi in Huntley. Mrs. Hopp received in a pink lace sheath dress with white accessories and a corsage of white phalaenopsis, while Mrs. Daniels chose a blue lace dress and jacket with matching accessories. Her corsage also was of white phalaenopsis.

Yellowstone, Salt Lake City and Denver was chosen by the newlyweds for their 2-week honeymoon. Since Aug. 10, they have been at home in Homewood, Ill.

The new Mrs. Daniels attended Illinois State Normal University and will be teaching in St. Damian School in Oak Forest. Mr. Daniels was graduated from Arlington High School and attended Roosevelt University. He is now with the Morris Distributing Co. in Hinsdale. (S

Arlington Juniors Begin 30th Year This Season

Arlington Heights Junior Woman's Club will enter its 30th club year Tuesday, Sept. 10, when the organization holds its first meeting of the 1963-64 season. The meeting will be convened at 8 p.m. by president, Mrs. Howard Schick, at the Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Building.

The club is a member of the Illinois State Federation and the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Traditionally, the first meeting of the club year is planned as a policy meeting to acquaint members and prospective members with procedures, policies and intentions of the organization. In addition to the program on parliamentary procedures, reports will be made by committee chairmen concerning plans for the club year.

ALL CLUB members, with the exception of officers and directors, participate in standing committees which combine programs of self-education and worthwhile community service. Planning meetings have already been scheduled by chairmen of the club's various standing committees, in their homes.

Sept. 18, the Social Service Committee will meet at the home of Mrs. James Fizzell, the Music Committee meets at the home of Mrs. Donald Heine, and Mrs. Ray Becker will be hostess to the American Home and Garden Committee. Juniors' Youth Committee will meet Sept. 16 at the home of Mrs. Roger Ericson and Sept. 23, members of this year's Literature Committee will meet at the home of Mrs. Robert Shufelt.

The club will continue to offer a program of social activities this year, including the couples' bowling league about to begin its third year. Bowlers meet every other Friday evening beginning Sept. 6 at Elk Grove Bowl.

Family Budget Analyzed

CHICATO (UPI) — The average family at La Salle, Ill., spent $4,672 for current living expenses during 1960, the U. S. Labor Department's Bureau of Statistics reported today.

The average La Salle family paid $578 in income and other personal taxes, put $281 into life insurance and retirement funds and spent $189 on gifts and contributions that year, the bureau said.

The bureau surveyed La Salle to obtain data which will be considered in revising the national consumer price index. Results of the La Salle study were released by Bureau Regional Director Adolph O. Berger.

At La Salle, more than half of the average family's spendwent for three basic items: food, shelter and clothing. Food expenses averaged 25.5 per cent of spending, shelter including fuel and utilities 18.7 per cent and clothing 12.4 per cent.

FAMILITES on the average spent about one and a half times as much as single persons for current living expenses. Families spent 27.6 per cent of the total for food while single persons spend 18.5 per cent. However, shelter costs amounted to 18 per cent of the total spending of families but 24.2 per cent of the total for single consumers.

Medical care accounted for 6 per cent of the spending of all of the families in La Salle. Nearly a third of this was for payment of premiums for hospitalization, surgical and other health insurance.

Bride's Pearl Pendant Worn By Grandmother 49 Years Ago

A heart-shaped pendant worn by her grandmother 49 years ago at her wedding, was the only jewelry worn by Miss Karen Kay Hopp, daughter of the Floyd E. Hopps of Algonquin, when she became the bride of Richard J. Daniels, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Daniels, 313 S. Pine, Mount Prospect. The pendant, made of pearls, complemented the bride's full-length gown of white organza, which had seed pearls embroidered into the sweetheart neckline. Pearls, in an apron effect, also accented the front of the bouffant skirt. A back bow caught up the full-length train and a pearl tiara held her 3-tiered veil of ivory illusion.

The double ring wedding took place at 11 a.m. July 27, in St. Raymond Catholic Church, Mt. Prospect, with Fr. Doyle officiating. Organist was Mrs. Myron Weigle and soloist was Mrs. Joseph O'Brien.

THE BRIDE, on the arm of her father, approached the altar on a white carpet and then stood with her attendants amid a setting of white mums. Her sister, Virginia Brunes of Elgin, was matron of honor and bridesmaids were Sally Hopp of Elgin and Kay Thierback and Janice Beth, both of Carpentersville.

The attendants wore identical sheath gowns of unpolished taffeta in nile green with matching nylon, bell overskirts. They also wore matching picture hats of net and carried crescents of white carnations and ivy. The bride's flowers were a crescent of Amazon lilies, stephanotis and ivy.

Dennis Daniels of Mount Prospect was his brother's best man and ushers were James Flaherty and Tony Divito of Chicago and Tom Richards of Mount Prospect.

FOLLOWING THE service, the groom's parents were hosts at a brunch for 30 guests in the Pantry in Park Ridge. That evening, 300 guests attended the buffet reception at the Bowl-Hi in Huntley. Mrs. Hopp received in a pink lace sheath dress with white accessories and a corsage of white phalaenopsis, while Mrs. Daniels chose a blue lace dress and jacket with matching accessories. Her corsage also was of white phalaenopsis.

Yellowstone, Salt Lake City and Denver was chosen by the newlyweds for their 2-week honeymoon. Since Aug. 10, they have been at home in Homewood, Ill.

The new Mrs. Daniels attended Illinois State Normal University and will be teaching in St. Damian School in Oak Forest. Mr. Daniels was graduated from Arlington High School and attended Roosevelt University. He is now with the Morris Distributing Co. in Hinsdale. (S

Stewardesses Meet Next Week

Ex-stewardesses of Trans World and American Airlines will open the fall season with meetings next week.

Clipped Wings of TWA will meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 10, in the Elmhurst home of Mrs. Robert Widholm, where plans for the October international convention will be completed and a program by the chapter's choral group will be presented.

Kiwis of American Airlines will meet at noon Wednesday, Sept. 11, in Kungsholm Restaurant for an opera luncheon. At its July meeting, the club selected the Park Lawn Association for the Mentally Retarded Children, Inc. as the charity to be recipient of proceeds from their annual spring fashion show. (S

Arlington Juniors Begin 30th Year This Season

Arlington Heights Junior Woman's Club will enter its 30th club year Tuesday, Sept. 10, when the organization holds its first meeting of the 1963-64 season. The meeting will be convened at 8 p.m. by president, Mrs. Howard Schick, at the Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Building.

The club is a member of the Illinois State Federation and the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Traditionally, the first meeting of the club year is planned as a policy meeting to acquaint members and prospective members with procedures, policies and intentions of the organization. In addition to the program on parliamentary procedures, reports will be made by committee chairmen concerning plans for the club year.

ALL CLUB members, with the exception of officers and directors, participate in standing committees which combine programs of self-education and worthwhile community service. Planning meetings have already been scheduled by chairmen of the club's various standing committees, in their homes.

Sept. 18, the Social Service Committee will meet at the home of Mrs. James Fizzell, the Music Committee meets at the home of Mrs. Donald Heine, and Mrs. Ray Becker will be hostess to the American Home and Garden Committee. Juniors' Youth Committee will meet Sept. 16 at the home of Mrs. Roger Ericson and Sept. 23, members of this year's Literature Committee will meet at the home of Mrs. Robert Shufelt.

The club will continue to offer a program of social activities this year, including the couples' bowling league about to begin its third year. Bowlers meet every other Friday evening beginning Sept. 6 at Elk Grove Bowl.

Dread Disease

Tuberculosis still claims 10,000 lives a year in the United States, and about 50,000 new cases are reported annually. Records show about 300,00 cases in the nation at present.

Family Budget Analyzed

CHICATO (UPI) — The average family at La Salle, Ill., spent $4,672 for current living expenses during 1960, the U. S. Labor Department's Bureau of Statistics reported today.

The average La Salle family paid $578 in income and other personal taxes, put $281 into life insurance and retirement funds and spent $189 on gifts and contributions that year, the bureau said.

The bureau surveyed La Salle to obtain data which will be considered in revising the national consumer price index. Results of the La Salle study were released by Bureau Regional Director Adolph O. Berger.

At La Salle, more than half of the average family's spendwent for three basic items: food, shelter and clothing. Food expenses averaged 25.5 per cent of spending, shelter including fuel and utilities 18.7 per cent and clothing 12.4 per cent.

FAMILITES on the average spent about one and a half times as much as single persons for current living expenses. Families spent 27.6 per cent of the total for food while single persons spend 18.5 per cent. However, shelter costs amounted to 18 per cent of the total spending of families but 24.2 per cent of the total for single consumers.

Medical care accounted for 6 per cent of the spending of all of the families in La Salle. Nearly a third of this was for payment of premiums for hospitalization, surgical and other health insurance.

Evening Bridge Class To Begin at YMCA

Northwest Suburban YMCA will offer a 7-week evening bridge course starting Thursday, Sept. 19 from 7:30 to 10 p.m. This course if for bridge players who want to improve their bidding and play through actual playing experience at the bridge table.

This class is intended for players who have previously attended any bridge classes or have experience playing in social rubber bridge games.

PRE-DEALT hands will be bid and played; then discussed for improved bidding and playing technique. Also personal problems and difficulties will be discussed and resolved with each individual during the session.

Individual players, pairs and larger groups are all welcome. The class will be under the direction of Robert Hathaway, associate, Chicago Card School, and accomplished tournament bridge player, 'Life Master' status.

Pre-registration is recommended by calling the YMCA at 296-3376. (B9

The Way We See It

Suburbanites Leery Of High-Rise Trend

With increasing frequency, proposals are being made for high-rise apartment and office buildings in suburban areas.

There is no reason to think that the pressure to construct high-rise buildings will diminish. More likely, it will increase. Therefore, it behooves suburban citizens and their municipal officials to clarify their thinking on the high-rise question as quickly as possible.

Widespread hostility to high-rise buildings in suburban towns is apparent. It is easy to understand this feeling of hostility; —tall buildings suggest the crowded, impersonal, and often unsafe city from which the suburban resident migrated;

—the typical suburbanite is fearful that once the first high-rise apartments are built, there will be no stemming a flood of such buildings, and soon the predominant house-with-lawn character of his community will be lost forever; and —the home owner doubts seriously that apartment buildings will pay their fair share of the local tax burden for schools, parks, fire and police protection, and the rest.

On the other hand, height in itself is not an evil thing. There are communities all over the world that are proud of their various spires, towers and other man-made fingers stretching toward the sky.

Certainly, the existing pattern of zoning is not the last word. Basically, it consists of marking up a tract of land like a checkerboard and putting a house in the middle of each square. The main achievement has been that each square is required to be bigger than it was a generation or two ago, when the developer did just about as he pleased.

Perhaps taller buildings will have a place in future zoning.

Suburbanites will insist however, upon some firm assurances before their hostility to high-rise apartments abates.

One assurance is that such buildings will not increase the population density, which means that they must be built in a park-like or campus-like setting, surrounded by broad landscaped lawns.

The 12-story apartment buildings proposed for two segments of the Old Orchard Country Club near Randhurst would contain 960 apartment units on 651,825 square feet of land.

This figures out to 679 square feet of land per apartment. Neighboring Arlington Heights requires a minimum of 2,100 square feet per apartment in its lowest residential category. This little bit of arithmetic helps to explain the uneasiness of nearby home owners.

Of course, sponsors of the Old Orchard project point to the adjacent golf course as providing the open space. But the golf course could be sold at any time, be subdivided and built upon.

In addition to guarding against overcrowding, village officials should decide just how many apartments are desirable in their community. They should establish a percentage figure based on conditions and the wishes of the voters and stick to it.

Most villages have a zoning plan but in some of them rezonings are so frequent as to give the impression that almost anything can be thrown up for grabs and that development is really on a hit-or-miss basis.

For example, two years ago the Addison Plan Commission recommended that apartments be kept at 20 per cent or less of the total number of dwelling units in the village, in order to safeguard the established character of Addison.

Now Trustee Harry Warthen reports that apartments make up more than 30 per cent of Addison's dwelling units, to the consternation of many of its citizens who see the plan commission's predictions coming true.

The public must feel assured about population density and the continuing single-family character of the communities before it will go along with suburban high-rise construction.

Threatening Situation

Plans for an area-wide junior college have been threatened by almost total withdrawal of Maine Township High School District from the survey committee which has been laying the foundation for a spring referendum. The other four districts in the proposed junior college area would be District 214 (Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Wheeling, Elk Grove, etc.), Palatine District 211, District 225 (Glenview and Northbrook), and District 219 (Niles).

Maine's failure to send delegates to summer meetings, which were already suffering from vacations, has put a question mark on an area which would be a central part of the new district. Thwarted in an attempt to increase the education tax rate for the Des Plaines and Park Ridge high schools, the school board claims it can no longer be interested in a junior college but must concentrate on problems (financial) facing the high school district. A bond issue for a third high school in Maine Township passed only after a third vote.

Other delegates to the junior college committee feel that Maine Township's participation is a "must" if a junior college is to become reality. And there are some who insist that the Maine school board's attitude toward the college is not representative of Maine Township residents' thoughts on the subject. The committee has gone so far as to seek Maine Township residents who, although not appointed by the board of education, will serve on the committee.

This seems like a logical move. There is no need for planners of a junior college district to be tied to a high school district board of education. While cooperation of the several high school districts is highly desirable, it does not take a school board appointee to discover community opinion. Only a referendum can do this.

The committee, which originally included -vanston, New Trier, Highland Park, and Ridgewood school districts, has published a survey report which indicates the necessity of a junior college. Each year the need increases. The committee is ready to quote costs, tax rates, etc., but the Maine withdrawal represents a threat to the work which has been done.

We feel that the Maine school board owes it to Des Plaines and Park Ridge residents to provide the facts of the issue and allow them to vote on a referendum. It does not necessarily follow that the residents will cast the same "no" votes which defeated the tax rate increase. And what about the residents in the other four districts who are not at odds with their respective high school boards of education? Are they to be deprived of a "yes" or "no" vote on a junior college proposition?

If the Maine board persists in its "hands off" attitude toward a project, which, incidentally, was instigated partly through the interest of Maine Township educators, the committee should appoint new members from the Des Plaines-Park Ridge area and proceed. We prefer to rely on a decision made at the polls, not at a mahogany table.

Critic's Corner

Whose Objectivity?

by TOM EDWARDS
News Editor, Wheeling Herald

Recently I listened to a newspaper editor, whose potential I respect, condemn the method some citizens took to oppose an election issue in their community. They had distributed, house to house, a piece of unsigned literature at the eleventh hour, leaving no time for a rebuttal, he said. He also criticized the contents of the flyer as narrow and probably erroneous.

Yet the editor had published a front page editorial in favor of the issue in the last edition of the paper before the election (just preceding circulation of the flyer), therefore leaving no opportunity for rebuttal to his editorial through the channel of the press. His editorial was also unsigned and therefore equally anonymous.

Further, he had dwelt essentially on only one point of many involved, and his information seemed misleading — and even if quite accurate, by its narrowness it could hardly have promoted solid thinking on the issue.

EDWARDS

The episode set me thinking again about a subject that frequently engrosses me — newspaperism and objectivity. My thoughts are:

—Editorials written as an expression of a newspaper as an institution are a delusory device, and only the editors themselves don't seem to comprehend this. In the American system, if a publisher is an "institution," then perhaps the newspaper can be considered as such, for they are synonymous.

I know of no instance in which an editorial has been written as a result of a poll of a newspaper's employes. An editorial is invariably someone's personal opinion, and not to attribute it to that person by name is morally inexcusable as circulating anonymous literature. Compounding the unethicalness of this is to write "personal" editorials from the standpoint of "we" at the newspaper.

—I ADMIRE the original attempt of the "fourth estate" toward objectivity, but I deplore its egotistical attitude that it has "arrived." (However, doesn't everybody think of himself as objective?)

—Most common are "objective" reports in which both sides are given equal play, as if there were only two main facets to any particular matter. No matter how heavy weighs the evidence for one side, most American reporters are brainwashed into thinking that a report isn't objective unless the scales are made to balance. (Unless it is a subject such as Jimmy Hoffa, or one in which one side has the approval of Judeo-Christian institutions.)

—It is extremely easy to "objectively" slant any story —by leaving out context or other "extraneous" material; constant use of the impersonal third person as if a robot were writing the story; writing from hometown perspectives; staying within set styles. All of these are underlying fundamentals in journalism.

—SELF-DEFEATING to objectivity is adherence to set styles, forms and word patterns; yet to do so is a basic premise of journalism. Every story has its own uniqueness.

—Check the semantics of international reporting: Leaders of nations on our side, however dictatorial, are described with mild flavored words; those on the other side, with hard words.

—A word is not a noun, adjective, verb . . . as taught to us as school children. They are used in ways to which these appellations have been attached, and a word used 999,999 times as a noun might be well used in the millionth instance as a verb—as long as it best conveys the meaning intended.

—NEWSPAPER stories are classified as features, editorials and news articles, extreme limitations since the possible variations, both within and outside these categories, are infinite. Yet I have witnessed editors in a quandary because they couldn't fit a story into their conceptions of these categories.

—The idea that one cannot objectively report on something in which he is involved is over imposed. Because what we call education and learning is indoctrination and training, because society attempts to straight-jacket minds, this concept may be mainly true. It does often take a supreme effort to throw off the rigid bonds on thinking, but some do. But because the concept of involvement is to believe rather than to weigh and think, the practice has been not to let reporters participate, thereby increasing the neuter element in American society.

—Tasks given to reporters are too often designed to keep their hands busy and their minds blank.

—I ONCE asked a Teamster Union member how he could belong to a union whose head was publicized as unscrupulous and unethical. The answer stands out vivdly in my memory. Chuckling, the teamster said, in effect, that if James Hoffa were the head of "General Motors," there wouldn't be a peep from the newspapers about any dark sides of his character.

—Do social evils breed as extensively within the Law as outside it?

—Newspapers, like churches, are mainly concerned with their self-preservation. When the majority proportion of the energies of an institution turns inward, the institution seems to me to have lost its validity.

Automation Must Be Met

MADISON, WIS., (UPI) — The "threatening shadow" of automation is hanging over the jobs and security of millions of Americans and labor should direct "all its energies toward solving the problem," George A. Haberman, president of the Wisconsin State AFL-CIO, said in a Labor Day message.

"The shadow is what the technicians and engineers like to call automation, but we in labor can much more accurately describe it as loss of jobs and loss of livelihood," said Haberman.

Haberman called on colleges and universities to remember the "human factor" when they design new automatic and multiple producing machinery. job retaining programs.

The news ticker carried an item that Gov. Kerner has appointed a committee to promote tourism in Illinois.

The committee has a formidable task. A tour of Illinois is not too highly thought of by the experienced traveler. Some people on Aptakisic Road tell me they have never seen an Arkansas license plate. I tell them, "Don't worry. It could be worse."

Russell Baker, the distinguished observer who writes for the New York Times, had a lot of trouble in Illinois recently as a tourist.

Baker was the victim of a bad case of "cornphobia."

He was driving west through Indiana and he hit the Corn Belt. All he could see on both sides of the road was fields of corn. All he could see ahead of him was more corn. And when he looked at the rear view mirror, he saw corn, too.

BY THE TIME he got to Danville he was pretty shaky. When he reached Decatur he had a severe breakdown.

They put him under sedation and showed him pictures of cactus and pine trees until he was in shape to be shipped back East.

This incident shows the difficulties which Gov. Kerner's new commission will have to deal with.

SINCE THEY can't stop the corn, they will have to come up with things to keep the tourists' minds off it.

Something like the Blarney Stone. The Blarney Stone has done wonders for from all over the world to be dangled by their ankles and dangled by their anklesand give the stone a kiss.

The question is, where would we put our stone? We don't have any castles like Blarney Castle. The best we could do is some house in Scarsdale, if the owner would give his permission.

SCOTTISH TOURISM has thrived because of the Loch Ness Monster. But again, the commission is going to have trouble providing a really attractive Illinois counterpart.

We could put the monster in Weller Creek. Just about everything else has been put there at one time or another.

But what happens if the monster crawls out on the golf course and interrupts play? That would make Charley Payne plenty mad.

WORSE YET, suppose the monster crawls out and gobbles up a few children on their way to Westbrook School? I can see the campaign leaflets in the next Mount Prospect election with big headings: "HOW MUCH LONGER MUST OUR CHILDREN BE EATEN ON THE WAY TO SCHOOL????" It could cause a revolution in village politics.

In Italy, the Leaning Tower of Pisa has attracted tourists for many centuries. We have a shopping center in Bartlett that is sinking into the ground. The trouble from the point of view of tourism is that it's sinking straight down. Not tipping at all.

It is bad luck like that that makes me say Gov. Kerner's new commission has a formidable task on its hands.

Way of Death

Now that the automobile has become a way of life, tragically it is also becoming accepted as a way of death. According to the Institute for Safer Living, important reason for the rising highway death rate may be public indifference toward traffic accidents. The feeling that accidents always happen to the other fellow apparently is a part of the acceptance of a high automobile fatality rate.

The Price of Anonymity

By BRUCE LADD
Associate Editor

Harold Rainville, special assistant to U. S. Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, forwarded to our office a letter the senator received from a resident of Arlington Heights. The letter was unsigned.

Rainville asked if Paddock Publications could publish the anyonymous letter, running with it an editorial note explaining how frequently senators and congressmen get letters they cannot answer because constituents don't sign their names.

Unfortunately, we're having to advise Rainville that these newspapers will not publish unsigned letters. That is, we will not print items to the Fence Post which are not signed on the original. If a letter writer signs his name and then requests that we withhold it from publication, under most circumstances we will do so.

LADD

I don't know why the writer to Sen. Dirksen failed to sign his (or her) name. The letter was most flattering. As Rainville put it, "I am sure he (Sen. Dirksen) would express his appreciation of the kind remarks and strongly approve of the position taken by this friendly, if unknown correspondent."

Anyway, letter writers often omit their names for one reason or another. Too bad in many cases. Sometimes the omission means refusal to publish and in the Dirksen case it means a taxpayer will not get a warm letter from his U. S. Senator.

I'M NO PRUDE, BUT I WAS really shocked recently to read the title of a new movie opening in the Loop. It's "I Spit on Your Grave." This is too much. The film production company ought to call this one back. I hope the thing doesn't enjoy too great a success, but I wager it will. The title will help.

LITTLE LEAGUE SEEMS TO be in the news. Two weeks ago we published a letter from an umpire strongly criticizing the Arlington Heights LL organization. Last week a rebuttal came from the organization's administrator. I'm sure both men tried to express honest opinions.

I made it a point to talk to a couple of friends involved in the Little League program in Arlington. Both acknowledged that no organization is perfect—including the Little League—but they also pointed out that the Arlington LL organization ranks with the best. They feel the Arlington program is geared for the players' growth and education in sportsmanship. That's the way it ought to be.

I was reminded of a college classmate of mine who umpired Little League in a west suburb. He quit earlier this year when players and parents cursed him, threw objects from the stands and damaged his car. These incidents are so far and few between that they should not be remembered. But, for some intimately involved, it's hard to forget.

MOST PEOPLE I'VE TALKED TO lately seem to have mixed emotions about last week's civil rights march on Washington, D. C. My first emotions were mixed too. Now that it's over, however, I'm convinced it was a good thing.

It probably won't change a civil rights vote in Congress and possibly it shouldn't, but it did focus attention on the problem and force us to think about the state of a society which makes minority groups feel they have to demonstrate. Something must be wrong somewhere.

Last week I experienced my first child's school registration. It went off beautifully without my help, though I was happy to be along. Everybody's getting older, I guess.

It could cause a revolution in village politics.

In Italy, the Leaning Tower of Pisa has attracted tourists for many centuries. We have a shopping center in Bartlett that is sinking into the ground. The trouble from the point of view of tourism is that it's sinking straight down. Not tipping at all.

It is bad luck like that that makes me say Gov. Kerner's new commission has a formidable task on its hands.

Way of Death

Now that the automobile has become a way of life, tragically it is also becoming accepted as a way of death. According to the Institute for Safer Living, important reason for the rising highway death rate may be public indifference toward traffic accidents. The feeling that accidents always happen to the other fellow apparently is a part of the acceptance of a high automobile fatality rate.

Critic's Corner

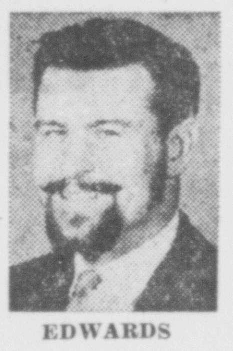
Whose Objectivity?

by TOM EDWARDS
News Editor, Wheeling Herald

Recently I listened to a newspaper editor, whose potential I respect, condemn the method some citizens took to oppose an election issue in their community. They had distributed, house to house, a piece of unsigned literature at the eleventh hour, leaving no time for a rebuttal, he said. He also criticized the contents of the flyer as narrow and probably erroneous.

Yet the editor had published a front page editorial in favor of the issue in the last edition of the paper before the election (just preceding circulation of the flyer), therefore leaving no opportunity for rebuttal to his editorial through the channel of the press. His editorial was also unsigned and therefore equally anonymous.

Further, he had dwelt essentially on only one point of many involved, and his information seemed misleading — and even if quite accurate, by its narrowness it could hardly have promoted solid thinking on the issue.



EDWARDS

The episode set me thinking again about a subject that frequently engrosses me — newspaperism and objectivity. My thoughts are:

—Editorials written as an expression of a newspaper as an institution are a delusory device, and only the editors themselves don't seem to comprehend this. In the American system, if a publisher is an "institution," then perhaps the newspaper can be considered as such, for they are synonymous.

I know of no instance in which an editorial has been written as a result of a poll of a newspaper's employes. An editorial is invariably someone's personal opinion, and not to attribute it to that person by name is morally inexcusable as circulating anonymous literature. Compounding the unethicalness of this is to write "personal" editorials from the standpoint of "we" at the newspaper.

—I ADMIRE the original attempt of the "fourth estate" toward objectivity, but I deplore its egotistical attitude that it has "arrived." (However, doesn't everybody think of himself as objective?)

—Most common are "objective" reports in which both sides are given equal play, as if there were only two main facets to any particular matter. No matter how heavy weighs the evidence for one side, most American reporters are brainwashed into thinking that a report isn't objective unless the scales are made to balance. (Unless it is a subject such as Jimmy Hoffa, or one in which one side has the approval of Judeo-Christian institutions.)

—It is extremely easy to "objectively" slant any story —by leaving out context or other "extraneous" material; constant use of the impersonal third person as if a robot were writing the story; writing from hometown perspectives; staying within set styles. All of these are underlying fundamentals in journalism.

—SELF-DEFEATING to objectivity is adherence to set styles, forms and word patterns; yet to do so is a basic premise of journalism. Every story has its own uniqueness.

—Check the semantics of international reporting: Leaders of nations on our side, however dictatorial, are described with mild flavored words; those on the other side, with hard words.

—A word is not a noun, adjective, verb . . . as taught to us as school children. They are used in ways to which these appellations have been attached, and a word used 999,999 times as a noun might be well used in the millionth instance as a verb—as long as it best conveys the meaning intended.

—NEWSPAPER stories are classified as features, editorials and news articles, extreme limitations since the possible variations, both within and outside these categories, are infinite. Yet I have witnessed editors in a quandary because they couldn't fit a story into their conceptions of these categories.

—The idea that one cannot objectively report on something in which he is involved is over imposed. Because what we call education and learning is indoctrination and training, because society attempts to straight-jacket minds, this concept may be mainly true. It does often take a supreme effort to throw off the rigid bonds on thinking, but some do. But because the concept of involvement is to believe rather than to weigh and think, the practice has been not to let reporters participate, thereby increasing the neuter element in American society.

—Tasks given to reporters are too often designed to keep their hands busy and their minds blank.

—I ONCE asked a Teamster Union member how he could belong to a union whose head was publicized as unscrupulous and unethical. The answer stands out vivdly in my memory. Chuckling, the teamster said, in effect, that if James Hoffa were the head of "General Motors," there wouldn't be a peep from the newspapers about any dark sides of his character.

—Do social evils breed as extensively within the Law as outside it?

—Newspapers, like churches, are mainly concerned with their self-preservation. When the majority proportion of the energies of an institution turns inward, the institution seems to me to have lost its validity.

Automation Must Be Met

MADISON, WIS., (UPI) — The "threatening shadow" of automation is hanging over the jobs and security of millions of Americans and labor should direct "all its energies toward solving the problem," George A. Haberman, president of the Wisconsin State AFL-CIO, said in a Labor Day message.

"The shadow is what the technicians and engineers like to call automation, but we in labor can much more accurately describe it as loss of jobs and loss of livelihood," said Haberman.

Haberman called on colleges and universities to remember the "human factor" when they design new automatic and multiple producing machinery. job retaining programs.

The Price of Anonymity

By BRUCE LADD
Associate Editor

Harold Rainville, special assistant to U. S. Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, forwarded to our office a letter the senator received from a resident of Arlington Heights. The letter was unsigned.

Rainville asked if Paddock Publications could publish the anyonymous letter, running with it an editorial note explaining how frequently senators and congressmen get letters they cannot answer because constituents don't sign their names.

Unfortunately, we're having to advise Rainville that these newspapers will not publish unsigned letters. That is, we will not print items to the Fence Post which are not signed on the original. If a letter writer signs his name and then requests that we withhold it from publication, under most circumstances we will do so.

LADD

I don't know why the writer to Sen. Dirksen failed to sign his (or her) name. The letter was most flattering. As Rainville put it, "I am sure he (Sen. Dirksen) would express his appreciation of the kind remarks and strongly approve of the position taken by this friendly, if unknown correspondent."

Anyway, letter writers often omit their names for one reason or another. Too bad in many cases. Sometimes the omission means refusal to publish and in the Dirksen case it means a taxpayer will not get a warm letter from his U. S. Senator.

I'M NO PRUDE, BUT I WAS really shocked recently to read the title of a new movie opening in the Loop. It's "I Spit on Your Grave." This is too much. The film production company ought to call this one back. I hope the thing doesn't enjoy too great a success, but I wager it will. The title will help.

LITTLE LEAGUE SEEMS TO be in the news. Two weeks ago we published a letter from an umpire strongly criticizing the Arlington Heights LL organization. Last week a rebuttal came from the organization's administrator. I'm sure both men tried to express honest opinions.

I made it a point to talk to a couple of friends involved in the Little League program in Arlington. Both acknowledged that no organization is perfect—including the Little League—but they also pointed out that the Arlington LL organization ranks with the best. They feel the Arlington program is geared for the players' growth and education in sportsmanship. That's the way it ought to be.

I was reminded of a college classmate of mine who umpired Little League in a west suburb. He quit earlier this year when players and parents cursed him, threw objects from the stands and damaged his car. These incidents are so far and few between that they should not be remembered. But, for some intimately involved, it's hard to forget.

MOST PEOPLE I'VE TALKED TO lately seem to have mixed emotions about last week's civil rights march on Washington, D. C. My first emotions were mixed too. Now that it's over, however, I'm convinced it was a good thing.

It probably won't change a civil rights vote in Congress and possibly it shouldn't, but it did focus attention on the problem and force us to think about the state of a society which makes minority groups feel they have to demonstrate. Something must be wrong somewhere.

Last week I experienced my first child's school registration. It went off beautifully without my help, though I was happy to be along. Everybody's getting older, I guess.

Palatine Taxpayers Alerted To 'Outside' Interference

In the August 22 edition of Paddock Publications, in The Fence Post, I note with interest an article by Mrs. Harry O. Krass in which she expresses her deep concern over the Village of Palatine's sewer problems.

In her letter, Mrs. Krass quotes Mr. Vinton Bacon of the Sanitary District as saying, "A bond issue would be the best solution to seperate the storm and sanitary system because it could be stretched over a longer period of time."

This is all very well with one exception; this bond issue must be paid by the property owners of the Village of Palatine. Mrs. Krass does not live in the Village of Palatine; therefore, this sewer improvement would cost her absolutely nothing. If separate sewer systems were to be installed within the village, Mrs. Krass, living outside the village, would not be obligated to pay a proportionate share of this installation.

SHE QUESTIONS the administration now governing the Village of Palatine, implying the government is run "by the real estate brokers." If she was more attentive to what is said and done by the village trustees during the meetings of the village board, she would note that builders and developers have met more reverses than gains.

Mrs. Krass asks, "Who makes up a municipality, the developers or the people?" Had there been no "developers" more than 100 years ago, there would be no Palatine today, and she would not be living on the outskirts of the village, trying to dictate to the Village of Palatine's tax-paying residents how to run their town and attempting to have the Sanitary District force the residents of Palatine to contract for a multi-million dollar improvement for a sewer system which will not cost her a dime.

Many residents on the outskirts of Palatine have had problems with their well water supply due to the gradual lowering of the natural water table. Some of these people have asked for village water, but due to the recent village policy, water cannot be connected to residents outside village limits. Mrs. Krass is most fortunate in this respect because her water system was installed and connected to the Vilalge of Palatine prior to this village ruling.

WHY ISN'T Mrs. Krass crusading for an increase in water capacity and pressure? Could it be that she does not want the residents of Palatine to demand that users of water outside the village limits annex to the village, thereby becoming obligated to pay a proportionate share of all well and pump improvements?

Since Mrs. Krass obviously is unhappy with the administration of village government, why doesn't she annex to the village, thereby becoming eligible to vote for village officials and giving her the privilege and honor of sharing in the payment of the multi-million dollar sewer improvement she so vociferously recommends?

Her letter states, "It is the people of a municipality who pay the salaries of the municipal employes and elect their officials and those people have the right to expect courtesy, honesty, and integrity of their municipal government."

I REPEAT again, since her letter indicates grave concern over village matters, services and deportment, why does she remain outside village limits, denying herself the opportunity to vote for village officials, and the legal right to criticize the actions of employes and elected officials? By annexing to the village she would also gain the legal right to criticize and crusade for the increased indebtedness of the village, resulting, of course, in a higher tax bill to be paid by all property-owners of the Village of Palatine. By annexing to the village she would, above all, have the privilege of assuming her share in the payment of the village tax burden.

Mrs. Krass also queries: "Why do the people of Palatine stay away from the board meetings?" On this question I concur.

If more citizens of Palatine regularly attended the board meetings, they would be apprised of the fact that people outside the village limits are availing themselves of village water, thereby contributing to a water shortage for the taxpayers within the village limits.

Perhaps they would then demand that Mrs. Krass, as well as other non-resident water users, either annex to the village, sharing its problems and financial indebtedness or request them to obtain their own water supply within a given period of time, at the end of which, the Village of Palatine would discontinue their water supply and concentrate its efforts toward the requirements of their residents within the village limits.

IF MORE citizens attended board meetings, they would object to people, living outside the village limits, continuously harassing the elected officials, interrupting the board meetings and interfering with the duties of village employes by requiring the office personnel to locate and submit old records and minutes of past meetings. This requires hours of time which the office staff sorely need to keep village affairs in order and is an expense to the village taxpayer.

Citizens would also take a second, and closer, look at the suggestion of adding millions of dollars of improvements reflecting in their tax bills, while the person who suggested the expenditure blandly smiles across the village limits because this individual does not have to pay any portion of this improvement.

Taxpayers of Palatine —WAKE UP— THINK— CONSIDER— then INVESTIGATE what outsiders are trying to do to your pocketbooks!!

Attend the meetings as suggested . . . put an end to the harrassment of your elected officials and the wasting of time of the office personnel by parties who are not residents of the Village of Palatine.

Press Gag Is Serious Threat

Thank heaven the writer of the August 22 Hoffman Herald editorial "Gag Attempt Undemocratic" did not have to wait for consent of Schaumburg District 54 School Board.

The editorial criticizes a policy suggestion by some members of the school board "which would gag minority members" by forbidding members to "make statements to the press without consent of the rest of the board."

Democracy is not easy. It is harder to operate a democratic society than a dictatorship — where dissent is viewed as a deterrent to progress. But a democratic society throughout its duration will, and has, offered more to more.

ELECTED officials in every local office should make note of the points made in the Herald editorial. They also should observe that those ideas are best which withstand the sandblasting of critical counter argument.

And if elected officials believe they are not getting "their point across, perhaps they would be well advised to utilize criticism in crystalizing the logic of their ideas.

I wonder what type of social organism will be spawned by a generation nurtured on the example of adults who, for fear of criticism, condone actions which restrict the free flow of ideas.

Criticism can only attest to the durability of the best of the best possible ideals.

Travel Article Proves Exciting

How much we enjoyed Jeanne Welch', Travel Editor, recent article on Rhode Island. We agree with 100 per cent inasmuch as that is our home state, and although we are enjoying the midwest, we really miss our little state and all the advantages of "America's First Vacationland" which she offers.

It was quite exciting to read of someone besides ourselves extolling the virtues of Rhode Island.

Our two children and I spent two months of this summer at home in Rhode Island and every day was perfection for either the beach (both salt and fresh water) for sightseeing. One of our nice side trips was to the GreeneHerb Gardens in Greene.

Is School Name 'Hollow Honor'?

I was disturbed to see in the Palatine Enterprise that a new elementary school had been named for a previous superintendent of schools and at the same time a school board member who served for 17 years or more had Oak Street school named for him.

Where is the parallel? Is this not a hollow honor for Sanborn? The superintendent received about $14,000 the last year he served. Sanborn seldom, if ever, missed a board meeting and as president put in many, many more hours concerned with countless details, responsibilities, criticisms and I would imagine very few words of praise.

TO HONOR one who was amply paid for his work and another who tirelessly, faithfully and without remuneration gave of his time for others seems to me a bit incongruous.

There are many, many famous national and international figures in science, education etc. from which a name could have been chosen. Why not let the children, teachers, parents and even taxpayers have a hand in naming these educational memorials?

IN GENERAL EXCELLENCE

The National Editorial Association has honored Paddock Publications with its First Place Award in General Excellence division of the 1963 National Better Newspapers Contest.

The award for suburban and community newspapers with circulation over 6,000 was based on general and departmental news, mechanical excellence, advertising enterprise, editorial page, make-up and style, photography, and promotion of community interests.

The nation-wide competition attracted more than 2,300 entries from 49 states.

This was the 11th award for General Excellence earned by Paddock Publications since 1956. The newspaper also won top honors in this category in the 1960 and 1962 NEA contests.

The 1963 award brings to 126 the total number of press honors conferred upon the newspapers in the past seven years.

It is but one reason why more than 35,000 families now depend upon a Paddock newspaper for accurate, incisive suburban journalism.

The Institute for Safer Living states that despite the congestion of city streets and the speed of throughways, a great number of serious accidents still occur on secondary rural highways. Driver distraction or inattention is believed to be a leading cause.

Stale Creampuffs

RICHMOND, IND., (UPI)—Ten employes and five patients at the Richmond State Hospital for the mentally ill were recovering today from the effects of food poisoning blamed on stale creampuffs.

Good Providers

Sixty-seven of the nation's 100 largest firms have paid dividends for at least the last 25 years; 11 of them have paid dividends each year since before 1900. None of the top 100 failed to show a profit in 1962.

Westward Ho!

Population of the West increased 8,000,000 between 1950 and 1960.

Fence Post Mail Welcome

Letters to the Fence Post should be brief and concise. All letters must be signed. Signature will be withheld from publication if desired, but will be made available upon request to responsible authority of whatever taxing body or public agency is discussed in the letter. No anonymous letters will be considered for publication. Deadline for letters to appear week of publication is Monday noon. All letters should be addressed to: The Fence Post, Paddock Publications, Inc., Arlington Heights, Ill.

Scout Patrol Offers Thanks

On behalf of the Apache patrol of Boy Scout Troop 198 of Keeneyville, I wish to thank all the parents who gave of their time and furnished cars for transportation to the Northwoods, where we recently spent a week at camp. Also, our thanks to our Scoutmaster, Charles Kenyon, who gave so much of his time and energy and was wonderful to all of us.

Travel Article Proves Exciting

How much we enjoyed Jeanne Welch', Travel Editor, recent article on Rhode Island. We agree with 100 per cent inasmuch as that is our home state, and although we are enjoying the midwest, we really miss our little state and all the advantages of "America's First Vacationland" which she offers.

It was quite exciting to read of someone besides ourselves extolling the virtues of Rhode Island.

Our two children and I spent two months of this summer at home in Rhode Island and every day was perfection for either the beach (both salt and fresh water) for sightseeing. One of our nice side trips was to the GreeneHerb Gardens in Greene.

Is School Name 'Hollow Honor'?

I was disturbed to see in the Palatine Enterprise that a new elementary school had been named for a previous superintendent of schools and at the same time a school board member who served for 17 years or more had Oak Street school named for him.

Where is the parallel? Is this not a hollow honor for Sanborn? The superintendent received about $14,000 the last year he served. Sanborn seldom, if ever, missed a board meeting and as president put in many, many more hours concerned with countless details, responsibilities, criticisms and I would imagine very few words of praise.

TO HONOR one who was amply paid for his work and another who tirelessly, faithfully and without remuneration gave of his time for others seems to me a bit incongruous.

There are many, many famous national and international figures in science, education etc. from which a name could have been chosen. Why not let the children, teachers, parents and even taxpayers have a hand in naming these educational memorials?

Merchant Hails Honest Shopper

A short while ago I received this letter from an anonymous writer:

"Gentlemen: A short time ago I visited your store and purchased a skirt. After I got home I found a blouse in the bag also. Since it appealed to me, I decided to keep it. As one of your more honest patronizers, I am hereby enclosing an amount which will cover the price of the blouse. Thank You, X."

I wish to acknowledge this honesty and assure Mrs. X that it did not go unnoticed.

The money will be donated to the Suburban Community Chest.

Park District Rental Not Free

I protest. In a recent article the Park District of Rolling Meadows stated that we received our house at 2901 Stork Court "rent free."

We did not receive the house rent free. We paid $2000 a year for the use of the house. We also paid our own utilities.

IN GENERAL EXCELLENCE

The National Editorial Association has honored Paddock Publications with its First Place Award in General Excellence division of the 1963 National Better Newspapers Contest.

The award for suburban and community newspapers with circulation over 6,000 was based on general and departmental news, mechanical excellence, advertising enterprise, editorial page, make-up and style, photography, and promotion of community interests.

The nation-wide competition attracted more than 2,300 entries from 49 states.

This was the 11th award for General Excellence earned by Paddock Publications since 1956. The newspaper also won top honors in this category in the 1960 and 1962 NEA contests.

The 1963 award brings to 126 the total number of press honors conferred upon the newspapers in the past seven years.

It is but one reason why more than 35,000 families now depend upon a Paddock newspaper for accurate, incisive suburban journalism.

There are 664 million acres of forest land in the United States.

Teenage Cry-Babies Tackled by Parent

The following reprint from the Seattle Post- Intelligencer recently appeared in the Illinois School Board Journal:

Always we hear the plaintive cry of the teenagers:

What can we do. . .?

Where can we go. . .?

I can make some suggestions. Go home!

Hang storm windows, paint the woodwork. Rake the leaves. Mow the lawn. Shovel the walk. Wash the car. Learn to cook. Scrub some floors. Repair the sink. Build a boat. Get a job.

Help the minister, the Red Cross, the Salvation Army. Visit the sick. Assist the poor. Study your lessons. And when you are through — and not too tired — read a book.

Your parents do not owe entertainment.

Your village does not owe you recreational facilities.

The world does not owe you a living.

You owe the world something.

In plain simple words: Grow up; quit being a cry-baby; get out of your dream world; develop a backbone not a wishbone; and start acting like a man or a woman.

I'm a parent, I'm tired of appealing, begging, excusing, tolerating, denying myself needed comfort for your every whim and fancy, just because your selfish ego instead of common sense dominates your personality, and thinking, and requests.

Calls Traditional Church Inadequate

Tiffin, Ohio, (UPI)—A professor at the Chicago Theological Seminary told a closing session of a United Church of Christ convocation today that traditional forms of churches "will not suffice" for the present and future generations.

The Rev. Dr. Victor Obenhaus, chairman of the Second Quadrennial Town and Country Convocation, told the Heidelberg College Meeting that "preaching will not be adequate to appraise the belief and value system which we sustain and which sustains us."

Obenhaus told delegates from 300 churches that rural and urban churches are no longer separate institutions and said: "Our churches and seminaries may not have prepared us to see the meaning of the times. No generation has fully understood itself." (A-14

Teenage Cry-Babies Tackled by Parent

The following reprint from the Seattle Post-Intelligencer recently appeared in the Illinois School Board Journal:

Always we hear the plaintive cry of the teenagers:

What can we do. . .?

Where can we go. . .?

I can make some suggestions. Go home!

Hang storm windows, paint the woodwork. Rake the leaves. Mow the lawn. Shovel the walk. Wash the car. Learn to cook. Scrub some floors. Repair the sink. Build a boat. Get a job.

Help the minister, the Red Cross, the Salvation Army. Visit the sick. Assist the poor. Study your lessons. And when you are through — and not too tired — read a book.

Your parents do not owe entertainment.

Your village does not owe you recreational facilities.

The world does not owe you a living.

You owe the world something.

In plain simple words: Grow up; quit being a cry-baby; get out of your dream world; develop a backbone not a wishbone; and start acting like a man or a woman.

I'm a parent, I'm tired of appealing, begging, excusing, tolerating, denying myself needed comfort for your every whim and fancy, just because your selfish ego instead of common sense dominates your personality, and thinking, and requests.

Calls Traditional Church Inadequate

Tiffin, Ohio, (UPI)—A professor at the Chicago Theological Seminary told a closing session of a United Church of Christ convocation today that traditional forms of churches "will not suffice" for the present and future generations.

The Rev. Dr. Victor Obenhaus, chairman of the Second Quadrennial Town and Country Convocation, told the Heidelberg College Meeting that "preaching will not be adequate to appraise the belief and value system which we sustain and which sustains us."

Obenhaus told delegates from 300 churches that rural and urban churches are no longer separate institutions and said: "Our churches and seminaries may not have prepared us to see the meaning of the times. No generation has fully understood itself." (A-14

Recognition for Teens

Among the numerous interesting statistics on Rolling Meadows is the ratio of children to adult — highest in the northwest suburbs.

Faced with an exploding teenage group (there will be 1,300 by 1965 and the number will double a few years later), civic leaders decided not to just sit still but to do something about it. The unique Police Juvenile Advisory Commission, created by the city council, was the result.

An all-day youth conference was held May 19, 1962, to delve into the problems that might face the city's young people and methods of solving them. A panel of teens suggested more recognition of their achievements; the Youth Recognition Week Aug. 19-24 was the result.

Sponsored by the PJAC, all activities were planned and executed by teens. Events included a beauty contest, free swim for all youngsters, a parade and baton twirling demonstration Thursday; games and sports in the park Friday, capped with family picnics, a hootenanny and Dixie-land combo to entertain, commenteens in academic and public service fields, and a turn-about panel where the teens asked questions of adults; election of honorary city officials Saturday to climax a week's campaigning, and that evening a dance open to all with a 15-piece band on the bandstand.

"Terrific," voted the teens as they clamored to be on next year's committee.

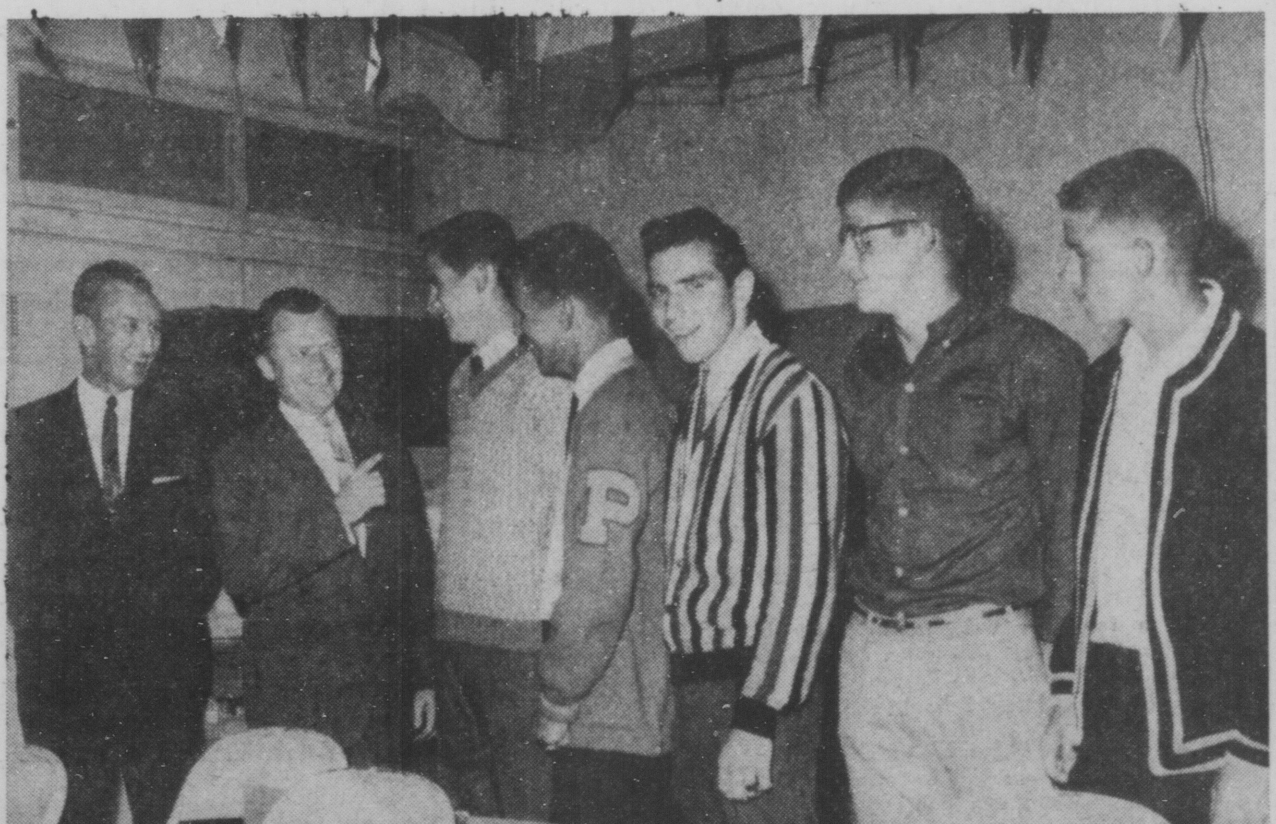
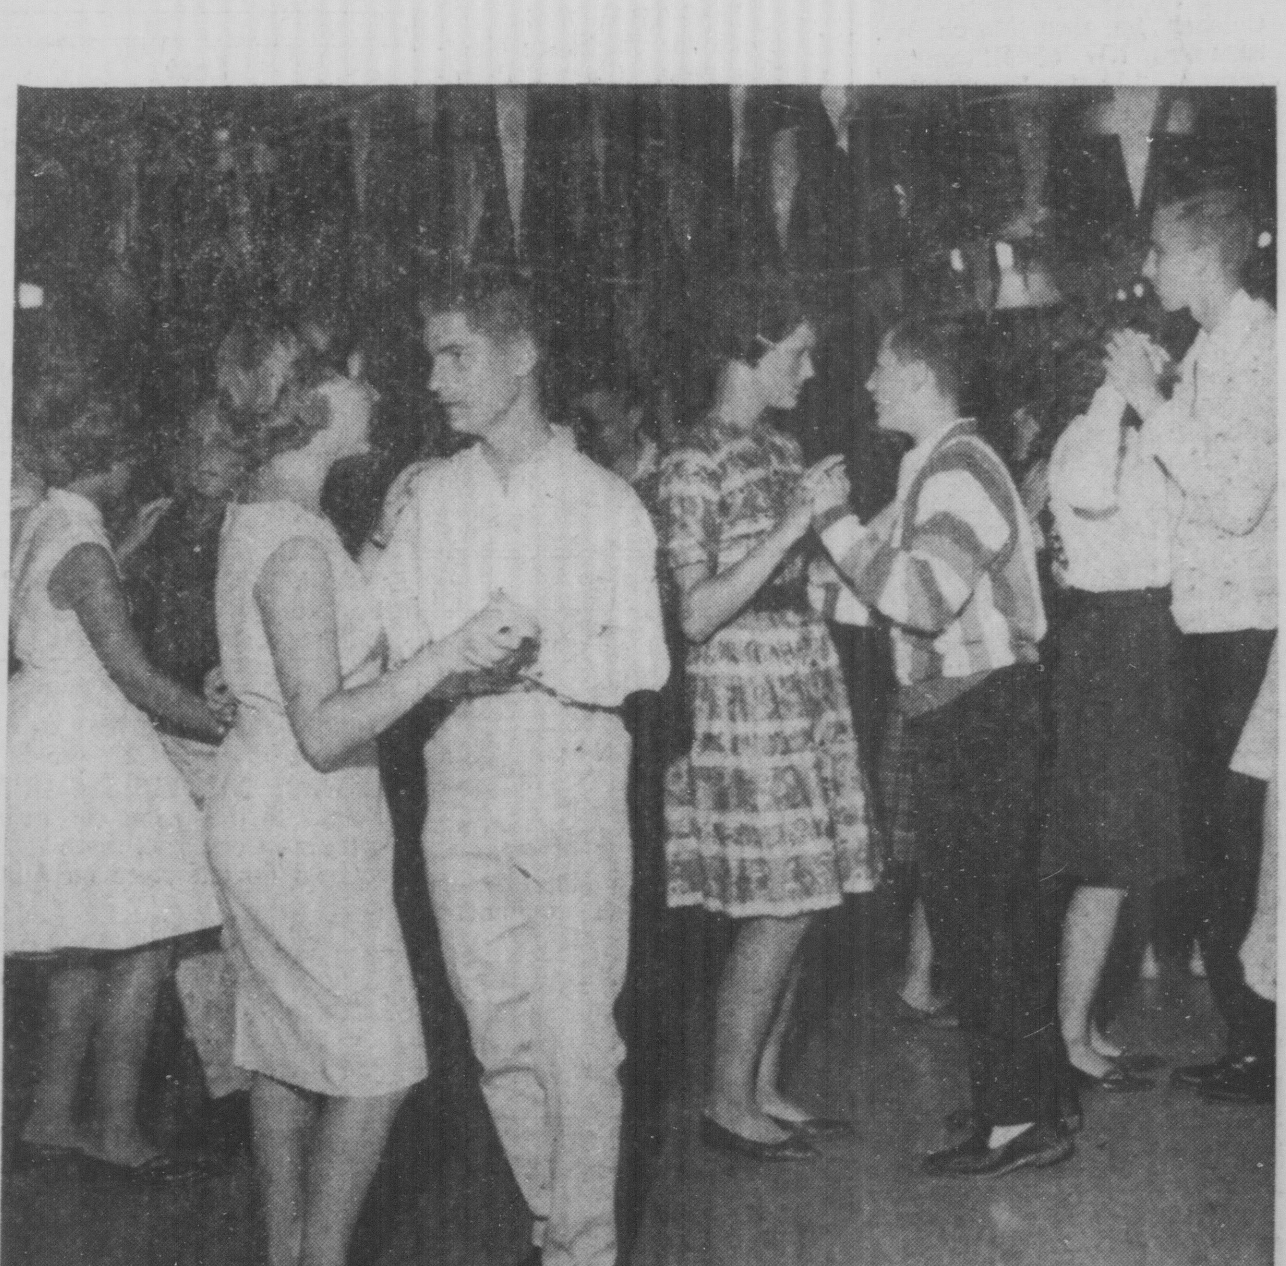
Busy ballot box



"A SENSE of humor helps solve the most difficult problems," advises Mayor John J. Woods as he and Police Chief Cy Campbell chatted with the honorary city officials elected by the teen population. From left the boys who will hold office for the coming year and help administer the city government are Mayor Gary Grenlie, City Clerk John Masura, Police Chief Rick Zographos, Police Magistrate Cliff Hadick and Treasurer George Smith. They were sworn in at this week's city council meeting and then proceeded to conduct a portion of the meeting. "We have a long way to go it we ever aspire to be truly elected to these offices," said Grenlie, summing up the seriousness with which boys and girls face the problems of the world.



"May I have this dance?"

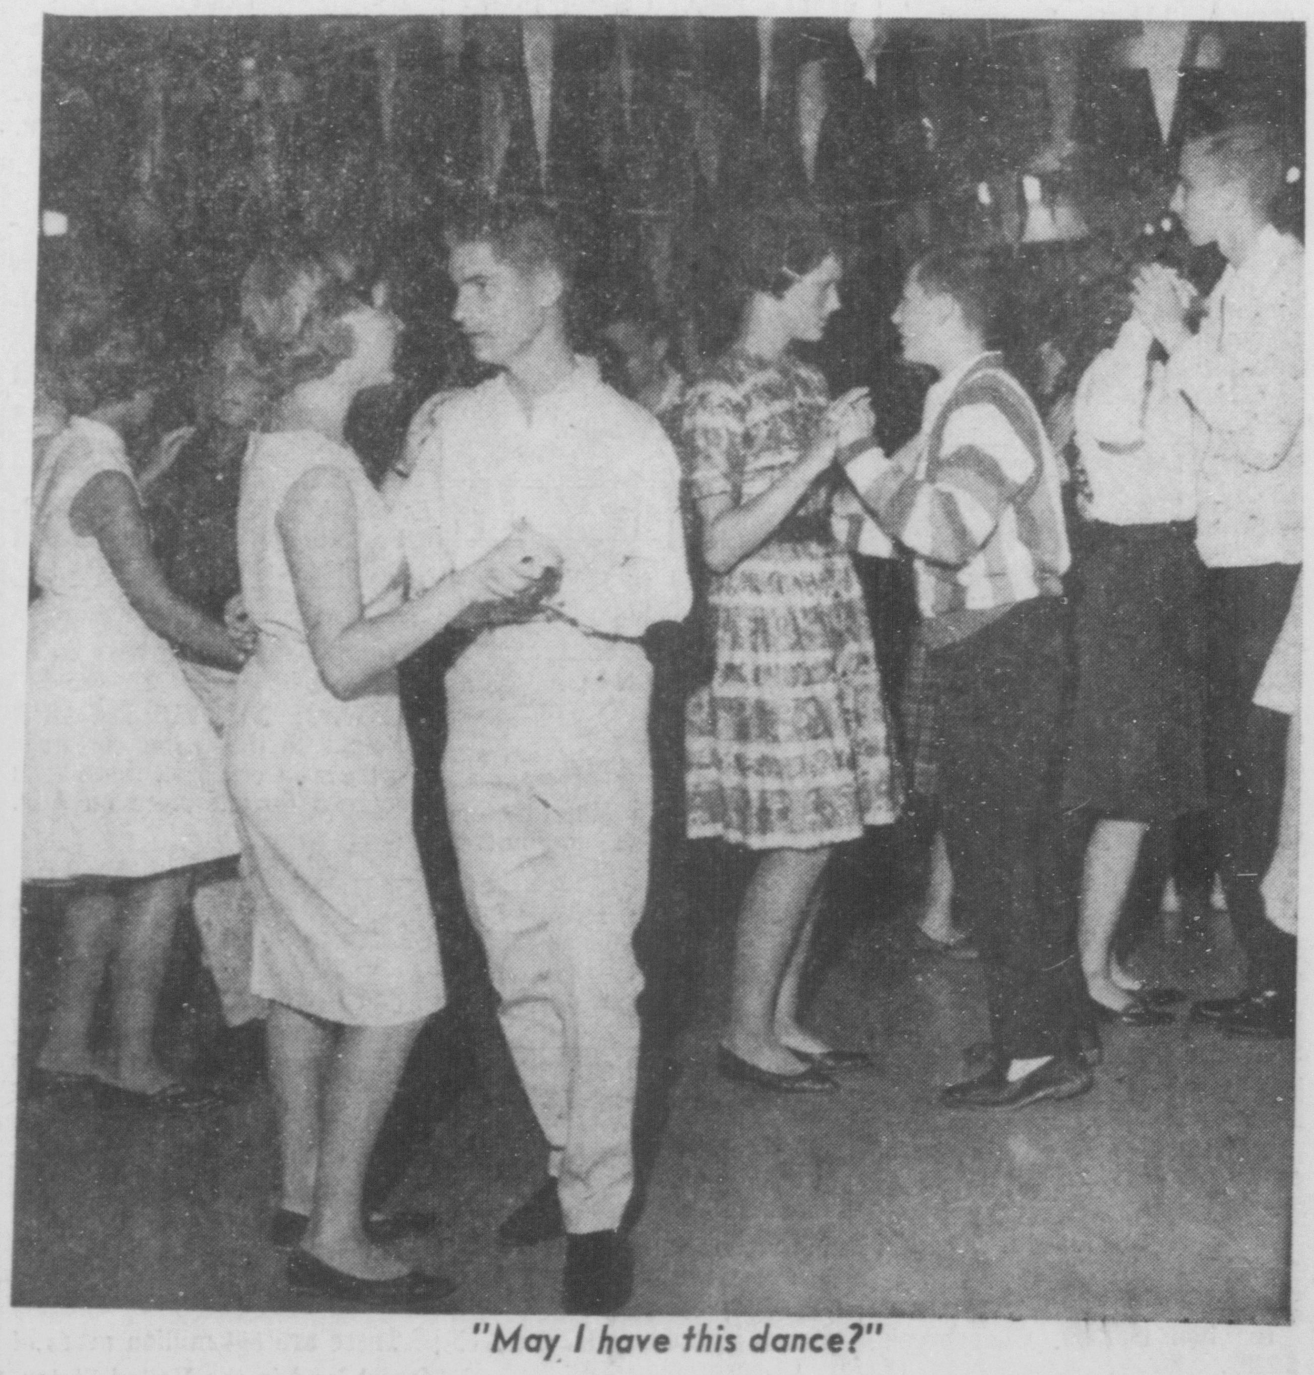
"A SENSE of humor helps solve the most difficult problems," advises Mayor John J. Woods as he and Police Chief Cy Campbell chatted with the honorary city officials elected by the teen population. From left the boys who will hold office for the coming year and help administer the city government are Mayor Gary Grenlie, City Clerk John Masura, Police Chief Rick Zographos, Police Magistrate Cliff Hadick and Treasurer George Smith. They were sworn in at this week's city council meeting and then proceeded to conduct a portion of the meeting. "We have a long way to go it we ever aspire to be truly elected to these offices," said Grenlie, summing up the seriousness with which boys and girls face the problems of the world.



"May I have this dance?"

The Pain of It All . . . page 7

Why—when he knows for a fact (well, almost) that he's a very sick man does no one, not even his doctor sympathize with him? The "ailing" gentleman is Edward Streeter, author of "Father of the Bride," and if the lament sounds familiar, read on as he describes the regular annual visit to the regular family doctor.

Split-Level Child . . . page 8

Poetess Rosalind Welcher takes us into the strange and wondrous minds of young suburbanites through her "after-nature" poems and drawings.

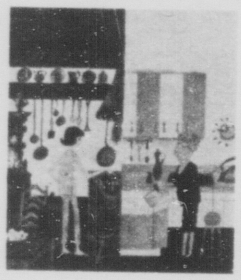
New Family in Town . . . page 12

The great exodus goes on. A steady flow of families continues to leave the city and move to the suburbs, where the population jumped by 10,000,000 between 1950 and 1960. What happens when the newcomers settle in a community? How are they accepted by the old settlers? In this month's Round Table we asked the editors of suburban papers across the country to tell us how their towns are surviving their growing pains.

To Make at Home . . . page 30

Pick a pattern—choose a cloth to cut it in. Our fashion editor has selected five classic fall patterns for you to sew at home and has teamed them with swatches of the latest wools, silks, and tireless synthetics. There are big, bright plaids, bold houndstooth checks, lively tweeds, or, on the other hand, cut-velvets, sculptured brocades, or puffy matelassés—all to make sewing a special treat and wearing the results even more fun.

On the Cover



Who's modern? Not the young homemaker, as Laura Jean Allen's cover shows. She'll bake bread, even grind coffee in her old-fashioned kitchen. As for Mom—her dream kitchen is modern to the can opener. Here she can whip up a cake with the latest electric mixer or slip brown-and-serve rolls in the oven.

GETTING AROUND

. . . to Our Pleasant Places and People

POLK BROTHERS of Chicago are the biggest brand-name appliance dealers in the world, to be sure. But how come they were also the sponsors of the Polk Brothers Holiday Golf Classic, held in Lake County, Illinois, over Labor Day, with Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer, and Gary Player signed to compete for a $50,000 purse?

"It was the fantastic growth of interest in golf as a sport for the entire family that made us think of the Classic," said Sol Polk, president of the firm. "And we had another good $50,000 reason for putting it on. Do you realize that 'Chicagoland' is now the golfing capital of the country—more courses within 50 miles of the Loop than you'll find in any similar area anywhere? I'm sick and tired of all the stale old gangland talk about Chicago, and the Classic was a good way of reminding people of the advantages we have here."

And for good measure the Polk brothers are planning on another reminder next Labor Day.

When a young taxpayer in Prairie Village, Kansas, heard she had been selected for an audit examination, she made this request: "Please may I be investigated by one adult male, moderately attractive, single, and about 35 years of age? By next year we might be able to make two single returns into a joint one."

"Someone has been eating pears in my orchard!" said Eric Pearson. "Someone has been drinking from my rain barrel, and not too long ago!" said his neighbor. The mysterious stranger in both cases was papa bear, a huge 350-pound black bruiser who when last heard from was still on the loose in Rockland County, New York. He keeps appearing and just as quickly disappearing and, so far, the local police department has been unable to pick up his trail.

When it does catch up with him, he may have to take a superdose of tranquilizer in a heavy cartridge (delivered by special gun), but the game warden is hoping, before that happens, that the big boy will hie himself back to the hills—perhaps to nearby Bear Mountain.

Ever hear of Whistler's father? He, too, is believed to have been painted by his famous son, reports Mont Hurst of Dallas County, Texas, although the canvas is unsigned. However, the art critics don't think as much of the old gentleman as they do of his wife.

"Whistler's Mother" hangs in the Louvre in Paris. Dad is in a storage room in the Freer Gallery of Art in Washington.

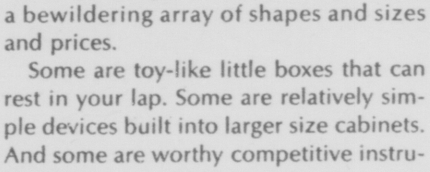
Why this new Hammond Chord Organ is the most expensive chord organ in the world

There are dozens of kinds of chord organs. Since Hammond invented the original 13 years ago, it has been imitated in a bewildering array of shapes and sizes and prices.

Some are toy-like little boxes that can rest in your lap. Some are relatively simple devices built into larger size cabinets. And some are worthy competitive instruments.

But not one offers you all of Hammond's musical versatility, Hammond's valuable music-making features, Hammond's rich melodic organ voices. Although the Hammond Chord Organ is the favorite instrument of beginners, scores of professional musicians have built successful entertainment careers around it.

A Hammond Chord Organ has 96 chord buttons, to give you a freedom of musical expression no other chord organ has yet matched . . . simply because other chord organs are so limited in the variety of chords you can play.

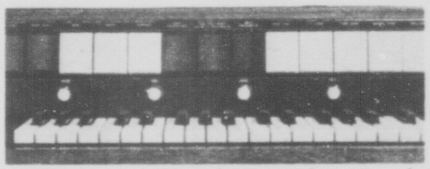


A Hammond Chord Organ has a Rhythm Bar that lets you accent the beat of your playing, adds color to classics, rhythm to dance tunes, exciting tempo to modern compositions. This is a feature patented by Hammond Organ Company.

A Hammond Chord Organ has two automatic bass pedals, that bring in a rich deep bass accompaniment at the touch of your toe. Tap them alternately and you play the "root" chord and its "fifth" for colorful bass effects. This is a feature patented by Hammond Organ Company.

A Hammond Chord Organ now has a reverberation system which creates a controlled echo effect so your playing sounds full and bright even in a room acoustically "deadened" by draperies, carpeting and furniture. This is a feature patented by Hammond Organ Company.

A Hammond Chord Organ has an unusual tonal balancing system which separates volume control for the chord section, the bass section and the keyboard section. You can mix the three parts of the organ sound to suit the effect you want.



A Hammond Chord Organ has Touch-Response Percussion to give you the sound of plucked strings like banjo and guitar, struck tones like xylophone and marimba. Hammond percussion, however, can be brought in on a single note or phrase, while other organs must make every note percussive when the percussion switch is on. The Hammond system is more flexible and expressive. It is a feature patented by Hammond Organ Company.

This latest model of the Hammond Chord Organ now has a Sound-Volume Swell Pedal that brings your music from a whisper to a great room-filling crescendo at the touch of your right foot. It is similar to the swell pedal on the most expensive Hammond Organs.

If you're thinking of a chord organ as a once-in-awhile time-filler, an amusing game, it won't matter much which one you buy.

But if you expect your investment to give you a full-fledged organ . . . if you expect to listen to true, rich organ tone . . . if you expect great satisfaction and lasting pleasure from playing . . . you'd better get a Hammond Chord Organ. America's leading music publishers have arranged and scored nearly 4,000 pieces especially for the Hammond Chord Organ. It costs $1075* complete with self-contained amplifier and speakers. It is worth every penny (even though the bench is extra).

*F.O.B. Factory. Price subject to change without notice.

GETTING AROUND

"I never will be sure whether there are grunions, but I do know there are grunion hunters," writes a reader who visited San Diego, California, this summer. "I remember one moonlit night when a local disc jockey, with nothing better to do, suggested over the air that his listeners, mostly teen-agers, all congregate in Belmont Park with their transistor radios for a grunion hunt. And 5,000 of them did! Before it was over they had 50 policemen rushed to the scene—but as far as I know, no one caught a single grunion."

For exactly one hour once, Larry Evoe, city editor on the Birmingham, Michigan, "Eccentric," had one million dollars all to himself. As he sat in the midst of Midas splendor at one of the local banks and researched an article on money—what else?—he came up with this million-dollar information: One million dollars weighs about 176 pounds or the same as a good quarterback from Notre Dame. And it's about 40 feet in length when all the bundles are placed end to end. Based on the average household income in the Birmingham area, over $15,000 per annum, after taxes, it would take a man 66⅔ years to make his first million.

We were interested in a report that came in recently from the SPCA shelter in San Mateo, California. "Must you quarantine any animal that bites a person?" a telephone caller wanted to know. "What kind of animal?" asked the man in charge. "An elephant," came the hesitant reply. It wasn't pink either, it turned out, just the traditional gray, and it really had bitten Stanley Kramien in his own circus, while they were on tour in Oregon. By the time the circus got to San Mateo, Mr. Kramien was running a fever, had chills and couldn't swallow, so he took his chewed finger and threatening symptoms to the local hospital and reported Jumbo to the SPCA. After studying the case the hospital decided that all necessary first-aid treatment had already been given in Oregon. Final diagnosis: Tonsilitis, not elephant bite.

Last spring 200 women in Kettering, Ohio, were surprised to receive a dollar in the mail, donated by St. George's Episcopal Church, to be invested exclusively in their individual talents. The purpose?—to get big returns from these "talent dollars" and help raise the $8,000 for a kitchen which is sorely needed, but not included in St. George's budget. Enterprising Eleanor H. Green bought a stamp with part of her dollar and sent us this item. When the collection plate is passed this September on the deadline date, she'll have $10 earned from SUBURBIA TODAY to drop in with the rest of her contributions.*

Editors' note: Our "Getting Around" Department pays $10 for each contribution printed, and some of the best material comes straight from our readers. Follow Mrs. Green's example and send in your news to Editor, "Getting Around," c/o SUBURBIA TODAY, 60 East 56 St., New York 22.*

Last spring 200 women in Kettering, Ohio, were surprised to receive a dollar in the mail, donated by St. George's Episcopal Church, to be invested exclusively in their individual talents. The purpose?—to get big returns from these "talent dollars" and help raise the $8,000 for a kitchen which is sorely needed, but not included in St. George's budget. Enterprising Eleanor H. Green bought a stamp with part of her dollar and sent us this item. When the collection plate is passed this September on the deadline date, she'll have $10 earned from Suburbia Today to drop in with the rest of her contributions.*

Editors' note: Our "Getting Around" Department pays $10 for each contribution printed, and some of the best material comes straight from our readers. Follow Mrs. Green's example and send in your news to Editor, "Getting Around," c/o SUBURBIA TODAY, 60 East 56 St., New York 22.*

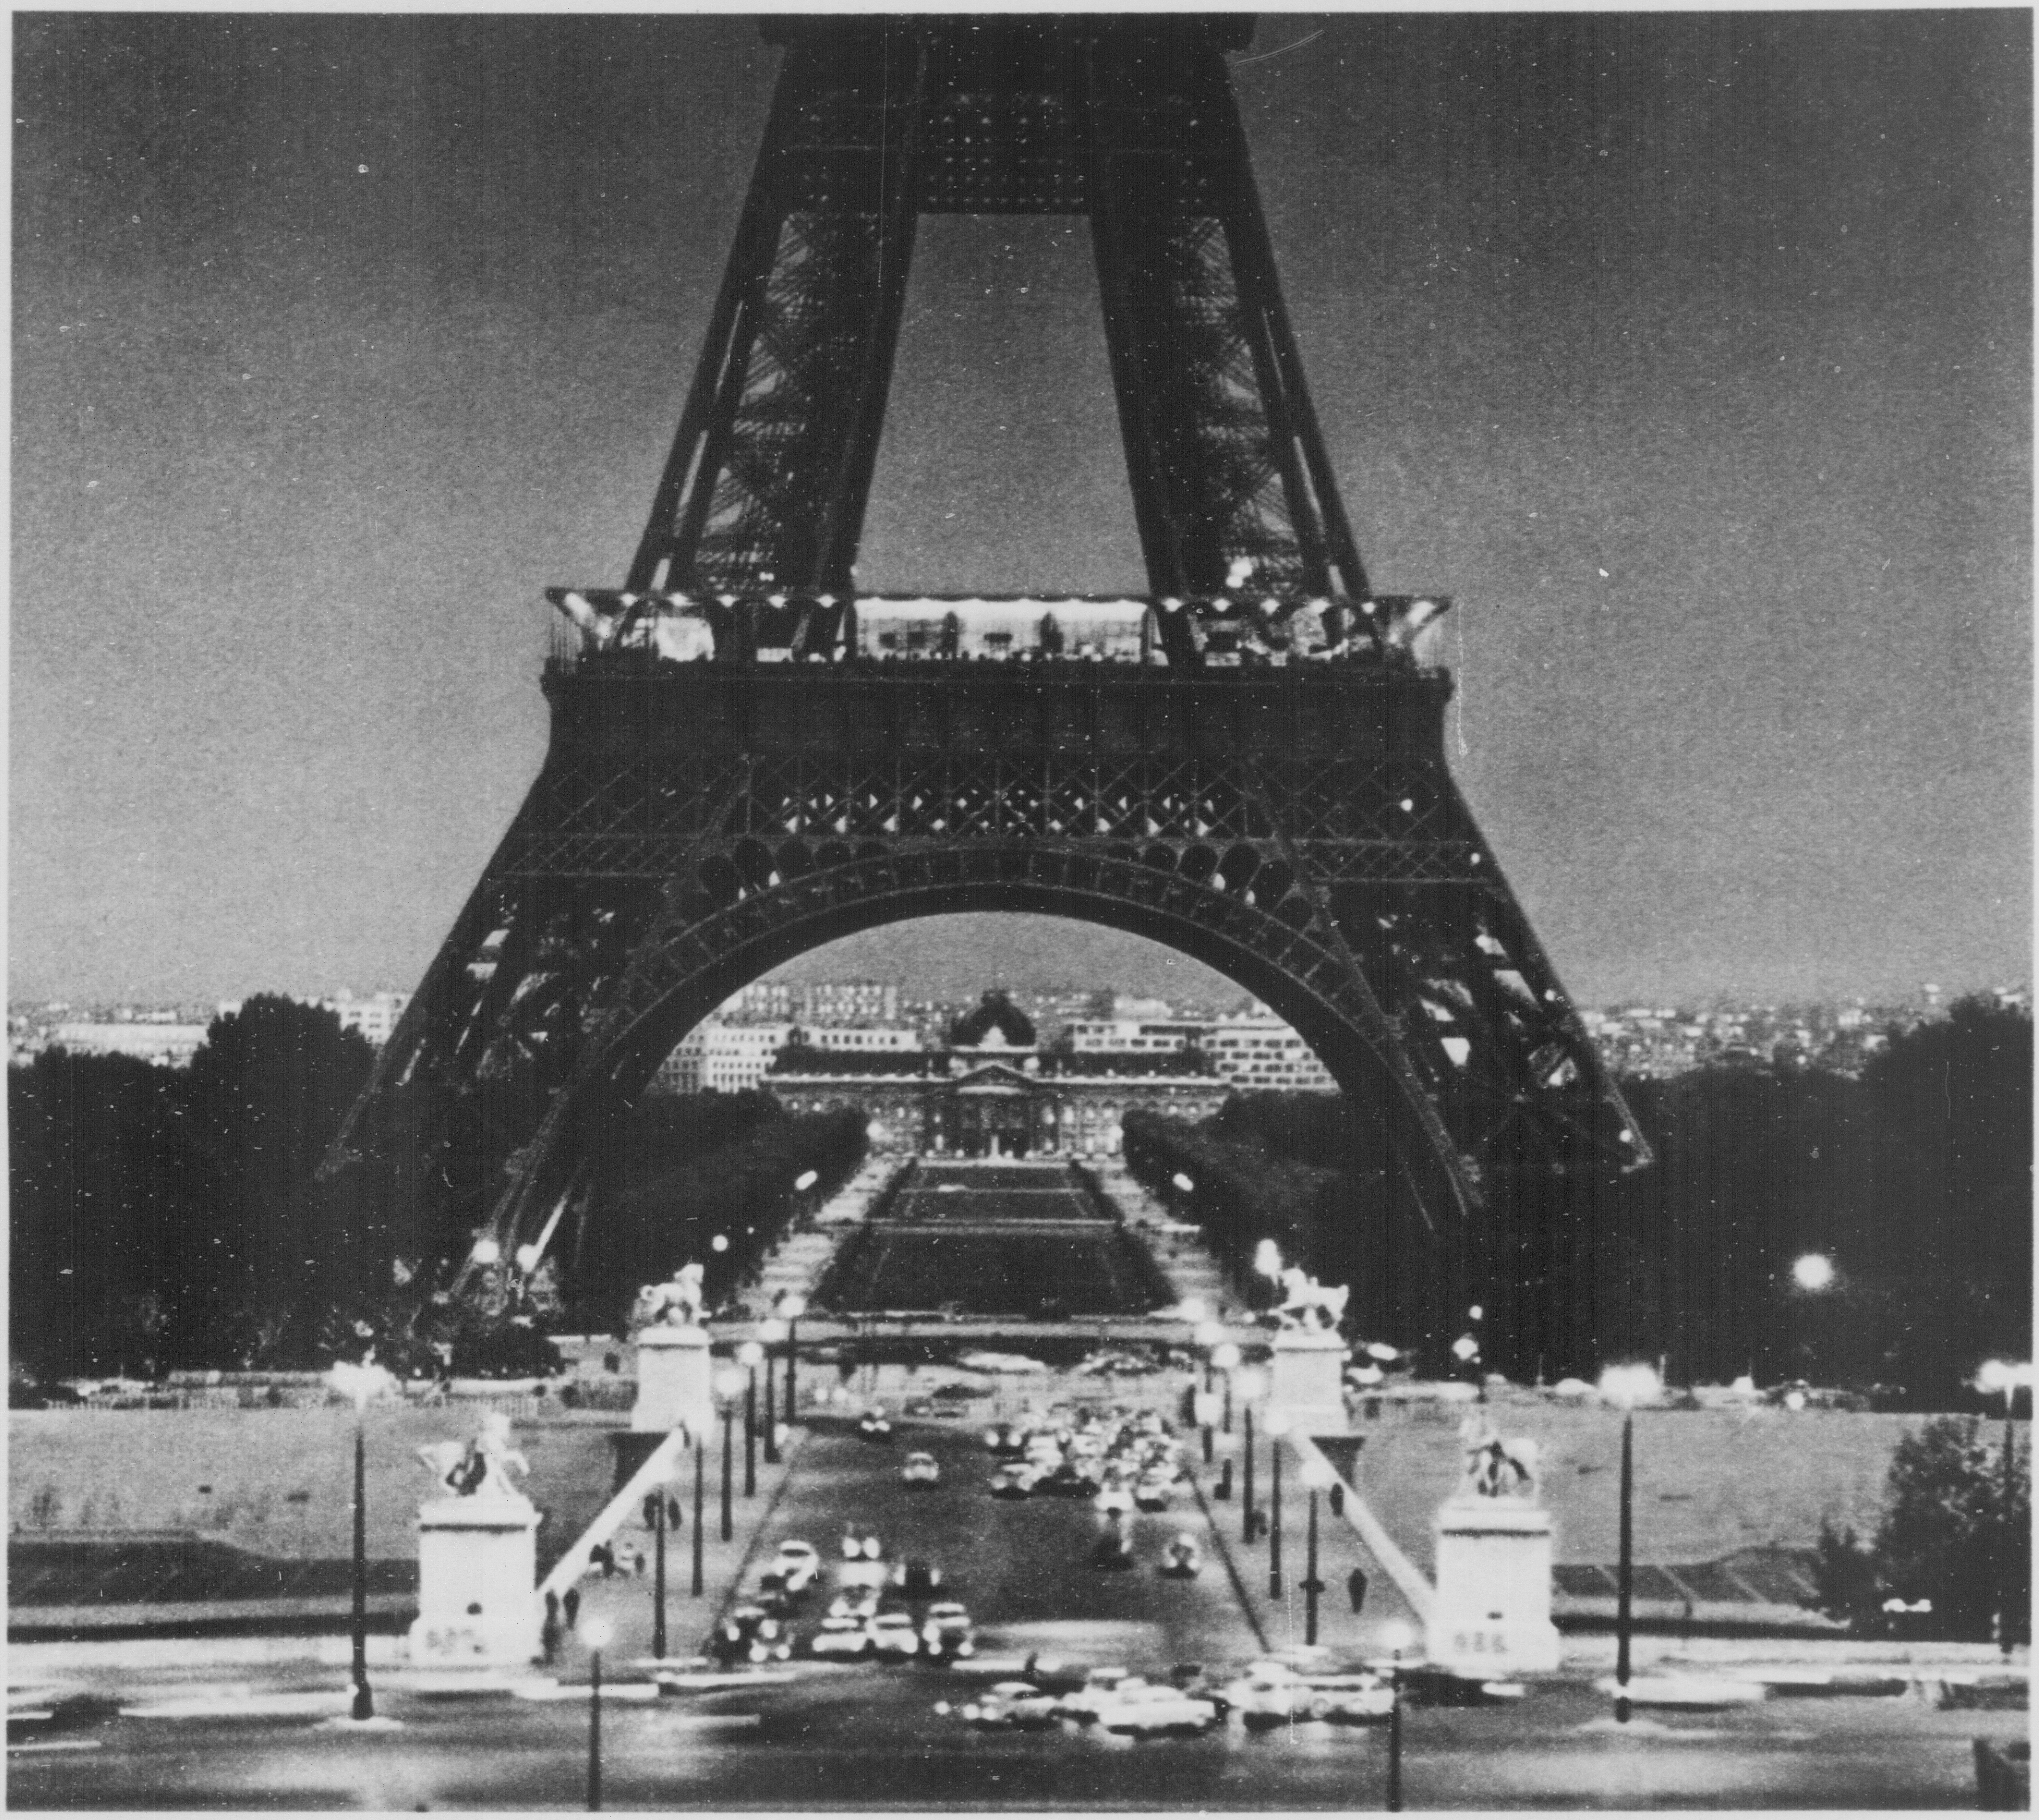
SUBURBIA TODAY

Europe this Fall?



Only Pan Am offers you the remarkable new 21-day ticket plus 4 extra benefits

Pan American's new round-trip 21-day* Jet economy Rainbow ticket may well be the best buy in the history of transatlantic Jet travel. Judge for yourself.

You can save $140 to $160 over regular Jet economy fares (and they're not so expensive). For instance, round-trip New York to Vienna, the regular Jet economy fare is $627. 21-day fare: $478. A difference of $149!

From California to London, you pay $639 instead of $779. Chicago to Frankfurt, $505 instead of $655. Washington to Paris, $425 instead of $575. And from Miami to Rome, $609 instead of $772.

The 21-day ticket improves on the old 17-day ticket, too. It's far more flexible. You can plan a European trip of 14 days minimum, 21 days maximum, or any number in between.

THOSE 4 EXTRA BENEFITS?

Extra flights: Pan Am offers you a choice of far more Jet flights to Europe than any other airline.

Extra cities: Pan Am offers you Jets direct to 22 European cities (twice as many as any other airline). See up to 20 cities on a Pan Am round-trip ticket to Rome. And that's only one example!

Extra ideas for itineraries: Pan Am makes it easier than any other airline to go to Europe one way, return another way at no extra fare.

The Priceless Extra: Experience unmatched by any other airline in the world. And you don't pay a penny extra for it.

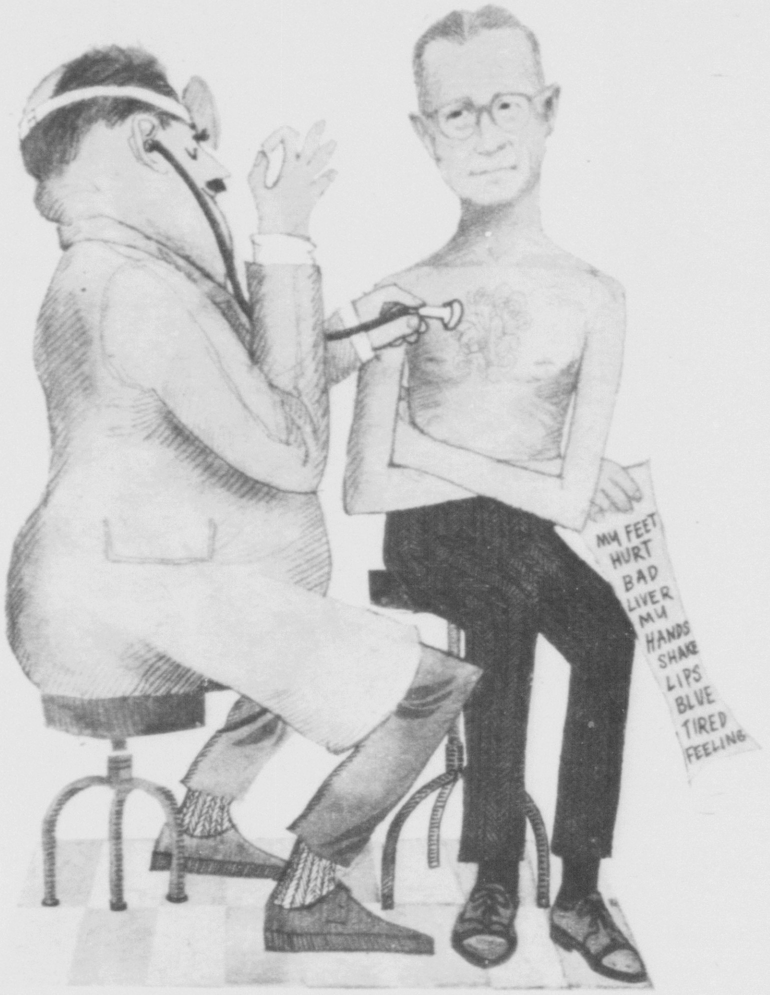
Listen, Doctor



A famous and ungrateful patient sounds off—impatiently

BY EDWARD STREETER

Author of "Chairman of the Bored," "Father of the Bride," etc.

MY DOCTOR is a close personal friend as well as one of the busiest men in town. In order not to add to his burdens I make a point of letting my physical disabilities pile up before bothering him, until it is a question of either a doctor or an undertaker. This year, by the time I called his nurse for an appointment, I had accumulated enough symptoms to keep the Mayo brothers busy for a week.

The nurse is quite friendly because I once brought her a gardenia on her birthday. She suggested I come early—around nine o'clock. "He always gives more time than he plans to his first patient," she said. "As a result, what with people coming in without appointments who are really sick, he gets farther and farther behind during the morning. If you come later you're apt to have quite a wait."

When I arrived at his office, however, there were already three moody looking characters researching for South Sea Island material in back numbers of the National Geographic.

The nurse said, "Are you going to have any tests made?"

I said, "How do I know? That's what I'm here to find out."

Without further discussion she led me to a little back room where an attractive blonde technician, who must have descended from a long line of vampires, immediately began extracting blood from various parts of my body.

"Now," she said, squeezing a last drop from my finger tip just for the fun of it, "if you will go into the other room, the doctor will be along."

I sat on the edge of the couch and studied my list of ailments so that I would not waste his time if and when he arrived.

He came bustling in full of good cheer.

"Good morning," I said crisply. "I have a list here of what's the matter with me so I won't waste your time."

He sat down on a stool facing me and lit a cigarette. "How's Jane?" he asked. "Has she had any more trouble?"

I told him about Jane. One by one he worked his way through the various members of my family. Then he extinguished his cigarette and picked up a stethoscope from the table.

"I have a list here of what's the matter with me," I reminded him.

He disregarded this. "Let's have a look at you," he said, clamping the cold stethoscope against my chest. "Splendid. You have the heart and lungs of a man of 40. You're in fine shape."

"But I am not," I replied. "I wouldn't be here if I were."

"What is the matter with you?" he asked, glancing at his wrist watch.

"Well, in the first place," I said, "I have a tremor that bothers me."

"You've had a tremor for the last 20 years," he said. "Hold out your arms and extend your fingers." He looked at my tremor unsympathetically, so I exaggerated it slightly until my hands were shaking like a pair of mating aspen leaves.

"How many cigarettes do you smoke a day?"

"I don't know," I said rather crossly. "It depends on what I am doing. Maybe 30 or 35. It all depends. Do you go round with an abacus counting yours?"

He nodded without comment.

"What else is the matter with you?" he asked.

"I get unbearably tired about four in the afternoon," I said. "I can scarcely crawl to my bed and pull myself up on it, and I go out like a light for an hour. If I wasn't retired I'd have to lie down on my desk."

"You are leading a bachelor's life these days, aren't you?" he asked. "I'll bet you go out practically every night."

"I have to eat," I protested.

"What do you do the rest of the evening?"

"None of your business," I said.

He nodded. "What time do you get up?"

"About seven."

"And you work hard all day?"

"I certainly do."

"That makes me tired just to think about it. What else is the matter with you?"

I consulted my list. "I wake up about three o'clock feeling as though I was giving birth to twin volcanoes."

"How much do you drink?" he said.

"About the same as you do," I replied irritably.

He nodded. "What else is the matter with you?"

"Item three," I said referring to my list, "I think my liver is enlarged."

"What makes you think so?" he asked.

"It is just an instinct," I said.

He pushed me down on the couch and plunged his hands behind my ribs until I could feel his fingers touch my backbone.

"You have the liver of a man of 30," he said.

"Possibly that's the trouble," I suggested. "Maybe I have an immature liver that never developed."

"What else is the matter with you?"

"Oh to hell with it," I said, crumpling up my list and tossing it on the table.

"Never saw you in better condition," he said. "Wonderful. Splendid. Keep it up."

"Keep what up?" I asked, not too cordially.

"Whatever you're doing," he said. "It seems to agree with you."

WE SHOOK HANDS perfunctorily, and I left.

As I passed through the waiting room, I noticed the Geographics which my fellow sufferers had tossed on the table, and on the cover of one something about "Voodooism in the West Indies." I stopped a minute and turned the pages to the article. It was illustrated with a lot of color photographs of a sick man lying on the ground while around him leaped a whole medical school of witch doctors wearing comic masks, ringing bells, and brandishing spears at their patient.

I slipped the magazine under my arm. It belonged to the doctor, of course, but it was fairly dog-eared, and I wanted to go into this thing more thoroughly. Here was a group who obviously paid some attention to what their patients told them. It gave me food for thought.

Why OUR Children Go To Catholic Schools

It is not, as some imagine, because we want to keep our children apart from public school children.

It is not because Catholics want to dominate the education and culture of our society.

Nearly 5,000,000 children attend Catholic elementary schools in the United States today for just one reason: We believe that religion is the most important thing in life, and that education for our children is not adequate unless ... as Pope Leo XIII said in 1897 ... it is "permeated by Christian piety."

In the United States, public schools are prohibited by law from providing such an education. (In Canada, Toronto public schools have prayers and Bible readings; Quebec public and parochial schools are both tax-supported.)

It is not uncommon in our times to see highly-educated persons whose knowledge is not "permeated by Christian piety." One, for example, may achieve distinction in the field of biology while holding to the view that man has no soul to save. Another will achieve scholastic prominence in the field of human relations without believing at all in the sanctity of marriage. Some attain greatness in the academic aspects of science while refusing to concede that divine considerations have any weight in their field.

Believing as we do that we are placed upon this earth to fulfill a divine and eternal purpose, Catholics do not believe it is enough merely to educate their children in the arts, crafts and sciences. It is not enough merely to educate them to meet the everyday practical problems of their existence on earth ... to make money, attain prominence, or to achieve physical security.

As Catholics see it, our children must be educated not only in mind and body ... but in heart and soul. That is not possible in a public school, under the law. So, in the United States alone, Catholic parents not only pay their share of the support for public schools, but maintain nearly 11,000 Catholic elementary schools at their own expense.

If you would like a more detailed explanation of why Catholics have their own schools ... What goes on in a Catholic school ... How Catholic schools benefit the nation ... What and how Catholic children are taught—write today for our free pamphlet entitled "Should Children Learn About God—in School?" It will be mailed immediately; nobody will call on you. canoe and i wear my flippers and my frogman goggles too and my mother says how can i ever scrub
you clean with all that in the tub

• my mother said what kept you i called you four times i think you get more difficult every day and i said i would have come right away but there was this big old tiger standing right by the door and my mother said why do you tell such lies you know those stories aren't true and i said you tell stories too
you told daddy jimmy's mother is a perfect fright but when she came here you said
dear you're looking marvelous tonight

Local newsmen speak frankly on a ticklish aspect of today's rush to the "peaceful" suburbs brand-new with the bulldozer scars still raw on the landscape. Here the process of adjustment to the influx of newcomers goes on, too, with local conflict here and there, but for the most part the key word is adjustment, not conflict.

Schools, according to our informants, are not prominent among the causes of conflict now. Better schools are a deep concern to newcomers, and they are almost invariably willing to spend all the money necessary. Old-timers as a class are against higher taxes, but they make an exception for school taxes, even if they no longer have school-age children of their own. How come? A West Coast editor suggests an answer: "The time gap between ceasing to be parents of teen-agers and becoming grandpas and grandmas isn't a very long one these days—and who's more anxious for kids to have the best of everything than grandparents?" Old-timers do occasionally balk at some aspects of "progressive education," but not all new arrivals are strong for "fancier" schools either, especially as they become better acquainted with the dimensions of their school-tax bill. Expressions of shock on this score are not infrequent.

Community planning is something else again. Many old-timers don't take to long-range planning in any form. On the other side, failure to plan ahead, to foresee the needs of the future, is one of the most frequent newcomer complaints. A New York state editor admits: "Our older inhabitants just weren't ready for the population explosion of the 1950s, and they're still bewildered by its results." But old-timer voices are heard scornfully referring to the young newcomers as "organization men" who don't know what life outside the big cities is all about and think all human affairs can be regulated by charts with neat little rectangles connected by dotted lines.

On zoning, there is a wide variety of viewpoints. In some areas old-timers oppose it as "newfangled," while newcomers are in favor. Other old-timers in other towns favor zoning as a means of resisting what one of them calls "creeping commercialism," while here and there we find newcomer groups who are beginning to understand what two or three prosperous commercial or industrial taxpayers can do to help keep down the householder's tax charges. Not all newcomers feel this way—some are stoutly opposed to industry in their neighborhoods: "We moved out here to get away from noise and smog." On zoning there is no consistent trend at all.

SEVERAL EDITORS in widely separated areas point out the clash in viewpoint between commuters and stay-at-homes—the latter being, of course, the people whose occupations keep them in a suburban community 24 hours a day. These are more likely than not to be old-timers, and they have a set of vested interests which they sometimes think aren't understood by the so-called "dormitory people." The stay-at-homes have more opportunity to work themselves into places of political influence, and their livelihoods are more directly affected by such questions as zoning and tax rates. In some places the lines of cleavage are quite sharply drawn between these two groups and are affected also by the working-hour presence of employees of the stay-at-homes who can't afford to make their homes in the community. They, at times, set up a demand for low-cost housing which runs counter to the taste of the commuters—and perhaps to zoning ordinances.

The pressure toward conformity which is found in many suburban communities has cropped up in previous Round Tables, of course; "conform to what" is one question that arises between old-timers and newcomers. Thus—in a northwestern community, newcomers were campaigning for badly needed storm sewers; old-timers opposed, said, "We've never needed such things, and you don't need 'em now." To which the newcomers retorted, "You've built most of your houses on the high ground, and there's no high ground left for us!" The old-timers in this case saw the point.

But others have carried their demand for conformity so far as to object to new houses simply because they "block the view" or "aren't in harmony with the prevailing taste." It may be admitted, observed one editor dryly, that on a tree-lined street of neat colonial-style cottages, a ranch-type split-level of a later generation is not exactly harmonious, and at least one instance is known where building permits have to be scanned by a committee of old-timers appointed to make sure of architectural harmony.

We asked especially about social strongholds from which newcomers are excluded, and the replies were, in the majority, negative. From the Southwest: "There's a social hard core which isn't easily penetrated, and a few clubs 'observe' newcomers for a year or so before opening the gates." In other places, election to the volunteer fire department is a status symbol not readily forthcoming. In a large northern metropolitan district our Old Settlers and New People— How Do They Mix?

THREE YEARS AGO the Bureau of the Census published 50 closely printed blue books, one for every state, with the latest findings on the American people. Included, of course, are data on where they all are today. A quick spot-check will show you, for instance, that some 17,000 are in the suburb of Raytown, Missouri, which 10 years before wasn't even incorporated. There are 21,000 more today in Redwood City, California, than there were in 1950, and 10,000 more in Littleton, Colorado. Look up any suburb in any of these books and the story is the same.

On the local level, we all see it happening in everyday terms we have come to take for granted—the purposeful piles of earth where a tangle of weeds and sumach used to be; new young faces in the postoffice and the library; more children entering first grade this month than there were in the whole school a few years back. Normal as it all seems, these are the outward and visible signs of the greatest migration in the shortest time in our history, the flight of more than 10,000,000 people to the suburbs in the last ten years.

Inwardly and spiritually, there are bound to be conflicts and adjustments in any such great movement of people. In some places, like Raytown, Missouri, a few hundred inhabitants had it all to themselves, up to recent times. In other suburbs, long-established patterns of community life have had to be adjusted to accommodate the flood of new arrivals. To add to the confusion, the "elsewhereians" have often brought in new religions, new racial backgrounds, new occupations. How are the old-timers adapting themselves? And how are the newcomers faring? These are awkward questions in many towns, but the answers are important for the light they shed on a real problem.

When we turned, as usual, to the editors of suburban papers throughout the country, we found that local reactions varied so widely that at first we had trouble getting any over-all picture.

At one extreme, consider the situation in a town in Massachusetts or Virginia, which proudly traces its origin back to the 18th or even the 17th century. Over the years, social and political power have become the perquisites of a comparatively small group whose roots are deep in the past. These roots are not easily dug up, and they are resistant to the intrusion of fresh roots from which new growths seek to draw nourishment. For the "upstart" newcomer there is one crushing comment—how long has the man lived here, anyway? This attitude is not readily abandoned, even while the whole outward character of the community is being drastically altered as it changes from rural supply center to fast-growing suburb.

We heard of one New England village in which, for all practical purposes, the paramount political power is wielded by one member of the village board who has been in office for over a quarter-century—as were his father and his grandfather before him. Invariably he listens in silence to any discussion until it has run its course. Then he either grunts or nods or says curtly: "I don't hold with it." One way or the other, this pronouncement decides the issue. There happens to be a newcomer majority on the voting rolls of this village, but somehow they haven't been able to get organized for effective counteraction.

In the long-established communities, the old-timers have influence at the state capitols and in the courts. Socially, they control such status symbols as the garden club and the historical society, and in more than one lakeside village there's a boat club which is highly exclusive.

At the other extreme of the suburban panorama, old-timers of long standing are rarely to be found. Take a brand-new suburban "development" which has appeared almost overnight where last year there was only grassland. No real old-timers there at all, you'd say, except that communities, even the newest, have an odd way of breeding their own. The people who get there first acquire a slightly smug attitude toward those who come a few weeks or a few months later.

"Now wait a minute, friend. I was right here when this sewer extension was first proposed, and I know the facts."

Does the approach sound familiar?

LET A YEAR or two go by, and you find the old-timer complex taking hold and developing a resistance to change just because it is change.

The patterns of the community thus begin to appear: They are less dependent on aged-in-the-wood tradition than in the older towns but they are patterns just the same. Farther out from the metropolitan centers, meanwhile, the rural fringe areas are being still further invaded, and the process repeats itself—seemingly endlessly. A discerning and thoughtful editor in Minnesota believes it is "the most important constant of our times in suburban development."

Let's now consider the vast "in-between" region which is neither dominated by tradition, nor

Some members of the Round Table panel of suburban newspapermen and women who contributed to the findings of this article:

informant notes that the American Legion Posts are old-timer centers—adding that two or three of them make it a point of pride that no veteran of World War II has yet been post commander!

But it's refreshing to note that the club as a hard-rock citadel of privilege does not seem to flourish in the climate of today's suburbia.

"Organizations in our area which don't encourage newcomers are slowly dying," notes one editor.

"There's no club here with a policy of excluding new arrivals and won't ever be if this paper hears of it," an editor from the Rocky Mountain area tells us.

Indeed, having recounted—on the theory that a fight is more newsworthy than peace and quiet—the various kinds and causes of contention between old-timers and newcomers, it is our happy duty to state that while this contention has been indeed a fact of suburban life, fully 50% of our replies emphasized that "in our town we are quick to welcome newcomers, try to make them feel at home." Newcomers' clubs with a varied program of social activities are found from coast to coast and are well attended. Block parties to welcome a new family are quite usual and to be known as a "friendly town" is rated as an important asset.

Without new residents, communities would not flourish, and without happy new residents, their flourishing would be short-lived. However slow, in some instances, old-timers may be to accept newcomers en masse, they do consistently welcome them as individuals.

One delightful instance of this, from Minnesota, strikes the note which, on balance, appears to be increasingly representative of today's suburban scene.

"As NEW residents in the suburb of Robbinsdale some 15 years ago," the editor writes, "we'd never had such wonderful neighbors as the elderly couple next door. As each of our three children was born, the Tuckers were very helpful. Mrs. Tucker even canned the corn in our garden when we were on vacation—imagine—and Mr. Tucker helped refinish some of our antiques. They treated us as their children. I'm sure you'd find many such friendships in suburban areas."

What a nice thing to be sure of—and we can agree. The wonder is not that there is friction, but that the suburban migration can proceed on its history-making scale as smoothly as it does.

Informal Supper in the Italian Tradition

Chicken Cacciatore, antipasto-relish tray, Artichokes Florentine, and tossed green salad—cuisine with an Italian heritage—provide the setting for a colorful supper table.

MELANIE DE PROFT, Food Editor

CHICKEN CACCIATORE

¼ cup cooking oil
1 2½-lb. broiler-fryer chicken, cut in serving-sized pieces
2 medium-sized onions, sliced
2 cloves garlic, crushed in a garlic press or minced
3 tomatoes, sliced
2 medium-sized green peppers, sliced
1 small bay leaf
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon black pepper
½ teaspoon celery seed
1 teaspoon crushed oregano or basil
1 8-oz. can tomato sauce
¼ cup sauterne
8 oz. spaghetti, cooked according to pkg. directions

1. Heat oil in a large, heavy skillet; add chicken and brown on all sides. Remove from skillet; set aside.

2. Add onion and garlic to oil remaining in skillet and cook until onion is tender but not brown; stir occasionally to cook evenly.

3. Return chicken to skillet and add the tomato, green pepper, and bay leaf.

4. Mix next four ingredients and blend with tomato sauce; pour over all.

5. Cover and cook over low heat for 45 min. Blend in the wine and cook, uncovered, for 20 min. longer. Discard bay leaf.

6. Put the cooked spaghetti onto a warm serving platter and top with the chicken pieces and sauce.

About 6 servings

ANTIPASTO-RELISH TRAY

Arrange the Zucchini Vinaigrette, icy-cold slices of cantaloupe, cornucopias of prosciutto, celery, and carrot curls, and anise or finocchio pieces on a chilled serving tray (see photo). Serve with crisp crackers.

ZUCCHINI VINAIGRETTE

5 to 6 medium-sized zucchini
1 pkg. Italian salad dressing mix
¼ cup white wine vinegar
½ cup salad oil
2 tablespoons finely chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley
¼ cup finely chopped green onion
3 tablespoons sweet pickle relish

1. Cut ends from each zucchini and slice lengthwise into 6 pieces. Cook in a small amount of boiling salted water about 3 min., or until crisp-tender. Drain if necessary and cool; put into a shallow dish.

2. While zucchini is cooling, combine the remaining ingredients in a jar with a tight-fitting lid. Cover and shake vigorously to mix well.

3. Pour vinaigrette sauce over zucchini. Chill several hours or overnight. Serve on antipasto tray.

ARTICHOKES FLORENTINE

6 medium-sized artichokes
1 clove garlic, split
1 thick lemon slice
¼ cup olive oil
2 teaspoons salt
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
2 cups drained hot cooked fresh spinach
Cheese Sauce (see recipe)
Parmesan cheese

1. Remove about 1 in. from tops of artichokes by cutting straight across with a sharp knife. Remove lower outside leaves and discard. Soak artichokes 20 to 30 min. in cold salted water; rinse and drain.

2. Put the garlic, lemon slice, olive oil, and salt into a large sauce pot or kettle. Add the artichokes, then enough boiling water to cover. Cook, uncovered, 20 to 45 min., or until a leaf can easily be pulled out.

3. While artichokes are cooking, heat the butter or margarine in a skillet; add the onion and cook until lightly browned. Blend in the cooked spinach. Prepare the Cheese Sauce and keep it warm.

4. Drain artichokes and cut off stems at base; spread each artichoke open and pull out center leaves. Using a spoon, remove and discard the "choke" or fuzzy part. (Center opening should hold ⅓ cup filling.)

5. Fill artichokes with the spinach mixture and top spinach with some of the Cheese Sauce. Sprinkle generously with shredded Parmesan cheese.

6. Set artichokes under broiler 4 in. from source of heat for about 7 min., or until cheese is lightly browned.

7. Transfer to a heated serving plate and serve hot.

6 servings

CHEESE SAUCE—Heat 2 tablespoons butter or margarine over low heat. Blend in a mixture of 2 tablespoons flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon monosodium glutamate, and a few grains black pepper; heat until mixture bubbles. Remove from heat. Gradually add 1 cup milk, stirring constantly. Continue stirring and bring rapidly to boiling; cook 1 to 2 min. Blend in ¼ cup shredded Parmesan cheese.

BISCUIT TORTONI

1 cup chilled whipping cream, whipped
⅓ cup sifted confectioners' sugar
1 egg white, beaten stiff but not dry (peaks remain standing when beater is slowly lifted upright)
1 tablespoon sherry
½ cup plus 2 tablespoons fine, dry macaroon crumbs

1. Fold sugar, egg white, sherry, and ½ cup macaroon crumbs into the whipped cream until well blended.

2. Divide mixture equally into ten 2-in. heavy paper baking cups and sprinkle with the remaining crumbs.

3. Freeze until firm, about 4 hrs. 10 servings

ITALIAN BUTTER COOKIES

These delicate cookies occasionally make their appearance at Italian festive occasions.

4 cups flour
1 cup sugar
2½ teaspoons grated lemon peel
1 tablespoon rum
4 egg yolks, beaten
1 cup firm unsalted butter, cut in pieces
1 egg white, slightly beaten

1. Combine flour, sugar, and lemon peel in a bowl; mix thoroughly. Add rum and then egg yolks in fourths, mixing after each addition.

2. Cut butter into flour mixture with pastry blender until particles are fine. Work with finger tips until a dough is formed.

3. Roll out one-half of dough at a time about ¼ in. thick on a lightly floured surface. Cut into desired shapes. Brush tops with egg white. Transfer to lightly greased cookie sheets.

4. Bake at 350°F about 15 min., or until lightly browned. About 6 doz. cookies

Informal Supper in the Italian Tradition

Chicken Cacciatore, antipasto-relish tray, Artichokes Florentine, and tossed green salad—cuisine with an Italian heritage—provide the setting for a colorful supper table.

MELANIE DE PROFT, Food Editor

CHICKEN CACCIATORE

- ¼ cup cooking oil
- 1 2½-lb. broiler-fryer chicken, cut in serving-sized pieces
- 2 medium-sized onions, sliced
- 2 cloves garlic, crushed in a garlic press or minced
- 3 tomatoes, sliced
- 2 medium-sized green peppers, sliced
- 1 small bay leaf
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon black pepper
- ½ teaspoon celery seed
- 1 teaspoon crushed oregano or basil
- 1 8-oz. can tomato sauce
- ¼ cup sauterne
- 8 oz. spaghetti, cooked according to pkg. directions

1. Heat oil in a large, heavy skillet; add chicken and brown on all sides. Remove from skillet; set aside.

2. Add onion and garlic to oil remaining in skillet and cook until onion is tender but not brown; stir occasionally to cook evenly.

3. Return chicken to skillet and add the tomato, green pepper, and bay leaf.

4. Mix next four ingredients and blend with tomato sauce; pour over all.

5. Cover and cook over low heat for 45 min. Blend in the wine and cook, uncovered, for 20 min. longer. Discard bay leaf.

6. Put the cooked spaghetti onto a warm serving platter and top with the chicken pieces and sauce.

About 6 servings

ANTIPASTO-RELISH TRAY

Arrange the Zucchini Vinaigrette, icy-cold slices of cantaloupe, cornucopias of prosciutto, celery, and carrot curls, and anise or finocchio pieces on a chilled serving tray (see photo). Serve with crisp crackers.

ZUCCHINI VINAIGRETTE

- 5 to 6 medium-sized zucchini
- 1 pkg. Italian salad dressing mix
- ¼ cup white wine vinegar
- ½ cup salad oil
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped green pepper
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley
- ¼ cup finely chopped green onion
- 3 tablespoons sweet pickle relish

1. Cut ends from each zucchini and slice lengthwise into 6 pieces. Cook in a small amount of boiling salted water about 3 min., or until crisp-tender. Drain if necessary and cool; put into a shallow dish.

2. While zucchini is cooling, combine the remaining ingredients in a jar with a tight-fitting lid. Cover and shake vigorously to mix well.

3. Pour vinaigrette sauce over zucchini. Chill several hours or overnight. Serve on antipasto tray.

ARTICHOKES FLORENTINE

- 6 medium-sized artichokes
- 1 clove garlic, split
- 1 thick lemon slice
- ¼ cup olive oil
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
- 2 cups drained hot cooked fresh spinach
- Cheese Sauce (see recipe)
- Parmesan cheese

1. Remove about 1 in. from tops of artichokes by cutting straight across with a sharp knife. Remove lower outside leaves and discard. Soak artichokes 20 to 30 min. in cold salted water; rinse and drain.

2. Put the garlic, lemon slice, olive oil, and salt into a large sauce pot or kettle. Add the artichokes, then enough boiling water to cover. Cook, uncovered, 20 to 45 min., or until a leaf can easily be pulled out.

3. While artichokes are cooking, heat the butter or margarine in a skillet; add the onion and cook until lightly browned. Blend in the cooked spinach. Prepare the Cheese Sauce and keep it warm.

4. Drain artichokes and cut off stems at base; spread each artichoke open and pull out center leaves. Using a spoon, remove and discard the "choke" or fuzzy part. (Center opening should hold ⅓ cup filling.)

5. Fill artichokes with the spinach mixture and top spinach with some of the Cheese Sauce. Sprinkle generously with shredded Parmesan cheese.

6. Set artichokes under broiler 4 in. from source of heat for about 7 min., or until cheese is lightly browned.

7. Transfer to a heated serving plate and serve hot.

6 servings

CHEESE SAUCE—Heat 2 tablespoons butter or margarine over low heat. Blend in a mixture of 2 tablespoons flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon monosodium glutamate, and a few grains black pepper; heat until mixture bubbles. Remove from heat. Gradually add 1 cup milk, stirring constantly. Continue stirring and bring rapidly to boiling; cook 1 to 2 min. Blend in ¼ cup shredded Parmesan cheese.

BISCUIT TORTONI

- 1 cup chilled whipping cream, whipped
- ⅓ cup sifted confectioners' sugar
- 1 egg white, beaten stiff but not dry (peaks remain standing when beater is slowly lifted upright)
- 1 tablespoon sherry
- ½ cup plus 2 tablespoons fine, dry macaroon crumbs

1. Fold sugar, egg white, sherry, and ½ cup macaroon crumbs into the whipped cream until well blended.

2. Divide mixture equally into ten 2-in. heavy paper baking cups and sprinkle with the remaining crumbs.

3. Freeze until firm, about 4 hrs. 10 servings

- 1 cup sugar
- 2½ teaspoons grated lemon peel
- 1 tablespoon rum
- 4 egg yolks, beaten
- 1 cup firm unsalted butter, cut in pieces
- 1 egg white, slightly beaten

1. Combine flour, sugar, and lemon peel in a bowl; mix thoroughly. Add rum and then egg yolks in fourths, mixing after each addition.

British naval officer and the owner of Mollihawk.

Bookings are arranged through the Nicholson office in St. John's, Antigua, and the vessels ply the waters from Antigua south to Grenada, some 300 miles. In this area, there are seven major islands 20 to 40 miles long and hundreds of smaller ones, none of them more than 40 miles apart. Charter parties usually make arrangements to join a yacht at Antigua, Martinique, or Grenada. They sail in one direction, north or south, and then fly back.

CRUISES MAY BE BOOKED for a week or longer. Costs can be figured roughly as comparable to first-class hotel accommodations—$25-35 per day per person for all expenses on board, depending on the size of the yacht. Air fare to the area is a little more than $200 round-trip tourist. Most of the yachts are booked by a family or a party of people who know each other, though one or two of the larger vessels take passengers on an individual basis.

Over bright blue seas and under a tropical sun, as flying fish and porpoises played around us, we sailed past the odd-shaped rock known as Kick 'em Jenny, along the green and hilly coast of Grenada, terraced with spice plantations, and into the harbor of St. George's.

Thus ended a fabulous cruise through the Lesser Antilles island chain in the Eastern Caribbean that would have been impossible to manage a few years ago unless we happened to be retired millionaires. In this age of jet planes and well-organized charter cruises, however, we had accomplished it as a family trip over school spring vacation. ECTORAL* (ronnel) Tablets, given regularly to your dog or cat, can rid your pet of fleas, lice, and even ticks. Tested two years by veterinarians for safety and effectiveness, and now used by thousands of pet owners, these tablets work by releasing small amounts of insecticide into the blood for continuing protection. They are as economical as weekly applications of potent sprays or powders—and far more convenient. In some animals, this medication may temporarily produce nausea or other undesirable effects. KELVINATOR

You save ironing 4 ways . . . with this new Kelvinator dryer!

You iron far less when this new Kelvinator dries your clothes.

All in one unit, it combines all the latest advances to prevent or eliminate wrinkles.

First, it never bakes in wrinkles. Automatically, it senses the amount of moisture in your clothes and shuts itself off when they are dried just the way you want them.

Timed drying is also available for damp drying and gentle no-heat fluffing.

Second, a special wash-wear cycle removes wrinkles from wash-wear, but retains all of the preset creases.

Third, Kelvinator smooths and fluffs away wrinkles with a 10-minute cool tumble at the end of each cycle.

Fourth, a buzzer sounds to tell you when drying is done so you can remove clothes right away and prevent re-wrinkling. (Kelvinator engineers felt a buzzer was needed because the dryer operates so quietly. You can adjust the sound level of the buzzer or shut it off entirely.)

Such an advanced dryer is possible because of the Kelvinator Constant Basic Improvement program. It's another way American Motors brings you more real value just as in Rambler cars.

Why just dry your clothes any longer—when you can dry them and save ironing, too?

Do You LOVE House Plants?

You begin from there, says the pro who keeps 2,000 of them flourishing at United Nations headquarters

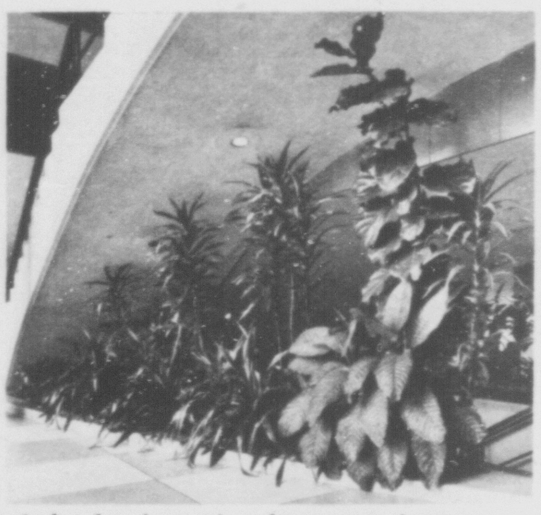
BY SAMM SINCLAIR BAKER author of "Miracle Gardening Encyclopedia"

Ulf Wahlström

UN gardener Blaney sponges monstera.



A bank of exotic plants, set in pots, at the delegates' entrance to UN headquarters.

"MORE THAN TWO MILLION visitors a year see our plants," said Tom Blaney, head gardener at the imposing United Nations headquarters, "so they have to be kept in top condition daily. How do we do it? We give them the same care you would at home, except on a bigger scale. It's a matter of sensible housekeeping, following a few simple steps, and keeping at it week after week."

Blaney's proud comments as we walked from one graceful display to another made it clear that the first rule is to love plants for their beauty. He went on to tick off the other basic points of good plant keeping on his chunky fingers, starting at his green thumb: "Proper watering—enough light—humidity—cleanliness—protection—feeding." He finished, "That's about it." Six fingers' worth.

The most important single point in caring for indoor plants? "That's hard to pin down," he pondered, "but many plant troubles are due to improper watering, usually too much watering."

How often should you water plants? Blaney laughed.

"That's the question most people ask; they want a magic formula. There isn't any. It varies by type of plant and room conditions. The general guide is to soak the plant, let it go from four to seven days until the soil is almost dry, then water."

Light is another all-important factor.

"Because we have little direct light for plants in the UN building, we have mostly foliage plants that can live without much light. Which ones? Philodendron of many varieties, dracaena, aspidistra, pandanus, sansevieria (snake plants), dieffenbachia, ficus, kentia, and others. Philodendron and dracaena are the dependables."

He has African violets, begonias, and other favorites blooming on light-flooded window sills and also under electric lamps where the bulbs are only about a foot above the tops of the plants. If you like to experiment, try placing low-flowering plants the way he does, under lamps where the bulbs are on 12 or more hours a day. With a sufficient amount of artificial light you may be able to keep them blooming in rooms with scanty natural light.

"Lack of humidity is one of our big troubles in growing plants here," Blaney emphasized, "just as in many homes. Wherever possible, we set the pots (all our plants stay in their pots) on beds of peat

Caribbean Cruise

tive crew of three to cook and help run the ship), outlined a suggested schedule. He recommended a day of lazing around Marigot Lagoon on St. Lucia and a night passage to the Grenadines in order to take in more stops.

His idea was a good one, as we spent an interesting day snorkeling on Marigot's reefs and visiting the two newly built inns on the shores of this picture-book harbor. Then a quiet night passage took us to the little island of Bequia in the Grenadines. Capt. Christian and his native first mate, Edmund, stood watches, and we slept soundly, lulled by the easy motion of a ship under sail.

The Grenadines are lower and more barren than the bigger islands of the Lesser Antilles. One legend has them as the peaks of the drowned continent of Atlantis, and their oddly shaped brown hills, jagged and steep, do look as though dinosaurs could lumber across them.

WE SPENT AN IDYLLIC FOUR DAYS visiting Bequia (they pronounce it Beck-wee), Tobago Cays, Union, and Carriacou with perfect sailing over the calm blue waters inside the reefs, and the snorkeling was the best we have ever seen. I remember especially an underwater reef of fantastic shape and color, teeming with fish of all sizes, shapes, and hues, that lay in shallow water just off a beautiful curve of white sand beach, dazzling in its purity.

So bright is the water color that it reflects on the white undersides of sea birds soaring overhead, turning them a delicate turquoise. At sunset, relaxed from a long day of beachcombing and exploring the reefs in Mollihawk's dinghy, we sat in the cockpit and watched the play of clouds over the islands to the westward. When the colors faded from the sky, there wasn't a light to be seen in any direction, and the only sounds were the hum of the trades through the rigging and the lap-lap of waves on our hull.

PHOTOGRAPHS BY THE AUTHOR

Overtaking native fishermen in the warm blue waters off Tobago Cays, where the snorkeling is unsurpassed.

At the end of the four days, Carriacou offered a partial return to civilization, and some breath-taking views from its hills. And Grenada seemed like a metropolis when we arrived, after the last brisk sail, in the lovely landlocked harbor of St. George's. The waterfront is lined with busy shops, and there is constant automobile traffic along the quay and many native craft in the harbor.

A calypso singer serenaded us during our farewell evening ashore, and our last glimpse of the islands was during the hour's taxi ride to the airport through the lush vegetation of plantations faintly perfumed by masses of the orchid we know as vanilla.

We Like it Wild!

Here is true adventure as captivating as fiction. Two city-bred honeymooners brave the wild Canadian north woods for their first year. Brad and Vena Angier pack six duffel bags and a huge Irish Wolfhound pup to travel 2,000 miles from civilization by train, truck and sleigh to the wilderness. Howls of timber wolves disturb early nights in their wilderness paradise. Arctic snows soon seal their hand-built cabin, with temperatures as low as 50° below zero! But these two love the wilds and find comfort, peace and happiness living in the woods. An absolutely delightful book . . . you'll be sorry it ends. We Like It Wild by Bradford Angier $5.95

The most important single point in caring for indoor plants? "That's hard to pin down," he pondered, "but many plant troubles are due to improper watering, usually too much watering."

How often should you water plants? Blaney laughed.

"That's the question most people ask; they want a magic formula. There isn't any. It varies by type of plant and room conditions. The general guide is to soak the plant, let it go from four to seven days until the soil is almost dry, then water."

Light is another all-important factor.

"Because we have little direct light for plants in the UN building, we have mostly foliage plants that can live without much light. Which ones? Philodendron of many varieties, dracaena, aspidistra, pandanus, sansevieria (snake plants), dieffenbachia, ficus, kentia, and others. Philodendron and dracaena are the dependables."

He has African violets, begonias, and other favorites blooming on light-flooded window sills and also under electric lamps where the bulbs are only about a foot above the tops of the plants. If you like to experiment, try placing low-flowering plants the way he does, under lamps where the bulbs are on 12 or more hours a day. With a sufficient amount of artificial light you may be able to keep them blooming in rooms with scanty natural light.

"Lack of humidity is one of our big troubles in growing plants here," Blaney emphasized, "just as in many homes. Wherever possible, we set the pots (all our plants stay in their pots) on beds of peat moss covered with a topping of smooth, round stones for beauty. We soak the peat moss every few days, so that moisture rises around the plants. Also, we spray a fine mist of water on the foliage every week when we can find the time. A good thing to do at home, too."

And at home you can place the pots over shallow trays containing water. But don't let the bottoms of the pots actually stand in water, or plants will get "wet feet" and trouble. Trays of water on radiators also will provide humidity that's good both for plants and for you.

"We try to clean the foliage every week," he continued. "We use a bucketful of weak insecticide with a nicotine base and sponge off the leaves, including the grooves where leaves and branches join the stalk."

That's important at home, too. Sponge off plants about once a week or clean with soft bristles—with an old shaving brush, for instance. Spray with a mild insecticide at any sign of mealybugs, aphids, or other insects; it only takes seconds.

Although the food in UN restaurants is good, the UN's plants are fed little.

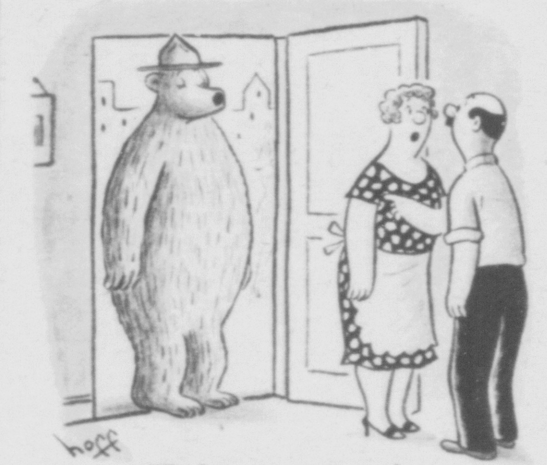
"We don't feed heavily," Blaney explained, "because we don't want foliage to spring up fast and get spindly so that we have to cut back too often. Of course, we start with a rich soil mixture. When we do feed, we use water-soluble plant food, applying it as we water through a tube attached to a tank."

That, too, is quick, clean, and easy to do at home. Mix a weak solution of soluble plant food in water and soak the soil with a long-nosed can that bypasses the leaves. For more blooms on flowering plants, apply every two or three weeks. It can make a wonderful difference in bloom size as well as quantity.

"When roots become too crowded," Blaney continued, "we repot in containers only an inch or so wider in diameter. People at home usually repot to a much larger container, which is bad. Also, with flowering plants, you get more blooms if roots are a little crowded.

"When we trim valuable plants, we often save some leaves with a few inches of stem, put them in jars two-thirds full of water, and add a few chunks of charcoal to keep the water sweet and clean. In a month or so the stems have developed strong roots, ready to grow into beautiful new plants. Anybody can do that at home."

And, with Tom Blaney's practical advice, anyone can keep house plants happy at home.



"Did you put out that cigarette back at camp?"

Caribbean Cruise

tive crew of three to cook and help run the ship), outlined a suggested schedule. He recommended a day of lazing around Marigot Lagoon on St. Lucia and a night passage to the Grenadines in order to take in more stops.

His idea was a good one, as we spent an interesting day snorkeling on Marigot's reefs and visiting the two newly built inns on the shores of this picture-book harbor. Then a quiet night passage took us to the little island of Bequia in the Grenadines. Capt. Christian and his native first mate, Edmund, stood watches, and we slept soundly, lulled by the easy motion of a ship under sail.

The Grenadines are lower and more barren than the bigger islands of the Lesser Antilles. One legend has them as the peaks of the drowned continent of Atlantis, and their oddly shaped brown hills, jagged and steep, do look as though dinosaurs could lumber across them.

WE SPENT AN IDYLLIC FOUR DAYS visiting Bequia (they pronounce it Beck-wee), Tobago Cays, Union, and Carriacou with perfect sailing over the calm blue waters inside the reefs, and the snorkeling was the best we have ever seen. I remember especially an underwater reef of fantastic shape and color, teeming with fish of all sizes, shapes, and hues, that lay in shallow water just off a beautiful curve of white sand beach, dazzling in its purity.

So bright is the water color that it reflects on the white undersides of sea birds soaring overhead, turning them a delicate turquoise. At sunset, relaxed from a long day of beachcombing and exploring the reefs in Mollihawk's dinghy, we sat in the cockpit and watched the play of clouds over the islands to the westward. When the colors faded from the sky, there wasn't a light to be seen in any direction, and the only sounds were the hum of the trades through the rigging and the lap-lap of waves on our hull.

PHOTOGRAPHS BY THE AUTHOR

Overtaking native fishermen in the warm blue waters off Tobago Cays, where the snorkeling is unsurpassed.

At the end of the four days, Carriacou offered a partial return to civilization, and some breath-taking views from its hills. And Grenada seemed like a metropolis when we arrived, after the last brisk sail, in the lovely landlocked harbor of St. George's. The waterfront is lined with busy shops, and there is constant automobile traffic along the quay and many native craft in the harbor.

A calypso singer serenaded us during our farewell evening ashore, and our last glimpse of the islands was during the hour's taxi ride to the airport through the lush vegetation of plantations faintly perfumed by masses of the orchid we know as vanilla.

We Like it Wild!

Here is true adventure as captivating as fiction. Two city-bred honeymooners brave the wild Canadian north woods for their first year. Brad and Vena Angier pack six duffel bags and a huge Irish Wolfhound pup to travel 2,000 miles from civilization by train, truck and sleigh to the wilderness. Howls of timber wolves disturb early nights in their wilderness paradise. Arctic snows soon seal their hand-built cabin, with temperatures as low as 50° below zero! But these two love the wilds and find comfort, peace and happiness living in the woods. An absolutely delightful book . . . you'll be sorry it ends. We Like It Wild by Bradford Angier $5.95

6124 — Egg-A-Matic $2.98

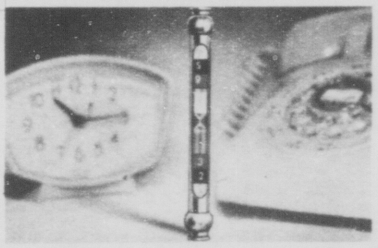
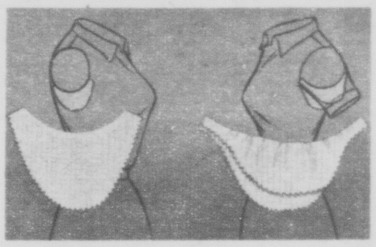


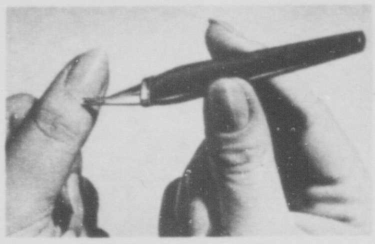
COUNT THE MINUTES AS YOU TALK! Sleek chrome-cased Timer-Dialer registers the minutes "spent"... counts from one to six on dramatic color bars. Keep your phone bills down by timing your long distance calls accurately and automatically — without clock watching! 4⅝" long, with pretty globe ends for dialing. Best budget helper ever!

6137 — Timer-Dialer $1



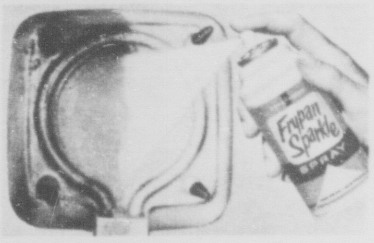
INSTANT DRESS SHIELDS... end the bother of pins, straps and laundering. When soiled, just use a fresh replacement. They cling to fabric at self-adhesive points... won't slip. Moisture-proof inner liner, soft, absorbent outer layer. 8-pair Pack in Regular (fold-over) or Sleeveless (single) style.

6060 — Regular Shields Pack $1.49
6061 — Sleeveless Shields Pack $1



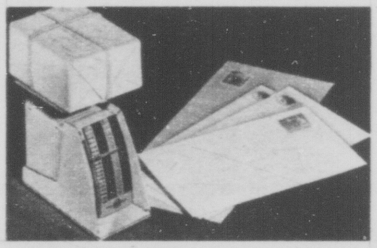
YOUR OWN CUTICLE GROOMER! At last — an easy-to-use manicure aid! You can trim your cuticles with professional speed and precision... use either your left or right hand. Cuti-Groomer is a fine cutting tool made of stainless steel on a handle of black plastic. Gives your hands that well-cared-for look... guards against hangnails.

6128 — Cuti-Groomer .... 98¢



SICK OF SCOURING grease-caked pots and pans? The answer is Frypan Sparkle! Just spray it on any metal or porcelain surface. Allow the utensil to stand while liquid solvents loosen baked-on grease—then just rinse clean! Removes carbon from fry pans, ovens, grills. This shortcut to shine-like-new utensils preserves finish, too. 6-oz. can.

6083 — Frypan Sparkle $1.49

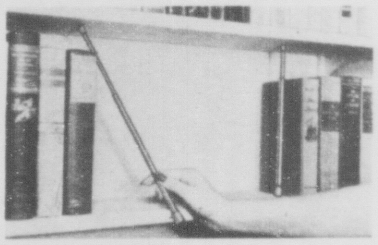


PRECISE LITTLE PLATFORM SCALE ...the first platform-top Postal Scale for letters and small packages at such a remarkable low price! It weighs mail up to 1 lb.... and automatically shows postage required for 1st class, 3rd class and Air Mail. 4" high, 2" wide... small enough to carry in your briefcase!

5992 — Postal Scale $1

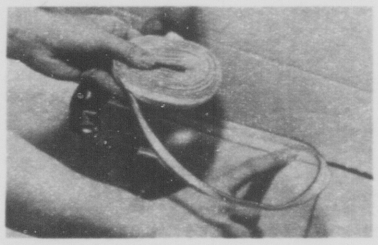
NEW IDEAS BY MAIL FROM SUNSET HOUSE

943 SUNSET BUILDING,
BEVERLY HILLS, CALIF.



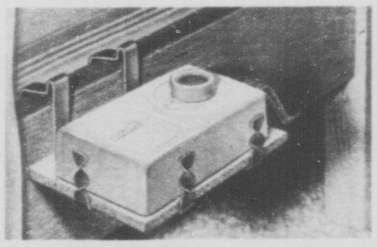
SLIM, SLEEK BOOK-POLES spring into action immediately... use only ¼ sq. in. of space! They support books, yet won't slip, slide or coast! Made of gleaming, brass-finish aluminum. Vertical spring tension holds them, rubber tips anchor them. Fit any shelves 9½" to 13" high.

6146 — Book-Poles Pair $1
2 Pairs for only $1.89



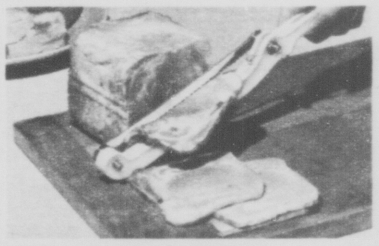
MAKE TUB CRACKS DISAPPEAR like magic! Easy-to-use Seal-Tub stops water damage, covers gaps and chipping around tubs, sinks, in showers. Apply cement base in Kit, then smooth on contoured molding strip of porcelain-like vinyl. Makes a permanent, waterproof bond to porcelain, tile or plaster. Kit fixes one tub like new.

6164 — Seal-Tub Kit $1



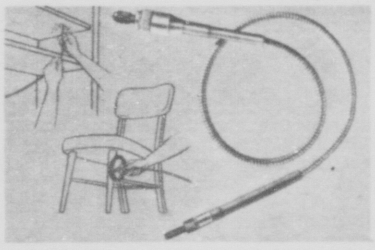
IT HOLDS THE BLANKET CONTROL — lets you find the switch without fumbling when you want to reset the temperature. Decorator-finish metal Holder clips conveniently onto the headboard or side panel to keep the control unit in easy reach without cluttering your night stand. Foam-base frame eliminates the breakage hazard, too.

5896 — Blanket Dial Holder $1



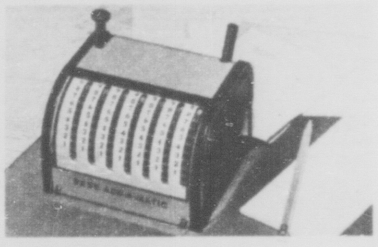
PERFECT SLICE CONTROL... adjustable from a wafer-thin 1/16" to a man-size ½"! Amazing Adjust-A-Matic gives you handsome, uniform gourmet food slices. Reversible stainless steel blade with plastic handle provides fine or coarse serration to suit food texture. Ideal for meats, cheese, tomatoes, shredding... sandwiches.

6126 — Adjust-A-Matic Slicer $1.59



SUPER-REACH FOR POWER DRILLS! Simply add a 36" Flexible Shaft between the tool and the drill motor... for easier work in tight, narrow spots or at awkward angles. ¼" Shaft comes complete with chuck, fits 3/32" to ⅛" tool attachments. Safety-sealed design with slip-proof handgrip. Operates on speeds up to 6000 rpm.

5850 — Flexible Shaft $2.98



DESK ADDING MACHINE operates automatically... almost like expensive office machines! Yet it's only $6.98! Ideal for household accounting... looks handsome on any desk, or carry it anywhere. Handles any sum up to 9,999,999 smoothly and quietly. Clears itself in a flash... shows running total as you add.

6131 — Desk Add-A-Matic $6.98

U.S. NEWS & WORLD REPORT doesn't stop once it has reported what has happened in the news. It goes beyond where most other news accounts leave off. The editors recognize that the facts we hear first many times are only echoes of deep and vital changes that have started into motion.

So they dig beneath the headlines and bring you the real story of the news. What's causing it to happen. How important it is. How it will affect the way you live, work, plan, save, invest. And what to expect next. You can see why so many readers, in fact, call this "the most important magazine of all."

Why not try reading U.S. NEWS & WORLD REPORT regularly for a while, and find out how much it can help you in your business and personal planning? It won't cost you a penny unless your trial convinces you that here is an exciting new kind of information service you can't afford to be without.

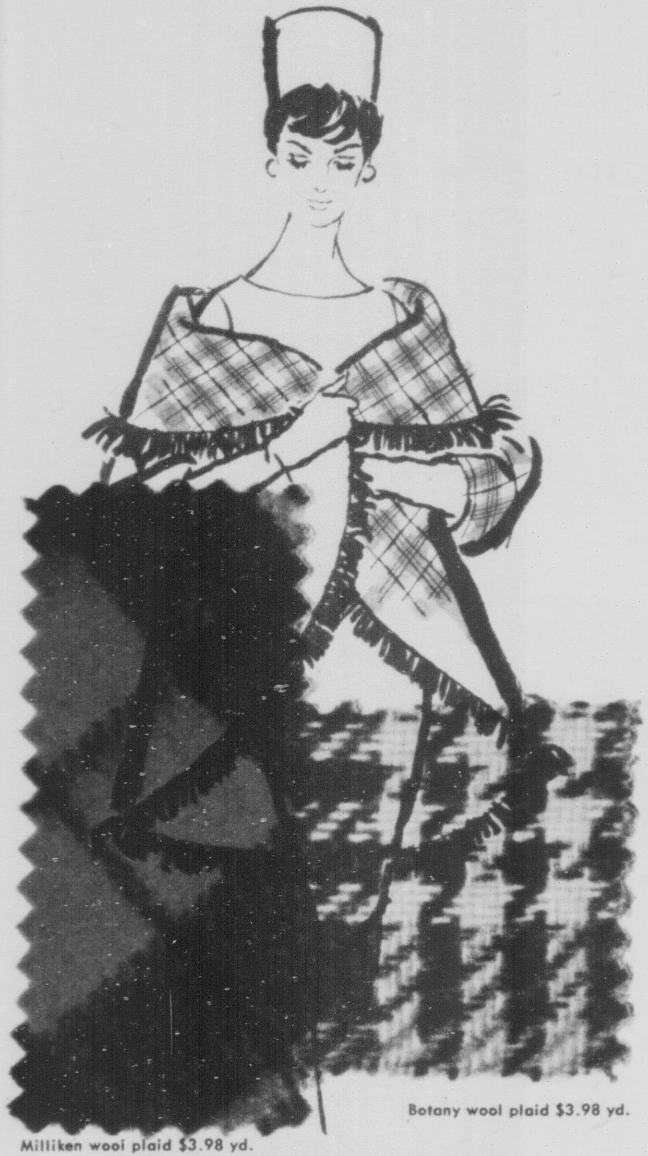
New Cloth, New Clothes

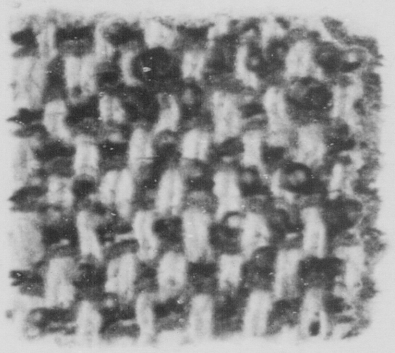
BY DONNA LAWSON

TO MAKE AT HOME—five classic patterns for your fall wardrobe. And picked right from the loom and available at your local department stores, swatches of new fall fabrics to cut them in. There are big, bright plaids, bold houndstooth checks, lively tweeds—or again, cut-velvets, etched brocades or matelasses—all part of the country look for day and way-out opulence for night. Use the coupon at the bottom of the page to order patterns.



Botany wool plaid $3.98 yd.

Milliken wool plaid $3.98 yd.



Forstmann wool tweed $6.95 yd.

A (above) Spectacular fringed cape—cut in one great 360° circle of soft, thick wool, to swirl luxuriously around a fitted simple dress, gored and long-sleeved, designed for contrast.

B (right) Perfect for an evening in town or to wear at a party at home—a full-length dress to make in luscious etched velvet, sculptured brocade or a puffed matelassé.

Forstmann wool tweed $10.95 yd.

Abaco Bonda Knit of Dupont Orlon, $6.98 yd.

Forstmann wool novelty weave $7.50 yd.

C (above) A matched pair—seven-eighths coat with the edge of its own skirt just showing. Make them both in a new novelty tweed or a bulky laminated knit—perfect for now, and all winter.

Gottschalk matelassé of Celanese acetate & cotton $4.95 yd.

Telstar cut-velvet of Celaperm & nylon, $6.95 yd.

Onondaga/silk/wool/acrylic $16 yd.
